ERE OUGHT TO BE AW Freedom Riders are not a movement but a racket for the leaders. It's money for a stunt and has propaganda value. The world wide attention. The Klan is stirring up the biggest thing since the civil war of the U.S.A. since the civil war only knows when and it will stop. It could be stopping a deep depression or war;
it could be a war or a depression it will play hell with the people of the U.S.A. because the Klan is colored and white, don't be the first thing about making for themselves which they certainly will have to do if a depression comes. And a war will cost so much in taxes that the people will not have anything

any food to buy!
It's very evident that the leaders of the Freedom Riders hired both sides—the Freedom Riders and the few in the mobs that put on the show.
The Klan does not put on a show just for the pleasure of spending time in jail. Besides they don't have that kind of money. If you noticed the actors picked out the most prominent person in sight to attack. The Klan leaders have got more sense than that.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

In a visit to the White House last Friday, I talked with President Kennedy for more than half an hour about the Latin America area.
As Chairman of the House Inter-American Affairs Subcommittee, I am in constant contact with this part of the Western Hemisphere and recognize that the problems we face there were largely inherited by the Kennedy Administration.
At the same time, however, my views in Latin American policy do not always coincide with those of the present Administration.

BILLS ENACTED
Although the House met briefly on Monday and Tuesday of last week, no legislation was considered. This short respite from legislative duties during the week of July 4th marked what will doubtlessly be the last break in activity before adjournment this year.

There are still a number of major bills to be acted on before Congress can adjourn, probably in late August or early September. However, this year's record to date shows that many measures have already received congressional action. Among the bills passed by Congress and signed into law are those providing aid to depressed areas, minimum wage increases temporary emergency benefits for the unemployed, liberalization of social security benefits, aid to dependent children, extension of the Sugar Act, an emergency feed program, additional federal judgeship financing for the highway program extension of excise taxes, an expanded housing program and economic aid to Latin America.

One major annual appropriation bill has been signed by the President. In addition, the House has acted on eight other annual fiscal measures.

LEGISLATIVE OUTLOOK
Other legislation that will probably be considered before Congress adjourns includes federal aid to education, medical care for the aged, omnibus farm legislation, airport grants, water pollution control and tax revision.

Also belonging to this list is the mutual security on foreign aid authorization bill. During the month of June, the House Foreign Affairs Committee met each day in the morning, afternoon, and on a number of occasions in the evening in order to consider the foreign aid measure. The committee expects to begin marking up the bill next week and will probably be able to report it to the House by the middle of this month.

Also awaiting House action is a measure to make the Peace Corps a permanent program and authorize appropriations for it in fiscal year 1962. The organization was established temporarily by Executive Order on March 1, and a number of volunteers are already receiving their training. Sargent
Shriver, Director of the Peace Corps, visited my office last week in connection with this legislation.
During an hour's conference, he

of the best loved today.
"Going forth with weeping, sowing for the Master, Tho' the loss sustained our spirit often grives;
When our weeping's over, He will bid us welcome. We shall come rejoicing, bringing in the sheaves advised me of activities planned for Peace Corps volunteers.

County Agent Sellers On How To Improve Your Hog Program

MANAGEMENT

1. Grow 200 bushels of corn for each sow and two litters of pigs.
2. Use purebred meat type boar is cross breeding for hybrid vigor.
3. Build farrowing facilities if you don't already have them.
4. Breed sow to farrow in June and December.
5. If you want to market hogs four times a year breed sows to farrow in June, September, December and March.

BREEDING

1. Don't breed gilts until they are eight months old and well developed.
2. Pen breed and record breeding dates.
3. Breed each sow twice, as soon as she is found in heat and again 24 hours later. This practice could give you two extra pigs.

FEEDING SOW IN GESTATION PERIOD

1. Provide sow with good pasture.
2. Feed sow 1 1/2-1 3/4% of body weight daily (400 pound sow, 4 to 5 pounds) of a 16% ration; 3 1/2 lbs. corn to 1 pound supplement is also a 16% ration. Keep sows thrifty but not overfat.
3. Keep piggy and milking sows cool in summertime and use heat lamps in winter time. This is important in saving big litters.

MANAGING THE SUCKLING AND NURSING PIGS

1. If you don't raise pigs you can't sell hogs.
2. Before the sow goes in the farrowing house scrub it with boiling water and lye (10 gallons and 1 lb. of lye).
3. Be there when the sow farrows.

4. Use 250 watt heat lamp 24" to 30" above bedding when temperature falls below 65 degrees.
5. Clip needle teeth the first day, don't injure the gums.
6. Trim the navel cord to about 2 inches and dip in 7% iodine solution to prevent swollen joints later.
7. Paint skinned knees for same reason.

40 POUNDS AT 8 WEEKS

1. Begin creep feeding baby pigs between 2 and 3 weeks of age on an 18% protein fortified pig starter.
2. Move sow and pigs to green grazing when pigs are 10 days to 3 weeks old depending on the weather.
3. Take 10 days to bring the sow to full feed.
4. Full feed a 16% ration or grain and supplement free choice. Provide minerals free choice.

SCOURS IN LITTLE PIGS

1. Chilling, drafts and damp bedding are one cause of scours in little pigs.
2. Too much protein supplement for the sow will scour little pigs.
3. Wash the sow with soapsuds 2 - 5 days before farrowing and put her in clean, dry, disinfected quarters.
4. At the first sign of scours, crush two 60-grain tablets of Metnamine in the sows feed twice daily. Then if individual pigs scour, inject 1 cc of Pen-Strep into the ham muscle.

MANAGEMENT FOR YOUNG PIGS

1. Start pigs on shelled corn at 5 weeks of age.
2. At 5-6 weeks, gradually change them from pig starter to protein supplement so they will be eating shelled corn and supplement at weaning time.
3. Castrate at 4 weeks.
4. Wean at 8 weeks.
5. Treat for worms with piperazine soon after weaning.
6. Vaccinate for cholera 2 weeks after weaning.
7. Shortly after weaning spray with BHC or lindane to control lice and mange.

"GIRL OF THE NIGHT"

FEATURED at Clanton Drive-In Theatre on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, July 26, 27 and 28 will be "Girl Of The Night", a movie on morals which has been a big attraction in the larger cities in which it was shown.

Water Safety Stressed On ETV

Pointers on the use of navigational aids in boating will be aired during a State Department of Conservation sponsored program on water safety on state-wide ETV July 13, at 7:30 p.m.

This is the sixth in a series of eight water safety instruction programs to be put on by the Conservation Department from University of Alabama ETV studios in Tuscaloosa.

The course is titled "Water Ways", and is televised over channels 2, 7 and 10.

The course is designed to prepare youngsters under 12 to be safe boat operators, and to increase the proficiency of adult operators. Thursday night's program features instruction in compass and chart reading. Safety on rivers will be stressed with special attention given to river levels, currents, bridges, and locks and dams with a note on special rules of the road.

A water safety exam on the course will be conducted by the Conservation Department's Water Safety Division after the last program is televised July 27.

FEEDING GROWING FINISHING PIGS

1. Hog off corn with grazing, supplement, shade and water.
2. Full feed on a balanced ration from weaning to market.
3. Rush pigs until they are weaned, then keep them on extra good grazing.

If grazing is good, limit their grain to make them grow as fast as possible until they reach 125 lb. After 125 lb. full feed on grain and supplement to market weight.

PREVENT DISEASES

1. Diseases and parasites cost the average Alabama hog man $70 a year.
- Prevent worms with good sanitation practices; then treat and worm regularly.
2. Don't buy trouble. Buy boars and gilts that are already immunized against cholera and tested for leptospirosis from a state certified brucellosis - free herd.

Should Be Planted To Cotton In Chilton County This Season!

FEARED MOST BY COTTON FARMERS!

Auburn University says:

1. Control of cotton insects calls for good judgment. You want to use ample insecticides at the right time and in the right way to protect the foliage, squares, and, more important, the bolls.

2. Examine each field of cotton once a week. When pests are numerous enough to cause damage, apply an insecticide at once.

3. When 10 percent of the squares are punctured by boll weevils, start poisoning. Treat fields every 5 days when necessary. To protect bolls during weevil migration, dust or spray every fourth day.

Do not stop treating fields until top bolls are about grown. Boll weevils often destroy more cotton during the last 2 or 3 weeks before harvest than at any other time during the season.

4. Bollworms may be a problem throughout the growing season. Good coverage of all parts of the plant is necessary to control this pest. Don't miss the top of cotton plants—that's where bollworms start.

5. Spider mites are hardest to control because they feed on the underside of leaves. Thorough treatment is essential for good control.

County agents have details on how to fight cotton insects.

Old "K" Is Wrong If He Thinks The U.S. Is Bluffing

chey has indicated that he feels we're bluffing as far as Berlin is concerned. There is no truth in that statement whatsoever, is there, Sparkman? He could never be more wrong in his life. We are not bluffing on Berlin. We will stand fast and we'll have the support of the Western world in standing fast.

Announcer: What about President Kennedy's request that government officials refrain from commenting on the Berlin crisis? Sparkman: I think it's very well that we not have divergent voices because it is a serious matter. I think what we ought to do is to accept the proposition which I know President Kennedy has made to Krushchev, that is, that we do intend to maintain our position in Berlin. We will not back away from it. And let's all back the President in that determination.

Old Portraits Never Die They Just Fade Away

THE appeal made last week by the Board of Revenue & Control through this newspaper has met with some success. Probate Judge White and the Board Members decided that it would be an interesting gesture if the pictures of all previous Probate Judges and Board Members of Chilton County were placed in a prominent position in the new Courthouse building. We have already had some folks in to the News this week bearing pictures of relatives and we anticipate many more in the next few days. It will mean a lot to our County and, we think, to the pioneer's families!

We guarantee that your photo or portrait will not be harmed and will be returned to you in good condition if you so request.

Gorden Conway Is New Superintendent

On July 1, I assumed the duties of Superintendent of Chilton County Schools to fill the unexpired term of W. A. McCrooy on the same of Education. In filling this office I am fully aware of the enormity of the responsibilities, the problems and the challenges which confront me in education.

During the history of public education there have been many problems but never have there been more serious problems than the ones confronting us today. From time to time I want to discuss some of these problems, our problems, with you through the medium of our county papers.

It is the inherent right of every child to receive a free public school education and to develop his abilities to his maximum capacity. In making it possible for our children to develop to their maximum, it takes the cooperative effort of all of us. The Board and I invite you to contact us at all times to discuss any questions or problems concerning children, our children. We will welcome your ideas, your suggestions and your constructive criticism always.

For the past ten years I have been employed by the Chilton County Board of Education, seven and one-half years as vocational agriculture teacher at Isabella High School and two and one-half years as principal of Isabella High School. In both positions, I have worked closely with the youth of the county and I sincerely believe our boys and girls deserve the best in educational advantages and opportunities. It is up to us to see that they get them. During my years of working in Chilton County I have been cognizant and appreciative of the fine spirit of cooperation that existed. I feel confident that the same cooperation will continue to exist.

The Education Office is open from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8:00 a.m. till noon on Saturday. You can find us ready to see you any time. A welcome awaits you. The Board, my staff and I want the opportunity and the privilege to serve you, patrons, citizens, teachers, and youth of Chilton County.

WE have it from a reliable source that favors the measure that the Legislature is not going to impose any additional tax on corporations. Heck, we knew that all along. The source also says that we could raise funds locally if the State and Federal Government would keep their noses out of local affairs (and pocket-books) long enough to get a workable program going on a local level. H-m-m-m!

AND speaking of taxes, another source says that they are going to lower the present tax on aviation gas in the State and that it is his opinion that we will realize as much or more by so doing than by keeping it at it's present rate of 7c per gallon. They may have done something on this by now, but at the time he made the statement they had not!

President Kennedy and his Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity are stepping on some pretty big toes. Usually a fellow with big toes has a big voice to go along with it; and also wears sizeable shoes that cover a lot of ground. Some of those feet they are treading on are sore already, from abuse and stomping and are just liable to start kicking back!

DOG day! And though the weather is dependable in a sense the reference to dog does have a better meaning than it implies. For instance, the first seeing-eye dog for the blind was Buddy, a German shepherd, who took up his duties in the year 1928. It seems to us, the weather is more 'for the birds'!

On The Bottom Rung

MANY of our citizens are putting forth great effort to attract new, and big, industry to Chilton County. We know of at least one man who has offered property on which to build industry at only 1% interest on the money he had invested.

We also know of men in the community who have hiked the price on their property considerably when they found that the site was being considered for industry. You may call that good business; we call it holding back the community and some would call it just plain "hold up".

Those who are yanking the most feverishly for industry here are not, unfortunately the ones with the most influence in this field. The Chamber of Commerce is making efforts in this area, but their funds and facilities are limited.

Too many men in the community, to use the accepted term, "have it made" and don't really care whether or not we get any new industry. They are successful, independent and selfish! They are not promoting industry with the same fervor that they might promote a financial promotion of their very own!

Well and good, but these men don't seem to realize that any industry located here in Chilton County will attract people; and people are buying power for products on sale in the local stores.

What we need in Chilton County is people! According to the latest census Chilton County lost population. In fact; across the state of Alabama is a clear path, from border to border of counties that lost population because we are undesirable to live or because the climate didn't suit the people. We lost population because we do not have the necessary employment for these people. Therefore, they must seek work elsewhere.

The only way businesses are going to grow any appreciable amount in Chilton County is for us to gain population. We are certainly not going to do that until we create, or attract solid industry which will put these people on the payroll. When this happens, Chilton County will move up on the industrial development ladder. And we've got a lot of climbing to do. If you don't believe that, ask the Clanton Industrial Development Board or the Chilton Chamber of Commerce!

Farm Safety: A Year 'Round, 24-Hour Job

We Americans seem to need an official "week" each year to remind us of things we really should practice every week of every year.

There's nothing wrong with the idea the official reminder usually proves helpful but too often too many people will substitute one week's observance for a year's practice.

Sponsored by the National Safety Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the 18th annual National Farm Safety Week has as its theme, Safety Is a Family Affair.

Accidents in farm homes take about 2,700 lives a year, according to the National Safety Council, and 3,400 persons are killed each year doing farm work. This is in addition to the 4,700 farm residents who die on the highways in nonwork accidents.

Accident prevention, on the farm as anywhere else involves positive action that makes sure a job is being properly done. Servicing a machine while it is moving is not only unsafe practice, but is an inefficient way to do the job. Observing safe practices when driving vehicles means operating the vehicles for peak performance getting the most efficient operation and saving wear and tear on the engine.

If we think of safe practices as a means of doing things rather than as a set of do's and don'ts, accident prevention will become a way of life, a way of life that will preserve the lives of farm families.

It is up to each of us to see that we follow safe practices in every farm activity at work, at home, at play and on the highways. None of us can afford the economic loss, to say nothing of the personal tragedy, wrought by farm accidents.

Let's make every week Farm Safety Week.

Report from Washington

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

President Ayub Khan of Pakistan highlighted last week's congressional activity when he spoke for almost an hour on Wednesday at a joint meeting of the House and Senate.

Speaking in perfect English and without a script, the soldier-statesman asked more frankly to Congress than perhaps any visiting dignitary.

He said it would be a great, great calamity to be overtaken by communism and thwarted in the determination of Pakistan to maintain freedom and independence.

He pointed out that the United States has had many years to strengthen itself, instead of the 14 that Pakistan has had since its independence in 1947. He said this necessary quick pace for survival is what impels Pakistan to seek foreign aid.

Emphasizing friendship for our country he declared, if there is real trouble, there is no other country in Asia where you will be able to put your foot in. The only people who will stand by you are the people of Pakistan.

To reiterate his belief that underdeveloped countries can be freed from communism through assistance from the United States, he said our nation has world obligations and to try to hide from them will be at our own peril.

Evidenced by their frequent applause, many members of Congress appeared to appreciate the Pakistani leader's directness and the fact that he did not disguise his plea for assistance.

Just three days after the death of Whitaker Chambers, the aftermath of the Hiss-Chambers conspiracy charges of 1948-49 came to the congressional floor when the House approved by voice vote last Wednesday a revision of the famous Hiss Act. The law was enacted in 1954 as a result of the perjury conviction of a former government employee, Alger Hiss, whom Chambers accused as a co-conspirator with him in communist activities against the United States.

Opportunity is ours, that's true. And our congressmen and Senators have a golden opportunity to assist America out of the hole in which we find ourselves by declaring to all, regardless of political pressure or threatened economic depression, that it is time we looked out for our own before we strike out to look after someone else. The blind cannot lead the blind very far, and certainly not over very rough ground.

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

BY CARL GOGGINS

There seems to be some pretty shrewd maneuvering going on up here or at least there's big talk of such. And as you've probably already guessed, the Black Belters appear to be behind it all.

According to close in sources there's reason to believe there is a move afoot by several members of the Senate Finance and Taxation Committee to give Gov. Patterson folk an ultimatum that unless the House-passed Ferguson re-districting bill is placed on special order by the Rules Committee all the administration-supported "pet-bills" now, or to come before the Finance bill will not be reported out.

If such an idea were carried out it could mean the death of such administration-wanted measures as a bill which would amend the constitution to authorize the issuance of a $10 million bond issue for the revamping of the state's prison system; one which would make-up of the Prison Commission so no governor would have control of the body; another which would authorize the issuance of a $4 million bond issue for the construction of a new state office building at the rear of the capital, several competitive bid laws; a plan which would allow the state to draw interest on surplus state funds deposited in state banks; appropriation bills.

Members of the powerful committee are Vaughn Hill Robinson, Montgomery, chairman; E. O. Edmonds, Madison, vice-chairman; Davis Archer, Madison; Donald Word, Jackson; Walter Givhan, Dallas; Larry Dumas, Jefferson; Will Caffey, Mobile; Bob Kendall; Coneuch; Yetta Samford, Lee; Ryan DeGrafier, Tuscaloosa; W. F. Wilson, Hale; Hugh Moses, Marion; Joe Graham, Chilton; Elwood Rutledge, Winston; and Alton Turner of Crenshaw.

Apparently, proponents of the Ferguson bill, which divides the state into eight instead of nine congressional districts by combining Rep. Kenneth Roberts and Albert Rains into the same district are hoping by holding back Gov. John's pet measures and forcing a vote on the Ferguson bill to throw out the re-districting issue on special order along with the reapportionment which they think will be killed any way, that maybe three or four of the senators who have been close to the administration and who have been filibustering against the re-districting plan will drop off the list and perhaps force the matter into an early showdown.

Because most everyone on the Hill will tell you that unless and until a re-districting bill is passed you probably won't see any piece of major legislation become law this session.

However, a couple of these Black Belt Senators on the committee say they have got the support. And looking over the committee members and the way they have voted in my memory. He openly asked for United States aid, saying that continued assistance to his country will give strength to both nations.

He said it would be a great, great calamity to be overtaken by communism and thwarted in the determination of Pakistan to maintain freedom and independence.

He pointed out that the United States has had many years to strengthen itself, instead of the 14 that Pakistan has had since its independence in 1947. He said this necessary quick pace for survival is what impels Pakistan to seek foreign aid.

Emphasizing friendship for our country he declared, if there is real trouble, there is no other country in Asia where you will be able to put your foot in. The only people who will stand by you are the people of Pakistan.

THINGS We see and hear

AS you read this, old Bob is lying flat on his back, looking up at the lovely hot July sun over the coast of Florida. Yes, we finally got somewhere on the east or Gulf made it off for a couple or three days and we are anticipating a very enjoyable time away from the daily grind. The fact that you're reading this now is proof enough that they don't need us around anyway, because we didn't have a thing to do with betting out this week's News. Well, hardly anything. We haven't got a care in the world... except of course, how we are ever going to catch up with the rent car note, lights, gas, groceries, etc. Ain't it wonderful!

SAY, we've been owing old Lally Bates an apology for two weeks. We always try to use the releases Lally gives us about the American Legion, but the other day, when they got missed and didn't get in print. I'mumped on us good about it and we got straightened out quick man the next week. Just wanted to tell him we're sorry; especially since it was a careless mistake.

AND speaking of copy; wonder if you've ever wondered how much copy we have to edit, write and read over each week. Boy, it's a mountain of stuff and when we overlook an article it isn't carelessness nearly so much as it is such a demand on our feeble brain. It's the volume that does it, but of course, we wouldn't want it any other way.

CHILTON County News sales have picked up so greatly during the past couple of months it almost scares us. We've had a number of folks tell us how much they like our frank opinions on this matter or that. We have also had a few tell us they didn't give a rip for our opinion or our frankness. Oh well, you can't please everybody, can you? Well, we're not real hard. We are just glad sales of the News have increased so much. You keep buying and we'll keep swinging!

UNDERSTAND that the opening of our new courthouse is going to be delayed until probably the first of September, instead of the scheduled August date. That undertaking is to the point now that we don't care when they open it as long as it's real soon. It's going to be one of the finest looking structures we ever laid eyes on and we can't wait to see all our County officials comfortably housed in same! In case you haven't realized it, that is a monumental job taken on by our Board of Revenue and Control and it is our opinion that Judge White, Messrs. Sherman, Morley, and Mims (and others before him), Dr. D. Headley and Dalton Champion have done a mighty fine job of giving the people something for

ONE thing, about several citizens is that we're sorry about influencing our opinions or our concern to all of it. Cause we never know how we are going to accept anything. It makes it easier on us, that's all. We don't think without worrying about it. Imposing their opinion on us. Sometimes they like it, and they don't; we never know.

It makes it easier on us, that's all. We don't think without worrying about it. Imposing their opinion on us. Sometimes they like it, and they don't; we never know.

CHILTON County News sales have picked up so greatly during the past couple of months it almost scares us. We've had a number of folks tell us how much they like our frank opinions on this matter or that. We have also had a few tell us they didn't give a rip for our opinion or our frankness. Oh well, you can't please everybody, can you? Well, we're not real hard. We are just glad sales of the News have increased so much. You keep buying and we'll keep swinging!

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS
DO YOU HAVE TIME TO PRAY?

How do you spend your time? Have you ever tried to estimate the different amounts of time you spend for things? It might surprise you. It might do even more — it might start new habits.

A Swiss gentleman reviewed his 80 years on earth and arrived at some startling statistics. He had spent 26 years in bed and 21 years working. Eating had consumed six years. He figured that he had fretted away five years waiting for tardy people. How much time do you give to any thought of God or action for His kingdom? How much time do you spend in prayer? Prayer is an appetite which needs to be developed. The muscles of prayer need to be strengthened by disciplined exercise.

You can know the power of prayer in your life. Successful prayer is success itself. It is the key to many gifts God has for you. An earnest prayer can bring a person's life into a new and true adjustment to God.

You should pray always—in all circumstances. Pray for understanding—understanding of yourself, your neighbor and your country. Only then will you be able to understand the world. Only then can we have world peace. Pray when you are discouraged. God will put a song of joy in your heart. Pray when sickness comes. "The prayer of faith shall save the sick" (James 5:15). Pray when you are lonely or fearful. God never fails His people. Though we often stumble and fall on life's journey, God is by our side, ready to forgive and help us.

Pray for others—your friends, your enemies. You cannot pray with hands clenched or grasping. Pray with open hands—friendly, sharing, helping. If you pray, it is because you love. If you love, you will pray.

Prayer is also thanksgiving to God. It is a delight to the heart of God. Thank Him for your food, your clothes, your home. These are all gifts from God. The flowers do not just happen to bloom in the spring, and the goodness which comes your way is not just luck. Enjoy the beauty around you and take time to express your thanks to your loving Father.

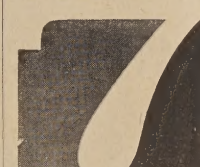

A famous football coach once rebuked an overconfident player who had said that their team would win because it had "the will to win."

"Don't fool yourself," the coach said. "The will to win is not worth a nickel unless you have the will to prepare."

That applies to Christian living as well as to other things. You must have the will to prepare for each day, to prepare for the problems and trials you will meet. It is easy to talk in big terms about devotion to God. The will to prepare is the true test. Prepare for your future as you go!

Each day of National Farm Safety Week emphasizes a different aspect of farm safety. Beginning Sunday, July 23, the daily themes are Reverence for Life; Safety Begins at Home; Agricultural Chemicals; Farm Machinery, and Recreation Safety.

Custom Continental Goes to White House

AN ARRAY OF ROOFS — A suitable roof type for use on any occasion in any weather is a highlight feature of the new custom-built Presidential Continental—now being used at the White House. The car is a 1961 Lincoln Continental which literally was cut in half, restored and extended in length by more than three and one-half feet. A series of roof choices — two-piece-metal, clear plastic, fabric or use as an open-air convertible — make the car one of the most unusual custom automobiles ever built. In addition to the roof versions shown above, portions of each roof type can be used separately or in combinations over the rear, middle and front compartments. The car also has retractable foot stands for Secret Service personnel and an "elevator" rear seat which raises up to 10½ inches to help parade crowds see the occupants.

Summer's Fashion Is Chilled Soup

The mid-twentieth century in the United States has seen some fantastic changes in the status of certain foods... primarily due to freezing. Today, while we busy ourselves diluting frozen concentrated orange juice, the fresh orange has become a luxury. Reversing this, foods which were once considered luxuries and beyond our reach... either in preparation time, cost, or availability... are now accessible to everyone. A prime example is the number of canned frozen condensed soups in the grocer's freezer.

These frozen condensed soups are very fashionable! Winter's look is one of warmth... with bowls of piping hot cream of potato or other favorite... giving a lift to the wind-blown wanderer.

In summer, a new look... chilled and colorful... as soothing to summer-seared appetites. It's such a delight to sit down to a bowl of icy-cold soup that you'll want to include them... at least twice a week... in your menu. This recipe is a perfect beginning to any meal!

Cool 'n' Curried Potato Soup
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) frozen condensed cream of potato soup
1/2 cup can milk
1/2 cup can water
2 tablespoons shredded coconut
1/2 teaspoon curry powder

Combine all ingredients. Heat until soup is thawed, stirring now and then. Blend in electric blender until smooth. Place in refrigerator at least 4 hours. Serve in chilled bowls. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

CD FORCES BOOSTED

Added help for hard-pressed State and local civil defense staffs is being provided under a new federally-aided program to build up the nation's non-military forces. The result, Civil and Defense Mobilization Director Frank B. Ellis added, will be better preparation for civilians to survive enemy attack.

Ellis added, "I am asking the governors and all other city and county officials of every State to impress upon their people that they have a spiritual obligation to prepare for their survival and for the survival of others."

A typical new employee under the program is Lt. Col. Robert S. Ritz, 42, who retired after 20 years in the Army and now serves as training officer for the Illinois Civil Defense Agency in Chicago. He went to work Feb. 1, 1961.

His varied Army career included radiological training which would help qualify him to instruct civil defense radiological defense courses.

RITZ WAS HIRED under an Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization grant to Illinois of $240,000. This is part of $8 million authorized under Public Law 85-606 and made available by Congress starting Jan. 1, 1961.

The program now enables State and Federal governments to split $400 the cost of hiring additional staff members, and their added operating expenses such as travel, office space, communications, and similar items. However, State and local governments received no Federal financial aid to help cover civil defense training or administrative or salary costs. One of the principal require-

To A Man's Taste!

"This Little Leaguer believes in that old saying 'If a little is good, a lot is better.' He loves to dose barbecue meat in sauce... it's sharp, salty, and hot... to a man's taste. Easy and inexpensive to make and to can. Can it you should, because it also does something very special for baked, broiled and boiled meats.

Better go slow on salt and the peppers when you make your first batch. Try 2 peppers and 1 tablespoon salt which should be about right for the Little Leaguer's hamburgers. Taste dip just before ready to remove from heat, then you can add more salt or pepper make it exactly right for your taste. If it is more pepper you want, use ground cayenne. We like our barbecue dip fairly thin but if you prefer it ketchup-thick, all you need do is 'boil or down.'

Barbecue Dip
18 large red ripe tomatoes
4 hot red peppers
2 large Bermuda (white and mild) onions
2 teaspoons whole allspice
1 stick cinnamon

Wash, drain, core and chop tomatoes. Slowly cook tomatoes 15 or 20 minutes. Remove seed from peppers. Chop peppers and onions. Drain off free liquid from tomatoes to save cooking time. Add peppers and onions to tomatoes and cook until onions are mushy. Put vegetables through sieve. The whole spices and garlic in piece of cheesecloth. Combine all ingredients and cook until as thick as wanted. Discard spice bag. Four heaping hot dip into pint or half pint fruit jars. Put lid on jar; screw band tight.

100 YEARS AGO

One hundred years ago this week July 21, 1861, an estimated 35,732 Union soldiers and 31,810 Confederate soldiers massed opposite each other in the first large-scale conflict of the Civil War—the Battle of First Manassas, sometimes called Bull Run because it was fought along the banks of the creek named Bull Run. The Federal troops were routed and retreated helterskelter toward Washington, D. C. which was only about 30 miles from the Virginia battlefield.

Union losses at First Manassas have been estimated at 2,708 and Confederate losses at 1,921. Only about 18,000 men on each side actually participated in the battle.

Engaged almost at the beginning of the day-long struggle, the Fourth Alabama Infantry Regiment reportedly lost 38 killed and 208 wounded out of about 750 of its men who got into the fight at First Manassas its commanding officer, Col. Egbert Jones of Madison County, was among those mortally wounded.

Top-ranking Confederate generals P. G. T. Beauregard and Joseph E. Johnston both commended the Fourth Alabama in reports on First Manassas. Johnston noted that the Fourth Alabama was among 5,000 Confederate troops who held 15,000 Union troops at bay for an entire hour during the morning action in the battle. Beauregard and Johnston gave somewhat contrasting accounts of the Fourth Alabama's stance shortly after it lost its field officers in the battle.

First to meet the Union assault early in the battle of First Manassas were Colonel Naha G. Evans, a South Carolinian who became principal of a high school at Midway, Alabama after the war.

Four other officers claimed by Alabama won distinction in skirmishes July 17 and July 18, 1961, as the Union army advanced toward Manassas prior to the big battle of July 21. They were John Tyler Morgan of Selma, Charles M. Shelley of Talladega County and Robert E. Rodes of Tuscaloosa—all whom rose to be Confederate generals and General James Longstreet, a Georgian who also resided in Alabama.

Farm Briefs

Foreign countries did not begin growing flue-cured tobacco in noticeable amounts until the early 1900. Dairy foods provide about 30 percent of the elements essential in the American diet.

Stored soybeans suffer less damage from insect pests than stored corn. And usually soybeans stored for spring sale yield higher profits than corn.

It's a sad picture, but every day in the next 12 months, accidents will kill an average of 32 farm residents and injure 2740 others.

Use a pick up truck and not the tractor and trailer for running into town. You'll keep pace with traffic instead of clogging it up and taking a chance on an accident.

Hurry up, get the cows, take the tractor, get the plowing done. Hurry, hurry! Why? I isn't worth it. The U. S. Department of Agriculture says that hurry is one of the main causes of accidents. Slow down and be safe.

One hour of farm labor produces four times as much food and fiber as it did from 1919 to 1921. Crop production is 58 per cent higher per acre. Out per breeding animal is 81 per cent greater.

In a 26-cent box of corn flakes there's 24 cents worth of corn.

Farmers create employment. Nearly 40 per cent of the U. S. labor force is employed in a business related to agriculture. Actual farm production requires 74 million; transporting, processing, and marketing requires 10 million; and six million more have jobs providing the supplies that farmers use.

The average man is rated at one-tenth horsepower, but when he drives a 20 horsepower tractor, he is able to do the work of 200 men.

C.

The battalion will train until mid-July with the latest infantry tactics including the Marine Corps vertical envelopment concept that uses helicopters to attack enemy positions simultaneously from the front and rear.

Chilton County News

By Edward Collier

Four centuries of colorful history are spanned by a Magic Circle auto trip starting in Albuquerque, the state capital, at the home of the University of New Mexico and its honey-colored, Indian Pueblo style buildings. Night brings glamour to Old Town, the original city of 1706 with an old world aura of soft music and gas lights.

Starting north, highlights are Coronado State Monument where the Spanish conquistador used an Indian pueblo for his 1540 headquarters; three pueblos including Jemez, famed for its Eagle Dancers; and Soda Dam, a mushroom-shaped formation created by minerals in the water. The route south is on a skyline road through forest country to ruins of the ancient "cities that died from fear" of the Apaches, such as Quarai, now a state monument.

Much of the area's charm is evident when driving through the Spanish-American hamlets of adobe houses with doors painted "Virgin Blue" and where an occasional television antenna seems the only link with today. Roadrunners, the state bird, frequently will race along in front of your car on the back-country roads of this enchanting land.

By Edward Collier

North Carolina's heartland provides a versatile Magic Circle motor tour, starting in Raleigh at the Greek Revival style State Capitol and the architecturally imaginative State Fair Arena, shaped like a saddle and suggesting a roller coaster of tomorrow.

The route south is through peanut growing country to Fayetteville and its historic Old Market House and Presbyterian Church; Fort Bragg Military Reservation, exciting with the frequent sound of artillery fire and daily mass parachute jumps; the Sandhills resort area around Southern Pines and Pinehurst, noted for golf tournaments, horse shows and fox hunts.

Curving north, there is a stop at Sanford's pottery factories to see the expert craftsmen at work. Chapel Hill is dominated by the University of North Carolina with famous Morehead Planetarium and its celestial shows, mammoth sundial, Univac machine and the Tar Heels' Kenan Stadium. Durham, a few minutes' drive away, could be called "Tobacco Land U.S.A." Here you can watch both auctions and the manufacture of cigarettes at the big plants. The city also is the home of Duke University, whose stately English-Gothic buildings grace one of the most beautiful of campuses in this country.

Prepared by National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago

A unique privately supported aid-to-youth group, traditionally headed by the President of the United States, has just published a report covering 39 years of service to the 4-H Clubs of America. The National 4-H Service Committee, headquartered in Chicago, assists the Cooperative Extension Service of the USDA in maintaining and improving 4-H projects in all 50 states and Puerto Rico.

One of the committee's functions is to secure funds for awards and leader training. Today, about 60 industries and private groups contribute to specific 4-H programs. Another dozen or so provide funds for special events, a committee spokesman said. Commitments for 1961 total more than a million dollars.

Three companies, which gave financial and moral support to the fledgling 4-H Clubs four decades ago, still earmark funds to further this learn-by-doing program nationally. They are Armour, Wilson and International Harvester, according to the Committee.

Ten firms have given continuous support for 25 years or more. They are: the Cudahy Packing Company, Montgomery Ward, Sears-Roebuck Foundation, Kerr Glass, Westinghouse Educational Foundation and Livestock Conservation, Inc.

Count Your Chickens For Economy

You can't count your chickens before they're hatched. But it pays to count them when they're sale-priced at the market! Buy one or two extra for future feasting at dollars and "sense" savings! Freeze the parts "as is" or use our "Easy Oven Fried Chicken" approach and have them oven-ready for quicker preparation. In either case, the chicken should be first chilled until firm. Then separate pieces and pack them in moisture-proof Kor-dite plastic bags. Immerse the bag in a pan of cold water keeping the open end above the water line. This forces air out of the bag and makes it cling tightly to its contents. Twist top lightly and seal with tape. "Freeze" tape, available in various colors, adheres at below-freezing temperatures and makes a quick, easy seal.

to supplement that received from the state. How long it can continue we cannot promise. We are trying to continue by "getting by" with fewer teachers, fewer buses and fewer schools. As our State Superintendent has said, "the wolf is at the door now." We trust and hope that the Legislature will find the answer soon to the dilemma we are in.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON I am to meet seven friends at Bayou La Batre to prepare for this year's Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo. The event will begin early Friday and will continue through Sunday afternoon. During this time about 2000 fishermen will be competing for trophies and merchandise prizes totaling $15,000. Boats of all sizes will take part in the contest. Some come from as far away as St. Petersburg and Corpus Christi.

TELEPHONE SERVICE for the southern part of Mobile County is provided by the Bayou Telephone Company. This company is headed by Rolston Robertson, a former army captain, who went into the telephone business shortly after World War II. In 1946 Robertson acquired the exchange at Bayou La Batre with its 88 "crank-type" telephones. Today he operates modern exchanges at Dauphin Island and Grand Bay as well as Bayou La Batre.

THERE ARE NOW 54 "independent" (non-Bell) telephone companies operating 156 exchanges in Alabama. Cooperating with each other and with Southern Bell these companies play an important role in our state's development.

International Cookery Stars Frozen Peas

There's a hint of International cookery in this mouth-wateringly good, easy-to-do casserole of garden-fresh, frozen peas, pork, noodles and crunchy celery. The method of combining the meat with the peas and celery, which preserves the tender sweetness of the peas and the distinctive character of thinly sliced celery, is suggestive of Chinese cookery.

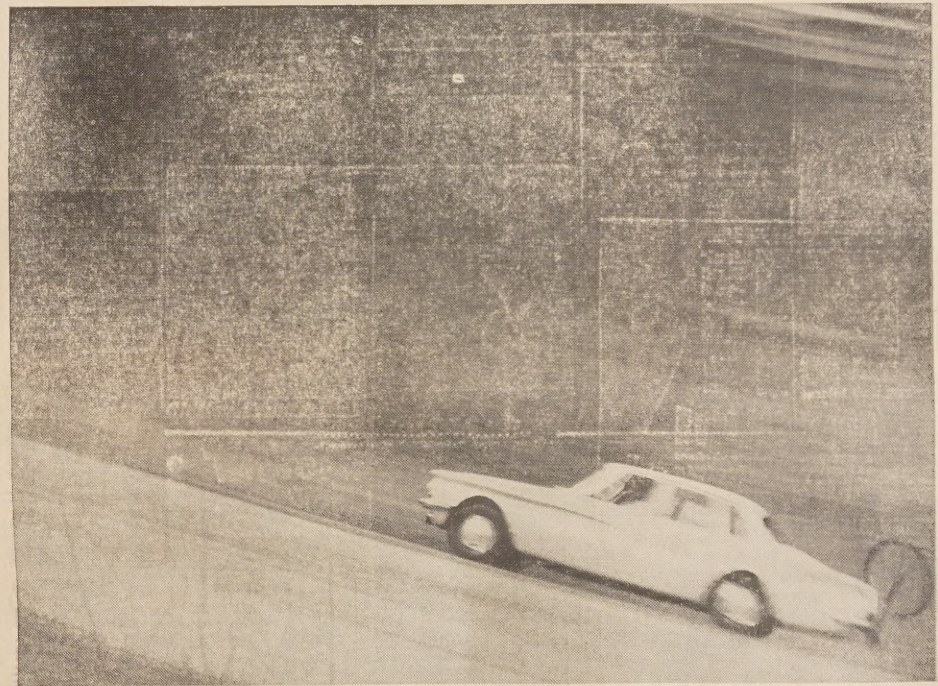

In Europe, adding uncooked vegetables to cooked meat with a flavorful sauce is common practice for getting the full goodness of the vegetables in the finished dish.

SAVORY FROZEN PEA-PORK CASSEROLE

1 pound pork cutlets or tenderloin cut in 1/2 inch cubes
1 tablespoon cooking oil
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup water
4 ounces dry noodles
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk including meat liquid
1 10-ounce package frozen green peas
1 cup celery, sliced thin
1 cup buttered bread crumbs

Brown pork in oil over high heat, stirring to brown evenly. Add salt and water, cover, reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes. Cook noodles according to directions on package. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, salt and milk, cooking it only until it starts to thicken and is smooth. Butter a 2-quart casserole. In it, arrange a layer of half of the cooked noodles, peas, meat, celery and white sauce. Repeat, saving a few peas for a circle on center top. Ring with buttered bread crumbs. (Use 2 tablespoons melted butter to 1 cup soft bread crumbs.) Bake 45 minutes at 350°F. Yield: 4 servings.

* Peas do not need cooking before putting into casserole. If they are frozen in a block, defrost at room temperature just enough to separate. Or put in a covered saucepan with 1/4 cup water over high heat for 2 or 3 minutes, separating them with a fork, if necessary. (Use cooking liquid in making the sauce.)

Shell experts test for knock by accelerating up steep grade. In another test, that "fifth wheel" in the back is lowered onto the road to measure mileage precisely.

TOP PERFORMANCE:

Shell test crew reveals five ways to test your car for top performance—and how the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell can help you get it

To John Baker and John Watson (below) of Shell Research, top performance is a scientific standard. They measure it with precision instruments. But any good driver can run a version of their basic tests. Here are five they recommend.

Test #1. Quick starting Count the seconds it takes to start your car. The engine should "snap to" in about two to three seconds. A slow start drains your battery. And it may flood your cylinders, causing performance troubles.
If your engine is balky, try Super Shell. It's blended with a frisky ingredient called Butane—to give you quick, easy starts.

Test #2. Smooth running
Pay close attention to your engine in traffic.
Does it vibrate roughly when you stop for a traffic light? Does it seem to "surge" as you pull away, then falter and fade?
The problem may be the wrong blend of gasoline.
In summer, for example, excessive heat can make winter grade gasoline bubble in the fuel line. Bubbles can interfere with the flow, causing rough running.
Shell scientists don't let that happen with Super Shell. When hot weather threatens, they adjust Super Shell's 9-ingredient formula to give it the correct volatility for smooth summer driving.

Test #3. Reserve power
On a turnpike, in light traffic, accelerate suddenly from about thirty miles an hour to the legal limit. Now ask yourself:
1. Did your car accelerate smoothly—with no faltering, no bogging down?
2. Do you have plenty of power to spare?
If you feel you've "run out of engine," it's time to do something about it.
Super Shell may be your answer. It contains TCP,* to help restore power lost to combustion chamber deposits.
And another Super Shell ingredient, called Platformate, contains components that release 11 per cent more energy than even the finest of 100-octane aviation gasolines.

Test #4. Knock
Accelerate up a long, steep hill and listen carefully. If you hear a sound like marbles falling into an empty oil drum, you've got knock. It could cause engine trouble.
Take no chances. Switch to Super Shell. Its formula includes no less than three ingredients to fight the various causes of knock.

Test #5. Miles per gallon
Don't trust your fuel gauge when you measure miles per gallon. Take these three simple steps and be sure.
1. Start your test by filling your tank. Make sure the gasoline comes up to the brim. Write down your mileage reading.
2. Drive in your normal manner for at least three tankfuls—keeping a record of the exact amount you buy.
3. Finally, fill your tank to the brim again. Add up all the gallons you've bought (not counting the initial fill-up in step 1.) Divide this amount into your total miles driven. This gives you your miles per gallon. Try this test with three tankfuls of Super Shell. You'll see what top performance really is.

A Bulletin from Shell Research—where 1,997 scientists are working to make your car go better and better.

Super Shell's 9 Ingredients for top performance
Super Shell now contains 2 octane boosters, 1 mileage booster, 1 quick-start component, 1 fast warm-up ingredient, 1 anti-knock mix, 1 gum preventive, 1 anti-stall ingredient and new, improved TCP. These nine ingredients all work together to give your car top performance.

It is not unusual to hear people say that for a state to make rapid economic growth, it must expand industrial production. Some go so far as to say that all we need to do is to move enough people out of agriculture into industry, and service industries, and all will be well.

I raise that a mixture of industrial and agricultural employment is good because it helps to raise the income of people. However, I would argue that this moving labor out of agriculture will not in itself solve our economic problems in Alabama.

The transfer of labor out of agricultural production has been going on for a long time, and our income problems are still with us. In fact, it has reached the point that in the United States, only eight per cent of the labor force is engaged in agricultural production. The figure is somewhat higher, but the point is that there is a limit to the number of people that can be moved off farms in Alabama without doing serious damage to the well-being of the state and its people.

I recognize as well as anyone the importance of industrial expansion in boosting the state's economy. However, economic development does not necessarily mean that all of us must leave farming for other things, the bringing of nonfarm jobs to rural communities. It means providing opportunities in agriculture to or otherwise for heads of rural families to increase their incomes. I am convinced that a vigorous program of Rural Resource Development is needed. Such a program would serve to strengthen and develop the rural resources that are left behind when large numbers of people leave the country and move to the city.

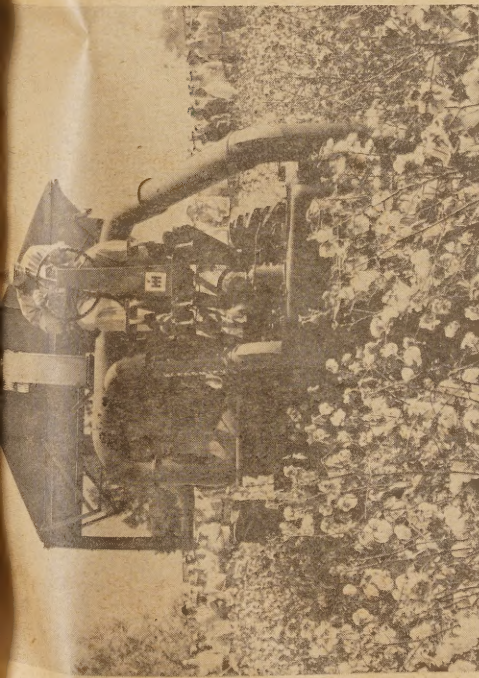

It is much later than we think with respect to the development of our rural resources. If we neglect our responsibility and do not launch a vigorous program of Rural Resource Development, many young people growing up in some areas of Alabama will not have the educational job training, social adjustment, and even the health which their city cousins enjoy.

Prepare Cotton For Mechanical Harvesting

By J. E. Jernigan
Extension Cotton Specialist

Lawrence Ennis

AS the use of mechanical cotton pickers becomes more widespread, Alabama growers may find defoliation a profitable practice. Last year farmers in this state used defoliants on more than 100,000 acres of cotton. This acreage was a phenomenal increase over the 1961 season when only 10,000 acres were defoliated. Mechanical harvesters begin picking this year's crop.

Although defoliation will not be helpful every year, it is a practice that pays when needed. Research shows that when rank cotton is to be picked early in the season, the grades are improved when the plants are properly defoliated. Cotton may be up-graded from one-half to a full grade on rank cotton.

Another advantage of defoliation is the extension of the picking season. Defoliated cotton can be picked in a safe manner longer and allows an additional hour of picking time where plants are properly defoliated. Defoliation may also speed up the opening of cotton so that growers can harvest their crop early, avoiding a late harvesting season.

The following conditions will help you determine the best time for applying defoliants.

Condition of Plant—You will have best results on mature plants with a heavy boll load. Leaf moisture content should be high and the bolls that you expect to mature should be 30 to 35 days old at the time of application. Little damage occurs to lint and seed if bolls are full size and firm when pressed between the thumb and forefinger. Results have been good when defoliants were used when 50 to 60 per cent of the bolls were open.

Timing for Machine Harvest—Defoliate at one time only as much cotton as you can harvest with a single picker in about a week. Otherwise, a second growth will start before the cotton is picked. Remember, second growth stains the lint and lowers the cotton grade.

Boll Rot—If rainy weather prevails after bottom bolls are mature on rank plants, defoliation will reduce loss from boll rot. It may be more profitable to lose some top bolls because of immaturity than to lose mature bolls on the bottom of the plant due to boll rot. This is a decision you must make.

Weather Conditions—Moderately high temperatures—85 to 90 degrees—give best defoliation results. Extremely high temperatures may cause leaves to dry too rapidly and damage the plants. Cool weather slows up defoliation.

Apply dust defoliants when the air is still, usually in early morning or late afternoon, and when dew is present or expected. Dew is necessary to dissolve the defoliant.

When there is no dew on the plants, spray defoliants. Heavy spray defoliants are also more effective when humidity is moderately high. A slight breeze helps to get good distribution and plant coverage.

In harvesting, make sure only dry, wide-open bolls are picked. Wait until eight or nine o'clock in the morning to start your mechanical picker in order to get the best gin-ning cotton and the highest quality lint cotton. Green cotton and wet cotton will stain the lint and change color enough to lower the grade.

Keep trash out of cotton as much as possible. Handling cotton, especially if it is trashy and damp, imbeds the trash more firmly into the lint and makes cleaning more difficult. Pick cotton as dry, clean pack cotton in wagons, trucks, or trailers. This applies to both hand-picked and mechanically-picked cotton.

Leading A Dog's Life

By Dr. Worth Lanier
Extension Veterinarian

WE no longer hear the expression "leading a dog's life" when someone talks about hard times. Today, in most cases, a dog's life is one of luxury.

In the United States the dog food industry alone is almost a billion dollar business. Well-equipped and well-staffed, small animal hospitals are no further than a telephone call away. Ornate pet motels are built everywhere. And many lavish motels and hotels now advertise that Rover is welcome. Yet there is more to come.

There is a drug now in an experimental stage that can cure dogs of fleas and ticks for life and by the oral dose. Other drugs claim to do away with the doggy odor, and it may not be too long until your dog will no longer shed hair on rugs and furniture. Even with all these advances, the dog owner is in for some unpleasant times unless certain practices are followed.

The New Puppy

When the new puppy arrives, the owner soon finds that someone is likely to be kept awake for a night or two. Prepare a box or small enclosure before the puppy arrives. Immediately upon arrival, place the puppy in its bed and leave it alone for an hour or so until it can look over its surroundings. By all means don't feed it for several hours. By bringing a familiar object or some piece of bedding along with the puppy, the time it cries will be shortened considerably. Also, remember that the puppy's stomach is small and it must be fed small amounts several times a day. A good rule to follow is six weeks old—six times daily; 10 weeks old—four times daily; three months old—three times daily; six months old—two times daily; one year or older—once daily.

Of course, where table scraps are supplementing the diet, this schedule can be changed with no bad effects. One good point to remember is if the puppy refuses the meal you are feeding him, do not keep trying. Wait about five minutes, remove the pan, and wait until the next regular feeding time to give him any food. Don't give the young puppy different or exotic foods. For example, I recall a case where a young toy terrier ate about 12 fried oysters. He died. Any abrupt change in diet is never good.

The puppy is to be a house dog, begin the house training immediately. There are several good ways to teach this, but none seems to be better than the newspaper plan. This consists of spreading newspapers in the general area of the puppy's sleeping area. When the puppy starts to void, he should be scolded and placed on a piece of paper. After a few such scoldings, he will learn to use the paper. If possible, the first time he uses the paper himself, reward him with a tasty biscuit or a small piece of meat.

Worms are the first health concern that should be checked. There is one point to be stressed—internal parasites can be prevented in dogs. While it is true that the new-born puppy can have hookworms which were present in the mother, most heavily infested puppies are in that condition because the second fertilized like the farmer normally would have fertilized without a soil test; and the third, a black plot, left unfertilized. Records are kept and the results are shown to farmers and businessmen to study the results.

Fertilizer result demonstrations, found in practically every Alabama county, are showing how valuable soil testing is in determining how much fertilizer of fertilizers to use. County agents are conducting demonstrations on forage and crops this year.

Each cooperating farmer works closely with his county agent to follow the fertilizer recommendations from the soil test. In almost every demonstration, the farmer has three plots—one fertilized by soil test; of poor sanitation. Soon after the puppy arrives, collect the puppy's stool and urinate it to a local veterinarian. He can examine it and tell what type, if any, worms are present and how many. He can then prescribe the treatment. One precaution—do not buy a "shotgun" worm treatment. Many times the removed, clean feeding pans and clean surroundings almost always prevent any succeeding infection.

Vaccinate the puppy after it has become accustomed to its new owners and its new home. The three main diseases—distemper, hepatitis, and rabies—can be prevented by these vaccinations. The owner should talk to the local veterinarian and follow his advice to the letter as to when these vaccinations should be given.

By carrying out the above procedures, your dog can be a source of pleasure for years to come. Spend some time with your dog and train him so that he will not develop bad habits. Realize that your puppy is subject to minor disorders just as a young baby. Colds, colic, and rashes, are quite common. If a veterinarian should be consulted, if a sick veterinarian should be consulted. If an owner of a healthy dog is a proud owner, an unhealthy dog can be a source of trouble and expense which could alter man's attachment to his best friend.

I have been asked many times which sex makes the most desirable pet. This is hard to answer. The female seems to adjust to the home better. The male is of a more violent temperament and usually limits his friendship only to the owner and his immediate family.

Treat Grain Before Planting

By Norman E. McGlothin
Extension Plant Pathologist

ALABAMA farmers are making plans now to plant countless acres of small grain. Many of the farmers are undecided about using treated seed. It's good insurance to treat all small grain seed before planting them because it insures a good stand and larger yields.

The chemical treatment kills the harmful organisms which exist on the seed and in the soil. Besides killing seed-borne, disease-producing organisms, it provides protection from soil-borne organisms. Treated seed have more resistance to cold, damp, or dry soil for a period of time. They have more strength and vitality to fight off the diseases which thrive on the seed and soil.

The cost of treating the seed will only be a few cents per bushel, yet it could be the difference between a poor and a good stand of grain.

There are many commercial chemicals such as Ceresan M, Panogen, and others that will penetrate the hulls of the kernel and kill these harmful disease organisms which cause seed rots and seedling blights.

Year after year, one fact is certain. It pays to have every bushel of small grain seed now to the chancier.

Plant ahead and treat your small grain seed now so the chances will be plenty of time to penetrate the cracks and seal off the seed and destroy disease-causing spores.

Let seed treatment become a standard practice in your small grain program as it has with other major crops.

A great many Alabama youngsters will be going to college this fall. For some it will be a new experience. For others, it will be a reunion with last year's classmates. Regardless of the way school affects the young people, it's a change of routine for the whole household. A cup of coffee and a mud saucer for the school bus—the breakfast routine in many Alabama homes, and a breakfast like this puts the whole day's meal schedule out of balance. This practice could lead to poor nutrition and even illness, reports Auburn Extension Service Consumer Education Specialist Dorothy Overley.

Too many people underestimate the importance of breakfast. Experiments show that workers and students who have a good breakfast out perform those who hurry through a few bites and a few gulps, or those who don't bother with breakfast at all. Breakfast accomplishes less the first hour they work than those who have had a good meal before starting to work. As the morning moves along, the hungry workers get even less efficient. After lunch, they work better, but it isn't long before they slow up again. The same thing happens to homemakers and small children who don't eat breakfast.

Some people don't realize the nutritional importance of making the first meal of the day a good one. Others just never seem to have time to think about a better breakfast. Let alone eat it. Still others choose their breakfast items by standards that don't hold up in the light of modern nutritional knowledge.

Breakfast And Vitamins

Breakfast is an ideal time to get some vitamins—especially the all-important vitamin C which can't be stored in the body and must be eaten each day.

For that reason, fruit holds first place in the breakfast menu. It also is an excellent means to prevent constipation.

Citrus fruits are outstanding as sources of vitamin C. Half a glass, or four ounces, of orange juice or grapefruit juice, or half a grapefruit will give you a good forward providing the day's vitamin C needs.

Plan Before You Decorate Your Home

By Alice Peavy
Extension Home Furnishings Specialist

Are you getting ready to redecorate your home? If so, you will want to make a written plan. You wouldn't think of building a house or dress out a blueprint, now would you? And it's just as important that you have a plan to follow in making changes in your home.

The first thing you'll need to do is list the activities of the family members, and then decide where these activities will take place. For example, you may need to plan for club meetings, a play space for small children, a convenient location for the television, a sewing center, and a studying center.

After you have allotted space for everything, take a good look at your furnishings. Often it becomes necessary to shift some furniture to make room for what you have, where you'll need it, and what new furniture you need to buy. To do this in a orderly manner, make a form like this for each room.

Kind of Furniture	Condition	Repair or Refinish
Walls
Floors
Base or Carpets
Window Treatment
Accessories

Let the whole family share in the responsibility of planning and doing the work. Sometimes it takes more time and patience to let you do them well, you are off to a good start. Next, you will plan a color scheme for the home. This will require careful and careful study, for color can make or ruin the final effect.

These are the first steps of planning. If

Cold And Refreshing Summer Treat

By Joyce Prescott

FRESH homemade ice cream! Just think—there's nothing more refreshing than this cold rich goodness melting in your mouth, or with crushed fruit added just before freezing for different tastes and flavors.

Not so long ago when a family made homemade ice cream, one of the youngsters had to sit on a folded burrito bag or blanket atop the freezer. Dad turned on the handle. But now more and more people are buying electric freezers which do away with the turning or cranking. All you do is pour the custard into the freezer can, pack the ice and salt—part of salt—around it, plug the motor in, and let electricity do the work for you.

If you still prefer the old fashioned crank freezer, remember to turn the crank slowly, and evenly until the turning gets difficult. This means the ice cream has frozen properly not making homemade ice cream for your family soon? Here are three easy recipes for that old fashioned flavor.

Cooked Custard	3 eggs
1 pint heavy cream	3 eggs
1 quart heavy cream	1 tablespoon flour
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt

of the vines to dry and settle. On bunch varieties, the vines should be picked up and left to dry about one-half. Be sure to leave enough vine or top so that the pick-up attachment on the shaker and combine will pick up the plants.

In the digging operation, use sharp digger blades set deep enough to clip the taproot. Blades set too deeply hang and drag; those set too shallow clip off peanuts in the ground. To increase efficiency and reduce wear, adjust the height of the shaker so that the digger blades are eight to ten inches over the shaker without touching the vines. Speed of the conveyor unit should slightly exceed the forward motion of the shaker to prevent a roll-up of vines ahead of the unit and dragging-off pods under the pick-up bars.

Usually digger-shakers must be run slower for digging Virginia type peanuts than for runners. The large pods of the Virginia type varieties will pull off in the soil if the shaker is running too fast or if the soil is too wet for easy firmness.

For easy firmness, level surface for the digger, attach a heavy beam drag under the shaker. This makes an ideal surface for the operation of the combine pick-up unit, speeds up drying, and minimizes losses in rainy weather.

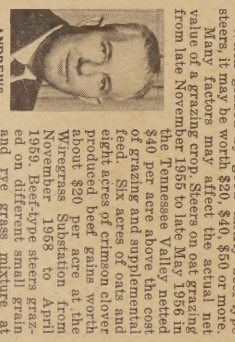

Special precautions should be taken to see that windrows are properly spaced so that they can be combined without running over the peanuts with the wheels. A windrow consisting of two rows is usually satisfactory for

WHAT is an acre of good, lush winter grazing worth? That all depends.

When grazed by good, healthy beef-type steers, it will yield $20 to $30 or more. Many factors may affect this value. The value of a grazing crop. Steers on oat grass in late November 1965 to late May 1966 in the Tennessee Valley netted $40 per acre above the cost of grazing and supplemental feed. Six acres of oats and eight acres of crimson clover produced beef gains worth about $20 per acre at the N. W. Hargraves Substation from November 1965 to May 1966. Steers grazed on different small grain and rye grass mixtures at Raymond, Miss., over a three-year period returned above costs of pasture and steers an estimated average of $68 per acre.

Over a two-year period at the Lower Coastal Plain Substation at Camden, beef steers gained 366 pounds per acre on rye, ryegrass and crimson clover pastures. The winter grazing pasture was seeded in a separate seedbed in the fall. The seedbed was fertilized with 1950 Beef-type steers grazed on alfalfa and crimson clover and seeded coastal bermuda made beef gains of 244 pounds per acre during the same period.

Last September John C. Hardin of Moulton seeded about 65 acres of small grains—oats, barley, and rye—for grazing and grain on 34 head of beef steers on the area. The steers were removed from the field about the first of March. During the 107-day grazing period the steers gained an average of 163 pounds per steer. After deducting the cost of the supplemental feed, the Lawrence County farmer figured the grazing was worth about $18 per acre or $29 per steer. To put it another way, the Lawrence County farmer was worth about $1,000 more in March than he was in November, and the steers did most of the work. Later the grazing crops were harvested for grain.

Why is this so? The answer to these money-making research projects and farm success stories?

Fertilize Winter Grazing By A Soil Test

By Dr. Walter Sowell
Extension Soil Specialist

ALABAMA cattlemen are planning for the future by attempting to have plenty of grazing this winter and next. Many cattlemen run out of grazing and hay, and now's the time to establish crops to keep this serious problem from happening again.

Our soils are not natural grass producers. But, with good management, they are capable of growing nutritious pasture and forage plants. Our principal tools for producing more feed per acre are fertilizer and lime. The best way to determine the amount of fertilizer and lime to apply? A soil test is the only rapid and accurate way. By taking a soil sample, the soil needs and the research information is applied directly to the field.

Fertilizing pasture and grazing crops means applying plant nutrients to the soil in rapid, uniform drying and makes an adequate load for combine picking.

In bright, open weather—when the moisture of the pods is about 25 per cent or when the peanuts are dry enough to rattle when shaken—peanuts should be dried artificially to about 10 per cent moisture. This is important to avoid mold and aflatoxin content. Hiss equipped with a fan dryer should be filled to a depth of about four feet. Artificially heated air can be used to speed up drying provided the temperature does not exceed 95 degrees. Higher temperatures may cause kernel splitting, skin slippage, and off flavors. The heat should be turned off when peanuts near the top reach about 12 per cent moisture. But the fan should run until they cool, for seed operators at the slowest speed should be able to maintain top efficiency. Studies show that mechanical injury in picking, shelling, and handling is a major cause of lowered seed quality.

Because of the high cost of seed, growers should do everything possible to preserve the quality of seed peanuts.

the proper ratio—that is, in the correct amounts necessary to meet the nutritive requirements of the plants.

Getting fertilizer applied in the right places at the right time is another job that requires some attention. Fertilizer may be applied in many different ways. But, remember that it must be placed where young seedlings can get it.

Band seeding and placing the fertilizer to the side and below the seed is highly satisfactory. This puts the nutrients close to the seed but not close enough to hurt the germination.

If your equipment will not band the fertilizer to the side and below the seed, broadcast and disk lightly unless an established sod, a top application is satisfactory. Regardless of the method, spread the fertilizer evenly over the entire field.

Properly fertilized forage and pasture crops provide more days of grazing, and more nutrients, more food of grazing, and more meat and milk.

Have a soil test made to learn what plants need, and how much of them are needed. Don't guess.

Marketing Control

Vertical integration is the control of any two steps in the production, processing, and marketing of a product. The farmer, through the ownership of his cooperative, has practiced vertical integration all along.

The farmer can control his own operation through his cooperative. But if cooperatives are to remain successful, they must become larger, market top quality products, carry on strong advertising and merchandising programs, increase their services, keep up with the changing times, and supply their members with all the services and financial assistance that can be obtained from other kinds of marketing firms.

Bigger Farmers—Fewer Farmers
Latest census figures say 3,328 U. S. farms are getting larger. In 1923 there were 63,328 U. S. farms of 1,000 acres and over. And in 1969 there were 136,259 in this category—nine per cent of all farms today.

Irish Are Best Eaters
Ireland topped the nations of the world in 1958 in calories available per day, according to the latest United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization Yearbook on food production. The average Irishman had 3500 calories per day in 1958, as compared with 3100 calories for the average American.

Indicators
Information gathered every year gives farmers and farm related businesses valuable leads on what to expect.

The sale of fertilizers is one of the sensitive indicators. Last year, the total tonnage of fertilizer purchased through March was up over 20,000 tons from the same period a year ago; so Alabama growers are trying hard for another good year in crop yields and production.

Fly Control
A nearly perfect control of the face fly has been achieved in the laboratory by adding a small amount of insecticide to dairy feed.

Experiments show that certain organic phosphorus insecticides pass almost undigested through cattle and make their manure highly toxic to face fly larvae. These larvae develop only in fresh manure. Similar studies show this method may also help in controlling the housefly. We will be on the lookout for this chemical to appear on the market soon.

SCHOOL bells are ringing—or they soon will be. And Mother, your family meals will need to ring a bell, too.

With the children in school again, you will need to plan meals even more carefully to be sure they provide for the nutritional needs of your family. It is a proved fact that children get along best in school when they eat the best.

PRICKETT
For children 6 to 11 years, old, milk is one of the important foods. If you have a child who tends to be a little overweight, skim milk or buttermilk may supply part of the three or four glasses needed daily.

These may also be used to reduce the milk budget because they furnish the same food value as fresh whole milk with the exception of vitamin A. Milk is always hungry after school. Discourage their stopping at the store to buy candy or other sweets. Instead, provide a glass of milk or ice cream. A peanut butter sandwich, raw carrots, fresh fruits, or ready-to-eat cereal. Are You On A Sodium Restricted Diet?

"MARY I am going to put you on a sodium restricted diet," The words of your physician still ring in your ears, and you are confused. But maybe a little explanation and a few simple rules will help you to understand.

1. Do not use monosodium glutamate when cooking.
Water is another source of sodium. And the amount in drinking water varies in different areas. Water that has been softened usually has sodium added. If this is the case, use distilled water when you see if you should use a distilled water.

A third source of sodium is medicine. Check with your doctor before you use any prescribed medicine—even for a headache. Sodium is found in such medicines as antacids, laxatives, pain relievers, cough medicines, some toothpaste, tooth powder, and mouth wash contain sodium.

In following your diet, remember you must not only count milligrams of sodium, you must also count milligrams of potassium. Potassium is a diet which provides all the foods you must eat. Potassium is found in many of the same foods as sodium. Potassium is essential because nutrients supply heat and energy, nourish body tissues, and supply material for body growth. They also regulate such functions of the body as breathing, blood circulation, and digestion.

Plan and follow your sodium restricted diet carefully. Face your condition honestly, and change your food habits so that you might be a healthier, happier person.

The information in this article is in accordance with the recommendations of the American Heart Association. For further help, contact your physician or your local Heart Association.

They must supply their body with the correct food if it functions at its best.

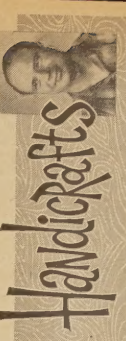

When you plan the meals for your family, you will need to know the type of food eaten by the children at school and the foods eaten between their meals. Plan your family meals to supply their other food needs.

If you want this to be a successful school year, you must know the type of food eaten by the children at school and the foods eaten between their meals. Plan your family meals to supply their other food needs.

MORRILL

EAST Alabama Male College was established in 1872. At that time it was the only college in Alabama. Agricultural and Mechanical College of Alabama. The institution was renamed Auburn University in 1939. In 1939, as a result of a bill introduced into the state legislature, the institution became Auburn University. Jesse Harvey, a resident of Sumter County and an alumnus of Auburn, introduced the bill.

Like other land-grant colleges throughout the United States, Auburn University is pledged to provide practical education available to the masses. It included the applications of the arts and sciences as a part of this practical training.

At the 1872 name implied, the teaching of agriculture, mechanic arts, and military science was required in Auburn's initial curriculum. However, neither the arts and sciences or any other field of knowledge was ever discounted at Auburn. As a matter of fact, quite the opposite is true. Almost from the beginning, Auburn has been a college in the United States through a wide range of subject matter. Auburn has no exception. Historically, Auburn has encouraged its students to select their course work in such a way that they might gain a broad, liberal education.

Those who attend this modern university today have a wide choice from which to select their course of study.

time and fertilizer to use; and the time and method of planting.

Figure on about three-fourths of an acre per steer. This may not furnish all the grazing needed during the winter months. If grazing is not adequate, graze cattle only part of the day.

Use the right crops or mixtures. Bye, rye grass, and crimson clover, oats, barley, or wheat alone or in combination with crimson clover or vetch or oats, barley, or crimson clover are good crops to use. Most likely it is best not to depend on one crop alone. Abundant feed will turn the earliest grazing in the fall and winter into the spring season clover and the latest in the spring.

Time and fertilize according to soil test and top-dress with nitrogen as soon as the crop is up to a stand.

Get land ready early by breaking, disking and harrowing to provide a firm, smooth seed bed. This will control weeds and conserve moisture.

Use plenty of good seed to get a stand. Plant on time if moisture conditions permit. And be prepared to control insects in the fall.

Stock the pastures with healthy, "good doing," beef-type steers when grazing is four to six months high. Don't overgraze. Overgrazed plants recover slowly. Be sure you have supplemental feed to keep steers gaining when crops cannot be grazed.

In late spring, keep a close watch on the quality of the grazing. Be ready to move the herd off or to market when grazing is not profitable. Use surplus grazing as hay or stlage.

Students, whose there are more than 100,000, are provided with a wide range of academic standing rank very high.

Serving a resident student body of about 9, Auburn is large enough to enjoy all the advantages of a large university in a small town atmosphere and to provide for the individual student. With its research and Extension arms reaching out to serve the people of the state, its benefits, strengths, and advantages come into immediate focus.

In addition to 420 acres and 60 buildings and laboratories on the regular campus, the University owns 15,658 acres of land with buildings at 10 sub-experiment stations, five experiment fields, five forestry units, and the main experiment station at Auburn.

Auburn is made up of nine different undergraduate schools. In addition the college has a graduate school. Where those meeting degree requirements may study in many different departments. Students may choose their course work from more than 1,900 graduate and undergraduate courses as listed in the catalogue.

Auburn maintains a high academic standard, but at the same time, keeps both feet on the ground. Like other land-grant college systems established by the Morrill Act of 1862, Auburn holds to the idea that knowledge should be useful and that it should help people find a better way of life.

This fact is kept in mind when the curriculum is planned in order to meet the needs of the individual students. Those who study at Auburn are given the opportunity of opportunity for individual learning, experience, and growth.

A student at Auburn can take part in a number of extra-curricular activities. These help broaden his over-all educational experience and improve his ability to cope with actual life situations.

In the school year 1960-1961, Auburn University sponsored 12 campus-wide lectures, 24 musicals, and five major dramatic productions. Also on campus were numerous interscholastic sports, athletic contests, inter-collegiate sports, and a wide variety of other activities designed to meet the physical, social, spiritual, and intellectual needs of growing numbers of young men and women who attend Auburn.

COTTON HARVESTING (from 4)

Regardless of how much drying equipment a gin may have, cotton can still get too wet to gin properly. It can be ginned properly with a lint moisture of six per cent. A dryer at recommended temperatures of 210 degrees or less will remove up to three per cent of moisture. Cotton contains 10 per cent of moisture. Therefore, cotton must be needed to bring it down to the correct where quality is best preserved in ginning.

The thermometer location greatly affects the temperatures a ginner may use without overheating the cotton. When the thermometer is located just behind the point where the hot air and seed cotton come together, it should never read over 210 degrees. The temperature should be much less if the thermometer is located at the outlet end of the dryer or else the cotton would have gotten much too hot when it first met the hot air.

Use only enough cleaning equipment to keep trash to a minimum without damage to the fiber.

Research on feeding dairy cows green-chop cottonseed hulls and grazing Starr millet at the Gulf Coast Substation showed no significant difference in milk production of the two groups on test. Green-chop cotton of the hull proved to be expensive because of added labor, machinery, and equipment costs.

FISH KILLER—Low oxygen in farm fish ponds may upset the pond's oxygen balance and the good fishing. When fish in a pond die from this cause, a fishery biologist of the State Department of Conservation should be contacted to determine the effect on the population and to recommend corrective measures.

PLASTIC GREENHOUSES—Inexpensive greenhouses made from plastic film are more convenient than heated glass, types of forcing cost include area covered, type film, and type structure. However, the cost is much less than that of glasshouses. The type material and film used will determine the life of the greenhouse.

LARGE ONION SETS—Using larger sets will increase yields of green onions with the use of in-phase dependent on other practices used. If the sets are 10 to 12 inches in size, use instead of 4 to 6 inches. The yield increased 2,766 pounds on plots with wide spacing (four inches), and no irrigation. Increases were 5,458 pounds with close spacing (one inch) and no irrigation and 8,589 pounds with close spacing and irrigation.

MOISTURE PRODUCES COTTON—Yields in excess of 6,000 pounds of seed cotton per acre have been produced in Alabama when adequate moisture through irrigation and fertilization were combined with other good management practices. Cotton has high nitrogen responses to nitrogen rates as high as 560 pounds of nitrogen per acre. However, with 120 pounds of nitrogen and insect control, about 120 pounds of seed cotton per acre is a more practical rate for potential for cotton yield, such production is not necessarily practical at present.

OLD HOUSES—Ten per cent of 3,570 houses in a survey on rural housing were vacant. Two out of every five of these vacant houses were classified as unsuitable for occupancy. More than one-third of the houses in the sample were built before 1930, and 50 per cent of the rural residents owned the houses they occupied. Thirty per cent rented, and the remainder lived in houses rent free.

PRODUCTIVE CROP—Pensacola bahia grass has grown in both coastal and central Alabama. On wet soils it has been a productive crop. In northern Alabama bahia has been used as a cover crop and given high animal yields but produced for a shorter time than in southern Alabama. Pensacola bahia has been more successful than coastal Bermuda on soils of low fertility but less productive on droughty soils.

THE WAY I SEE IT (from 4)
It is not too late for us to do an adequate and acceptable job of developing our rural resources. However, if we must recognize the fact that in the future, we must be taken in that direction. We must try to add to the knowledge that we now have and design an Alabama development strategy—a vigorous Rural Resources Development program.

Great Day Ahead

CATFISH PROVIDE GOOD FAMILY EATING

When someone mentions hush puppies, catfish immediately come to mind.

According to a survey conducted recently by Extension Fish and Wildlife Specialist Earl Kennamer, more and more people are enjoying good catfish and hush puppies.

The survey, which was conducted in 10 counties among wholesale fish dealers, indicates that in these counties alone, about 60 tons of catfish are sold each month. But the startling point is that the fish dealers said they could have sold about 75 tons more if they could have gotten the fish. And of the amount sold, about one-half came from other states.

If the interest shown at a recent school on growing catfish is any indication, in about two years, the situation will change. Forty-one pondowners from 21 counties attended this meeting which was conducted by Kennamer. And the fish expert says that county agents over the state report that over half of those attending the one-day school have already made definite plans to build ponds this fall.

This enterprise could mean thousands of dollars to the economy of the state. And that doesn't even take in all the good eating new catfish ponds will make possible.

The channel catfish is one of the best-flavored fresh water species. Too, it has fewer tiny bones which make it easier to eat. These two qualities make the channel catfish good for the market.

Pond Construction

It's best to build catfish ponds at least one acre in size, but not over five acres, Kennamer says. Larger ponds will produce catfish, but you must develop markets to handle catfish you harvest when you drain the pond. Building a catfish pond is the same as for any other pond, but remember to place the drain pipe so that all the water will drain. If a pothole is left, it may contain great numbers of harvestable fish.

Stocking

The most efficient yields have been obtained by stocking between 2,000 and 3,000 fingerlings per acre in March or April. A farmer will have to get his fingerlings from a commercial source because the state and federal hatcheries do not produce this species.

Shown here is a string of catfish caught from the pond of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hays of Eden Rd. 1. The 50,000 fingerlings a year ago. New fish range between one and three pounds. Holding the fish are, left to right, County Agent H. L. Eubanks, Mr. and Mrs. Hays, and Assistant County Agent Joe Yates.

Harvest Time

Channel catfish stocked in early March and managed properly will be ready for harvest by late October or early November. With good survival of young fish and with proper management, stocking 3,000 fingerlings per acre will probably yield around 2,000 or more pounds of catfish per acre averaging between three-fourths to one pound each. Harvesting is done simply by draining the pond.

Production Costs and Returns

Profits from commercial production of channel catfish depend upon the price received per pound of dressed fish minus the cost of production. With good results you can expect $150 to $200 per acre net income. Costs involved are price of fingerlings, treatment, feed and fertilizer, and labor for management, including dressing, packing, and marketing fish.

The cost per fingerling is perhaps the most critical factor. If the cost is more than five cents each per fish, you may get little or no profit. For more complete details see your county agent.

Officer Lawrence To Be Some Time Recuperating

HIGHWAY Patrol Officer, W. (Billy) Lawrence, who was seriously and painfully injured in an automobile accident on the Layton Highway, July 11th.

Lawrence has some broken vertebrae in his neck that are giving him quite a bit of pain and discomfort. He also has three broken ribs, but reports are that they should mend quickly.

His jawbone and teeth are his worst ailment at present. His mouth is wired shut and he has to be fed with a tube. It will be some weeks before he can open his mouth with any degree of comfort. After his jaw heals he will then have to have a dental surgeon work on his damaged and loosened teeth.

The doctors say the time it will take to heal the broken jaw depends on the amount of calcium in his body. He's in for quite a bit of pain and discomfort in the weeks to come. Your thoughts, concern and prayers can mean a lot to him on his road to recovery.

Deputy Sheriff T. J. Lockhart, who was a passenger in the car at the time of the accident was injured, but not severely and is able to be up and around again.

First Graders Must Have Birth Record

It is a law of the State of Alabama that all children entering school in September, 1961 for the first time must be six years old or before October 1, 1961. To prove it is necessary for parents to have a birth certificate for their children. Courthouse to be Occupied Oct. 1st

Officials Plan To Move In Lock, Stock And Barrel By October

WORD was released by Probate Judge J. C. White early this week that the contractors of the new County Courthouse Building will complete their work by September 1st, if all goes well an occupancy of the courthouse should be possible by the first of October.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY:

It has now been over two and one-half years since I assumed office as Probate Judge of Chilton County and Chairman of the Board of Revenue and Control. It has been the policy of my office to cooperate and serve you the people in every way humanly possible.

The employees in my office have been fully aware of my policy in these matters and have cooperated with me to the fullest.

I have consulted with you on many occasions in trying to find out how we might better serve and assist you. I wish to continue this practice so long as I act and serve you as your Probate Judge. Should you have suggestions to make as to how my office can more efficiently serve you, I would greatly appreciate your advising me or my office force.

The County has a tremendous road and bridge building program under way. I hope you can have the opportunity of traveling over our County and observe the many projects now under construction.

May I mention some of these projects. The Midway-Elmore County Line and Mt. Creek road has recently been completed. The Sardis, highway eighty-two and Stanton road and bridges are nearing completion. The Jemison-Rocky Mount and Union Grove road has just been completed. In the Collins Chapel community we have the Collins Chapel and Jemison road, the Collins Chapel and the Experiment Station and Double Bridge road, the New Salem and Yellowleaf Creek road now being constructed. The Bean's Store and Isabella road connection road is nearing completion, besides many improvement road projects now under construction.

The New Courthouse and Jail are progressing toward completion. For your information, I hope that in the near future we will have a definite date of completion on these two projects.

The plans are as you have probably heard is to have a dedication program and to make it possible for each of you to go through the New Courthouse and Jail, and view the beautiful job that has been done.

May I take this opportunity of thanking each of you for the find support you have given the Board of Revenue and Control, and County Engineer, Mr. R. M. Alexander our road employees, the office force of the Board of Revenue and Control, my personal office staff in the Probate Office and myself.

Please come to see us and let us know if we can ever be of help to you.

Your friend,
J. C. White,
Judge of Probate

626 Attend 3-Day Circuit Assembly Of Witnesses

SOME 626 persons, representing 14 Congregations, were present in Clanton for the three-day Circuit Assembly held last week-end.

"The great technical advances of our 20th century have largely blinded mankind to the significance of the Bible prophecy as it applies to our day. Despite this indifference, however, there is an urgent need for understanding the Bible prophecy as Man's eternal destiny depends on it," declared John P. Sutherland, District supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses assembled in Clanton, Alabama, Sunday, July 30, 1961.

Members of the Clanton congregation were among the present to hear the discourse "The Twentieth Century in Bible Prophecy" delivered by Mr. Sutherland as a climax to a three day Circuit Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses held in Clanton.

William E. Robinson, presiding minister of the local congregation stated that, "The assembly held in Clanton was for the purpose of Christian fellowship and learning better ways of helping others to understand God's purposes."

Responsibility--

THERE seems to be much tongue-wagging and finger pointing from the Republican camp with regards to the Democrats -- in office -- bringing on wars!

In effect, they are saying that Democrats, as a body, are not good Americans. This we resent!

The malady seems to be confined to local Republicans, for those in Congress have agreed, practically as one, that the decisions in Berlin have been right, and in the best interests of the American people.

The smug 'I told you so' attitude of some of our self-righteous Republican friends is in no wise a solution, or even a suggestion for the problem at hand, neither does it bring out the possibilities of what they would do in a like situation.

Bro. John Kennedy is growing fast to fit into his oversized political britches, much the same as our own John Patterson here in this State. Mr. Nixon would have, by now, probably made some glorious speeches on the dangers of this or that move and, concerning the situation on Berlin, would most likely have turned to the people for his decision on the matter. We could not advise on the Berlin crisis because we do not know enough about it. We don't know of a single Republican, in the immediate area, who could do so, either!

It is also our contention that had Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Nixon 'carried a bigger stick' with regards to the Communists, we would not face the situation that we now face! We have pampered them to the point of war, simply because they do not completely understand our determination or our abilities.

We are convinced that the only way to avoid a war with Russia or anyone else, is through our strength and that includes similarity of purpose and unity at home. Saying 'I told you so' is whistling in the dark when it comes to getting the job done. And as far as we are concerned it is not the United States way of progressing and doing things.

There is no place in a strong and free society for childish finger pointing and cry babies!

Wise Words To Commit To Memory--

A LOCAL fellow, whose initials are I. S. L., has made the following quote with regards to our foreign policy and the unadulterated squandering of our natural resources on parasite nations. "Tell them," he says, that "we can help you with your economy, but we cannot, and will not, give you your prosperity!" Wise words, in anyone's language, with which we heartily concur and words which we recommend to our political appointees and elected officials to commit to memory as part of their advice to underdeveloped nations, whether they be underdeveloped by fortune or by choice!

Yankee Logic (or, Kick That Rebel)--

ANOTHER reason some of the areas to the north do not understand our situation down here below the Mason-Dixon: A local man was in an area of the north recently and he said that in the period of one week he saw only three Negroes. It's understandable then, that those northern folk do not know of what they are speaking when they condemn and chastize us for this or that. Some areas of the north are well populated with the Negro, others are not. Neither, it would seem, use much logic, or show much ability or desire to understand, when it comes to analyzing the domestic situation of another section of the country, especially when it is an area to be jealous of, because of it's progress, it's broad-minded people and it's abundance of God-given natural resources -- The South!

Ready To Take The Big One--

REGARDLESS of the multitude of opinions to the contrary, Clanton and Chilton County are making strides in the field of acquiring new industry. Not great strides mind you, but some pretty large steps have been taken, and for a beginner, they are impressive ones.

In many ways Chilton County is well out in front of other counties in the State and we firmly believe

Live Through Vacation

Make vacations happy by living through them, advised Chief of Police Wallace Foshee.

"Don't come home to your funeral," he said.

During the 4-day July 4 holiday 519 persons died in traffic accidents, 232 were drowned and 141 died of other accidents, according to the National Safety Council report.

"Highway traffic is heavy during vacation months and holidays," stated Chief Foshee, urging, "Leave early enough to have time to spare, both going to and returning from your vacation."

RAYS OF HOPE

Virginia H. Stover

This week we turn our thoughts to "disappointment." Few experiences of life are more disturbing than to be forever disappointed, yet life is made up of things that tend to bring disappointment. It is hard to know how to offset disappointment. If we possess an unusual amount of fear we have courage to set-off it; if we are lonely we have friends that help combat it; if we have sorrow we find an inner peace has disappointment brings a feeling of futility that is hard to cope with.

If I should offer a remedy for disappointment (which I not) I can think of only one practical way to get it out of our minds, and that is to treat it as one would a bad habit. Get busy on a new idea or job that would occupy the mind as quickly as possible. Even then it leaves its hurt.

One thing the Christian can be assured of, however is that there will be no disappointment in Heaven. No bright happy days interrupted with the unwelcome presence of death or sickness. No financial set backs to shatter our world and no wars to keep us in a state of dread and confusion. Something to think about, isn't it? Rev. 24:4.

"So we go on not knowing, We would not let it be might, We had rather walk in the dark of day with God

Than to walk alone in the light."

When little Ellen Andrews, of Mobile, visited Bellingrath Gardens she was fascinated with the giant hibiscus which towered over her. These plants are unusually large in size and attract the attention of most visitors to the gardens along with the roses, allamandas, exora, hydrangeas, delails, lilacs and the many foliage plants that provide the costume for Bellingrath Garden's summer dress.

that in the coming five years, Chilton County will hit it's stride, industrially speaking.

One thing is undeniably certain; we have only one way to go. That makes the basic job a little easier.

Honorable Men--

MEN in public life do not enjoy the obscurity of the private citizen and therefore must be concerned with honor and integrity. This is not to say that private citizens are not honorable, but rather that they do not continuously find it necessary to prove it, as does the public servant.

A man in private life proves his honor, or lack of it, by his character in the community. The public servant must continuously prove it by his actions. We had it brought to our attention this week that public servants are human beings, also. It is broadening and invigorating to deal with honorable men in public life. It is nauseating to deal with men in public life, who would have you believe they are honorable, yet do not know the meaning of the word. Honor, like truth, is a basic principle of life. It cannot be turned on and off at will and, when properly engrained, cannot easily be covered or cajoled. We are glad that most of our public servants in Chilton County are engrained with honor and truth! It is the only way we will prosper.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

A general farm bill, backed by the Administration but bearing little resemblance to the President's original proposal, was passed by voice vote in the House or Representatives last Thursday. A day earlier the Senate passed a similar measure.

Major provisions of the House-approved bill establish a stopgap price control program for the 1962 wheat crop and extended through next year the emergency feed grain price support plan. The measure also continues food for peace exports of surplus commodities to friendly foreign nations, broadens farm credit regulations, extends the wool subsidy program for five years, extends the subsidized school milk program for five years, and endorses a long term soil conservation program for the Great Plains.

SURPLUSES CUT

In extending the overseas surplus food disposal program, the House bill provides for closer congressional supervision over the distribution of commodities. During consideration of the bill, an amendment was adopted to express the intent of Congress that the Administration should not sanction commercial arrangements to ship surplus commodities to communist-dominated nations.

Administration officials estimate that the 10 per cent mandatory cut in wheat acreages and the one-year, extension of the feed grains program that is already in effect, will save the government at least $750 million in the cost of handling wheat and corn surpluses. There two provisions of the bill are also expected to raise farm income substantially. The new wheat program provides bonus payments for reductions beyond the mandatory amount. To be eligible for feed grain price supports farmers must cut production by 20 per cent below the average crop for 1959-60. According to government officials, the feed grain program now in operation has already resulted in cutting the 1961 corn crop by 700 million bushels.

The House approved bill omits, as does the Senate measure, many key proposals by the Administration for revamping price support programs. One of these proposals, strongly backed by Agriculture Secretary Freeman, involved crop by crop programs to be agreed upon by farmers advisory committees and submitted to Congress only for acceptance or veto.

MILITARY CONSTRUCTION FUNDS

By a roll call vote of 409-0, the House of Representatives passed and sent to the Senate last week a bill appropriating $83 million for construction at military installations in the United States and abroad for fiscal 1962. Approximately 36 per cent of the total amount appropriated was recommended for the construction of ballistic missile facilities.

VISITORS

We enjoyed a visit last week from Mrs. Sibley W. McGowan of Clanton.

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

BY CARL GOGGINS

The chop Kenneth Roberts District redistricting battle lines in the Senate are sharply drawn. The big fight is already underway. At this writing, as previously reported, the Senate Finance Committee favorably reported Gov. Patterson's general appropriations bill in order to get it onto the calendar so that the Rules Committee could force them on special order along with the Ferguson redistricting bill, reappointment and possibly Fayette Rep. James Brannon's Quicke Divorce bill.

At the end of last Friday's session, several factions were jockeying for bill position of the special ordering. From the talk of things it was indicated redistricting would be first on the order followed by reappointment and appropriation bill without the Quicke.

Redistricting supporters, but not those necessarily married to the Ferguson plan, were of the opinion unless the Ferguson bill which throws Reps. Roberts and Albert Rains into the same congressional district, come into focus early then no compromise could come forth if one does emerge or is desired by a majority of the senators. Ferguson bill supporters, which presently constitutes a majority, feel that if they can't pass the bill in 13 legislative days, or one third of the session, then it probably shouldn't pass.

If the aforementioned special order is not followed and say reappointment is first then look for Hailton's reshuffling measure to be killed or substituted for with Hale Sen. W. F. Wilson's 67 senator plan. If the appropriations bill is first, expectations now are they won't be filibustered. Naturally, the Ferguson bill, first or last, will be fought, and probably, as many politics feel, pass after a long hassle late in the session.

However, if the Ferguson bill opponents are really determined, the ax-Roberts measure might die; for this group can filibuster the Rules report and later filibuster the bill itself head-on. Then, too, Roberts' folk could filibuster everything on the special order, especially if they get a break and the redistricting measure isn't first on special order.

If this were to happen, a compromise be the only redistricting solution. By the same token, Calhoun Sen. A. C. Shelton, who is violently if not when a compromise is reached in the Senate, especially if the bill has to go to a conference committee, then it will be agreed that the compromise plan will be the final redistricting proposal and not some other plan the

MET with the Life Insurance Underwriters Association last Friday when they treated us to lunch. Very enjoyable occasion and the speaker, Mr. Roy L. Thomas Director of Field Training for Liberty National, brought out some points to these men which would suit any field of endeavor. The main one, of course, was that a man, any man, can do a better job tomorrow than he did today if he will just set his mind to it. He also elaborated on the importance of a change in attitude bearing on a man's change in life, whether he be successful or failure. The underwriters, who have been meeting every two months, voted without a dissenting vote, to meet once each month. They will have a meeting in August and plans are to have a speaker, possibly from Farm Bureau Insurance, at that time.

We owe half an apology to Mr. Paul Northcutt and the Oak Grove Church which had its regular 5th Sunday Hymn Singing, last Sunday. Our correspondent asked us to publish the notice on the front page as well as in the community news column and we had it all, written out and everything and left it at our typewriter. We did get it in the community column however and we hope it was a huge success. Now, that we've gone and admitted the error, we might as well go ahead and offer a 'whole' apology. We never did get any sense in doing anything, half way. We're all the way, plumb, and wholly sorry, you all folks at Oak Grove. 'Hope you'll forgive us'!

MR. Ed Clapp, over Maplesville way, says to us that his wife said that the article we ran last week concerning the new Bank of Maplesville is the clearest, simplest and most understandable article yet published on the subject. Their's mighty kind words, and we thank the lady. We always did say, just being 'plain' paid off!

THE greatest possible development in man is that of understanding. It is not a gift, but an asset which comes through hard work and diligence, and patience. Some men are able to develop it early in life. Some come by it easily, because it is in their nature. But with some it is very difficult, due to their circumstances. Donald Martin, son of Mrs. Clyde Martin and the late Leroy Martin, has been afflicted all his life. We know of no one, however, who has made better use of himself and his affliction than has Donald and it has won him the friendship and admiration and respect of hundreds of people in Chilton County and elsewhere. The uninhibited innocence of a child was displayed by our son Mark (less than two years old) as Donald was talking to our wife the other day. The youngster thought Don was playing with him and laughed at him. Instead of drawing back into the shell which some folks in similar

HOW TO MEET LIFE'S STORMS

by ORAL ROBERTS

Not long ago, I saw a famous painting of a frightful, oncoming storm. In it, both man and beast were fleeing in terror and confusion. It reminded me of a fierce storm I once saw. The lightning flashed, the thunder rolled and the rain poured down upon the wind-swept and crashed under the strain. Others yielded to the wind but rose again when the storm was over. Some had broken hearts and bent knees. Today, fierce storms of sin and selfishness, war and famine, suffering and death are sweeping over all the earth. Under the strain, some people will break. Those who take refuge in Christ will only bend.

Trouble and fear come, but not because God sends them. For God hath not given us the spirit of fear, but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind. Timothy 1:7. God will help us overcome our trials and fears if we will only put our faith and trust in Him. He meets our every need. None is too strong and none is too great. God can do all things.

In Philippians 4:19, the Apostle Paul wrote, "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus." God will supply all your needs, not by your own value or what you desire, but according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus. When you have a problem or a spiritual need, go in prayer. When you becomes a burden to upon the Lord, Christ will help you. You may enjoy abundant life. In these testing days, faith in God's sustenance will give you strength. Endure them, for the end, you may come bow to the inevitable, not break.

With Christ in your heart, you can meet the problems of life. You break under the strain. With Him as your guide, do all things.

Many people who seek attention today have brought about or made prolonged emotional stress, much worry, anxiety of they have not learned to live. If you find that it's a bend with the storms of life, get guidance, knees and ask God to strengthen and guide. He answers prayer. You will solutions to what you were deep, unsolvable problems. The Lord is our rock. We hide. He is our shelter. He is our strength. He is our help. He is our strength. He is our strength.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

A Tour Through Clanton's 'New' 26-year-old P.O. Building

CLEAN and cool; that's the word for the recently reddecorated Clanton Post Office. From the spacious entrance of the building, built in 1935, to the very bottom of the basement, there is no cleaner or better kept building in the community.

Postmaster Russell Sutley is obviously and justifiably proud of the building as it stands today. They have converted the old stoker furnace from coal to gas (several years ago), have just last year added air-conditioning throughout the building and brand spanking new venetian blinds to every window.

About as close as some of us come to knowing the workings of our Post Office is gripping about the poor service. A first hand look into the situation points up vividly the fact that they are doing the very best possible job with what they have to work with. And now, the building being in the best shape it has ever been in, they can give the community even better service. Comfortable working conditions are obvious. It's cool in summer, Postmaster Sutley says they have no problem whatsoever in heating in winter and cleanliness is the order of the day.

We went into every room, nook and cranny in the building and we have yet to find untidiness, which speaks well for the janitors and the other employees. Employees of the Post Office at present, number some 18 or 19, including the rural carriers working out of the Clanton branch.

The General Services Administration of the Federal Government is responsible for the improvements in the new building, with coxing from the local PM and his competent staff.

The P. O. Building is of ample size for postal services and the basement, which has never been completed, would house several offices of quite a large organization and could be completed at a fraction of the cost of a new building.

As for improved mail service; the cutting down on the number of trains through Clanton has greatly hampered this much needed and much desired facet of our Postal department. "One thing," said Postmaster Sutley, "which would help mail service in Chilton County greater than anything else, is a mobile post office." In case you are wondering, that is a sort of truck-bus affair, similar to the Book-mobile which serves some counties. This would increase our mailing service within the County from town to town.

And, there is conversation of expanding the mail service in Clanton, personnel wise. But, the Postmaster declined to elaborate on that at this time, due to the fact that it is still in the planning stages.

Our close relationship with the Post Office employees in everyday working situations as well as the enlightening tour of the building which we took gives us the opportunity to say that the men at the Clanton Post Office do a mighty fine job and deserve the support and good will of the people of this community. They are ever mindful of your problems and the needed improvements and will be able to serve you much better in the future, if they have your understanding, cooperation and support.

Month Of August Is Revival Time

The month of August is Revival time for many of the churches in Chilton-Unity Baptist Association. The concern is that the members may be revived and rededicated themselves and possessions to the will and cause of Christ, and that the lost will receive Jesus as Lord and Saviour. The pastors and workers will be visiting and witnessing to many people, and the visiting Evangelist will preach the gospel of everlasting life, and the salvation of many souls are anticipated. The churches extend a cordial invitation to everyone to attend, the services which is the most important invitation of all times.

Cantaloupe — a la Mousse!

For a dessert to top off a tip-top meal, fill wedges of California cantaloupe with frozen lemon mousse to create "Cantaloupe San Joaquin".

Cantaloupes grown in California's fertile San Joaquin Valley are noted for their relatively small seed cavity, which means more nutritious fruit per melon. Their beige rind features a high, well-defined, close net and is clean at the stem end. The thick, apricot-colored meat of California cantaloupes is firm yet tender with a vine-ripened flavor.

CANTALOUPE SAN JOAQUIN

2 cups whipping cream 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar Few drops yellow food coloring
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind 2 California cantaloupes
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice

Whip cream until it will hold soft peaks; gradually beat in sugar. Fold in lemon rind, juice, salt and coloring. Turn into freezing trays or loaf pan. Freeze without stirring, until firm. Cut cantaloupes into quarters; scoop out seeds. Fill with frozen lemon mixture and serve at once. Makes 8 servings.

Vo-Ag Offers Welding Course, Local Farmers

The first step of a state-wide Vo-Ag program to make expert welding instruction available to the more than 35,000 farmers and youth enrolled in vocational agriculture was completed last week. A welding workshop for vo-ag instructors from this area ended at Maplesville. Teachers attending the workshop from this county were Reed Thompson, Ray McGee and Claude Mims.

During the three day course taught by specially trained teachers the vo-ag instructors learned the most advanced methods in arc welding and the most effective means on conveying this knowledge on to students in adult farmer and high school classes.

This workshop was one of 16 workshops scheduled to be held at selected points in the state this summer. By the beginning of school all 265 vo-ag instructors will have completed the intensive training course.

Teachers of the workshops were trained at a specially scheduled shortcourse at Auburn University in June. The 40 teachers selected for roles of key teachers in the expanded instruction program welded, brazed and cut steel and cast iron under supervision of trained instructors.

Back at their home school the teachers will schedule welding workshops for adult farmers in their community. As has always been the case, facilities at the vo-ag shop will be available to the farmers at any time during the year. Farmers who do not own or plan to purchase welding equipment will have free use of the vocational agriculture welder and equipment in the school shop.
These welding workshops were tabbed by T. L. Faulkner, state supervisor of vocational agriculture, as the possible key to the maintenance of equipment to mechanization in the decades vo-ag instruction more and more emphasizes spot repair and maintenance farm equipment, which cases calls for specialized skills.
Be sure to use proper and warning devices with tractors and other farm on roads.

HOMEWRECKERS!

Millions of termites may be eating your house without your knowing it. Here are five danger signs to look for

1. On warm, sunny days, watch for flying and crawling swarms of termites inside and outside your house. (See drawing at right for difference between termite and flying ant.)

2. Look for numerous detached, white wings on the ground around your house.
3. Look for earthen-like tubes on cellar walls, in crawl spaces, and on supporting pillars. Invariably, they lead to wood.
4. Probe sills, beams, and porch supports with a screwdriver. Softness or hollowness may indicate termites.
5. Advanced symptoms include: floors sagging under heavy furniture, weak stairways, or sudden settling of the house. We can protect your home against further termite damage with a dielidrin chemical termite barrier. Dieldrin will protect your home for many years.

If you suspect termites Call us today. We will be happy to inspect your home and make a positive identification.

By Edward Collier
Nashville often called the "Athens of the South," is the start of a Magic Circle auto trip through Tennessee's history-land.

Beginning at the State Capitol, which resembles an Ionic temple, there is the Greek Doric War Memorial Building housing the state museum with its World War collections and the Parthenon, in Centennial Park, modeled after the original Athens temple. Reconstructed old Fort Nashborough originally was built to protect settlers from the Indians.

Driving out of the city, first stop is The Hermitage, home of "Old Hickory"—General Andrew Jackson, 7th U.S. President; then Cumberland University at Lebanon, noted for its School of Law where many of America's outstanding leaders studied; Cedars of Lebanon State Park containing the largest remaining forest of red cedar in the country; and Walter Hill and its old-time country store, Stones River National Military Park, near Murfreesboro, is scene of one of the Civil War's most bloody and decisive battles.

The return route is through fields of green tobacco around Franklin, a visit to Belle Meade, "Queen of Southern Estates," and long ago home of Irroquois, internationally famed race horse. It still is a handsome showplace with the Greek Revival-style mansion, grounds stately with magnolias and linden trees and the deluxe carriage house.

Clanton Flying Service Drops Airport Lease

IN a meeting of interested parties, which included the Board of Revenue and Control, the Chilton County Fair Committee, the Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the County Agent and Extension Services along with the Clanton Flying Service. Monday morning, the Board went on record as unanimously voting to re-endorse the lease which they held with the Clanton Flying Service and to adhere to the terms of that lease. Clanton Flying Service, represented by Mr. Buddy Wade, chose to give 30-day notice on the lease, as it provides. The Flying Service had leased the airport facilities from the County and has been operating it for some months.

There was some disagreement on the part of the parties involved about the space in the airport hangar during County Fairs, which begins August 28th. The flying service, due to the request and insistence of some of its customers, desired to reserve some of the space in the hangar for the storage of airplanes during the Fair. None of the interested parties agreed with this and, according to the Board, it chose did not provide for such an arrangement.

"The County Fair is important to the people of Chilton County," said Probate Judge J. C. White, "and they endorse it. It has a far reaching effect on our people." "It is too late to change the terms of the lease," stated Judge White, "and that is why we again endorse the provisions thereof."

Mr. Wade presented a sketch of an alternate plan of relocating the booths of the Fair in the hangar which would provide one-third of the hangar space for the storage of aircraft. Tech Board refused the plan in favor of the original one which, according to the Board's interpretation of the lease required all the facilities of the hangar during the week of the County Fair.

Mr. A. D. Headley, Member of the Board, stated that the Board entered into the lease somewhat reluctantly, but that it was trying to save the County some expense and also to promote the possibility of commercial airline service for this County. "The airport is a public facility," said Mr. Headley, "and we must act with the public good in mind. It was the Board's opinion, as well as all other organizations represented, that the Fair would require all the space in the airport hangar during its six-day engagement."

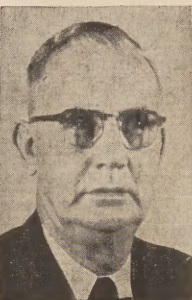

The Probate Judge assured the group that all work would go forward with regards to the County Fair as planned.

Buddy Wade, who has been an "outstanding member of the Jaycees for many years" and who has been instrumental in promoting the Fair in the past said that he did not wish to harm the Fair in any way. He merely was trying to look out for his own interests as to his responsibility to his customers, understanding as to his position, but felt that it was too late to work out an alternate plan to the original lease at the present time. And, according to the Board, the original lease will prevail.

Frith Reunion At Prattville Attended By Some 200 Folk

The annual Frith Reunion was held Sunday, August 6, at the Prattville Community Center.

This reunion is held in memory of the late William and Elizabeth Frith and their deceased children, namely, sons, John, Joe, Jim, Tom, George, Ed, Wiley, E. Q. and A. B. Frith; daughters, Sally Frith Cole, Emma Frith Lowery and Mary Frith Chandler.

C. J. Chandler of Prattville called the first reunion three years ago to try to bring the families closer together this being a great desire of his deceased mother in her lifetime.

That wish is being fulfilled. Relatives attended from six states, some who had lost all contact with the rest of the family for as long as 62 years. They were located through the Chamber of Commerce and made their first visit to meet with relatives here.

The program was called to order by C. J. Chandler, who introduced Sumpter Frith of Clanton, Ala., as Master of Ceremonies.

Mrs. Edd Frith of Columbus, Ga. and Mrs. A. B. Frith of Selma were presented corsages. They are daughters-in-law and the only two living in-laws of the immediate family of William and Elizabeth Frith.

Officers were elected with the office of the president going to Sumpter Frith of Clanton.

A bountiful dinner was served at the noon hour. The group was led in a beautiful mealtime prayer by Leon Russell of Prattville. General agreement that this is the nicest location and the best facilities for such an occasion.

How to get rid of spies and disloyal persons was a current topic in the Confederacy and in Montgomery, Alabama, in particular 100 years ago this week.

A Vigilance Committee was organized in Montgomery August 8-10, 1861, by prominent citizens, including four doctors and a leading attorney John A. Elmore. The Vigilance Committee aimed to spot any suspicious looking strangers seen around Montgomery and arrange for their arrest. (Near Huntsville, Alabama, two months earlier, a Vigilance Committee had executed a local slave preacher accused of insurrectionary sentiments. Elsewhere in the Confederacy, Vigilance Committees also put under surveillance local white citizens suspected of disloyal ideas and activities.)

A law intended to purge the Confederacy of any residents who might be "alien enemies" passed the Confederate Congress August 3, 1861. A presidential proclamation required all males over 14 years of age who did not "offer allegiance to the Confederacy" to depart within 40 days or be treated as alien enemies.

Military affairs in Alabama included a plus and minus this week. 100 years ago. The 10th Alabama Infantry Regiment was organized at Courtland August 6, 1861. But in Montgomery, Capt. Moses W. Hanson's Guerrilla Company was disbanded August 10, 1861, when it was informed that the Confederate War Department would not receive guerrilla companies. (Hanson later recruited the 53rd Alabama, a mounted regiment.)

In England, 100 years ago this week, William Lowndes Yancey of Alabama received a rebuff from the British Foreign Office. On August 7, 1861, the British Foreign Secretary informed Yancey and the other Confederate commissioners that he could not receive them officially and that they would have to send their communications in writing.

The battle of Wilson's Creek, near Springfield, Missouri, August 10, 1861, was the major military engagement of this week. In this hard fought and bloody action, regular Confederate troops and pro-Confederate state militia defeated the Union forces of General Nathaniel Lyon. Lyon was killed in this battle.

Nearly $300,000 Loaned By F.H.A. To Chilton In 1961

A total of $298,330 was loaned during the past fiscal year to farmers served by the local office of the Farmers Home Administration at Chilton, according to Isaac C. Byrd, County Supervisor. This was a fifty percent increase over the amount advanced last year.

The loans were made to 110 local farm families after they were cleared eligible to receive credit by the county committee. One Hundred forty-nine applications were reviewed by the committee. Borrowers repaid a total of $234,022 on loans previously made, some of which were amortized over several years but repaid ahead of schedule.

Picnic Month For Home Demonstration Clubs

August is picnic month for Home Demonstration Club members in Chilton County, and this month is proving to be an enjoyable time for various types of outdoor gatherings for Club members and their families. In August the Clubs do not have a regular scheduled program, so the meeting is devoted to social and recreation activities unless in a few incidents a brief business session may be held to porting illegal liquors. These vehicles may be seen at the Alabama A. B. C. Board Warehouse any time after July 24, 1961.

Chilton 4-H'ers Attend Camp At Rotary On July 31--Aug.

Camp Rotary was the site of seventy 4-H boys and girls from Chilton County who attended County 4-H Club Camp July 31 - August 2. Fun was had by all, and many wish next year's camping trip to be a week long.

The three days were filled with softball, basketball, pin-point, space ball, archery, rifle, arts and crafts, swimming, skiing, and canoeing. These activities were played with enthusiasm and there were many proud faces seen on the 4-H'ers who learned to swim.

Monday night the 4-H'ers were taken on a hike to a natural clearing of trees said to be the Council ground for the Creek Indians. At this spot they sat around a big bonfire while one of the staff members told legends about the early camp site. Naturally the hike back to camp was frightening but fun. Tuesday night the 4-H'ers enjoyed a scavenger hunt and a Tom Sawyer contest, after which everyone was ready for bed.

Weevil Control
The most important time to control weevils is during the and maturing period of cotton. Some insect control at this time is necessary every year.
However, for best control measures to infestation counts of cotton cotton fields twice each when you find 10 per cent weevil infestation, 10 squares out of every 100 examined make 3 applications of insecticide at 5 day intervals.

Additional applications of insecticide should be made when infestation again rises to 10 per cent. Continue treatments until the boll are grown. Call your agent if you have a weevil problem.

Telephone Talk

W. R. Waters
Your Telephone Manager

TRUE STORY—In Florida recently, two men and a woman got a real taste of salt water when their small fishing boat capsized. One man remained with the boat while the other man and the woman swam ashore. On the way, they looked about frantically for some way to contact the Coast Guard. Finally, they spied an outdoor phone booth... borrowed a dime from a passerby... and in no time had summoned the Coast Guard to the scene. Said the woman afterwards: "You'll never know what a joyous sight that telephone was!"

WIDE ROUNDUP - This year's Alabama Shark Fishing Rodeo was an event to be remembered. Three of the winning catches set new records. The largest shark weighed 443 pounds and the first place dolphin cleared 28 pounds by 4 ounces. A lady fisherman caught a pounder weighing 6 pounds and 12 ounces. She became the first woman in history to establish an MSFR record.

SH STORY - Shortly after the competition began I caught a bonita weighing 17 pounds and a while I had hopes of winning that category.
The time I got my fish to the weighing station there were others there that made mine look small. All aboard our boat had good catches.
We brought in plenty of ling, king mackerel, sheephead, and spanish mackerel. We caught a dolphin and some small amberjack. There were enough sharks hooked to keep things lively.
A 400 pounder pulled me all over the boat for minutes before he embarrassed me by breaking the fishing rod.

WINTER LEGUMES MAKE SOIL MORE PRODUCTIVE • SELLERS
County Agent Sellers states that now is the time to consider plant- ing winter legumes for fall grazing and green manure crop next spring. Alabama farmers who make high- est cotton and corn yields have them in their cropping sys- tem for years. Also, 60 years of research by the Auburn University Experiment Station have proved that winter legumes make soil more productive and that they're neces- sary in a good farming program. It will pay you to grow them.
Winter legumes do not interfere with the production of cotton, corn, grain sorghum, or other crops. They are turned in this spring

Maybe you need to add rye to your grazing program. It's an unusual hardy crop and furnishes grazing area than other small grains. Also, rye will germinate with less moisture than other cere- als and will make fair growth on and too thin for wheat or oats. Wren's abuzzi is the best variety to use.

Rye, ryegrass, and crimson clover have produced more fall and early winter grazing and more total for- age than any crop or mixture used in experiment station tests through- out Alabama.

This combination over a three- year period at the Lower Coastal Plan Substation, Camden, produced 366 pounds of beef per acre per year. You men want to give this combination a trial. Here are the recommended practices for succeed- ing with the crop.

Start early. Prepare a good seedbed by breaking and disking several weeks ahead of planting. Disk and harrow to control weeds and save moisture. Drill 60 pounds of Wren's abuzzi rye per acre. If a drill is not available, broadcast and disk it in. Cross-sow 15 lb. of ryegrass and 20 pounds of in- culated crimson clover per acre. Cover seed and firm with a cul- tivate or roller.

Every church should have the officers and teachers enlisted for the new associational year, and should attend this service and receive the information and inspira- tion that will come from the pro- gram and the speaker. DRIVE WITH CAUTION

And Safeguard The Lives Of All Our Children!

Safety Is YOUR Responsibility
When In Doubt, "STOP"

YOU, nobody but YOU controls YOUR car! If YOU are involved in an accident . . if a child is injured or killed . . YOU are responsible! Remember, children are hasty, unable to exercise judgment, it is up to YOU to watch out for them, to be extra-cautious, extra-alert! YOUR judgment as an adult has qualified you for a driver's license . . so YOU must accept the responsibility for the safety of our children by taking more than usual care, by being always on the alert! YOU can NEVER replace a life!

The first rule of safety is . . SLOW DOWN AND LIVE! Those few extra moments you spend driving slowly may save a child's life, perhaps YOUR own! Be sure your car is in top mechanical condition! Poor brakes and slippery tires can, in an emergency, mean death instead of life! Best of all, learn to understand and obey all traffic laws! They were written for good reason . . in the interest of YOUR safety and the safety of others!

REMEMBER, SAFETY IS NO ACCIDENT! BE SURE TO DRIVE CAREFULLY . . TO PROTECT OUR CHILDREN . .

Unemployment News

Fines and jail sentences were given to 35 persons convicted of illegally drawing unemployment compensation payments during the second quarter of 1961, Ralph R. Williams, Director of the Department of Industrial Relations, said today.

Williams said that a total of $1969 in fines, with additional jail sentences for four claimants ranging from 30 days to six months resulted from 18,533 investigations made by the Department.

These investigations, made by the Fraud Investigation Unit of the Unemployment Compensation Division, disclosed that $12,244 - involving 180 overpayments was paid to claimants not entitled to draw them.

Williams said that $8,602 was recovered during the quarter and 27 additional prosecutions have been initiated against fraudulent claimants. Two federal workers' cases referred to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The Department also disqualified 45 violators of the Alabama Unemployment Compensation Law from some of their future payments, Williams said.

As a warning to would be violators, Williams cited the Unemployment Compensation Law which provides for prosecution of individuals who make fraudulent misrepresentations in claims for unemployment benefits.

Punishments may vary from a minimum fine of $25 to the maximum of 250 plus a jail sentence of three months for each separate offense. The direction of the Department is authorized to assess additional administrative penalties against the claimant involving the reduction of future entitlements.

All claimants are constantly under scrutiny by both highly trained investigators and electronic equipment for possible violators, Williams said.

EXCEPTIONS:

These cars could deliver top performance with only 8 of Super Shell's 9 ingredients. But they'll soon need the ninth. Do you know why?

If car engines could stay clean as new, they'd get along fine without Shell's TCP additive. But harmful deposits start building up the moment your car leaves the showroom—and can soon cut power and mileage. TCP works to keep that from happening. Here's how.

THE ENGINE of every car on the road has combustion chamber deposits. Nothing can stop them from forming. They're the inevitable result of combustion.

If your car has only a couple of thousand miles on it you probably won't know the deposits are there. But once they've built up, they can be rough on performance. Fortunately, something can be done about that. Shell's TCP additive does it.

How deposits cause trouble Here's what can happen inside your engine. When certain types of deposits get hot enough, they can heat spark plugs to the point and ignite the fuel themselves.

These premature explosions are forms of pre-ignition. They give your pistons a terrific hammering. Your power falls off. And so does your mileage.

Instead of purring smoothly, your engine falters—and costs you money.

How TCP prevents trouble
New, improved TCP in today's Super Shell gasoline literally alters these combustion chamber deposits. It "fireproofs" them so they no longer glow red-hot.

Result: top performance. And as a little extra, new improved TCP can help spark plugs last up to twice as long.

NOTE: TCP can improve the performance of many older cars. Tests have shown that it helps restore power lost to harmful combustion deposits—and can add up to 17 miles per tankful.

9-ingredient formula

TCP is just one of Super Shell's nine ingredients. To get an idea of how all nine contribute to top performance, run your eye over the list at the right.

And try a couple of tankfuls yourself. If you do it soon, you'll get Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend.

It's specially formulated to give your car top performance in summer. And that's a reassuring thing to know when you're out driving on a sizzling day.

Super Shell's 9 ingredients for top performance

- #1 is TCP—for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #2 is Pentane mix—for fast warm-ups.
- #3 is anti-knock mix—for knock resistance.
- #4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock"
- #5 is Butane—for quick starts.
- #6 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.
- #7 is an "anti-icer." Added when cold weather sets in.
- #8 is gum preventive—for clean carburetors.
- #9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

778 Farms Release Cotton Acreage In 1961

ACREAGE PLANTED IS HIGH, HOWEVER

CLANTON received this week from the County ASC Office indicates that 1222.2 acres of cotton allowment land was released to be State committed from Chilton County.

In Chilton County today there are 2058 farms with cotton allow-ments, 11,859 acres were allotted in 1961. And some 778 farms released cotton acreage this year.

Of the 3,515 acres which were released to the County Committee this year 2,205.2 were reapportioned to other farms in the County.
The better than 1,000 acres of unused acreage was released to the State Committee. Chilton County does not lose this acreage, it will have to use it within a three year period or lose it then. The cycle of acreage runs in three-year periods.

7,000 acres were planted to cotton in Chilton County this year.
In 1960 that figure was 3,237 and in 1959 6,878 acres were planted to cotton.

In 1959 the cotton allotment for this County was only 10,856 acres and nearly 7,000 acres was planted.
This year the allotment was 11,859 and only 7,000 acres were planted.

ASC Committee Elections Near

ASC farmer committees, who will soon be elected by their neighbors for the coming year, have important program responsibilities, according to Eddie Owen, Chairman, Chilton Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.
"This makes it all the more important that representatives farmers be elected to the job," he declared.

ASC committees have charge of the local field administration of such national farm programs as acreage allotments, marketing quotas, commodity loans, the feed grain program, the Sugar Act program, the National Wool program, the Agricultural Conservation Program, the Conservation Reserve Program and farm storage facility loans.
Other duties are assigned to the committees by the Secretary of Agriculture as the need arises.

The Chairman explained that each year farmers who are taking part in one or more of the farm programs which the committees administer elect a community committee from among their own number. The chairman and vice chairman of this committee also serve respectively as delegate and alternate delegate to a county convention, where the county ASC committee is elected.

In Chilton County, the farmers who are eligible to vote for the community committee and for delegates to the county convention will cast their ballots by mail. Ballots will be mailed August 28 and must be returned to the County Office not later than 10:00 o'clock, September 8, 1961.

Remove rough, sticky places from your iron by sprinkling a little salt on a piece of paper or cloth and rubbing the hot iron over it.

County Fair Hitting Some Rough Bumps In Preparation

Begin 24th Committees And Organizations Continue Efforts For Big Event

THE Chilton County Fair, which has become a tradition and an annual event, is looked upon with varying degrees of necessity and importance over the County by some individuals.
Better community relations, a greater understanding of our agricultural achievements and potential by the average citizen, opportunity for the local citizens to display new wares modern methods to the general public, and a chance to get in a little relaxation and fun are only some of the advantages and astutes in support of the County Fair.

into such an event. It is purely a joint effort of community minded citizens, working hard, toward a better understanding by the citizenry and a closer harmony between the smaller communities which make up the big community of the County.

The County, the various towns in the County, the clubs and organizations of the different communities, the Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber, the County Agent and his staff and we could go on and on with the list of those who put great efforts into the County Fair. Of course this is not to mention the merchants who put their money and sweat behind the effort. That amount is immeasurable.

After a late start in many categories this year, the end product which is the County Fair is shaping up into one which the people of Chilton County can enjoy and appreciate and be proud of. But not without much deliberation, planning and plain old hard labor by countless citizens in the community.

The Stock Shows, the choosing of Cotton Maid and Dairy Maid, the Jaycees Give-A-Way, which is hailed by many as the "real crowd-getter" at the Fair, the display of merchants and the exhibits of foods and industrial items and community projects are all to be part and parcel of this year's Fair.

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

ED ROBINSON dropped in to see us Tuesday evening late. Ed's been gone from these parts for several years now, studying and working and getting degree. (He's a Physicist, we think). Now, he's right back where he started! He's going to teach next year at Howard College in Birmingham. Some of you folks know his Dad. He ran the Robinson Machine Shop until his retirement a few years ago. Certainly good to see Ed again. He's going to be a bit closer to home now, after having been in the Hoosier State for some time and maybe he'll get to see him now and then. Ed, his wife and two young sons are going to reside in Birmingham on Lakeshore Drive.

THE Democratic National Chairman John Bailey and the Republican Chairman William E. Miller, were in a debate (and we use the term loosely) on the TV and evening and we never saw the like.
If that's an example of our leadership, we are most concerned about our "followers". We never saw so much NAACP bootlicking and childish yammering in all our borned days as these two "political leaders" showed!

Downtown disgraceful stuff, which, in some of our "better" newspapers was probably hailed as a great debate with American-ism and Democracy at work." The girl in the background with her knees showing is just about all that saved this "historic document". If they can't beat that, they should take a lesson from the young lady mentioned - just sit there and show their knees occasionally and keep their mouths shut!

MUSH, mush! Or Wolf, wolf!
Erskine Brier, who has served in the Armed Forces for some 25 years is back home now and he is being with us necessarily mean.
It seems that Erskine while up in the frozen North, acquired himself a "team" (some 36) of Huskies. You know, that's the Eskimo breed, half wolf and half dog and like Mushi! They are vicious looking fellows we hear, but are necessarily mean. According to Mr. Jimmy Bell, they are beautiful animals. We're going to take a look at them first chance we get. Mushi! Erskine, by the way is the son of Will Bice of the Concord Community.

PRORATE Judge J. C. White and the Board of Revenue and Control are attending a National Convention this week in Chicago. They are due back in town this coming Saturday. That's one way to get away from it all - got to a convention!

THE new office space at the First National Bank is almost completed and it is going to look mighty nice. They will be able to "No" a whole lot easier now, what with this additional space to serve the public. Guess you might say, we're just sneaking for our selves on that particular matter, however!
Yes, some folks have it (all) and some folks don't! We asked "Buck" the banker why they didn't get some velvet covered stools to put in front of the windows. He didn't say they would, but we're still hoping. Knees of our trousers are dern near wore through!

WENT into the Dixie Wednesday morning real early and ordered ham and scrambled eggs.
Lillie Mae came out with bacon and fried eggs. Well, we thought, what the heck, no use in arguing this early in the morning. So we branched the fried eggs and made believe the bacon was ham and before we could get the first bite, she snatched the plate away and said "Those are Earl Martin's eggs!" Confidentially, we like breakfast early, and we didn't care who layed the eggs, we just wanted to eat 'em with it. We didn't want no trouble, and we wound up with fried eggs and ham. Earl Martin owes us a salt and pepper job!

The Customer, Always Right?

HERE is what the U. S. Department of Agriculture has to say about "The National Food Situation", concerning the trend toward the use of canned and frozen fruits and vegetables:

"During the past 10 to 12 year there has been little change in the overall rate of consumption of commercially grown vegetables. Annual consumption, on a fresh equivalent basis has remained remarkably stable at around 200 pounds per person. However, there have been striking changes in the form in which the consumer buys these vegetables. The trend has been toward more of the processed items. Consumption of processed vegetables increased about a fourth, from 79 pounds (fresh equivalent) per person in 1947-49 to more than 97 pounds in 1957-59. Of this increase, a little over half was accounted for by the canned items, and a little less than half by the frozen. The percentage increase in civilian use of frozen vegetables in the post-war period was especially sharp."

And that "trend" seems to be on the increase. It is essential, then, that if Chilton County expects to compete in the field of agriculture, we must change our course from the fresh market to one of volume of supply for the processed market.

You may not like to eat processed foods on the farm, but that's the way they are buying them in the city. And since we depend on the consumer in that respect, who are we to argue with em?

WHAT MAKES CANCER WORK

(1st of Series of 4 articles presented as a public service by your News in cooperation with the American Cancer Society, Alabama Division, Inc.)

Scientists have spent more man-hours studying basic and clinical aspects of cancer than any other disease.

Nevertheless, no one is certain as to just what cancer is, according to the American Cancer Society, Inc.

To some, cancer is caused by a virus which turns normal cells into virus, virus spawning cells which destroy the body.

To others, cancer is a cell, crippled by a poison or radiation and which produces crippling cells which colonize various areas of the body.

And still to others cancer is the result of defective or overactive hormone producing glands, the mutation of genes or chromosomes, the body's inability to produce enough of certain proteins, the loss of cell proteins, invasion cell breathing, a bizarre metabolism or a deficiency of certain vitamins or trace metals.

On the basis of scientific data available, the American Cancer Society, Inc., with Alabama Division offices in Birmingham, de-

Cancer is a gangster cell which corrupts susceptible cells, starves resistant cells, destroys body defenses, invades one area after another and finally commits suicide by destroying the host which feeds it.

Cancer is as old as life. Long before human beings existed it set the pattern of the behavior of modern gangsters.

What made this gangster? The same thing that makes most gangsters, a defect in character. In the case of cancer, character is an actual substance, scientists call it nucleic acid. This gives the individual cell its personality and potential and to a large extent controls its behavior.

One kind of character, a nucleic acid, is inherited through the seed of the parents. This exists in every cell in the body. It is called DNA (for Deoxyribonucleic acid) or just plain genes. The inherited factors is the cell.

A second kind of character is called RNA or Ribonucleic acid. This manufactures protein, the essential stuff of life.

Some evidence indicates that inherited material (DNA) represents our potential. It sets the limits of our mental and physical capabilities. DNA somehow produces RNA which, by manufacturing enzymes and other proteins, controls the kind of chemicals our cells produce under various conditions.

Many accidents may befall cells. They may become contaminated with virus character or nucleic acid form. It may die. It may live. This is a deceased cell. It may re-grow rapidly wreaking vengeance against a society of normal cells. This is the gangster cell, the cancer cell.

Gangster cells thrive best in systems too young, too weak, too abused, too tired, too sick or too old to defend themselves effectively. Undernourished systems like those lacking vitamins and certain minerals can be fertile soil. Gangster cells may lie low for many of a sickness enables them to ravage before radiation, a chemical age their hosts.

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

BY CARL GOGGINS

CAPITOL HILL—Amidst howls of "don't vote cloture," the House agreed to accept the Senate approved redistricting compromise bill to pair the Ninth congressional district of Jefferson County into four parts. The vote was 56-39.

Shortly after the record breaking 24 hour filibuster by 24 house members, the House chamber set up concurrence of the Divide-Jeffco bill with a 59-43 vote for the previous question limit debate and failing the issue heads. The question was offered by Barbour Rep. McDowell Lee, leader of the slice-Jeffco coalition who said his only motive in the entire fight was to save the Third District.

The Carve Ninth District will be in the hands of the Governor, Friday. Many observers feel he may keep the redistricting measure on his desk for several days but that he may eventually go along with the wishes of a majority of the legislature and that if he doesn't sign the bill there's still time left for it to become law without his signature.

A determined Jeffco delegation along with about 16 other House members set out Friday to talk around the clock to kill the Slice-Jeffco measure. But with a limited number of available motion to make and a 20 minute time limit per member on each question, the days and hours of the filibuster were numbered from the start. Members of the Senate, although not directly involved in the controversy, were forced to convene Saturday to keep from losing one of the eight remaining legislative days in the session.

The congressional redistricting issue came before the legislature because Alabama is losing one congressman as a result of the 1960 census. And failure to pass a redistricting bill would compel all eight congressmen to be elected next year from the state at large.

Beside the Jeffco delegation talking against the Carve Jeffco measure were: Brannon of Fayette, Brewer and Gilchrist of Morgan, Broadfoot of Lauderdale, Callahan of Tuscaloosa, Dodd of Lawrence, Goldswaine and Pierce of Montgomery, Hankins of Lamar, Kennis of Randolph, Johnson of Tallapoosa, Murphy and Trimmer of Mobile, Oakley of Wilcox, Owens of Crenshaw, Roberts of Madison. There was no question the Jeffco delegation was bitterly disappointed but felt they won a moral victory by forcing the Black Belt bloc to kill the House filibuster. When the Senate debated on this same issue, Lt. Gov. Albert Boutwell pointed out he had refused to recognize any senator for motion to table or in effect kill filibusters. Voting to concur with the Divide Jeffco bill were: Adams of Houston, Albee Calhoun, Avery of Hale, Bailey of Montgomery, Barnett and Long of Perry, Bassett of Pike, Beville and Shumate of Walker, Cabiness and Gross of Jackson, Camp of Talladega, Cates of Shelby, Chambers and Solomon of Henry, Cook of Coffee, Copeland of Etowah, Cornett and Smith of Russell, Daniel and Grant of Marengo.

The Confederate government should buy up cotton outright and use its monopoly or near-monopoly to bargain for credit abroad, the Montgomery newspaper suggested. Such cotton purchases by the government would benefit the Confederate economy. Also, with the treasury notes the government paid them for their cotton, planters could actually buy Confederate bonds rather than merely pledging to buy them. The war effort would thus be bolstered, said the Post.

Such proposals bore some fruit later in the Civil War, when the Confederate government, having acquired considerable amounts of cotton to a limited extent. One, went into the export-import advocate of a Confederate government monopoly of the cotton crop and the shipping business was Colin J. McKee, prominent Mobile merchant who served as the Confederate's financial agent in Europe after 1863.

By merely pledging proceeds from future sales of their cotton and other produce planters could subscribe to bonds issued under the Confederacy's central government August 19, 1861.

This property tax was of the kind levied by local and state governments today, rather than by the Federal government. Money from the tax was to pay interest on the $100,000,000 bond issue also passed by the Confederate government on August 19, 1861.

Average Age of Nursing Home Resident Is Little Over 72 Years

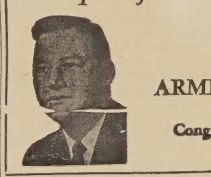

WE'RE liable to get into trouble with some of the young ladies out at the Nursing Home here in Clanton, but we received this article this week, and though it would be interesting to know what the approximate age of the residents are. Well, we found out, but we also left enough room for adding or subtracting, whichever the lady prefers, just for our own protection you understand. It isn't exactly 75 years, but it is, in the neighborhood. As we said, we were afraid to pinpoint it exactly. The party who released these birth dates to felt that some of the citizens in the County might like to know when those folks had a birthday coming up. It's a list you may want to keep for future reference. THE EDITOR.

These are the names and birth dates of those who are now making their home at the modern convenient and most comfortable Nursing Home any where.

This is not a just place for these wonderful mature people to Board it is a Home away from Home. Every possible gesture of love, attention and care is given to each person by all of the staff and workers and the Chilton County Hospital and Nursing Home Auxiliary sponsors several projects which add to their happiness. Some of these are visitation, letter reading, rides over town and the one they get the most thrill out of is a special birthday cake baked for each one on his or her birthday. Something else they enjoy is for a group of young people to come out and have an old time hymn singing with them. If anyone would like to add to the happiness of these loved ones they might send this list and send them a card on their birthday. Report from Washington

ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

Continuing to focus its attention chiefly on defense measures, the House last week approved a conference report on the Defense Department appropriation bill in addition to several bills dealing with members of the armed forces.

The House-Senate compromise version of the defense bill includes virtually all of the more than three billion dollars in extra defense fund requested by President Kennedy to strengthen military forces in view of the Berlin crisis. These added funds would make three Army training divisions ready for combat, improve airships and sea lifts, strengthen anti-submarine forces, and provide aid for modern equipment.

The compromise defense bill—which was also approved by the Senate last week—carries increased funds for manned bombers. The bomber program has been under considerable controversy between advocates of conventional weapons and those who believe that almost all military spending should be kept to nuclear warfare. The additional funds approved will make it possible to continue production and also accelerate development of the heavy, long range bombers a future B-70 jet bomber. The Administration had requested funds for the experimental B-70 program.

FALL OUT SHELTERS Perhaps the most noteworthy feature of the defense appropriation bill is the provision of funds for beginning work on a nationwide fall out shelter program for civilians. Approval of the $307 million for this purpose represented a departure from former congressional policy of refusing large expenditures for civil defense measures. The funds provided are for building shelters in new and old federal buildings and for locating and marking available existing shelters for up to 50 million Americans. It is estimated that the entire shelter program proposed will eventually entail expenditures of more than a billion dollars annually.

The total amount approved by the House and the Senate for expenses of the Department of Defense in fiscal year 1962 is $46.6 billion.

OATH IS EXTENDED

Another measure passed by the House last week provides that individuals enlisted in the armed forces of the United States take an oath to support and defend the Constitution.

Under the terms of the bill, anyone enlisting in the armed services must swear to support and defend the Constitution. If the measure is enacted this phrase would be added to those other pledges in the present oath that requires enlistees to bear true faith and allegiance and obey orders of the President and officers.

The revised oath would also apply to those enlisting in the National Guard.

ADJOURNMENT PREDICTED

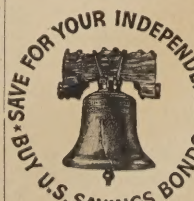

At this time, there is no clear adjournment date in sight for the House and Senate. Some observers predict the end of the First Session of the 87th Congress as early as the first week in September, while others maintain it will be October. A few even speculate that Congress may not adjourn sine die at all this year due to the Berlin crisis. My own prediction is a date somewhere between September 15 and October 1.

All members of Chilton County Post No. 6, are urged to be present tonight for a special call meeting. Important business will be discussed at this time.

Our Community Responsibilities

(THE following is, in part, the charge to the Grand Jury, made last week by Circuit Court Judge Joseph J. Mullins. It is such a clear and concise statement as to the duties of each of us as individuals in a community that we present it to you, as Judge Mullins presented it to the Grand Jury—EDITOR)

Statement To A Grand Jury Of Its General Duties

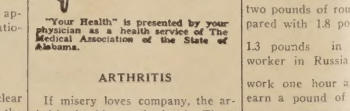

Gentlemen, you have been selected for the duties upon which you are about to enter, because in the opinion, and careful consideration of the Jury Commission of this County, you are fitted, by reason of your intelligence, and high character for morality, to discharge the duties of either a Grand Juror, or a Petit Juror.

It is presumed, from the fact that you are selected for jury service by the Commissioners, that you are of high honor, and intelligence, and are generally known to be and are held in high esteem, and respect, in your community, for your high ideals, integrity, good character, and sound judgement, because only such men are eligible for jury service. The fact that your name is on the jury roll stamps you as a person that possesses such intelligence as to know and appreciate the profound importance of the duties of a juror, and that your conscience is so sensitive as to compel you to respond to the obligation of the oath which you have just taken.

As a Grand Jury, you are the most powerful Governmental agency in existence in our State. This being true, your duties are correspondingly great. You are the general investigating body of the County, empowered to inquire into all violations of the law in this County and to see whether the State, committed, or triable, or not the administrative laws under which we live have been properly executed by the officials of this County. In your investigations, you have the right to call to your aid, and to your command, all of the powers of the State of Alabama wherever they may be lodged.

In exercising the powers given you, you are supreme. No officer or institution of the State of Alabama, or of the United States of America, has the right to interfere with your deliberations, or to supervise your judgments, in any manner. But, Gentlemen, the fact that you have such tremendous power carries with it a tremendous obligation to use it well, wisely and approving regard for the dignity under the law, and above everything else, the public good.

We all recognize the principle, that we live under a Government of Laws, and not of men. And upon Grand Juries, more than any other institution, rests the duty of protecting, and upholding, the integrity of this principle. This is true because we feel that the

If misery loves company, the arthritis sufferer is lonely. There are an estimated six million people in this country afflicted with this miserable, chronic disease. Arthritis cripples more individuals than any other disease. It is said that more than 95 per cent of all persons beyond middle age have some form of arthritis or rheumatism.

Arthritis is a general term which includes a variety of conditions that involve disease of the joints, and rheumatoid arthritis, of which gout is a prime example, has been the common plague of mankind for centuries. Many facts are known about rheumatoid arthritis, such as pathological changes in the joints, clinical course, history, and effective medicine. There have been a multitude of causes considered, from infected teeth to the kidneys, and recently, to metabolic disorders. When the cause of rheumatoid arthritis is known, then man can look forward to a cure.

The first symptoms of rheumatoid arthritis consist of chronic fatigue, numbness and tingling in the hand and feet, loss of appetite and weight and usually some degree of fever. While it attacks women three times as often as men, rheumatoid arthritis attacks persons at any age, most frequently in the late thirties. Joint inflammities and attack both sides of the vent usually starts in the body. The joints gradually enlarge. The body can do much to prevent the disease.

Forgive And Forget Says Bro. Fields

MAKES STATEMENT ON LOUISVILLE SEMINARY
CONTROVERSY

ON the front page of the Aug. 10th issue of the Alabama Baptist a statement is made by the trustees and president of the Louisville Seminary relative to Martin Luther King's recent visit to this school. Since he is a very controversial figure his appearance there aroused much resentment among Baptist in Alabama and elsewhere.

In this statement the trustees and President Duke McCall make no mention for King's presence at the school and state this will not occur again.

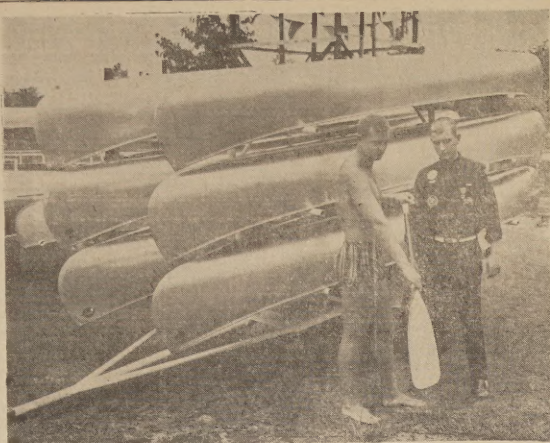

These gentlemen are to be commended for this action for we feel it was definitely a part of wisdom to make this statement. We have declared on this page that we do not support the agitators of today who seek to force integration on the South.

It is our judgement that the vast majority of all the people in Alabama feel the same way.

This wise action by the Seminary and its trustees should be accepted. The general policy and practice by Baptist is to accept apologies and assurances that the offense will not occur again. We hope all of our brethren will accept this statement and forgive and forget. Our best effort through cooperation is of utmost importance to the Kingdom of God. Editorial by Dr. Leon M. Moore, Editor of the Alabama Baptist. I participate in our with Brother Moore, and have faith in the churches of Bantled Kingdom in the Chilton-Tallapoosa Association that they will accept this statement and assurance and will cooperate with the best interests of Southern Baptist that the Association and Chilton-Tallapoosa Association will continue to accept the Gospel in every country and in every generation.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

ARE YOU IMMOVABLE?

I once heard an old Arabian proverb that said, "All men are divided into three classes:

1. Those who are immovable.
2. Those who are movable.
3. Those who move.

Many people are immovable. They have a certain idea or belief and stand as solid as a mountain. Whether they are right or wrong, no one can change their minds. Thinking they know more about everything than anyone else, the immovable ones are stubborn people.

The second class is the movable group. It is probably the largest. These people change their ideas and beliefs every time someone expresses a different viewpoint. They have no backbone and believe whatever the other fellow believes. The movable ones never express their own convictions because they do not have any. Not wanting to be different from the other person, they are always agreeable. They are not stable but wander from one idea to another. The movable people never lead but always follow.

The third group has found the secret of success. They are the ones who move. Whenever there is a job to be done, they do it. They support definite beliefs and ideas. If their idea is proved wrong, they accept the fact and make an intelligent change in belief. Those who move are leaders and influence others. They are not easily swayed by changing public opinion but stand up for their convictions.

I read an article recently about an editor and publisher of an old and influential newspaper in another country.

When Communism first came to power, the editor supported it by printing what he believed to be the truth. Within a week, however, he began to realize that Communism was bringing hatred to his country instead of the freedom it had promised.

Even though he knew he would lose his paper and possibly his life, he began writing editorials about the things he thought incorrect in the communistic regime. He moved by writing the truth.

Forced out of his own country by the threat of death, he is now living in a neighboring country. He is publishing his newspaper once again. Moving against injustice, he is taking a strong stand for his beliefs.

Christ is the supreme example of a man who moved. He moved not only by His teachings and miracles but also by His daily life. His kindness, forgiving spirit and helping hand stirred men's hearts more than the most powerful words.

By letting Christ become the master of your life you can become one who moves. He will give you the strength and power you need. He will give you abundant life.

Ten Minutes To Survival

Would a typical American family have a chance to survive if only 10 minutes warning of a nuclear attack?

To answer that question, Popular Mechanics magazine devised a realistic test involving an Austin, Texas, couple and their 10-year-old son.

Russell and Marjorie Tinsley, who live in a small town, were alerted by a radio broadcast to evacuate the area. They had only 10 minutes to get ready and leave.

The test, planned in utmost secrecy, began one quiet evening when a representative of the magazine appeared at the Tinsleys' home and asked them to do "a camping trip."

"All right," the visitor said, "the story begins right now! You have exactly ten minutes to pack what you can and get started out of town. You are to go to a location as far removed from any other human life as possible. You are to stay there indefinitely until we decide to end the test."

How would they find shelter? Would they have enough to eat? Could they survive for long without many everyday necessities?

The complete story of this unusual survival test will be reported in the August and September issues of Popular Mechanics. It is a story that gives civil defense a sharper, more personal meaning to all Americans in these tension-filled days.

Women Scientists Vitrally Needed, March of Dimes Grantee Warns

Increasing numbers of young women must be encouraged to become medical research scientists. They are needed to make up the loss of men researchers who more and more are turning to electronics and other technical fields unrelated to the nation's health.

This is the view of Dr. Virginia Tennyson, a medical scientist herself, who sees the day near when there will be an acute and dangerous shortage of science laboratory talent unless hundreds of girls—now in high school or entering college—can be won over to science as a career.

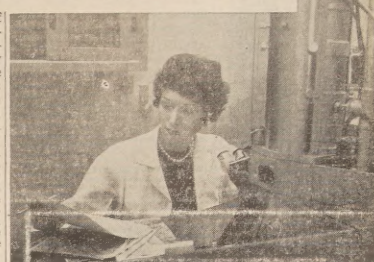

Dr. Tennyson is an anatomist and electronmicroscopist at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City. Under a National Foundation-March of Dimes grant, she is working today to determine what causes excess fluid in the brain of infants, one of the major birth defects (hydrocephalus) with which thousands of babies are born every year in the United States.

This dread disease leads to gross enlargement of the head, wasting away of the brain, loss of mental powers—often death. Dr. Tennyson has suggested that there is an advantage in having women in some laboratory studies.

"I think it fair to say that in some fields of scientific inquiry, women are better equipped by nature than are men. For instance, few will argue that women aren't more intuitive. In the laboratory, they are more inclined to respect a hunch, which is just another word for disciplined imagination and deduction. We women hunch because we are determined to get a realistic answer."

"Then I also think," she said, "that women workers in science are inclined to be more patient than men researchers. Perhaps it's debatable, but I seem to find, too, that women are more likely to persevere, less prone to give up because of boredom and tedium."

Dr. Tennyson mentioned that The National Foundation offers

Dr. Virginia Tennyson beside electron microscope at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City, where she is seeking cause of excess fluid in the brain, a condition known as hydrocephalus, under National Foundation-March of Dimes research grant.

today post-doctoral fellowships to promising young individuals preparing for careers in science. In addition to offering aid to prospective research scientists, The National Foundation is taking steps to interest young persons in entering the allied health professions. Under this program, the health organization has awarded almost 300 scholarships (each worth $2,000 if maintained for the full period of four years) in the fields of medicine, nursing, physical and occupational therapy, and medical social work.

The National Foundation offers 515 of these health scholarships each year to students in every state in the nation. Since Dr. Tennyson is dedicated to the serious task of determining the "why" of hydrocephalus, a person might conceive of her as a granite-faced zealot, oblivious to all save laboratory test tubes, reports and microscopes.

Instead, this slim, auburn-haired and blue-eyed scientist looks like nothing so much as a professional model or dancer, one endowed with humor. Her chief interests and training all relate to medical science, but when the occasion arises she can whip up the most epicurean crepes sizzle one would ever hope to taste. She is also a talented amateur artist. Young women on the threshold of a science career, Dr. Tennyson advises, should realize that in some laboratories exceptional demands are made of them in ability and natural scientific talent. Inevitably, they represent competition with their male colleagues. She puts it this way:

"If a young woman enters a science career with a 'feminist' chip on her shoulder—with the attitude of demanding her rights—she will doubtless arouse hostility, and so will meet with hostility. But I have found that most professional people will accord you more than your 'rights' if you have ability. If you do have it, it will be recognized. Appreciation of it shouldn't be forced down your colleagues' throats."

For all her preoccupation with birth defects research, a field The National Foundation says she tries to lead a life of "dynamic equilibrium, the rule we find in all nature. I don't spend all of my time with rabbits and mice and peering into a microscope. Fact is, I have so much equilibrium I even go skiing."

Mrs. James Donovan and daughter Pat of Birmingham spent Thursday August 3 with Mrs. Seymour Reynolds. Mrs. Jesse James was a luncheon guest. Mrs. James and Miss Donovan were roommates at Auburn.

Hidden Treasure Hamburgers

Let's talk big... about hamburgers. Giant, deluxe, dinner-sized hamburgers... delectably seasoned—with a surprise tucked inside. They're tender, juicy and lush... everybody's choice. Above all be generous, make them large and thick.

For "Hidden Treasure Hamburgers", crisp canned French fried onions and pickle relish can be tucked between two beef patties. Then, cook over charcoal, in the broiler, or pan-broil on top of the stove. They'll take from 15 to 18 minutes.

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground pepper
1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate (Ae-cent), optional

Combine beef, salt, pepper and Ae-cent. Form 12 thin, round patties, about 4 inches in diameter. Place a generous amount of O & C French Fried Onions and a teaspoon of pickle relish on top of each of 6 patties and cover with remaining patties, pressing edges together to seal. Broil over charcoal.

Tip: If broiling hamburgers over charcoal, a flat wire toaster is convenient. It makes turning easier and prevents squashing of burgers. Serve any left-over French fried onions with the meal... nice to have a few extra cans on hand. They make wonderful snacks to nibble on while the food is being cooked.

SAVORY POTATO STICKS

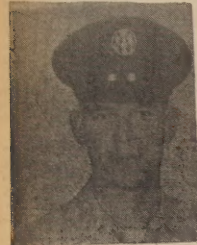

2 cans O & C Potato Sticks (about 6 servings)
Heat potato sticks in aluminum foil pan on edge of grill or in oven. Sprinkle with any of the following just before serving.

- Seasoned salts — garlic, celery, onion, etc.
- Powdered herbs — parsley, basil, oregano
- Grated parmesan cheese

Two on Critical List--

3 DIE IN CRASH TUESDAY NIGHT

TUESDAY evening about 7:45 a two-car smashup at the intersection of Highway 31 and Interstate 65 took the lives of three persons from Tennessee. All were in the same car.

Dead at the scene were Gordin Castlemann, 75, of 1606 Lische Avenue, Nashville, Tenn.; John A. Caldwell, 62, of 1416 Idlewild Drive, Madison, Tenn. and his wife Irene Elizabeth Caldwell, 46 of the same address.

The Caldwell automobile was coming off the freeway onto U. S. 31 when it was struck by an automobile driven by James Arthur Wade of Cooper, Alabama. The only other occupant in the Wade car was his wife Olivia Cox Wade. Both are in critical condition at Chilton County Hospital.

Bystanders reports were that the Caldwell car looked as if it were outfitted for a vacation trip. It was also reported that the Wade's had just let their children out of the car at a nearby home.

Sheriff Hugh Champion reported that Martin Funeral Home had charge of the bodies of those killed and were to handle arrangements.

A late bulletin from the Sheriff's office indicates that Mr. Wade is more critically injured than is his wife. Wednesday morning reports were that he had internal and chest injuries that were very severe. Building To Begin In New School Maplesville

August 11, 1961 the contract for the new Maplesville High School was signed by the Chilton County Board of Education with the Alabama in the amount of $120,700.00. Construction is to start on the building as soon as possible, according to Mr. Chick Wade or the Dallas Construction Company.

Plans for the building are to be under and up to date. The school includes a auditorium, gymnasium, lunchroom, vocational shop, economics department and an agriculture department. It will not include a gymnasium or do they include complete things for the building.

The Board would like to have this modern building built but due to the lack of funds and the reduction of the millage sales tax to a period of years as it was voted by the citizens of the county, it is impossible at this time to get the construction that formerly planned to meet the needs of the boys and girls of the Maplesville area and of other vic-

Another Argument For—

Another argument for frozen food markets, as opposed to fresh markets, for Chilton County is the fact that surrounding counties not affected by limited access Highway are taking advantage of Chilton County's fresh peach crop and doing a pretty good job of it too. Chilton County cannot afford to continue to think only "fresh market." We have got to expand our thinking if we expect to expand our markets and thus our economy.

And One Against—

CONSIDERING the world-wide argument of Communism versus Americanism and Democracy, it is strange to note that individuals, as well as entire families are "escaping" to the western way of life via the Berlin Barrier, from Communist East Germany. For the rest of the world to observe, this is a fitting argument, or testimonial if you will, in support of freedom and the American way of life. We doubt seriously if there are any West Berliners trying to "break their way" into East Germany. There must be a reason, and a good one!

Progress For Us—

THE City Planning Commission is making strenuous efforts to do away with an eyesore and a health hazard in the City Limits of Clanton, and at the same time alleviate the traffic congestion and accident hazard which now exists on one of our most traveled arteries. We don't know whether or not they will be successful, but we certainly like the possibilities and are behind them on this thing.

Low Bids Are Sometimes Not What They Seem—

COMMENTS which deserve a second glance: "We have to be fair about this. We can't show any partiality." We don't ask for partiality, but we do like a fair appraisal of the worth of what is being purchased... ALL things considered!

"We have to get bids, and the low man gets the job." We're getting plumb sick of this attitude. Fine well and good, so you have to get a bid, but there are always factors to be considered in any project which do not show up in a black and white, cold-figured bid price on a given item or service. Those responsible in such a fatter area, or should be, close enough to the thing to realize that there is more to be considered than a "bid" on one particular item. It is difficult to support anything when that support is expensive, out-of-the-pocket type support, and nothing is realized, materially speaking, in return. The mare trots slow in such a situation and it is completely unfair to expect so much and not give consideration of the material involved.

Publicity, like everything else, costs somebody time, money and sweat. Someone has to pay for it. We believe wholeheartedly in paying our fair share, and then some if necessary, but a deliberate disregarding of the principals of fair play, is hard to take on the chin. Our pride swallows easily enough, especially when the community at large benefits. However, it must be realized, that such a load cannot be carried indefinitely by any one or two persons or places of business.

Too many people, in responsible positions, do not realize the importance of the newspaper to their community. There are some persons do not know, either, what it takes to make a newspaper grow and continue to assist in projects and serve the people of that community. Until they do realize this, the community will suffer right along with the "throttled" newspaper because it's efficiency is greatly hampered from too many of it's constituents wanting something for nothing! We can ignore the unfairness of it all and give them something for nothing for a time... but when the resources of the newspaper run out, and it runs out of ways to cut corners due to the lack of support of its people, then it will cease to exist. And then too, those same thoughtless citizens, will realize that their support was truly needed and that it wasn't just a pipe dream by a country editor trying to line his own pockets!

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

BY CARL GOGGINS

Unless many legislators here are barking up the wrong tree, the word these days is Gov. John Patterson may be caught between the rock and the hard place over Jeffco's redistricting bill.

Officially, talk has it, Gov. John and his top advisors have taken only a "hands-off" policy toward the redistricting issue in the past. Unofficially, Gov. John and leaders have been in the controversy and that he and his forces apparently feel too happy with the turn of events.

While this thinking may seem to be poppycock to some persons, the behind-the-scenes position in this, according to close observers.

The only way Gov. John has been involved in the matter was his wanting to push the redistricting issue out of the way in time to pass some of his pet projects he promised as a part of his program when running for the Big Chair, e.g., medicare bills, inland docks program, appropriations, etc.

The thinking is presently the way is now clear for his program to be fulfilled and that most of all of them will probably pass. There seems no doubt that in order to set all this up, the governor had to trade in both House on many issues, including redistricting.

One of the main reasons Gov. John apparently isn't happy over the Chop-Up bill is he still remembers he got the largest vote ever received by a gubernatorial candidate in Jeffco. Yet, he is aware what the political repercussions could be if he vetoed the bill and were then labeled as the one man in Alabama responsible for having the congressmen run at large.

For then many lawmakers feel, there is a good possibility the state's other 66 counties might be against him. Yet, he certainly doesn't want his friends in Jeffco sure.

Thus, perhaps it could be summed up this way. Gov. John would probably like very much to veto the Slice-Jeffco legislation and then have the House over-ride his act! The thinking at the moment is if he does veto the measure he will have been just about assured earlier that both Houses will over-ride him.

So far there are mixed emotions in the lower chamber over just what they would do if the governor does veto the bill, but most of the senators have indicated they would more than likely over-ride a veto or executive amendment if the matter comes to that chamber.

Quite assuredly, however, if the House does not veto the bill, close watchers claim, he will not sign the measure but merely let it become law without his signature.

Meanwhile, the case of Gov. John's closest friends feel if he does veto the measure the House will sustain his veto. This no doubt, and could work both ways politically, will probably make him a hero in the eyes of Jeffersonians, thereby following the old political theory that it's better to be a hero in the case of a few instead of a nothing to the many. But only time will really tell us the true tale.

PERISCOPING—There's some talk the Jeffco delegation wants the governor to hang an executive amendment on the Chop-Jeffco bill which would divide the Ninth District between Reps. Albert Rains and Kenneth Roberts' Fourth District in order to possibly allow Jeffco a chance to beat one or both of these two men. But word has it Gov. John won't buy the plan because "it is dangerous and could easily lead to no bill or at large congressional elections," which the governor has repeatedly said he doesn't want. That's the talk on the Hill that Crenshaw Sen. Alton Turner will seek Second District Rep. George Grant's job as congressman next year and that Sen. Turner could just unseat Grant under the right conditions. Also mentioned as possible candidates are Ex-senator Sen. Douglas Webb and Mont. Rep. Joe Goodwyn. There just probably isn't going to be any new tax measures for education passed this session because most legislators report they have exhausted all efforts to come up with any additional revenue for schools without extra taxes, which Gov. John has said time and again he will not go along with. However, hopes were boosted when the House Ways and Means decided on a conditional appropriation that would make it possible for education to take advantage of any revenue produced by an expanding economy. The House-passes $3 million Huntsville Research Center bill passed the Senate Friday.

A package of increase of salary docks bills passed in the House Friday, also. A Senate committee moved out two new reapportionment bills last week for consideration. And at press time the Alabama Bankers sponsored installment eight percent interest on installment loan bill which legalizes a stallment loans was expected to pass the House Friday late.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Seldom have the House and Senate versions of the same bill so far apart as in the case of the foreign aid legislation passed last Friday.

In the Senate the foreign aid authorization measure was approved almost in complete compliance with the Administration's request while the House version of the legislation omits a portion of the program viewed by the President as extremely important. With such widely-divergent bills, the House Senate conference committee that must work out a compromise will face an unusual difficult task.

DIFFER ON LOAN FUND

The portion of the President's foreign aid program on which he had placed the greatest emphasis is his request for authority to borrow from the Treasury for long range planning (up to five years) of projects coming under the Development Loan Fund Program. This program, which was set up in 1957, assists underdeveloped friendly nations by lending them funds for public projects. The long term loans are repayable at low interest rates.

As approved by the Senate, the bill authorizes a total of $8 billion for the program over a five-year period, only about $800 million less than requested. Refusing to authorize borrowing for the loan fund five years ahead, the House voted to approve a little over a billion dollars for the pro-

Birmingham, Ala.—What changes a normal body cell to make it a deadly delinquent?

This kind of chemical gangsterism will cost about 27,000 American lives this year, according to the American Cancer Society, Inc. with Alabama Division offices here.

Gambling Bill Introduced

This is an editorial from the August 17th issue of the Alabama News, by the Editor Dr. Leon Macon. The Lowndes Signal, weekly newspaper of Lowndes County, recently carried verbatim a bill with and Editorial which states, "Is presently being presented to the State Legislature."

This bill, if passed, would legalize dog racing in that County. It is a bill which would "create the Lowndes County racing commission for the regulation, licensing, and supervision of dog racing and wagering (gambling) thereon." The editor of the Lowndes Signal, Cecil B. Cross, Jr., stated that the bill is being so presented that the people of Lowndes County will be allowed an opportunity of voting for or against it and will require no committee hearing. This editor thinks those who are behind the so-called gambling bill are the syndicated gamblers who are in the United States. He says, "Unconfirmed but reliable reports are that there is a lobby fund of several thousands dollars in support of bill of this nature in Alabama."

This editor is correct in stating that his County could become an open Phoney City and we further add that this would be a torch for gangsterism and gambling interests within our own State.

Christians have a moral responsibility as citizens to oppose all legislation providing for the legalizing of any commodity or performance which debases the Country's morality. The woeful stories of the deplorable conditions which exist in other parts of our Country due to the influence of evil forces, should alert every Alabama citizen to inform his or her Senators and representatives. Write your own representatives from your District now, protesting the passage of such bill which would legalize gambling and dog racing in Lowndes County. Urge your Senators and representatives to take active part against such a bill.

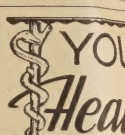

We have been called on the phone and received letters from citizens in that County calling for assistance. We must act now before this bill gets a foot hold in the legislature. As soon as you read, write your legislators at Montgomery at once.

On the surface this bill is to be what is called "Courtesy legislation" that is where one County supports a measure and the rest of the state goes along with that County's wishes. We understand that two representatives and the Senator from the County have backed the submitting of this bill. In corresponding with your representative request of him at least a committee hearing so the Anti-gambling interests in this State can have an opportunity to present their views.

My prayer is that all of our pastors and evangelists will join in with Dr. Macon, preaching and admonishing the people to take their stand against the vice of gambling and other corrupt sins that is damaging so many today, especially the youth of our counties and State.

Relaxing On Air In The Air

Comfort, safety and relaxation on air, in the air, at almost the speed of sound as enjoyed by these two pretty jet age travellers... was an engineer's dream as recently as five years ago. The comfort enjoyed by jet travellers today is almost as new and revolutionary as the jet plane they are traveling in. Relaxing on air in the air is really what you do. The cushioning in these seats is composed of thousands and thousands of small air bubbles permanently sealed in urethane foam made from basic chemicals manufactured by the Mobay Chemical Company.

Urethane foam can almost be classified as the "wonder foam." Its uses are so versatile. In this same jet plane, it is used for mattresses in the sleeper berths, the comfort cushioning, sound and thermal insulation, luxury padding under-foot and impact protection all in one flying "package."

Quaint Barbados Sugar Crusher

Visitors to the Caribbean's easternmost island enjoy picturesque sites such as the Morgan Lewis Mill, above, one of the few remaining windmills of many which once dotted Barbados, providing power to crush sugar cane grown on baronial plantation estates. Despite windmills, which generally are associated with Holland, Barbados has been British since 1627 and is known as the "Little England of the Caribbean" for its pleasant rolling countryside and its preservation of British ritual and tradition. Island's pastoral beauty, gracious resorts and palm-fringed sandy beaches attract thousands of American vacationers each year.

Nourishing Sweet Touch

Vanilla Peach Custard

Looking for a new, all-occasion dessert that's nourishing as well as delicious? "Vanilla Peach Custard" provides a cool, sweet touch that's just right for light, springtime menus. Best of all, it can be prepared ahead of time and refrigerated until you're ready for it. An easy blend of vanilla wafers, canned sliced peaches, eggs, sugar, salt, milk and vanilla is all it takes. Here's the recipe:

Vanilla Peach Custard

1 box 300 gms sliced peaches, drained
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup granulated sugar
10 vanilla wafers on bottom of a buttered 8" by 8" by 2" square baking dish. Lay sliced peaches on top, reserving 6 slices. Combine eggs, sugar, salt, milk and vanilla, blending well. Pour mixture over all. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake in moderate oven, 300°, for 30 minutes or until custard is set in center. Cool, refrigerate. When ready to serve, decorate with reserved vanilla wafers. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Guides At United Nations

What does it take to make a United Nations guide?

Poise, personality, a knowledge of at least one foreign language and a sharp mind, according to Aida Karaoglan, an attractive brunette from Lebanon who herself possesses all these qualities.

Aida and her compatriot Amal Nasr are the two Arab girls among the 93 U.N. guides who escort the constant flow of visitors through the labyrinth of corridors and impressive auditoriums of the U.N. headquarters building in New York.

Each guide accompanies at least four groups of 25 visitors a day, each tour lasting an hour. These intelligent young ladies are prepared to answer every conceivable question concerning the United Nations—the roles of the different committees, the significance of the architecture, the interpretation of the murals—but are not allowed to dwell on controversial political subjects. The U.N. guides, says Aida, are expected to be objective in describing the world organization and its activities, and to refrain from expressing bias or opinion on any of the issues discussed.

Aida believes the exacting work demands much poise of the guides, since the tours often include nationals from many countries of the world.

The basic language requirement is English, as the majority of the visitors are American. But all the world's major languages are represented among the guides, of course including Arabic. The five official languages of the U.N. are French, Spanish, Russian, Chinese and English.

Aida herself speaks three languages fluently: English, French and Arabic. She is a graduate of Barnard College (M.A. in English) and the American University of Beirut, Lebanon.

Only candidates 20 to 30 years of age with college education are considered for the job," she explained. The maximum tenure is two years.

Amal Nasr is a graduate of Beirut College for Women and also speaks English, French and Arabic fluently. She came to the United States nearly two years ago when her husband enrolled as a student at New York University.

When not guiding visitors through the building, Amal takes up "dispatch desk" duties, keeping tabs on the other guides.

"Ivanova, up to Zeus," she may call out, referring to the great statue which is the rendezvous point for the main floor tour. "Erigitto, you are due at the briefing room to get your new material," she was overheard saying to another girl while at the same time putting through numerous phone calls to her supervisors, who follow the progress of the tours as they move through the various sections and end up at the "International Shopping Center."

"There are no short-term or summer appointments," Amal said. She pointed out that the guides are not recruited abroad, but at the U.N. headquarters in New York. All applications are strictly voluntary, and the Visitors Service receives as many as three hundred a year.

Especially eligible are young foreign women who are students in the U.S. and live in the general area of the U.N. Amal said. After selection, a girl receives an initial appointment for a period of three months. Then the guide candidates may be reappointed for two years, she said.

All the young ladies employed as guides are required to wear a special light blue uniform with a "U.N. Guide" arm band, except those who habitually wear their national costume. For example, some of the guides from India and Pakistan appear in their flowing saris, while the Japanese girls may wear their colorful kimonos.

Both Aida and Amal hope to return to Lebanon after the termination of their U.N. service.

Hospital Auxiliary Held Meeting Aug. 8th

The Chilton County Hospital Auxiliary held its regular meeting on Tuesday, August 8th at 9 a.m. according to the By-Laws. There was not enough members present to vote on any business. The next meeting will be held on the second Tuesday in October, instead of November. The nominating committee will be appointed at that time.

I sincerely hope that since all the vacations will be over and the children will be back in school, that we can have a large percentage of our members present. Many things can be done by our Auxiliary to the Hospital and Nursing Home if we work together. Thank You, Mrs. R. M. Tucker, Chairman

It's A Paradise Spring Salad

Springtime is saladtime. For a lighthearted salad which will match the mood of the weather serve a refreshing combination of canned Bartlett pear halves and cottage cheese, accented with small fruits for color and flavor.

Canned pears and cottage cheese have long been a favorite among traditional salad combinations, but it is made as spring-like as the blossoming flowers with the perky colors of the small fruits added for variety in flavor. Change the accenting fruits for a hallmark of your own individuality.

Canned Bartlett pears are the synonym of flavor. They are picked at just the right stage of maturity, then permitted to ripen off the tree to a pale yellow. It is then the canneries catch the optimum of flavor and juiciness. By a special process, they are peeled and cored, ready to be placed into cans. A sugar syrup covers the pears for a delicate sweetness and to maintain the firm smooth texture.

Both cottage cheese and canned pears contain health giving minerals and vitamins and the cheese gives a generous protein lift to the menu.

Paradise Spring Salad

6 canned Bartlett pears
1 1/2 pounds cottage cheese
1 cup pineapple chunks
1 cup mandarin oranges

1/2 cup grapes
6 maraschino cherries
Salad greens
Fruit salad dressing

Line a long salad boat with greens. Arrange cottage cheese in the center of the bowl. In either end of the bowl put the canned pears. Combine the three remaining fruits and divide equally between the two ends and on top of the canned pear halves. Serve with a fruit salad dressing of your choice or add a bit of pineapple or maraschino syrup to mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

VACATION IN MEXICO
Mrs. Carl Gloss left for a vacation in Mexico, July 14, early in the morning. She is in Meridian, Miss., where she is visiting her daughter, Mrs. L. L. H. and her son, Mr. L. L. H. She is spending the night at the Hotel Laredo, Laredo, Texas, and will return to Clanton about noon the 15th. She is accompanied by her son, Mr. L. L. H. and her daughter, Mrs. L. L. H. They are all enjoying the trip very much.

where was, Never On Sunday. The Spanish version is very lovely and in the opinion of the visitors more beautiful than ours.
Continuing South, the tour included Saltillo, stopped for lunch at Matamoros on to San Luis Potosi, spending the night. A walking tour was conducted through the Governor's Palace, Cathedral, Museum and open market where people from the surrounding areas brought their produce and hand made articles to display and sell. Cars are forbidden on Hidalgo street as it is a Promenade.
On to the South the little town of Queretaro was visited. Here is a chapel built over the spot where the Emperor Maximilian was executed. Then on to Mexico City. While there the Plaza Vista Hermosa hotel was headquarters. Each of the hotel's 110 rooms had outside exposure and every convenience found in our most modern hotels, except televisions. The most striking difference was the supply of fresh water for drinking left daily.
From Mexico City, there was a side trip to Puebla. Here are the most beautiful and elaborate Cathedrals in all Mexico.

The cactus plantations in the mountains along the way looked more like landscaped gardens than crops for harvest. The Volcano was hidden by clouds on the morning drive but its snow capped height presented a thrilling view in the afternoon.
Another all day side trip was to Toluca. Here were souvenirs in pictures were made of the colorful scenes and sometimes undisguised amusement by the natives.
Taxco was the next town visited. It is famous for its art colony and exquisite hand made silver piece of all description. By government decree, the town is immune against modernization or drastic change. In this atmosphere, one seems to go back a century in retrospect on walks are taken on the hilly, cobbleston streets and browse through the quaint art and silver shops. Here the house cling like lichen to the mountain side. The drive up to Taxco over the mountain road which was a long series of hair pin curves, was one of the most exciting, if not enjoyable part of the tour.
On the drive to Taxco, a stop was made at Cuernavaca to visit the Palace of Cortez which, now houses government officers. The walls of the Palace Veranda are decorated with giant floor to ceiling murals painted by Diego Rivera depicting the history of Mexico and donated by Dwight Morrow, former ambassador to Mexico.
On the drive back after a night in Taxco, a stop was made at University City on outskirts of Mexico City. A tour of the buildings was made and the decorations of exterior showed giant Mosaic Murals.
The next stop was the beautiful Floating Garden of Xochimilco. Each lady was presented a beautiful corsage as she boarded the sightseeing boat. A delicious basket lunch was provided each person to enjoy as the boat glided along the canals to the murals of Mexicana. In adjoining boats, all boats were elaborately decorated like floats in wooden dug-out canoes paddled with fresh flowers. Indian women along by the larger boats selling orchid corsages for a few cents each.
In Mexico City a tour was made of the National Archives, Monument of Mexican Independence, Chapultepec Park and Chapultepec Palace where the Emperor Maximilian and Empress Carlota lived during their reign over Mexico City. A visit was made to the Shrine of Guadalupe and Oster fivens. These included a fabulous ghost like city built around the year 300 A. D. by an unknown race. On this day lunch was eaten in an underground split. lived cave converted into a restaurant. That night there was a Farewell To Mexico City, dinner in the hotel dining room.
July 25, 26, 27, were spent back along the route to Laredo. Through customs, on to San Spanish Antonio. Here a tour was made of the old Missions, the Spanish Governor's Palace, the Alamo and the San Fernando Cathedral where the remains of Jim Bowie, Davy Crockett and other defenders of the Alamo are buried. Returned by Houston and New Orleans, with many fond memories of a wonderful vacation spent South of the Border and plans to return in the near future.

RECENT BRIDE HONORED
Mrs. James Davenport recent bride was honored Friday night August 18th at a bridal shower in the parlor of the Baptist church. In the receiving line were Mrs. Luther Hassell, mother of the bride Mrs. Davenport, the mother of the groom.
Arrangements of pink dahlias were used in the party rooms.
Following a series of games conducted by Mr. Frank Leslie, Mrs. Lennie Cobb was crowned Queen of the Beans, runner up, Mrs. W. J. Stephens and Booby Queen, Mrs. Alton Cobb.
The bride passed her gifts for all to see, among them, an heirloom spread from the hostess, Miss Mary Clements, Mrs. Sam Woodley, J. J. Reeves, Horace Little, Euel Atkinson, Princeton Simmons, Leo Langston, Frank Leslie, O. B. Lowery, B. L. Cobb, Alton Cobb, S. W. Cost, and Mrs. Lennie Cobb.
The lace covered refreshment table held the crystal punch bowl, decorated at the base with pink dahlias and white statice. Crystal plates held the iced cakes, mint and nuts. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the punch and other party favors.
A visitor from Tuscaloosa with Mrs. Hassell and Mrs. Davenport was Miss Mary Nell Walker and from Calera, Mrs. George Kimbrell.

VISIT TO THE ZOO
Members of the Beginners and Primary Classes of the Baptist Sunday School were all excited Wednesday, the 16 as they left for a visit to the Zoo in Birmingham. Mrs. William Vines, teacher, Mrs. M. Plier, assistant, accompanied the beginners: Janice Porter, Brad Simmons, Vicki Hall, Susan Vines, Ronnie Rand and Robert Culp mother attending Mrs. Culp, Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. Shields, Mrs. Hall visitors Ronnie Little and Gerald Atkinson, Mrs. Horace Little, teacher of Primaries, Mrs. June Plier, assistant, accompanied the primary group: Polly Bolton, Anthony Viner, Becky Stephens, Judy Burnett, Jackie Adams, Rex Hall Billy Shields, Lynn Plier, Ben and Steve Pope, Roger Porter and Neal Clements.
After the party arrived, everyone was anxious to see the animals. There were monkeys, lions, bears, elephants, kangaroos, alligators, and snakes.
At lunch time, tables were placed together and a picnic lunch was spread. Soon a trip to the cold drink stand were made, also visits to the popcorn machine.
The highlight of the park was the train. Then there was a life size grave of Casey Jones with in scripton over it: Casey doesn't live here anymore.
All in all a delightful occasion for the children.

Fun in the sun is yours in Arizona's Valley of the Sun, pivoting around Phoenix and its lush, plush suburbs. Here the desert has been made to bloom, the same rays that nurture citrus and cotton beam with winter kindness on visitor life that centers around the swimming pools of a fantastic array of swank resorts.

There are flower shows, 20 golf courses, spring exhibition baseball by the big league teams who train here, South Mountain Park with 40 miles of bridge trails, Desert Botanical Garden in red-rock Papago Park, and Heard Museum's Indian displays.

The exciting Magic Circle auto trip leaves the city north to Wickenburg, "Dude Ranch Capital of the World" for gay outdoor life; up from the desert into pine clad mountains at Prescott and Flagstaff. Nearby is Lowell Observatory and the Arizona Snow Bowl.

Prehistoric Indian culture can be explored at the cliff dwellings of Walnut Canyon and Montezuma Castle National Monuments. The return is via spectacular Oak Creek Canyon of flaming crimson spires, pinnacles and buttes. Historic Jerome, a new ghost mining town, hangs precariously on a mountain side.

Land of the brew and home of the Braves identifies dynamic Milwaukee, Wisconsin's big city and hub of a delightful weekend Magic Circle motor trip. Headquarters for the visitor and sports-minded citizens is $7 million County Stadium where they cheer the baseball Braves and the Packers from nearby Green Bay.

Civic highlights—besides the fascinating-to-visit breweries and gourmet-type restaurants—are the ultramodern County War Memorial supported by huge teeth-like props, the zoo and its miniature sightseeing train and Lake Drive, a residential area.

Circling north, the route is over scenic Kettle Moraine Drive to forest country dotted with nature trails, Wade House State Park's restored stagecoach inn and Sheboygan, where sausage is king and more than 100,000 attend the annual Bratwurst Day celebration. Wausau, an authentic reproduction of an Austrian chalet and the colorful ancestral home of a pioneer family, is a "must" with sightseers.

The drive back to Milwaukee is via Terry Andrae Park, a beach playground on Lake Michigan's shore which offers fine bathing, picnicking and camping among white pine woods and photogenic sand dunes.

102-year old Bob Bates Returns To Clanton

MONDAY of this week, we were privileged to meet, an interview of an old-timer, A Negro man, who spent several years in Chilton County from 1889 to 1895.

His name, Bob Bates; his occupation, gardener and handyman. His speech was excellent, his manner, gentlemanly and his mind was as clear as a bell.

Uncle Bob, who could recall such families as the Bill Mullins, the Sam Johnsons, the Gilchrist, the Gores, the Parrishes, the Sawyers, the O. R. Bells, the Honeycuts and the Oliver Nathans and Cleve and Harmon Headleys, was the very fellow who planted the big oak trees around the Courthouse property. He was depressed indeed, that they had been uprooted to make room for progress. "When I set them out," said Uncle Bob, "they were just bushes!" Most of you know that when they were felled, they were more than just bushes.

The man's past is filled with memories of store, farms and families who lived around Clanton in those early years, and he can recall them with the ease of effort that we recite the names of good and close friends.

Uncle Bob was born in Chambers County, on August 15, 1859. He saw his 102nd birthday on this past August 15th. He is apparently in good health and we would say, will easily make the 103 mark and then some.

He recalls that the Methodist Church stood where it stands today, an older building, but in the same location. He can bring back dates and names as easily as we can count.

Dr. Mathis built the big home which is now the old Reynolds home place. Dr. Sam Johnson had a "Plank" drugstore on the corner where Upchurch's now stands. O. R. Bell owned most of south Clanton and grew corn and cotton. To the North of 2nd Avenue was the Mullins farm. He remembers Judge L. H. Reynolds and Judge Honeycutt. Sawyer's Store was on the corner of 2nd Ave. and Highway 31. The Oliver Nathan farm was on the northwest side of town and the L&N Railroad ran just where it does today.

The depot burned down about the time Uncle Bob was here and says, "so they built a new one." Uncle Bob accepts progress as inevitable and holds no ill will towards a soul in this world. He now resides in Birmingham and has been married one time in his life. His wife died without leaving him any children.

When we asked him about his family he said, "There's just old Bob Bates" with much finality. But oh, what stories he could tell and what memories he could recall. The historians could listen to him and reap. We could listen to him by the day, and drink in the knowledge that over a century of life on this earth has brought to this man.

He has no claim as to the reason for his longevity. He is admittedly glad to be here and is at peace with the world. A colorful old gentleman, indeed!

ASC Elections Near

Farmers who are participating in one of the national farm programs administered locally by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, committees were reminded today that community elections will be taking place.

Such participation is required in order to be eligible to cast a ballot for the men a farmer wants to represent him on the committee. Eligible voters must also (1) have an interest in a farm as owner, tenant, or sharecropper if they are of legal voting age, or (2) be in charge of the supervision and conduct of the farming operations on an entire farm if they are not of legal voting age. Programs administered by the ASC county and community committees include acreage allotments, marketing quotas, commodity loans, the feed grain program, the Sugar Act program, the National Wool Program, the Agricultural Conservation Program, the Conservation Reserve program, farm storage facility loans and alternate delegate to the county of Agriculture.

Throughout Chilton County, local elections will be held by mail, and ballots must be returned to the County ASCS Office not later than 10:00 A.M., September 8, 1961. The elections will choose three community committees and two alternate delegates. The chairman and vice-chairman of the elected ASC committee will also serve as delegates and alternate delegate to the county convention to be held soon thereafter, where the ASC county committee will be chosen.

Ballots were mailed on August 28 and are to be returned by September 8.

The County Fair Must Be In Good Taste To Suit The Community

IT is common knowledge, without too much calculating, that the majority of those attracted to the County Fair, and especially the carnival part, are youngsters, from one to 21! It is then, important that we consider the moral affect of the entire production on the minds of the youth of this community.

Some of the sideshows at the Fair this week, are, in our opinion, in bad taste. There are some things on display, which, though it may be a matter of opinion as to their interest, are nevertheless, not constructive by anyone's standards.

We must follow a code of decency in the displays at the Fair, which will comply with the moral values of the event, as a whole. It is accepted that you don't go to a carnival for a moral uplift or character building, but by the same token, when it is part and parcel of the overall community project, which is the County Fair, then it is no longer just a carnival, but a County-wide production, made up of the people and events which make and mold the character of our community.

The Fair is a moral booster in this community. It is with this in mind, that we recommend an appraisal of what is shown, and what can be seen, before our people, especially the younger citizens, are exposed to it. The County Fair, is acceptedly sponsored by the County as a whole. If this is true, then it is quite a responsibility to be sure that it is uplifting, in every sense of the word, and not just a place to go honky-tonking or slumming!

In other words, every effort should be made to make the entire affair in as good taste as are the community exhibits and the commercial exhibits. You can have fun, and spend money, and still keep it on a level of taste which is acceptable to the entire community and all persons, regardless of age!

Final Work On New Interstate Started

The last construction phase on the 48 miles of new Interstate Highway 65 between Montgomery and Birmingham has just started according to an announcement by Mr. Sam Englehardt, Highway Director. This final or clean-up phase of construction includes paving of all shoulders, erection of permanent green and white interstate highway signs, right of way fences in place, additional grading and planting of trees, shrubs and vines for utility purposes, including some screening of light lights.

This work is not an afterthought but has been planned from the beginning. It was considered more practical to get the highway shaped paved, and under traffic, and then do this work when final conditions could be visualized, and thus the funds for these items more economically used.

This final work, like the grading and paving phases, is being done by contract with Interstate highway funds, that a 90% Federal and 10% State.

Local Ford Dealer Offers Big Opportunity To Local Boys

An opportunity for Chilton County area boys to compete in a football punting, passing and place kicking contest, with trips to National Football League games among the prizes, was announced today by J. C. "Rip" Burnett of Clanton Motors, Inc.

Mr. Burnett said the Chilton County Competition a part of a nationwide program sponsored by Ford Division of Ford Motor Company in cooperation with the National Football League. Known as P. P. & K. Punt, Pass and Kick today by J. C. "Rip" Burnett of Clanton Motors, Inc.

Selection of the National Champions will be made as a result of the competition will culminate in a home game of the 14 National Football League teams.

The Chilton County P. P. & K. competition is open to grade school boys aged six through 10, and will be held early in October. Registration for the event will be at Clanton Motors, in Clanton, from August 28 through September 25. There is no cost, but entrants must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Each entrant will receive a P. P. & K. badge, an instruction book written by NFL stars Johnny Unitas, Yale Yary and Paul Hornung, and an official 1961 NFL Guidebook.

After the Chilton County competition is held, the scores of the most skillful punters, passers and place kickers - one in each age group will be compared with the scores of boys in the other competitions held in the area covered by telecasts of the Baltimore Colts.

The top five boys in this region and their fathers then will be given an all expense trip to see a home game of the Baltimore Colts. The boys will punt, pass and kick at the stadium either just before the game starts, or during half-time.

The five top winner in the Chilton County contest, whether or not they qualify for the national eliminations, will receive National Football League type football uniforms, the five boys who place second will receive warm-up jackets, and third place winners will receive footballs.

Scores of competitors in the 14 NFL regions will be compared to determine the five National Champions. Special arrangements will be made to play off all ties both regional and nationally.

Mr. Burnett said the P. P. & K. competition had been developed by Ford Division and the NFL to give every boy a chance to take part in football competition, and to encourage physical fitness. He pointed out that early development of physical conditioning on the part of the nation's youth is one of the prime objectives of the President's Council of Youth Fitness. The Council, he added, will present letters of commendation to the five National Champions during their White House visit.

The date and site of the Chilton County competition, and the judges and other officials, will be announced in the near future, Mr. Burnett said.

Police Issue Rules For Child Protection

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

WITH NEARLY 40 MILLION American youngsters returning to schools this Fall, a nationwide "back to school" safety drive has been launched by alert police and school officials.

Their concern is not only with traffic and pedestrian hazards but also with the problem of strangers and molesters who lurk around schools, playgrounds or other areas where children assemble.

To protect your child from possible harm, here are some suggestions offered by police officials. Constantly remind your children of these rules and urge them to report any incidents to the first responsible person they meet—a police officer, safety patrol boy, teacher, mailman, bus driver, etc.:

1. Never accept rides from strangers.
2. Don't take money, candy or treats from any unfamiliar person, or let him touch you. 3. Never accompany strangers who ask for directions, assistance or who offer you a job with pay.

4. Go directly home from school. Never play in alleys, deserted buildings or around public washrooms.

5. Take a pal along when you go to playgrounds, movies, stores, etc.

6. If a stranger should approach you, try to remember his description. Obtain the license number and color of the car, if an automobile is involved. Write this information down with a pencil or scratch it with a stick in the road or on the sidewalk with a stone. Report it immediately.

These facts will help your local police department to apprehend such persons and to safeguard your community from possible tragedy.

Vegetable Produce Dumps Attracts Flies, Beetles

Cull dumps are not only undesirable; they attract insects that fly to other crops and processing plants, says Melvin Smith, Auburn Extension Service fruit and vegetable marketing specialist.

Most growers and packers have some fruits and vegetables that cannot be sold; so they look for an easy way to get rid of unwanted products, he says. And they usually dump the culls near cropland or processing plants.

But what most people do not realize says Dr. Smith, is that culls do not have to be near plants and crops to cause damage. Vinegar flies have been known to travel more than six miles in 24 hours and beetles more than four miles during the same period of time.

One of the best ways to control pests in cull dumps-other than not dumping the fruit and vegetables in the first place-is to plow the fruit under, he states.

Marketing scientists have reported from preliminary studies that certain insecticides will also do the trick.

Guthrie, for example, is an effective insecticide, says Dr. Smith. In tests, it prevented larva development for two weeks after it was applied at the rate of one pound per 100 square feet. About eight gallons of the solution should be used per 100 square feet for good penetration, Dr. Smith explains.

Chicken is more than good eating. The modern broiler contains an amazing wealth of nutrients. An average person can get practically all his daily protein needs from a one-pound serving of broiler meat. The same portion also contains generous quantities of other essential nutrients and vitamins.

Government grading and inspection assures the consumer of high quality and wholesomeness. Processed with modern equipment, broilers meet every sanitary condition, broilers meet every specification demanded by the consumer.

What does this mean to consumers? Chicken is a healthy, convenient-to-serve food. Yet, chicken prices have gone down an average of one cent per pound per year since World War II.

Out-of-season broilers eight or ten weeks old are selling for about $1.00 a pound. During World War II, they sold for less than half that amount. In 1960 the price to growers averaged about 17 cents per pound live weight. This resulted in weekend sales of ready-to-cook chickens at 29 cents per pound to consumers.

Statistics from the U. S. Department of Labor show how the poultryman has been working for consumers. In 1950 it took 24 minutes of factory labor to buy a pound of chicken; in 1956 it took 15 minutes; and in 1960 it took only about 12 minutes.

We have never been so well-fed for so little cost even though we have more people and fewer farmers.

BROWN

THE promise of two chickens in every pot indicated a status or well-being at one time. But this is certainly not the case today.

Because of a tremendous increase in the efficiency of production, broilers are now an everyday item on the dinner table. They are one of the lowest priced meats in the retail market. The poultry industry has given consumers the quick-growing, tender, plump, compact chickens they wanted. And nutritionists and feed people have done their part, too. They discovered new growth-promoting ingredients, and a combined effort has produced broilers faster and at less cost.

As a result, we now get a three-pound bird in eight weeks, whereas 20 years ago, it took 14 weeks. Feed costs have been cut, also. In 1940 it took 4 1/2 pounds of feed per pound of broiler. Now it takes only 2 1/2 pounds of feed.

During the same time, farmers, engineers, and pathologists have added their knowledge to improved housing, and we can raise broilers in larger flocks. One family can now grow 30,000 to 50,000 broilers at one time and can handle five broods a year.

Processors and merchandisers added their bit to the chicken story. And now consumers

BORON NEEDED FOR ALFAIFA. Field tests at several Alabama locations have proved that boron is needed for high yields, good quality, and maintenance of alfalfa stands. Twenty-five pounds per acre of alfalfa does not get enough boron to produce a good crop of alfalfa that is low in protein and Vitamin A. This condition is especially noticeable in dry weather after the first cutting.

CHOICE EXPENDITURES. Rural residents in the Southeast apparently consider nonhousing needs more urgent than housing improvement. This was disclosed in interviews with 669 rural residents in eight eastern states. Poorer than their counterparts, these business items, such as automobiles, boats, and appliances, as most urgently needed. In addition to personal preference, financing of the nonhousing items is easier to obtain than are housing funds.

KALE YIELDS—Kale gives large yield response to fertilizer, lime, and organic matter. The three-year average yield on a Cecil clay soil of pH 4.7 was 13,001 pounds of heads and 1,000 pounds of leaves per acre of 8-8-8. Addition of 12 to 20 pounds increased yield to 18,740 pounds, and 24 tons pushed yield to 22,654 pounds. Liming to bring soil pH to 6.4 further upped yields to 28,028 pounds per acre.

BEEF PASTURE VALUABLE. Fall dropped calves benefit materially from winter grazing. Performance of calves from cows trained on sod seeded vetch-clover-corn pasture is superior to calves on other pastures. The little difference in brood cow milk production between the two feeding systems. If grazing is limited, best results are obtained by making pasture available to calves and not to their dams.

FRESHWATER JELLYFISH. Freshwater jellyfish occurred in several places near Auburn in the late summer of 1960. During the first week in September they were seen in the pool at Auburn University's Memorial Garden. Many questions were asked about whether fish eat them, how large they grow, whether they sting, and especially where they came from.

Answers from zoologists reveal that they will not hurt humans; they are about three-fourths of an inch in diameter when fully grown; fish do not eat them; and no one knows where they came from.

These jellyfish were found in London in 1880 in a pond planted with water lilies from the Amazon River. They are now in the expected places where they are scattered in unexpected places and usually go unnoticed. Some of the jellyfish in Auburn Garden and lived about two weeks after cold weather killed those in the pool about November 8.

OAT PLANTING TIME. Planting oats on time is necessary for top production. Studies at seven Alabama locations reveal that oat yields are increased by planting earlier than farmers usually plant. Time of planting is especially important for planting oats to be grazed. Recommended planting dates for oats grown for both forage and grain production for three regions of Alabama are northern Alabama, September 1 to September 20; central Alabama, September 1 to September 30; and southern Alabama, September 20 to October 20.

Bond pointed out that peanut vines can be baled for hay if two other recommended insecticides—cryolite or methoxychlor—were used in the regular dusting program.

PEANUT GROWERS WARNED ON USE OF INSECTICIDES

PEANUT growers are warned not to feed peanut vine hay to animals without checking on the kind of insecticide they used in the spray program earlier. The use of the wrong kind of insecticides can result in condemnation of milk and meat from cattle which are fed from the vine hay.

Auburn Extension Service Peanut Specialist Dean Bond says that two insecticides—DDT and toxaphene—which are used widely for control of leaf feeding insects—are not recommended if the vines are to be used for hay.

He explains that some of these materials may remain in or on the vine, and when the vines are eaten later by animals, the materials can be detected in butterfat or in meat.

"The Pure Food and Drug Administration has a zero tolerance on DDT and toxaphene residue in milk and meat," says the specialist. "When milk and meat are found to contain any quantity of these materials, they are condemned, and they are not allowed to be used for food."

Make Your Home More Attractive

By Troy Keeble
Extension Ornamental Horticulturist

WHAT makes a home attractive? Someone has answered that question this way: The outward appearance of a home reflects the character of the people who live there. A home must be happy and well-kept to be attractive.

A planned maintenance program for the house and grounds is the first step toward a well-kept home. And the first requirement in a good maintenance program is that the house and lawn be in good repair. Homes with a fresh coat of paint and a good attractive are more attractive than those with poor lawns. When broken boards, steps or shingles are repaired, the home has that "cared for" look. Freshly cut lawns and properly pruned shrubs add further to these minor repairs.

KEEBLE

September is an excellent month to plan activities that will make your home more attractive. Where drives and walks are not clearly marked, make plans for location and construction. The cool days of September give an opportunity to make the essential elements of a landscape plan. This is due to the ten more needed areas. This is due to the ten more needed areas. This is due to the ten more needed areas.

Proper planning and well-kept exteriors and interiors of homes, coupled with appropriate landscaping, will answer your question: What makes an attractive home?

Once the drives and walks have been located, establish a good turf or lawn grass. Several grasses are available for permanent turfs. Tiflawn, Tifgreen, Tiftone bermuda, and centipede grow well in sunny areas. Zoysia grasses will grow in shade or sun. Any of these grasses planted during early September will make a fine lawn. The advantage of shrubs from year to year will be like adding another stroke of the brush toward the finished painting.

For mon retiring before 65, the reduction is based on the number of months of retirement. For example, a worker who retires and claims his Social Security as soon as he becomes 62 will qualify for 80 per cent of the amount that he would have been paid at 65. If the worker waits until he is 63, he will get 80 1/2 per cent of his full benefit. If he waits until he is 64, the amount will be 93 1/2 per cent of age or poor health.

Members of the immediate family of a retired worker can also get dependent benefits if the worker retires at 62. Eligible dependents include a wife—62 or older—or a wife at any age if she has children in her care who are eligible.

Men Can Now Get Social Security At 62 With Reduced Benefits

RECENT changes in the Federal Social Security law now make it possible for men to get early retirement benefits similar to those women have had for a number of years.

Changes in the law, according to Douglas Richard, Montgomery district Social Security manager, apply to men between the ages of 62 and 65. The new law is designed to help men who are unable to find employment because of age or poor health.

Basically, the law provides that men may now retire at 62 instead of 65—the former minimum retirement age. However, the worker who retires at 62 or at any time before 65, will receive reduced benefits, even after he has reached 65.

The child of a retired worker is eligible for benefits if he is under 18. And the totally disabled dependent adult child of a retired worker may receive payments if the disability occurred before he reached 18.

Widows' benefits will also be increased about 10 per cent beginning in September, and the minimum benefits will be raised from $33 to $40. Richard said that the raises will be made automatically and a person will not need to make an application for the increase. Generally speaking, the only people who will get less than $40 will be those entitled to minimum benefits who take payments before reaching 65.

Don't Be Fooled

By Myra Weaver

DON'T let the nylon hose and the lipstick fool you. Americans are eating better and at a much lower cost than ever.

It almost takes a map to find your way through the modern supermarket. And part of the reason for this is the tremendous growth can be contributed to the sale of many nonfood items. These items are charged against the family grocery bill; thus your "food" budget may be covering purchases of lipstick, nylon hose, kitchen utensils, and even an encyclopedia.

Compared with the 1947-49 average, the consumer spent $75 more per person for food in 1960. However, the 1960 expenditure represented only 20 per cent of the total income available to consumers, compared with 26 per cent of the total income used for food in 1947-49. This shows that the food bill did not rise as much as the available income, although consumers were shifting to more expensive foods and were buying more marketing services.

Because of many advances in farming, food processing, and distribution. Americans today have the greatest variety of foods in human history. And there is much less work involved in preparing these foods.

Seasonality is no longer a limiting factor. The variety of foods is available in many different package sizes to meet varying consumer needs. Many products today are ready for immediate cooking when the homemaker gets them into her kitchen; so the number of hours of food preparation in the home is reduced.

Since the American people can buy a huge variety of healthful foods at a fairly low cost in terms of total income available, families have more money to buy newspapers and other leisure products. And more money for housing, more cars, more education for their children, and a host of other products.

On Concrete Area

Requires Better

- Feeding
- Management
- Sanitation Job

By G. B. Phillips

Extension Animal Industry Specialist

PRODUCING pork on concrete offers many Alabama growers a good way to raise large numbers of hogs efficiently, but whether or not you change to this method will probably depend on you and your program.

You must be a conscientious hog raiser to take full advantage of all the benefits of confinement. While a hog sometimes gets by under poor management on good pasture, he can't in confinement. Generally, he best adapted to feeding on concrete by large operators with at least 20 or 25 sows.

It reduces fencing costs, permits faster gains in summer months, requires growers to better feeding, management, and sanitation jobs, reduces parasite damage, allows pasture land to be used for other livestock, and permits a multiple farrowing system.

But there are definite disadvantages, also. Manure disposal, along with flies and odor, often presents serious problems. It becomes harder to establish a satisfactory source of water for pigs. An adequate supply of water under pressure becomes necessary. And in times of low hog prices and high feed costs, the margin of profit is small. With the present hog market, producers might take more time and sell at a later date.

Now let's see how authorities answer some of the questions that growers most commonly ask.

Do you get faster gains and better feed efficiency in confinement?

A summary of 63 tests showed that confinement hogs gained faster—1.48 pounds per day—compared with 1.45 pounds for pigs on pasture. But pasture pigs made more gains in the tests.

In the tests, pasture pigs required only 3.15 pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain, compared to 3.24 pounds required by pigs in confinement.

What about ration in confinement?

There is no good short cut to feeding hogs in confinement. Hogs on concrete get only what you give them. There is no soil or clover to eat if they need to supplement their rations. Confinement hogs will do the best and return the most profit when given well-balanced rations.

Is more feed wasted in confinement?

There's probably little difference in the two methods. But producers simply notice the waste more because the hogs are on concrete. More waste seems to occur when the pigs have too much feeder space rather than too little.

PHILLIPS

County Agent Dewitt Estes reports that 10 farmers in Washington County are already using pig parlors, and several others are in the process of building them. The agent adds that one advantage of this new method is the sanitary conditions under which the pigs are fed. It does away with feeding the animals in a pen, says that for a farmer to go to the expense of building a parlor, he should have about a 25-sow herd as a good source of feeder pigs to get the parlor filled. Shown is Earl Johnson, left, telling Agent Estes that his 200 capacity parlor is almost ready to fill with feeder pigs.

What about the cost of building for confinement?

Most figures show that you will need from $10 to $24 per head capacity in building cost. An expensive building is not needed, but a sloping concrete slab is necessary. The building can be very simple and still give good results if a good management program is followed.

Is manure a problem in confinement?

Yes, if you don't have a good system for handling it. So far, no method works the best for all operations. The lagoon idea seems to offer possibilities for many growers.

What about disease control in confinement?

Higher hog concentrations make it more important to have a good disease control program. Since there is better control over hogs in confinement, a good disease and parasite program can be equal to or more effective than a similar program on pasture.

What about tail biting in confinement herds?

Higher hog concentrations make it more important to have a good disease control program. Since there is better control over hogs in confinement, a good disease and parasite program can be equal to or more effective than a similar program on pasture.

Farmer's Output Has Increased

ONE hour of farm labor now produces four times as much food and other crops as it did 40 years ago.

Auburn Extension Service Economist Foy Helms says that crop production is up 58 per cent per acre since 1920 and that the output per farmer is 81 per cent greater.

In the last 10 years, the economist says, farm production has increased by 25 per cent, while the population has increased by 25 per cent. This compares with an increase of 2.5 per cent for each man-hour in nonfarm industries.

It's a problem, and there are many ideas on the subject, but no definite answer. Some think the hogs are just bored, others think it's due to overcrowding. Still others think it's caused by parasites or a lack of proper minerals. One remedy is to find the pig doing the biting and remove him from the pen. Another is to remove the pigs' tails at a very early age. The individual operator should choose a system that will best fit his situation.

How much floor space per animal is needed for pigs on concrete?

One experiment station has recently released data indicating that as little as eight square feet per animal is enough for a concrete feeding floor.

But Auburn researchers and Extension workers agree that this is not good for Alabama conditions. Provide eight square feet each for 8- to 10-week-old pigs and gradually go up to about 15 feet for pigs from 150 pounds to market weight. The best arrangement, particularly with larger pigs, is to confine not more than 25 to 30 in each section, with a maximum of 50 per section.

While the farmer has been increasing his efficiency, consumer buying power has also been on the rise, he notes.

For example, he says, one hour's work in a factory 20 years ago would buy only 1.8 pounds of round steak, two pounds of bacon, or 10.4 pints of milk. Today, one hour provides wages to buy either 2.5 pounds of round steak, 3.3 pounds of bacon, or 17.6 pints of milk.

County Schools 'Off To Good Start'; Optimism Is Prevalent

GORDON CONWAY, Chilton County Superintendent of Education stated this week that the County Schools were off to a good start and that every effort has been made to insure the children of this community an education which will benefit them in years to come.

at a cost which the Board of Education can afford, under the conditions and financial confinement in which we find ourselves.

It seems to be a matter of money juggling on the part of the Board of Education, as to how the schools will operate this year, but it is the opinion of the Superintendent, as well as many local citizens that the present Board of Education is doing a monumental task, and doing it as well as anyone could under the circumstances.

The school system, under the present setup, is operating on a "borrow as you go" proposition and there is no absolute guarantee that enough money will come in to satisfy all obligations. But with the funds coming from the State in October, the local Board plans to be able to meet their bills without borrowing any more.

Schools opened this year on time in Chilton County as some other systems did not because we did not have to borrow money to the extent that some did. The one-cent sales tax alleviated the problem to some extent. Although those funds are earmarked for construction and maintenance, they nevertheless took the load off of the general appropriations which could be leveled into some of the other obligation areas.

Chilton has six fewer teachers this year in the system, but it is the opinion of the administration that the streamlining of the system will give more students a better education at a less expensive rate, and under the situation which we find ourselves, "we must cut corners everywhere and everywhere we are able to."

There is great enthusiasm and optimism coming from our school administrators about the future of our educational system. They need the interest and support of the parents to instill this progressive outlook in the minds and hearts of the people.

Serving in the Pacific aboard the destroyer USS Samuel N. Moore, operating out of Long Beach, California, is William T. Traywick, signalman third class. USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Traywick of Route 2, Clanton.

The Moore recently joined 20 other First Fleet ships departing Hawaii to relieve sister vessels now operating in the Far East with the Seventh Fleet.

The two fleets are responsible for maintaining safety of Free World trade route which criss-crosses the 85-million square-mile Pacific area; the First Fleet in the eastern and mid-Pacific and the Seventh Fleet in the western Pacific.

Braves in Squad City, Iowa, which has a population of 8,000. The Braves finished the season one-half game out of first place after three games and tied for first two times.

Squad City was never lower than third place in the Class D Midwest League which had eight teams from Iowa, Indiana and Illinois.

Clay also had a remarkable batting average of .356 which included one homerun, two doubles and six RBIs. Clay says, "The reason I has a pretty good hitting average was because I stayed in the batting cage and hit as much as I could."

A one-hitter against Waterloo, Ill. who won the Midwest League title, was Carroll's best game of the season. He also lost a game 3-0 and pitched only 98 pitches during the game.

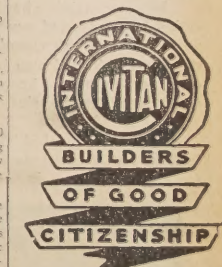

"Squad City is a great baseball town," said Carroll; "at one game there were 10,000 people in the stands." Manager Al Monahan said Carroll would go up into a higher league next year, but would have to wait until spring training to find out where. "I wouldn't mind playing all year round," said Clay. But for now, he's looking for a good job and hopes to work until next March when Spring training rolls around.

Congratulations Clay, for a remarkable season!

THERE have been many favorable comments directed to us regarding the displays and community exhibits at this year's County Fair. It seems that the members of the Home Demonstration Clubs went all out with their themes and their decorating this year and the commercial displays were outstanding also.

Rain interrupted about three days of the Fair activities, but by and large, the 1961 edition was a huge success. The only adverse condition of the Fair this season, was the lack of cooperation and coordination in some of the undertakings. This was not so much a matter of neglect as it was a clash of personalities and differences of opinion.

Differences of opinion are healthy, however, and we can go from good to better with the County Fair providing we learn and profit by our mistakes and differences.

The County Fair is a vital part of our relationship between Agriculture and Industry. It is a public display of the progress made in the past year. We need the Fair and the Fair needs our support.

There have been untold hundreds who have put great effort into the County Fair this year. If you enjoyed any or all of the festivities of the occasion, be sure to let them know about it. Aside from the personal satisfaction of doing their best for the community it is their only reward . . . and they truly deserve it.

The Influence Of Others

WHO among us, can completely make up his own, mind, without the influence of those around him? In fact, what is an opinion if it is not a composite of those events and those conversations which make up our everyday life?

Our opinion, we feel, is our own. But it is not concluded without the influence of those around us, whose opinion we respect, and whose knowledge is often times much greater than our own.

Your opinion may be your own; but it is not brought about solely through your own experience, nor entirely by your own personal knowledge of the situation at hand.

Intelligent appraisal is certainly a necessary ingredient in formulating your opinions. But, your opinions, like your education, requires knowledge which can only come from the experience of many. Your opinion is much more valuable to you, and to others, if you respect the opinions of others.

Back To Books

ON the 5th day of September the Chilton County Schools opened their doors for another nine months of activity, with the stress, this year, on reading, writing and arithmetic.

A record number of students has been enrolled in some of the grades in the County and some of the schools are crowded beyond belief. Efforts are underway, in fact, in progress, to alleviate some of the crowded conditions and the County Board of Education, under the capable leadership of Superintendent Gordon Conway is making great strides in improving our educational situation in Chilton County.

We are straining hard at some points in our educational program and some of the obstacles confronting us are not easily surmountable. But, we have some of the most dedicated men in the County on the Board of Education and we have, perhaps, a greater percentage of dedicated and sincere teachers of any county in the State of Alabama.

Our educational abilities are not necessarily top-notch, but if effort means anything at all, we'll see some great progress in our schools in the next year!

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

BY CARL GOGGINS

CAPITOL HILL. — There are many ways to describe the last four days of Legislative action here, but unless you witnessed the show yourself, no single column could ever completely cover the many political fact involved.

Glancing back briefly over the grueling 90-hour talkathon and realizing there is no redistricting bill that the congressmen will have to run state at large next year, along with the fact that for the first time in the State's history, no general appropriation bill was passed, may be the following analogy will shed a little light on perhaps why these two important matters were not resolved during the Session.

As the Senate entered the waning hours of the protracted debate over the Pare-Jeffco bill, the situation paralleled that of a ship inexorably drawn along with its passengers to the brink of a great waterfall. The majority and minority blocs of the Senate, along with the Lt. Gov., had boarded the good legislative ship "Filibuster" in hopes of a smooth voyage to their respective political promised land. In its early stages, the voyage proceeded over smooth waters and its first step appeared to be a safe haven.

This first step occurred at the time of legislative passage of the Divide-Jeffco bill at which time a few of the hardy voyagers in the minority ejected the plaudits of the Jefferson multitude for their lengthy oratorical efforts directed against the proposed Chop-Up. It should be pointed out that one or two of these intrepid sailors would have probably boarded any craft available so long as it went to sea against congressional redistricting no matter how leaky the vessel might have been.

A majority of the political sailors aboard felt that perhaps these men, along with the governor, who later boarded the ship also, had hoped to have their political cake and eat it too, by hoping that Jeffersonians would never forget their assistance in defeat and that the other congressional district would ignore their opposition in the flush of redistricting victory.

After having barely made port, the craft was pushed seaward again by the thrust of a gubernatorial veto. As the Filibuster reentered the waters of the stream, slight fears reigned as the ship made her way toward the falls below.

Defeat for Jeffco meant redoubled gratitude for a few of the sailors; victory for the outlying districts or eight of the congressmen involved little, if any, punishment. However, if the tiller was not well manned, a trip over the falls possibly meant political disaster.

This would have meant that

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS
THE PRESCRIPTION FOR ABUNDANT LIFE

I used to wonder why doctors write prescriptions in Latin instead of English. I'd heard many explanations, but I never really knew until a few days ago. Then I read an article in which a druggist explained why doctors use Latin.

"In the first place," he wrote, "Latin is a more exact and concise language than English; and being a dead language, it does not change. Another reason is that many drugs are botanical in origin, and they have the same scientific names they have in botany. About two-thirds of such drugs do not have English names, so they can't even be written in English."

The druggist continued: "Suppose a doctor did write a prescription in English for iodide of potassium. The patient reads it, thinks he remembers it and tries to get it filled from memory. Instead, he gets confused and asks for cyanide of potassium. If the druggist filled the prescription, the patient would poison himself with the first dose. Latin is a protection and a safeguard."

"Now the final reason, Latin is used by scientists all over the world over, and no other language is. You can get Latin prescriptions filled in any country on the face of the earth where there is a druggist. I have read prescriptions handed by druggists in London, Paris, Berlin, Istanbul, Cairo and Calcutta. What good would an English prescription be in London?"

As I read the druggist's statement, I suddenly realized that the prescription for abundant life is written in a universal language also. But this language is not read by doctors and druggists only. The learned and the illiterate, the rich and the poor, the deaf and the blind can read the prescription for abundant life. It makes no difference what color their skin is or what language they speak.

The prescription for abundant life is the Son of God, Jesus Christ. He said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10).

The Bible says, "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

The Bible also says, "... the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Romans 6:23).

And to those who may not read His prescription, God speaks in a still, calm voice or sends a messenger bearing the news. It costs nothing to fill your prescription for abundant life. You have only to believe — to release your faith to God. Why not do it today?

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

An attempt of federal aid to education to salvage part of the President's program failed last week when the House refused, by a vote of 242 to 169, to consider his education bill. The measure, a watered down version of the Ad-aid proposal, would have provided ministrations' original far reaching $125 million for one year to pay up to 40 per cent of the cost of classroom construction throughout the nation.

Action by the House came after an eight months' attempt to secure passage of a bill providing aid to public, private and parochial school and thus destroyed a principal section of the President's proposed educational program. Congress is expected to pass, however, possibly this week, a bill providing aid for schools in impacted areas and extending the scholarship provision of the National Defense Education Act.

FOREIGN AID PASSED

Congress passed and sent to the President last week a compromise foreign aid bill which authorizes for the first time long-range loan commitments. However, the measure specifies that annual appropriations be required to finance

RED CHINA VETOED

Congress is caving no doubts as to how it feels about admitting Red China to the United Nations Organization. Both the House and Senate have approved a resolution opposing admission of the Chinese communist regime to the UN and also opposing U. S. diplomatic recognition of that country. When the House approved the bill unanimously last week, it marked the 20th time that Congress has gone on record opposing United Nations membership for Red China. The resolution had been adopted by Senate last month.

SCHOOL HEALTH

School bells will be ringing soon and with it comes much concern and care for our school children. This is as it should be, and more and more attention is being given to this problem. There is another group of individuals connected with school who also need careful medical care. They are the teachers. When a child is absent from school for a day or two only one individual is involved. When a teacher is absent an entire classroom is affected in that the children are under the supervision of a substitute teacher.

Every average school day, throughout the United States, more than 300,000 pupils are taught by substitute teachers because their regular teachers are confined with illness at home. During the school year, more than 275,000 teachers are absent one or more days because of illness. No matter how efficient and well liked the substitute teacher, she seldom can accomplish what the regular teacher does; and consequently there is an educational loss.

Many teachers suffer health disorders which lower their vitality and reduce their efficiency. This causes them to be irritable even though the impairment is not disabling enough to keep them away from their classes. Leading causes of poor health among teachers include incorrect personal health habits, general weakness and physical handicaps, unfavorable out-of-school environment, excessive amount of school work, improper school housing facilities, and disease contracted from pupils.

Teachers' health affects twenty five million school children, and grand son worshipped at the Hopewell Baptist church.

Warns Bread Prices May Rise

Chicago—Higher costs of flour and advances in other costs may result in higher prices of bread in the not too distant future, E. E. Kelley, Jr., President of the American Bakers Association, warned recently. It is difficult to see how advances can be avoided as a result of an increase in the support price on wheat for the 1961-62 crop, he said.

Current prices of bread flour are up 35¢ to 40¢ per hundredweight to bakers compared with year ago levels, Kelley said. The baking industry uses 150 million hundredweights of flour annually and the present price means an increase in national baker costs of $60 million. It requires more than 350,000,000 bushels of wheat to produce this flour.

"The total increased cost of flour is greater than the estimated net profits of the entire bread baking industry in 1960," Kelley said. "Add to this the much higher labor costs prevailing in the industry, plus increases in prices of other ingredients, wrapping paper, gasoline, truck taxes and other items and it is apparent bakers cannot continue to operate at present price levels and stay in business."

Kelley, who is president of Butter Krust Bakeries, Inc., Lakeland, Fla., noted that the price of flour has gone up in the face of a new all-time record storage of wheat and the sixth largest wheat crop in the country's history.

"Despite all this wheat, the kind of wheat needed for bread flour is sufficiently scarce on the market to force up prices," he said.

"Out of the great amount of wheat in storage, very little is suitable for bakery use. There actually is no surplus of good bread wheat."

Kelley pointed out that an increase in the present price

Telephone Numbers To Change In Maplesville October 1st

Maplesville's new seven-digit telephone number system will go into effect 1:01 a.m., Sunday, October 1, 1961.

Maplesville telephone manager W. R. Waters announced that work on the number change has progressed to the point where a definite date can be set.

All telephone numbers in Maplesville simply have the prefix 36 instead of EM, he explained. For example EM 6-1234 will become 366-1234.

Waters said a new directory will be issued at the time of the change.

While the number change will not be made until October 1st, Waters said, he wanted customers to know about the advance to prevent overloading on letterheads, advertising materials and similar items with telephone numbers.

The seven digit dialing will pave the way for Direct Distance Dialing.

Back-To-School Means More Emphasis On Good Nourishing Food

--Here Are Some Tips For Mom--

No matter whether you are a mother with one child in school or a half dozen, you still know the value of good, nourishing and wholesome foods for every member of your family.

And too, regardless of what community you live in, or what school Junior goes to, is still essential that he have a balanced diet, now, more than ever, since Chilton County Schools have opened up again.

Mom knows the value of good foods and the youngster who is attending school certainly knows how to appreciate it. The Chilton County News, this week, offers mothers some ideas on after-school snacks and lunches as well as main courses for dinner which could help out a lot in the helter skelter of getting into another school year.

Some of these recipes will be new to you and some will not fit your family's taste to a "T", but there is something here for every taste and every stomach and we predict that you, Mom, will be a hit with the entire family if you try some of these dishes on them.

We just thought we'd try to help Mom out in her meal planning. For those of you who are unfamiliar with the job, it's a tough, and sometimes unappreciated one. Good luck, Mom!

Proof Is in the Eating, Says 4-H'er

A pretty Pennsylvania 4-H miss pictured here is typical of her counterparts throughout the land who can bake a mouth-watering loaf of bread or pan of golden rolls. She is like some half-million 4-Hers who are in a baked foods project, reports the National 4-H Service Committee.

It was just 10 years ago that 4-H Club girls took up baking as a project governed by rules and certain well-defined objectives set by the Cooperative Extension Service. It was then that the demonstration aspect of good baking practices was launched as a national awards program, according to a 4-H Service Committee spokesman.

Awards were made possible by Standard Brands, Incorporated, and the years went by, they were increased considerably. Today, the national scholarships of $400 each are given to the highest ranking 4-H bakers. An even dozen will qualify for expense paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago the last week in November. In the best two-girl team demonstrators in the state and for the individual 4-H demonstrator as well, Standard Brands provides a $100 U. S. savings bond for each. Medals are expected to be given to the estimated 2,500 girls this year who win county recognition. Participation in the 4-H bread demonstration program last year was increased by 23 per cent over 1959, according to the National 4-H Service Committee. This seems to indicate that "homemade" bread is not a lost art.

 1 cup process cheese French Fried Onions
 1/2 cup (sharp, garlic, smoky or bacon flavor)

Split frankfurters lengthwise, cutting only about 3/4 the way through. Place in a shallow baking dish. Spread cut surfaces generously with cheese food. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees for about 12 minutes or until cheese softens. Sprinkle with O & C French Fried Onions generously over top and return to oven for about 2 minutes to heat onions. Frankfurters, or whatever you call them, are popular with everyone. "Frankies" are cooked, just need heating to make them taste just right, so the time in the oven for this casserole is short. A sprinkling tag-along for cheesefurters is a huge pitcher of iced tea . . . the perfect way to shoo away those heat waves. Here's the best way to make iced tea. Rinse the tea pot with boiling water. For 8 glasses of iced tea, measure 4 tablespoons (2 teaspoons) of tea into the pot, or use 12 tea bags. Pour 3 cups of fresh, vigorously boiling water over the leaves. Replace the pot cover. Let stand 5 minutes to bring out full flavor. Strain tea briefly. Pour the brew off tea leaves immediately. Strain through a strainer into glass, earthenware or enamelware pitcher. Add 4 cups cold water to the hot tea. You can let the tea stand at room temperature until you are ready to serve it. Pour it into tall iced-filled glasses. Serve with slices of lemon. No matter how carefully you brew your tea, it may be cloudy. This is more likely to happen if you make a strong brew. To clear cloudy iced tea, add a small amount of boiling water. Mother in a hurry? Use Instant Tea . . . just add a rounded teaspoon of Instant Tea to a glass of cold water. Add ice, lemon etc.

Noon Whistle — Soup's On!

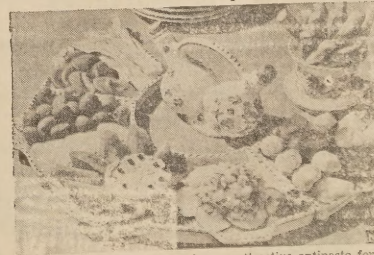

Have you ever heard a man rave about his wife's lunch-box cooking? When he does, you know his fond thoughts probably follow her though away-from-home—and what greater compliment can any woman ask?

Lunch box meals are singularly important to good family living. Because they are not eaten in the comfort of home, they require special care and interesting variety. The days of the paper sack are over. Today an attractive lunch-box with a vacuum bottle carries the elements of a well balanced meal made in a twinkling, the main ingredients for this favorite lunch-box combination—canned condensed soups and breads—are available at most markets in a fascinating variety that helps eliminate lunch-box monotony.

Some of the favorite luncheon soups are tomato, chicken, noodle, vegetable, chicken with rice, bean with bacon, chicken, gumbo, minestrone, green pea, clam chowder and beef broth. These breads give variety to lunch-box sandwiches: white, rye, whole wheat, hois, corn-molasses, cinnamon-raisin, pumpernickel, protein, date-nut and oatmeal.

Honey Bran Quick Bread

Include an occasional surprise in the lunch boxes you pack for your family. Ham and cream cheese sandwiches on Honey Bran Quick Bread are the center of attraction in the school lunch pictured above.

These sandwiches are a new taste treat, enhanced by the nut-like flavor of the home-baked bread. A variety of sandwich fillings go well with Honey Bran Bread. For best results, store bread one day before slicing for sandwiches. Then try ham, peanut butter or cream cheese as sandwich spreads. You'll find it hard to decide which way you like this bread best — fresh-from-the-oven or made into sandwiches. Enjoy both by baking the bread for dinner one night and making sandwiches the next day.

In just 15 minutes, you can assemble the six ingredients and mix the batter for this quick bread. Enriched self-rising flour is an important time-saving aid because baking powder and salt have already been evenly blended into the flour at the mill. Self-rising flour makes quick breads even quicker and saves you time in all your baking.

HONEY BRAN QUICK BREAD
 3 cups sifted enriched self-rising flour
 2 eggs
 1/4 cup milk
 1 cup honey
 1/2 cup melted shortening
 1 1/2 cups bran cereal

Then beat 1 minute at medium speed on electric mixer or 150 strokes by hand. Stir in bran cereal. Pour into greased 5 1/2 x 9-inch loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 50 minutes to 1 hour. Makes 1 loaf.

Lunch For Back-To-Schoolers

School days are here again! One of the golden rules on the slate is a well balanced meal at noontime. It's important to replenish the youngsters' energy supply so they will be alert and attentive in school.

Children home from school at noon are usually limited in time so lunch must be ready to eat the moment they arrive. Canned condensed soups . . . served plain or fancy . . . fit this need so well. Mother appreciates their ease of preparation, too. And with the wide selection of canned soups available you can safeguard against lunchtime monotony. For today's lunch feature canned condensed vegetable soup made hearty with ground beef and to go along . . . melted cheese on crackers. A selection of cranberry and celery sticks is a nice accompaniment.

Cupcakes and fruit with a glass of cold milk score a high grade for dessert.

 1 soup can water

News Happenings From Samaria

Grisham, pastor of the Samaria Church, has had quite an uplift in his life. He has completed their Spring Campaign and in a successful manner, as the members since 1956 have paid the debt that has been on the building at Samaria. This was a long and arduous task for the people of Samaria and a promise by one of the members, Mr. Leonard Traywick, to serve as Treasurer, a present attending a Church to come. We are hoping that this will be a successful program.

Sunday night we had quite a remarkable guest in the person of Mr. Arthur Duke, a student in Pre-Med at Howard College. After graduating he plans to enter a theological seminary to become a medical missionary. Mr. Duke is a Chalk-Talk artist and sent us to draw for us. It was on the subject of the resurrection and was followed with a sermon on the same subject, both being very impressive.

Saturday all men are invited to come at 7:00 to help with the cleaning of our cemetery.

We wish to extend a cordial invitation to visit our services each Sunday and Wednesday for Prayer meeting.

Donald R. Avery

Station At Memphis

A Jemison, Ala., leatherneck was graduated August 4 from Aviation Familiarization School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn.

Marine Pfc. Donald R. Avery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. Avery of Route 2, Jemison, received two weeks instruction in flight theory, aircraft handling, survival practices and fire fighting at the school.

He is now undergoing more technical training at another Memphis school prior to being assigned for duty with the aviation branch of the Marine Corps.

Before enlisting in February 1961 Avery was graduated from Jemison High School.

cell, won two out of three time it struck. More than 270,000 Americans died of the disease.

Why did the gangster cell win? The body, like a healthy society, is well policed and defended.

Gangsters cell or virus find it difficult to sneak into a well society. Once there, they learn it is next to impossible to survive.

Tiny hairs patrolling body orifices capture and eject foreign materials and particles attempting to enter by these routes. Oils trap them like flypaper at the pores; natural fluids wash them out of the eyes.

Large molecules are treated, by strong acid in the stomach and physically dismembered by digestive enzymes before they pass through the intestines wall into the bloodstream.

Foreign cells and particles which somehow evade the body's border patrols face an awesome series of perils once they enter the bloodstream.

Cancer, the gangster cell, somehow evades all these defenses.

Cancer Vaccines — A rapidly increasing number of scientists now are trying to find out why the body's police forces fail to recognize and destroy gangster cells and 2 how they can be taught to do so.

This effort in immunity has been called the Fourth Front against cancer. The other three the surgery, radiation and drugs.

Scientists are beginning to detect certain flaws in the cell's character or, as it is called in Science

RNA or Ribonucleic acid, which so far appear common to at least many cancers.

Inasmuch as RNA directs the manufacture of cell proteins, it may follow that every cancer cell should produce at least one defective protein possibly one common to all cancers. This would be a give-away, the cells' cancer badge. A common antigen, they call it.

If a common cancer antigen it could be the basis of a vaccine for all cancers. Solution of the cancer problem then would be relatively easy.

Perhaps scientists this year or the next or the year after that will develop better immune methods which will make many human cancers preventable or curable.

It could happen on the Fourth Front.

How to get up to 30 extra miles per tankful

Shell test drivers add a "fifth wheel" to their cars for precise distance measurement during mileage tests. It helps them record performance to a decimal point.

Here are some tips from Shell's experts on how to get maximum mileage from your car. If you practice these good driving habits —and if you use today's Super Shell, with 9 ingredients for top performance—you may well save a pretty penny on gasoline bills.

SHELL scientists spend much of their working lives figuring out how to get the most mileage out of a gallon of gasoline. Here are some of the things they've learned.

1. Don't race a cold engine. When your engine is cold, it uses up more fuel. You're also in danger of underlubrication. You pay in greater engine wear.

NOTE: Today's Super Shell has fast warm-up ingredients to save gasoline. And Shell X-100® Premium Motor Oil moves freely even when cold—saves fuel and reduces engine wear.

2. Use a light touch on the accelerator. Topping down on the pedal is an expensive habit. Starting up, it holds your automatic transmission in a lower "gear" longer—makes the engine turn faster, wasting fuel. Under way, uneven pedal pressure is costly, too. Feed just enough fuel to maintain even speed.

3. Drive "ahead of your car." Watch for slowing traffic and red lights as far ahead as you can see. Then coast up to the stopping cars, instead of braking heavily when you get there.

4. Don't let fuel costs creep up at the stop light. If your car "creeps" when idling with the automatic transmission engaged, have your idle speed adjusted. If you drive a stick shift, remember that pumping the accelerator won't change the light. It only uses up gasoline.

5. Don't indulge in jack rabbit starts. Racing starts are fine on race tracks—but the drivers of those cars are lucky to get 6 miles per gallon.

NOTE: Air resistance at high car speed is the biggest single drain on power. It increases approximately as the cube of the vehicle speed. Even fox tails on aerials may cost you gasoline.

6. Check your tire pressure regularly. Under-inflated tires increase friction and cut mileage.

NOTE: Tire pressures build up during a long run. Don't let air out to bring the pressure down—it makes the tires run even hotter. Check cool tires only.

7. Check for dragging brakes. Have your Shell dealer check for wheel drag next time you're in for a lubrication. If brakes drag, you pay for it every mile.

8. Get these fuel-saving adjustments. If spark timing is off, for example, you pay in wasted gasoline—and possibly in engine damage. A compression check can reveal power-wasting valve and ring conditions. Other essentials:

A. Keep your spark plugs at peak efficiency. Use Super Shell gasoline with unique TCP® additive to give them extra life.

B. Adjust carburetor.

C. Have automatic choke checked.

D. Clean or replace filters for air, fuel, oil as manufacturer recommends.

E. Tighten fuel line connections.

F. Have automatic transmission or clutch checked regularly.

9. Get regular oil changes and lubrication—including transmission and differential. Your Shell dealer knows what to do. And he has the finest equipment and lubricants. Your car will last longer. Your gasoline will go farther.

10. Show this advertisement to everyone who drives your car—especially if you pay their gasoline bills. We can't guarantee 30 extra miles per tankful—but the closer these suggestions are followed the better your mileage will be. To start off right, fill up with today's Super Shell. Its nine ingredients mean top performance.

At Shell, 1967 scientists are working to make your car go better and better.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U. S. Patent 2,689,213.

HERE COMES THE CIRCUS

In an era of dying Big Top.
Wallace Bros. Circus will bring their all new gigantic circus tent to Clanton Airport on Thursday, September 21 for two full and complete performances afternoon and evening at 4 and 8 p.m. under the sponsorship of Clanton Shrine Club.

The first circus to return under circus since Ringling Bros. and Norman Colman's Big Top show in 1956; Wallace Brothers 3 Ring Circus is all new for 1961. The new Big Top, of blue canvas was a full year in the making. Old circus sailmakers and rope splicers, almost a thing of the past were gathered from all over the nation by the late T. G. of Sarasota from their current occupations with boat manufacturers where they have turned their skills for the most part to sails for to pleasure boats so rapidly gaining in popularity across America. Those devoted artisans have produced a circus tent rivaling the finest seen in the Golden Age of the Circus for the 1961 presentation of Wallace Bros. Circus.

Over 700 man hours of labor were involved in the making of this all new Big Top, along with 23,800 feet of canvas. 5,300 yards of oiled genuine hemp rope, 700 pounds of lines thread imported from Ireland 500 pounds of pure beeswax, 2600 pounds of water and fireproofing compound to make the top tenacious to fire regulations of all 50 states, over a ton of iron stakes.

Over 50,000 square feet of seating and exhibition area is enclosed by this tent. All new Mechanical Seats with New Modern Aluminum Chairs have been built in the circus winter quarters, providing comfortable seating for 5100 persons, and the entire show is moved on 80 units of motorized equipment. Contrary to popular belief, the big show never splits up; putting up the show, erecting the portable seats and exhibition arenas, giving two full and complete performances, and moving before dawn to repeat the entire operation in another city the next day; every day, for the entire length of the circus season.

During the half, the crowd was entertained by the Jimson Pee Wee team who divided up and scrimmaged among themselves.

Next Saturday night, Jimson will play its first Conference Game against Maplesville - there - so let's all go over and support these boys in the same way we do our varsity teams.

White Reunion

The White reunion will be held next Sunday, September 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Broadhead in the Bethelalem community. All friends and relatives of the late W. R. White family are invited to attend.

A Rebirth Of Freedom

WHEN the pessimistic attitude that prevails in our country today, gets down to the grassroots, which is the average layman, it is time we all considered, where we are going as a nation, and, if it is in the wrong direction, also time to consider the course we must take to redeem it.

The average layman today, in Chilton County, disagrees strongly with out national foreign policy. And why shouldn't he? It is wrong, from the ground up!

If our foreign aid policy, which we pour millions of dollars into each year, exemplified the spirit of freedom on which the American way of life is built, then the average layman would believe in and fight for it. If it were educating the underdeveloped nations to the philosophy of freedom which we as Americans know and love, then the average layman would fight or die for it.

We are losing our spirit as a nation because we, as laymen, do not believe in too many of the things which our government is doing and which are taking dollars out of our pockets.

Most of us would be willing to double our income taxes, sales taxes, etc. if we were convinced that the money was being spent wisely and for the promotion of freedom throughout the world. We have no indication whatsoever that such is being done on a scale which would benefit mankind as a whole.

The people of America are now living, like parasites, on the spirit of freedom which our grandfathers and their fathers fought and died for. Even as late as World War II the American spirit was indomitable. But where is it going today? It's going down the drain, if we, as the individual free American do not take steps to revive it.

The Communist way is the materialistic way. Their government is based on materialism. Though Americans have been accused of overemphasizing material possessions, when it gets right down to it we as Americans have always put faith in God, the philosophy of equality and the spirit of freedom ahead of everything else. How can we do these things, when our money is being spent for causes which do not bring to pass these ideals?

We believe in America! And if we cannot believe in America, then we cannot fight for America, or die for America. This is exactly what the Communist brethren are working for.

Our strength is not in our missiles, ammunition and weapons. We can win a war with our bare hands if the spirit is there, because we know we are fighting for the right. Weapons and armaments are for cowards and they are not absolute necessities for world peace.

The spirit of Americans is all that we need to sustain us. This is a most important and necessary first in our thinking. Without it we cannot attain the goals which we, and those before us, have set up to reach. The point is, our national spirit is dwindling. When you can see it down at the grassroots of the local community, it is then past time to start a movement, and a strong one, toward the original goal of freedom!

We will die without a cause! Because we need a cause to make our philosophy work. Our philosophy was set out for us by our forefathers and we have taken every sideroad to avoid getting to it. It is time we went completely back to the foundation of our way of life and picked up the reins there. The straight and narrow is the only route to take, if we expect to succeed. We think the average American citizen has now realized that and is ready, whatever the cost, to do something about it!

If we can spend money and earn the interest of freedom, then we are willing. If we spend money and in effect, kill our nation's spirit, where is the logic or the sense to it?

And, most important, what is worth killing our nation's spirit?

P. O. Subsidizes Communism

In days of crisis, such as we are all sweating out, our Congress should not even consider adjournment. It is understandable, of course, that with a Congressman, re-election may be regarded as something of a crisis, too. But even so, we suspect the incumbents would impress the voters far more by maintaining a watch on the Potomac than by running home to kiss babies.

And should they decide on the course of patriotism and statesmanship, there will be plenty to do. One important matter, but which should require little time for study, would be to pass the bill just submitted by Rep. William R. Harsha, Jr., of Ohio, to ban Communist "literature" from the US Mails - and thus protect the babies they kissed a few years ago.

This is the stuff that the House Committee on Un-American Activities has found is being shipped by the ton from Russia to some 40 American ports of entry where the US Post Office is now required by law to pick it up and deliver it free to the high school and college youth of America whom it is designed to destroy.

At just one of these seaports, New Orleans, US Customs officers in a 12 month spot check counted at least 300,000 packages of Communist propaganda destined for schools and colleges in the US. Even larger quantities, they said, came in through other ports. New York reported seven million pieces in a year; San Francisco, more than 17 tons in a single week!

There have been thousands of innocents hanged in the cruel course of history. But the United States is probably the first that has been required to provide its own rope.

Might Be Understood

President Charles deGaulle has stated flatly that Soviet force must be met by Allied force in Berlin - even at the risk of triggering World War II. Krushchev he thinks, has no desire for a war that would destroy Russia - but if it comes, it can only be because the Soviets want it. In either case it would be disastrous for the Allies to back down.

Replying to the neutralist appeal for a US-Soviet summit, President Kennedy has reiterated his confidence in sincere negotiation. But Mr. Kennedy has talked to Mr. Krushchev - shortly before Krush started the Berlin ruckus and began rattling his atomic bombs.

Perhaps it's time for Le Grand Charles to talk to the Butcher of Budapest.

FIGHTIN'EST GENERAL

Confederate General Joseph Wheeler, Wheeler, Alabama, whose birthdate was September 10 of this week, had 18 horses shot from under him during the Civil War 100 years ago.

In addition Wheeler Dam, where the collapsed lock is being restored at present, was named for General Wheeler who became known as the South's "Fightin'est General".

As Calvary commander General Wheeler led 127 major battles of the Civil War, took part in 500 smaller ones, and witnessed 38 staff officers shot from beside him.

I am a student of King College, Nigeria. Since I gained admission to this school I have been seeking for an American pen-friend. CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. J. H. Wells wishes to thank her many friends and neighbors and everyone that sent a card, wrote her a letter or sent flowers to her and visited her while she was in Jackson Hospital in Montgomery. Every prayer that was prayed or anything in an that was did for her, she says thanks to everyone, it was greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Wheeler. His troops rested three weeks at the Jones' plantation at Wheeler, Alabama. By the end of that time the title of General had been exchanged for "Joe" by the 19 year old widow, Daniela (Jones) Sherrod, daughter of the plantation owner Richard W. Jones. Her promise had been made to wait for him.

After the War ended General Wheeler returned to the Jones' plantation, married Daniela, became an Alabama, and purchased an adjoining plantation. The 16,000 acres of these two farms became known as the Wheeler place.

General Wheeler was a famous leader for the Confederacy, and later, at the age of 62, he volunteered to fight for the United States in the Spanish American War and was given the rank of Major General.

A noted statesman, he served in U. S. Congress for 16 years, from 1882-1898. As an author, he wrote a manual of warfare that was adopted for use by the United States Army. Today, his statue, a bust, is in Statuary Hall, Washington, D. C.

As one of Alabama's two representatives. He is also listed in the Alabama Hall of Fame.

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

BY CARL GOGGINS

Gov. John Patterson has called a Special Session of the legislature in order to pass the $43.5 million general appropriation bill. He also mentioned what a fiasco the last session was. Word these days is that people are still finding it difficult to pronounce his name. Then, too, the last legislative session could have spelled his political death along with statewide hopefuls Bert Halmot, Bob Kendall, Walter Perry, Bob Giehrich, Virgil Ashworth and W. F. Wilson.

Highway Director was Labor Day in Scottsboro with his boss. He talked on road progress. And across Alabama a lot of his supporters claim the tide is swelling for Sam. But from all indications the tide, so far, is only a slight pond ripple.

MacDonald Gallion's announced his intentions to run. And in asking about the attorney general's chances, all that's been found is he does have some small pockets of strength, but nothing more at this time.

Birmingham's Eugene "Bull" Connor is expected to announce his candidacy about Oct. 1. From the way it looks right now "Bulls" a long way from getting off the ground as is General (Crack) Hanna of the same town.

Occasionally you hear that Agnes Baggett might run for Governor. George Hawkins is mentioned. But there the conversation ends and you are asked to believe Mrs. Baggett will run for a lesser office and Hawkins to vie for Etowah's State Senator.

What does all this seem to indicate? It just goes to show you most folks haven't yet informed any real opinions about the man or race that they will know the situation will more than likely change a thousand times before election day.

At the moment the most pressing thing on people's mind is the school problem. They think that increasing proration is shameful that Gov. John should show more interest in this field, and that all the legislature has done was huff-nuff away the entire session without doing anything to aid the crisis.

Question Of The Week: Education minded persons are wondering why it's necessary to build an $89,000 home at Troy State Teachers College for its President while some of the county schools are thinking of closing or running short terms?

Gov. Albert Boutwell canceled his scheduled Labor Day talk in Courtland in order to study the state's financial problems. Talk has it Boutwell was probably just trying to get over the last session which hurt Albert's race for Governor.

Sen. Ryan deGraffenried spoke to a gathering in Childersburg.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

Striving for adournment in the near future, both houses of Congress held long and active sessions last week. While no one will predict at this point just when adjournment will take place, most observers believe it will come sometime during the week of September 18-23. However, much depends upon how promptly the House and Senate can work out agreeable compromise versions of various legislation passed in differing form by the two chambers.

EDUCATION AID VOTED
After refusing to consider a general aid to education bill the previous week, the House last Wednesday, approved overwhelmingly a measure to extend for two years the impacted areas' school aid program and the National Defense Education Act. The vote for passage was 378 to 32.

It is estimated that the two provisions will cost about $903 million during the next two years, with the impacted areas program requiring $402 million of the total. The measure that the House previously turned down contained these two provisions in addition to a program of $325 million in school construction assistance. The construction portion of the impacted areas project applies only to adding classrooms to schools that are crowded by children of federal employees. The National Defense Education Act helps equip classrooms and provides loans for college students.

Understand his speech was on honesty and integrity in government. He also mentioned what a fiasco the last session was. Word these days is that people are still finding it difficult to pronounce his name. Then, too, the last legislative session could have spelled his political death along with statewide hopefuls Bert Halmot, Bob Kendall, Walter Perry, Bob Giehrich, Virgil Ashworth and W. F. Wilson.

AND while we're throwing bouquets, Verla M. H. Langston of Jemison was awarded a degree of Master of Education at Auburn University last month. Congratulations!

LESLIE E. Smith of Maplesville was awarded a degree of Civil Engineering at Auburn last month, also. Good luck to all these folks!

WE'VE mentioned this already, but it's worth repeating: James H. Higgins of the Isabella Community was recently nominated for the American Farmers Degree, the highest honor in the PFA organization.

Following an urgent plea by the President, the House restored $300 million of a $400 million cut in military assistance funds made by its Appropriations Committee. The amount endorsed by the House is still $596 million less than that authorized by Congress. It is predicted, however, that the Senate may restore an additional amount.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES
President Kennedy has signed into law a bill which makes it unlawful to hijack an act of piracy punishable by imprisonment or the death penalty upon recommendation of a jury by a panel of three judges. The measure was enacted by Congress following several gunpoint seizures of commercial airliners.

All bills designed to increase membership in the House of Representatives in order to benefit states losing congressional seats were killed by the House Judiciary Committee last week. House membership is now temporarily set at 437 to accommodate the members from the new States of Hawaii and Alaska. It will revert back to 435 at the end of 1962, however, in accordance with the limit set in 1911.

THINGS

We see and hear

by BOB

WHEN you are trying hard to hear both sides of a situation, it is of times next to impossible to unscramble fiction from fact. With the average conversationalist it is not so difficult as with the newspaper editor who is searching diligently for the truth in order to better serve his community. With the John Doe on the street corner it is a case of "well maybe, maybe not!" With the battered editor it gives not such a wide choice for he must choose which is right and which is wrong, which is manufactured and which is real. We heard the other day where the newspaper was as thin-skinned as a peach. Take it from one who knows, the newspaper with a thin-skin also has a high mortality rate. In other words, you can't last long unless your life will withstand lambasting and bombarding from all sides, good or bad, interested or indifferent. Sometimes you get at the truth that way; oftentimes, all you get is a sore hide!

HAD the unique and definitely enjoyable privilege of speaking to the Intermediate and Senior Methodist Youth Fellowship last Sunday evening. These youngsters are very much interested in what career they intend to choose for their lifetime and it is refreshing to be exposed to their enthusiasm and their generosity. The kids can come up with some sincere questions about things which we sometimes feel that the grownups, somewhere along the road, have completely overlooked. They show an interest in basic qualities and principles which too many grown folks are too busy to consider. That's a large part of our world problem as it stands today. We're in such an almighty hurry to get where we're going that we stumble all over our goals and ambitions before we actually see them. If we could just maintain this quality in our children, the next generation would have a much better outlook on life and also be much better endowed to cope with the problems!

HAVE here a copy of a letter from U. of A. President Frank A. Rose concerning one Mr. Elliot Fail Monroe who is a student at the University. It reads in part: "His name appears on the Dean's List of outstanding students in the College of Arts and Sciences." The letter is written to Elliot's father, Mr. E. S. Monroe of Clanton, and it states also with congratulations that "we share with you your pride in your son's achievement and in the recognition which he has earned." The Monroe's are fine folks and we too, are happy to learn of this new achievement in Elliot's career!

AND while we're throwing bouquets, Verla M. H. Langston of Jemison was awarded a degree of Master of Education at Auburn University last month. Congratulations!

LESLIE E. Smith of Maplesville was awarded a degree of Civil Engineering at Auburn last month, also. Good luck to all these folks!

zation. His community and country can well be proud of too!

SEE where eight young men, be, or have been, called Armed Forces during the month of September. That's the number for the County Korean conflict. We have only for protective in our country and that situation will be relieved early date. We don't see possibilities that present themselves, but looks like all we can do is hope and pray!

ON the second day of school, when we asked how went: "Well, one boy felt another boy got sick and swallowed a penny (it seems he was holding her lunch money). The first day of school the driver told me to shut up. The third day we asked what for lunch. "Chocolate money some kind of puddy! And yesterday, "a boy got kicked for the life of a first grade teacher!"

Donald Martin, a friend of Chilton County, estimated, $1500 to the Central City, which took place last week. Donald sets out to do a job, hence is available to be done as it half-way! And he would praise and needs no second writer! He would want as "thanks", however, to those gave and those who helped cover the money. The count over $100,000 for the State!

HOW GOD ANSWERS PRAYERS

"Why didn't God answer my prayer, Preacher?" the man asked his pastor. "I thought God was generous. He didn't give me what I asked for!"

The preacher replied, "God did answer your prayer. His answer was 'No'."

Yes, God answers prayer... but He answers prayer in His own way.

Many times people expect God to do great things for them without their doing anything for God in return.

God shares His abundance with us, but He expects us to give Him something in return—our time, our talent and our means.

Humility is essential in dealing with God. The man who questions God's generosity does not possess humility. His attitude in questioning God clearly shows this.

In this modern age, whatever belongs to the father belongs to the child, too. The only difference is in the right to personal use. We possess no resource that we would not gladly spend to protect or to help our children in time of need.

There are only two kinds of requests our children could make that we would deny them: (1) for something we know would do them harm, and (2) for things which we know we could not afford.

God knows no lack! His wisdom of what is good for us far surpasses ours.

God is a better Father than we are, and He makes it possible for us to share in all His goodness. His wealth and His benefits. While it is true that God reserves the right to administer His goods, He withholds nothing from us that we actually need.

To claim God as our Father and in the next breath to declare that there are needs in our lives which cannot be met would be to accuse our heavenly Father of being stingy.

God is not stingy! He is kind and He is generous. He loves His children. He is ready to hear us and grant our requests.

But when we ask God for anything, we must remember that He knows what is best for us.

God in His infinite wisdom sees all, hears all, knows all. Often He answers prayer in such a way that we may feel the answer has not been given. But we may feel this way because we have already formulated in our minds the answer we want God to give us!

We cannot command God to give us any certain thing. We must not order Him to do anything. Rather, we must ask Him in faith and according to His will, then it shall be done.

Whatever the answer, we can always rest assured that it is the best answer.

All prayers are answered. God answers them in His own way!

THE GOOD SAMARITAN Samaria News

Don Graham, pastor

On Saturday night the Teenagers along with some of the older members of the Church who are really young at heart had quite an enjoyable afternoon on a hayride that was sponsored by the Church. It was not only fun but also served as a great spiritual help in helping those present realize what they could do to help in the service of the Church.

We left the church at 6:00 and rode down to the sand bar across the river from Log Cabin Beach where fires were built and the food cooked.

There were several visitors and all seemed to have quite an enjoyable time.

Saturday, the men and some of the ladies of the church cleaned the cemetery which we felt was in need of this treatment. We want to thank those of you who came to offer your services and invite any of you who wish to come by to see what an excellent job was done by the men and the ladies.

For many years there has been a surplus of room at our church but in October we plan to divide our classes and we hope to fill this surplus with a large number of new pupils. In this new division we plan to have a well equipped nursery with a competent worker to care for the children left with her. We will also have classes for Beginners, Primary, Junior, Intermediate, Young People, Young Married couples and Adults. We are hoping that everyone will come and help fill these classes.

Saturday night the Chilton Youth Rally will meet at Macedonia Baptist Church. The main speaker will be our pastor, Bro. Graham. We hope you will make a special effort to come since it is for all ages.

We now have a slogan to help with our visitation program. We've got our eye on you, and we have because we want you to be with us on Thursday nights at 6:30 to help us make this program a success.

We hope to see you at our services if you have missed you lately and if you haven't, ever had the pleasure of having you in one of our services, we are extending to you a special invitation. Our services are at 10:00 and 11:00 on Sunday morning and 6:30 and 7:30 in the evening for Training Union and our Wednesday night services at 6:30 for our Prayer Service. Will we see you there?

FOOTBALL INJURIES

When two 200-pound men come together at a speed of 40 miles per hour, somebody's going to get hurt. That's football. Football is unquestionably a rough sport, and injuries are bound to occur. The medical director of one of the Big Ten Football Teams has reviewed the more than 2,000 injuries suffered by his players during the past ten years. While a series of 2,000 injuries seems impressively large, only one out of three was severe enough to cause the player to miss practice; and only one out of 80 required surgical correction.

The surgical correction procedures consisted primarily of suturing lacerations, care of simple fractures, and splinting and casting of injured ligaments. From the standpoint of disability due to an injury, it was reported that no player has had measurable permanent disability. It was found also that the time the members of the football squad lost from school because of injury was approximately equal to the time lost because of other illnesses. Similarly, the number of days spent in the hospital because of football injury was even less than the number of days spent in the hospital because of illness.

In the ten-year period of football injury research at this college, 20 men were declared unfit to participate in football because of medical reasons unrelated to injuries. Knee injuries were found to be the most common football injury, accounting for half of the total amount of disability and half of the major surgical procedure. Injuries to the head and cervical spine are potentially dangerous. Summarizing his report, this major college football squad medical director said, football in an organized inter-collegiate program is not a dangerous sport; with proper equipment, training, and medical supervision, serious accidents from football will be rare.

Whenever possible, a team physician should be on the bench at all athletic events. The Medical Association of the State of Alabama is encouraging physicians to participate by volunteering their services at all athletic contests.

AEA Looks To Special Session For New Funds
The Alabama Education Association has appealed to Governor John Patterson to include additional revenue for the public schools in his call for a special session of the Alabama Legislature expected to convene soon.
In a telegram to the Governor, Dr. C. P. Nelson, executive secretary of the association, pointed out that under the present Minimum Program Fund appropriation 44 county and 23 city school systems face deficits which will be in excess of $10 million less than last year's Minimum Program Fund appropriation and over $21 million less than what was recommended for the current year; and in recognition of the fact that school officials in over half of the counties in the State face schools closing short of a full term, teachers in these schools systems face loss of salaries and employment and the children in such counties face the loss of passing grades and loss of educational opportunity needed sorely for our national defense and for economic progress; the Alabama Association representing over 20,000 teachers and speaking for over 900,000 children and youth of the State requests that you include additional needs in your call for a Special Session of the Legislature, sure.

Life Insurance
Education Week
Alabama's eighth annual Life Insurance Education Week has been set for November 12-18 and plans are for an outstanding statewide public information program that week, according to Chairman L. D. Durden, Liberty National Life Association Manager in Dothan.
An essay contest open to all Alabama high schools, students, with a first prize of $100 cash plus an expense paid trip to the state convention in Selma next June for the winners will be a special feature of this year's program. Mr. Durden reports. Essay subject is How Life Insurance Works in Family Planning.
Working with Chairman Durden on the planning committee are: Joe Watters, Bessemer; W. B. Hamlin, Scottsboro; E. S. Monroe, Clanton; K. B. Mickler, Anniston; H. L. Dixon, Andalusia; Edmond M. Smith, Florence; J. B. Hammock, Gadsden; Gordon B. Sawyer, Fairhope; and Clyde Preddy, Jr., Columbus, Georgia.
Association Executive Secretary George E. Hester, Florence, states that Alabama's life insurance education week programs have attracted national acclaim in previous years and we anticipate that the 1961 week will be outstanding in every respect.

Leptospirosis Disease
Expensive To Cattlemen
Cattlemen suffer losses of about $12 million dollars per year as a result of leptospirosis. This infectious disease also affects swine and in some isolated cases, humans.
Dr. Worth Lanier, Auburn Extension Service veterinarian, reports that danger signs of leptospirosis may resemble certain other diseases. For this reason, he says, consult a veterinarian when such symptoms as loss of appetite, breathing difficulty, a drop in milk production, abortions, scouring or jaundice appear.
The most satisfactory way of preventing losses is to have stock vaccinated against the disease. Other steps include protecting feed and water facilities so they cannot become contaminated by diseased stock, keeping animals away from low wet pastures, ponds and slow moving streams, and having replacement stock blood-tested and isolated to protect the home herd, reminds Lanier.

Cottons Play Big Part In New Fall Fashions
Cottons in a blaze of colors, a flurry of shapes and textures are again the favored costume for young fashionables this fall, reports Jeanne Priestler, Auburn Extension Service clothing specialist.
Little girl designs will follow adult lines, she says. Dresses will fit loose but closer to the body than usual. They will have a flared skirt beneath a close torso which will create a relaxed effect. And fashions will have grown-up tailoring with Paris inspired side closings, deep invert side pleats and wider waistline.
Miss Priestler says cotton will also play a big role in boys' wear. Corduroy, she says, will be stronger than ever in suits, jackets, slacks or sport shirts, and stadium coats of winter. A new hunky basket weave in bold black hued will be featured in outdoor garments, adds the specialist.

Quality Is Watchword For Vegetable Growers

Quality. That's the watchword—just as it was all summer for the Alabama truck crop industry during this fall marketing season.

Homemakers are looking for fall fruits and vegetables that will be easy to prepare, says Dr. Melvin Smith, Auburn Extension Service fruit and vegetable marketing specialist.

The quality of locally grown vegetable now at the markets varies from poor to excellent, says Smith, but the homemaker will naturally choose the higher quality first because it takes less time and effort to prepare them than it does the non-uniform products.

He sees that his tomatoes are picked at the proper maturity and handles them carefully to avoid spoilage and bruised spots that would reduce the market value. And here too says the specialist, he knows that the homemaker will usually pass up the bruised tomatoes because they take longer to prepare and because of the added waste.

Protect Your Attic From Bats This Fall

Fall is bat flying time. Earl Kennerman, Auburn Extension Service fish and wildlife specialist, says bats head for your attic during the fall season. They will get in through holes or the lower in your attic.

Use bat proofing to control bats. Just close up all the holes in the attic with steel wool and tack hardware cloth inside the attic against the lower, says the specialist.

If you are still bothered, says Kennerman, put moth balls in the attic. You can control the bats by spraying the attic with 50 percent wettable DDT powder and one gallon of water.

Take precautions when using this mixture, says the expert. DDT is poisonous.

New and Different Dessert

Chocolate Coin Cake

Thirty chocolate coins in the cake will give you something truly different to serve your family for dessert. Served warm with lemon sauce or cool with sweetened whipped cream, "Chocolate Coin Cake" is easy to make with cream-filled chocolate cookies, flour, baking powder, salt, shortening, sugar, eggs and milk, plus grated lemon rind and almond extract for balanced flavor. Make this elegant finish for any menu this way:

Chocolate Coin Cake
 30 Sunshine Hydrox Cookies
 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 cup shortening
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 eggs
 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
 1/2 cup milk

Preheat oven to 350° F. (moderate). Lightly grease an 8"x8"x2" square layer cake pan and line bottom with waxed paper. Place 9 Hydrox cookies in an even pattern in bottom of pan and 12 cookies on end around sides of pan. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening and sugar together in large mixing bowl, beat in eggs one at a time until smooth and light. Stir in lemon rind and almond extract. Add flour mixture and milk alternately in 2 or 3 portions, stirring gently until smooth. Spoon batter carefully over cookies, taking care not to disarrange, and spread evenly into cracks and corners. Place remaining 9 cookies evenly on top of batter. Bake at 350° F. for 30 to 35 minutes, or until cake is golden brown and begins to shrink from sides of pan. Cool on rack in pan for about 5 minutes before removing and peeling off paper. Serve warm with lemon sauce or cool with sweetened whipped cream. Makes 9 generous squares.

Tea Time Tip

One of the pleasantest social customs comes from our English friends—having people in for a cup of tea. Fall is just the time to plan such a get-together to catch up with friends back from vacations and make plans for the months ahead.

To serve with tea or coffee, rich chocolate frosted cupcakes are an excellent choice. Made from a mix or bought already made, cupcakes are particularly good for informal service, because they don't have to be cut and can be eaten with the fingers.

Creamy Chocolate Frosting

5 squares semi-sweet chocolate squares
 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
 Dash of salt
 2 1/2 tablespoons hot water
 3 egg yolks, unbeaten
 1/4 cup softened butter or margarine

Melt chocolate over hot water until partly melted; then remove from hot water and stir rapidly until entirely melted. Add sugar, salt and water; blend. Then add egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add butter, a small amount at a time, beating thoroughly. Makes 2 1/2 cups frosting, or enough to cover tops of 24 cupcakes or tops and sides of two 9-inch layers.

Make An Apple Pie With New Pastry

In time for the apple pie season or for your favorite one crust, two crust or deep dish pies (tarts and turnovers, too) is a brand new pastry recipe as easy as 1-2-3 to make. It is made with corn oil and unsifted kitchen-tested flour. The pastry is rolled between sheets of waxed paper, which eliminates the cleaning of a floured board or table. The marvel of the new pastry is the unusual shortness and flakiness of the crust.

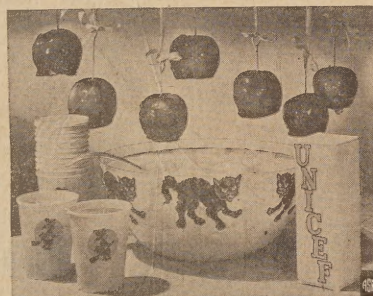

1-2-3 PIE CRUST — (Two Crust 8 or 9-inch)
 1 1/4 cups unsifted kitchen-tested flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 3 tablespoons cold water

Heat oven to 425° F. (hot). To measure flour, dip dry nested measuring cups into flour; level off with straight-edged spatula. Mix flour and salt in mixing bowl. Blend in corn oil thoroughly with fork. Sprinkle all of water over mixture; mix well with fork. Press dough firmly into ball with hands. If too dry, mix in 1 to 2 tablespoons more oil.

Divide dough about in half. Use larger part for bottom crust. Flatten slightly and immediately roll into 12-inch circle between two pieces of waxed paper. Wipe table with damp cloth to prevent paper from slipping. Peel off top paper; place in pan, paper-side-up. Peel off paper and fit pastry loosely into pan. Fill as desired, trim if necessary.

Roll remaining dough in similar manner for top crust. Cut slits and place over filling. Trim 1/2 inch beyond rim of pan; fold under. Seal and flute edges. Bake fresh apple pie 50 to 60 minutes; bake other pies 35 to 40 minutes.

Homemade Treats For Tricksters

When would-be goblins and ghosts come calling on Halloween on behalf of UNICEF, they deserve a treat. Try these easy to make recipes for instant soft drink punch and candied apples:

Honey Orangeade Punch

1 quart water
 1 quart orange juice
 1 stick cinnamon
 1 envelope pineapple-grapefruit Kool-Aid
 1/2 cup honey
 1/2 cup sugar

Combine water, orange juice, and cinnamon stick in a saucepan. Bring to a boil. Remove from heat and add remaining ingredients. Stir well until sugar is dissolved. Remove cinnamon stick. Serve hot or chilled. Makes about 8 1/2 cups, or about 15 servings, 4 ounces each.

Candied Apples

1 cup sugar
 1 cup water
 1/2 cup light corn syrup
 1 envelope cherry Kool-Aid
 6 to 8 apples
 Wooden skewers

Combine sugar, water, and corn syrup in a saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Continue boiling without stirring, until mixture comes to a temperature of 290° F. Remove from heat and dip pan into cold water to reduce the bubbling. Stir in cherry instant soft drink mix, blending well. Hold pan over boiling water to help prevent syrup from hardening. Spear clean dry apples through the core with skewers. Dip slowly into syrup; turn and lift out. Allow excess syrup to run off. Place dipped apples on greased tray or wax paper and allow to harden (about 20 to 30 minutes). Makes 6 to 8 candied apples.

World's Highest Waterfall

Towering 3,212 feet above the jungles of Venezuela, Angel Falls is the world's highest waterfall. Angel Falls typifies much of Venezuela's scarcely explored interior, which occupies almost half the country. The rest of Venezuela, however, is highly developed and provides a ready market for foreign imports. Last year, according to a study prepared for the Creole Petroleum Corporation, a U. S. company and Venezuela's largest oil producer, Venezuela spent over one billion dollars for U. S. goods and services. This made Venezuela the leading customer of the United States in South America and the next to largest per capita customer of the United States in the world. This healthy commerce with Venezuela has benefited many U. S. citizens. Out of the more than 5 million U. S. jobs that depend on foreign trade, it is estimated that more than 170,000 result from trade with Venezuela, a good customer and good neighbor of the United States.

AMERICA'S MOST LOVEABLE LADDIE will be broken on Wednesday, October 4, for Holt Lock Dam, a $33,000,000 project to construct on the Warrior-Three Waterway near Tuscaloosa.

A public ceremony will be held at 10 a.m. at the site of existing Holt Lock and Dam No. 14, located approximately 16 miles northeast of Tuscaloosa.

Sponsoring the function will be the Warrior-Tombigbee Development Association, in cooperation with the Corps of Engineers, D. S. Army.

Holt Lock and Dam is part of the comprehensive program recommended by the Army Engineers to modernize the Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway from its mouth at Mobile to its headwaters in North Central Alabama. It will replace obsolete Locks and Dams 13, 15 and 16 which were built between 1905 and 1915 to serve packet steamers.

In Alaska, where children leave for school in the dark and return home in the dark, every child carries a flashlight. To attend P.T.A. meetings, the president of the Alaska Congress of Parents and Teachers frequently travels hundreds of miles per day in country where temperatures may stay around 25 below zero for weeks at a stretch. She can reach many communities only by small plane.

Mr. & Mrs. Henry Thomas Strain announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Patricia Jane Strain to Jack Thomas Bean of Jacksonville, Fla., and Clanton, Ala., son of Mrs. Willie Thomas Bean and the late Br. Bean of Clanton, Ala.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mrs. Charles Franklin Stain and the late Mr. Strain of Gordon County and Dalton; Mrs. Mary Ellen Holland and the late Mr. Holland of Wilcox County. She is a graduate of Dalton High School and attended Auburn University, Auburn, Alabama, where she was a member of Phi Mu sorority. She is presently a stewardess with Delta Airlines.

Mr. Bean is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Bean of Clanton, Ala., and the late Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wright of Jemison, Ala. He is a graduate of Chilton County High School, Clanton, and Auburn University where he received his BS degree in Business Administration, and was a member of Delta Phi Epsilon Fraternity. He is presently employed with Will Ross, Inc. of Jacksonville, Fla.

Plans are being formulated for a November 23 wedding at Dalton First Methodist Church.

the Bonneville salt flats in western Utah have become synonymous with speed in minds of racing fans world over.

Speed record seekers have been coming to Bonneville since 1914 when a Blitzen Benz was driven at a speed of 174 mph over the 100-mile distance, making it one of the world's great speed courses.

In 1917 John Cobb, the British driver, set the existing world record by making the official two runs over a measured-mile course at an average of 394.19 mph. Mickey Thompson, a southern California mechanic came closest to topping Cobb's mark in 1960 when he set a world mile record of 401.2. It was unable to make the return trip necessary for an official attempt.

Thompson's record try in a car he designed and built himself is an outstanding example of the efforts of the mechanics who have helped develop the automotive hybrids that travel at speeds in the 300 mile per hour range during the annual Bonneville Nationals.

This year 165 of the fastest straightaway cars and drivers in the United States met at the Bonneville Salt Flats annual competition which ran from August 20 to 27.

Speedweek is a period of around-the-clock activity for race cars and their crews for record attempts. Automotive accessory companies such as Autolite are well represented working with the crews to see that their products give maximum performance.

When the results were finalized this year a total of 18 new records were set.

To Aid Chilton's Retarded Children

A group to aid retarded children in Chilton County was organized recently with Mr. J. H. Parrish, temporary Chairman, Mrs. Albert M. Littleton, Secretary and Mrs. W. L. Tatum, Jr., Treasurer. The Chilton County Association for Retarded Children, Plans were made to hold the 2nd meeting on Tuesday, September 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Chilton County Court House. At this time several committees will make reports of their preliminary investigation of a possible location for a class for trainable retarded youngsters and ways to finance such a class. A membership committee will also report on their contacts with prospective members. The large group of county residents attending the meeting enthusiastically endorsed the need to establish a class for trainable retarded children, who presently are not permitted to attend public school.

These children will always be limited in their learning ability but can be taught to be semi-independent, useful citizens, with proper training. They do not benefit from the regular public school program, nor even from the Special Classes in the Public Schools. They are now set up. They require a special type of training. There are at least 12 such children in need of such a class right away and it is the aim of this Association to establish this class as soon as possible.

Many outstanding community leaders expressed support for this Association at the meeting and acknowledged the need for an active program of services for all types of retarded children in the County.

The public is invited to attend all meetings of the Chilton County Association for Retarded Children and membership is open to anyone interested in retarded children. Additional information may be secured by contacting Mrs. Albert W. Littleton at telephone 476M-2.

There are a large number of retarded children in need of services in Chilton County and it is the hope of this new Association that its work will be brought to the attention of parents or others who work with retarded children.

Mr. Albert M. Littleton, one of the organizers of the Chilton County Association for Retarded Children served as Chairman of the organizational meeting. Miss Nancy Beasley, Executive Secretary, Alabama Association for Retarded Children met with the group as Advisor.

Private Colleges In Alabama Share

Privately financed, liberal arts colleges in Alabama will share in two grants to education announced today by Dr. Leslie S. Wright, President of Howard College and President of the Alabama Association of Independent Colleges. The grants from Kroger Company and the Proctor and Gamble will be shared by Athens, Birmingham-Southern, Howard, Huntingdon, Judson, St. Bernard and Spring Hill Colleges.

The grants totalling $2,500,000 will be shared 60% equally and 40% according to the enrollment of the colleges, said Dr. James H. Edmondson, Executive Director, of the Alabama Association of Independent Colleges.

No restrictions are placed on the use of the funds by the colleges. Dr. Edmondson said. They may be spent wherever needed to improve the educational program, for operating costs, research, libraries, salaries, building programs, or other purposes.

Americas Largest Big Top Is Coming To Town

In an era of dying Big Tops, Wallace Bros. Circus will bring their all new gigantic circus tent to Clanton Airport on Thursday, September 21 for two full and complete performances afternoon and evening at 4 and 8 p.m. under the sponsorship of Clanton Shrine Club.

The first circus to return under canvas since Ringling Bros. announced the end of the big top era in 1956, Wallace Bros. 3 Ring Circus is all new for 1961. The new Big Top, of blue canvas was a full year in the making. Old circus sailmakers and rope splicers, almost a thing of the past were gathered from all over the nation by the leaf Tent Co. of Sarasota from their current occupations with boat manufacturers where they have turned their skills for the most part to sails for pleasure boats so rapidly gaining in popularity across America. Those devoted artisans have produced a circus tent rivaling in scope the finest seen in the Golden Age of the Circus for the 1961 presentation of Wallace Bros. Circus.

Over 700 man hours of labor were involved in the making of this all new Big Top, along with 23,800 feet of canvas, 5,300 yards of oiled genuine hemp rope, 700 pounds of lines thread imported from Ireland 500 pounds of pure beeswax, 2600 pounds of water and fireproofing compound to make the top conform to fire regulations of all 50 states, over a ton of iron stakes.

Over 50,000 square feet of seating and exhibition area is enclosed by this tent. All new Mechanical Seats with New Modern Aluminum Chairs have been built in the circus winter quarters, providing comfortable seating for 5100 persons, and the entire show is moved on 30 units of motorized equipment. Contrary to popular belief, the big show never splits up; putting up the show, erecting the portable seats and exhibition arenas, giving two full and complete performances, and moving before dawn to repeat the entire operation in another city the next day; every day, for the entire length of the circus season.

In addition to the allotment to young and old of seeing the circus city rise on a vacant lot in the morning, Wallace Bros. Circus, for this their 1961 Edition, presents 3 Rings of old time circus entertainment with jugglers, tumblers, clowns, aerial acts, wire walking wonders and 10 trained animal acts including dogs, ponies, monkeys, bear, chimpanzees, high school horses and featuring the Christiani Family, World's Foremost Bareback Rider.

The sponsor and the circus management emphasize that the Wallace Bros. 3 Ring Circus is good clean entertainment for the entire

U. S. Army News

Former enlisted members of the Regular Army who have been out of the Army for over 90 days are being sought under a special program announced this week by the Department of the Army.

As an aid to the current military build-up, the new program offers former soldiers who hold certain Military Occupational Specialties (MOS) the opportunity to re-enlist in the grade held at the time of their last separation from active duty. They must have been out of the Army between 90 days and 24 months, otherwise qualified for enlistment, not members of a reserve component and meet the approval of the Department of the Army.

Those men who have been out of the Army between 24 and 36 months may reenlist one grade below that which they held at the time of their last discharge from the Army if they meet the same requirements.

Local Army Recruiters have been provided with details of the new program and lists of those Military Occupational Specialties which are urgently needed to increase the Army's strength.

Men who have been separated from the Army for more than 90 days are urged to contact their local Army Recruiters today. He will rapidly determine those who are qualified for reenlistment under the provisions of this special program.

The Army Recruiter for this area is Sergeant Hoyt G. Greene who can be contacted at P. O. Bldg. Montgomery, Ala., or by calling 262-0694.

Members of reserve components should contact their Personal Officers for details of a special program offered by the Department of the Army.

U. S. Marine News

The local Marine Corps Recruiting Office announced today that the 15,000 man increase previously authorized by the President in the strength of the Marine Corps has resulted in a need for additional Marines to be recruited in this area immediately.

First Sergeant Frank L. King of the Montgomery recruiting office stressed that his increase will mean that applicants who applied for enlistment prior to July and were found qualified, but were unable to enlist because of limited quota assignments can now be enlisted.

Applicants for enlistment in the regular Marine Corps must be between the Ages of 17 and 28 - up to 32 for ex-servicemen in good health, and of good moral character. Current regulations allow enlistments of three or four years duration.

The upping of the Marine Corps strength by 15,000 was announced earlier by President Kennedy as one of his first measures to build up America's Armed Forces. This of his first measures to build up increase was considered to be a recognition of the President's concern for our limited war capabilities.

The Marines are known as the nation's Force in Readiness, and specialists in limited warfare and amphibious operations.

Instructor Billy Reynolds (turning front wheel) and Shell dealers check out a car at one of Shell's 123 training centers.

HOW TO SPOT TROUBLE:

Shell instructor Billy Reynolds reveals 10 trouble signals he tells Shell dealers to watch for. You should know about them too. They may help you spot trouble before it starts.

Shell's Billy Reynolds gets special emphasis. Here are 10 trouble signals that Billy Reynolds, one of Shell's chief instructors, stresses.

If you notice any of them in your car, tell your Shell dealer. His advice may help you head off a big repair job.

1. Mushy brakes. When your car is standing still, push your brake pedal down with a firm, steady pressure. If the pedal feels soft and sinks all the way to the floor board, you've got trouble that should be fixed right away. Could be a leaking wheel cylinder. Or, more likely, a leaky master brake cylinder. A well-trained Shell dealer can track down brake troubles quickly.

2. Wandering wheels. If your front tires show more wear on one side of the tread than the other, your wheel alignment is probably at fault.

NOTE: An out-of-line wheel drags at an angle to the line of travel - can increase tire wear up to 50 per cent.

Be sure to discuss rigors of uneven tire wear with your Shell dealer.

3. Jiggly front end. Put your foot on either bumper, and shove down hard. If your car bobs up and down for a long time, ask your Shell service man to check your shock absorbers.

4. Decrepit tail pipe. If your tail pipe is rusted through in spots, it should be replaced. Same thing for your muffler. A worn-out exhaust system can make your car roar like a wounded hippo. Worst of all, you run the danger of exhaust fumes seeping into the passenger compartment. Your Shell dealer can take care of the whole problem.

5. "Bloated" radiator hose. Inspect all of the rubber hoses that interconnect your cooling system. If they are cracked or swollen, they can fail at any time and cause your engine to overheat.

Replacing hoses is a simple task for any Shell dealer.

6. Marred windshield. Feel the blades on your windshield wipers. If they're frayed, they can scar the glass. If they're frayed, they can scar the glass. If they're frayed, they can scar the glass. If they're frayed, they can scar the glass.

7. Strange noises. Listen for squeals, squeaks, rattles and other mysterious noises. Strange noises are often warnings of troubles on the way. So, don't be afraid to ask your Shell dealer about sounds you haven't heard before.

8. Under-the-hood clues. You can learn a lot just by looking at your engine. Watch for oil, fuel or water leaks. Even tiny leaks can lead to big trouble later on. You can also make a quick visual check of wiring and electrical connections. If wires are hanging loose - or insulation has worn away - see your Shell dealer.

9. Sluggish battery. If your engine turns over more slowly than usual when you start up, an inspection of your electrical system is in order.

A run-down battery is usually the cause of starting problems. But the real trouble may be elsewhere. Something as simple as a loose battery connection can do it. Or your voltage regulator may need a minor adjustment. Play safe and tell your Shell service man.

10. Oil-streaked sidewalls. It may take a bit of back bending, but it's worth the effort to check the side of your tires you seldom see - the side facing in. Look for signs of leaking fluid on the tire walls. Could be a leaking brake cylinder, or faulty oil seals on the rear wheels. Both can be serious.

Any trained Shell dealer knows many more trouble signals than the ten listed here. Ask him to give you a car-to-bumper inspection next time you stop in for a Shell lubrication - or any service job. One last tip: when you've got your car in top condition, keep it

Make Grape Jam Now

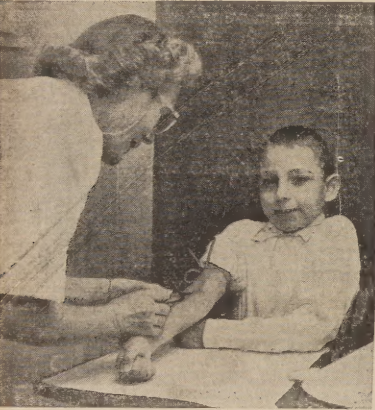

Every well dressed pantry shelf includes some royal purple. It's the color of grapes, of course, and now's the time to make next winter's supply of delicious grape jam. Here's the easy way:

Grape Jam
Yield: about 13 medium glasses (3 1/2 lbs. jam)
6 cups prepared fruit (about 4 lbs. ripe grapes)
7 1/2 cups (3 1/2 lbs.) sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin.

First, prepare the fruit. Slip skins from about 4 pounds fully ripe Concord or other loose-skinned grapes. Add 1 cup water to pulp; bring to boil and simmer, covered, 5 minutes. Sieve to remove the seeds. Chop or grind skins and add to pulp. Measure 6 cups into a very large saucepan.

Then make the jam. Measure sugar and set aside. Add powdered fruit pectin to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with 1/4 inch hot paraffin.

Plucky Stevie Helps Science Toward Answer to Arthritis

Stevie Vardol gives blood sample to laboratory nurse.

For plucky Stevie Vardol, 10, life much of the time is just an unhappy succession of giving samples of his body to science.

But Stevie, who would rather be swimming and roller skating in Minneapolis (if he only could) than spending endless hours in the Children's Rheumatism Clinic of the University of Minnesota Medical School, doesn't feel sorry for himself. He knows he is doing a job that must be done: that the doctors' appraisal of the tissue samples from his swollen knees, specimens of knee-joint fluid, and of his blood may in time prevent in other children the affliction that befell him three painful years ago.

Stevie has juvenile rheumatoid arthritis in the knees, hands, wrists.

Throughout the nation, another 30,000 Stevies—or their small sisters—also suffer each year from this excruciating disease. With March of Dimes funds, The National Foundation (which made possible development of the Salk polio vaccine) is today supporting the University of Minnesota's Children's Rheumatism Clinic with a research grant. Other arthritis research projects are under way at the Rockefeller Institute, at New York University, the University of Buffalo and at other famed scientific institutions, all financed by the March of Dimes.

Additionally, The National Foundation has established arthritis study centers at Columbia University, the University of Rochester (N. Y.), the University of Texas at Dallas and the University of California at San Francisco.

The doctors confidently tell Stevie they will solve the enigma of rheumatoid arthritis in time, and find a preventive, given enough support. But they don't delude this valiant little boy or his puzzled father and mother who ask, despairingly, "Why should this happen to us? To Stevie?" The medical scientists look him squarely in the eye and say, "We just can't promise we'll make you well again. But then again, perhaps eventually we will."

Stevie's stout answer is to roll up his sleeve for another ten cc's of his blood (which contains an abnormal protein, a mark of his disease); or to pull up his trouser leg to give up another specimen of lubricating fluid from his knee.

In the laboratory, Stevie's blood is compared painstakingly to normal blood in the incessant search for an answer to what is wrong with Stevie and with the other 30,000 children. Perhaps what is wrong is an abnormal development of antibodies. Antibodies are the substance that combat bacteria. Then, samples of the connective tissue around his knees are studied and photographed under the giant electron microscope and compared to normal tissue.

Stevie doesn't cry although his doctors say that the pain he suffers at times beggars description. He is not a "guinea pig" in the full medical sense of the term. But the resolute and uncomplaining bearing of this young gentleman of only 10 is evidence that he knows he is a volunteer of the fight against the nation's No. 1 Crippler—arthritis which, in one or another form, strikes at 11 million Americans.

SEPTEMBER SONG—School bells are ringing again and remind me of the unusual way students at the Glen Ridge, N. J. High School use telephones. Members of the Senior Class interview leaders in government, business, labor and finance by phone as part of a course in American Economic History! The telephone interviews are conducted in the class by an extension from the school's switchboard with an amplifier to allow students to hear the conversation!

TALK, TALK, TALK—A survey has brought out the startling information that the average man, in his lifetime, spends 8,760 hours telephoning—the equivalent of one full year! It didn't mention how much time was spent in getting to the phone when it rings. If it did, we're sure the figures would persuade everyone to have phones in convenient locations—at home and at work!

SPEAKING OF EXTENSIONS—

...it's now a good time to go ahead and install that Princess Phone in the bedroom? Besides saving time and steps, a bedroom extension gives you a wonderful sense of security on nights when you're alone. Just give us a call, and we'll install a Princess—in the color of your choice—right away.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS DAY is September 14th. That is the day our government has set aside to honor the mothers of this country's fallen warriors. No sacrifices can compare with those made by this group of American women. Honor them next Sunday in the manner they will most appreciate. Remember their departed loved ones and consider the way of life we enjoy. Remember the sacrifices which have made our liberty possible.

new courthouse is something of a mess. It will be as good as the State and much above average but the question is, do you appreciate it? Clanton has done it alone. The entire city has contributed to it and an interest in it.

must admit that the surroundings either add to or detract from the beauty of any monument in this case it is deplorable to walk from the bus station to the courthouse thru the weeds. stones are to be ashamed of it. The station is not even fit for a barn. Even a street sign marking "Bus Stop" would be better.

the super highway has been built is not heavy, why not allow traffic on this thoroughfare to stop down town or remove it via the new courthouse at the very least lay a sidewalk away from the present stop as an alternative.

What Kind Of Community ?

One of a newspaper's first responsibilities is to assist the community in making up its collective mind as to what kind of community it is trying to become.

Mr. A. N. Colby, Product Development Manager for Gulf States Paper Corp. last night (Friday, September 22) emphasized this to and daily press gathered at the members of the Alabama weekly U. of A. workshop in his dinner speech on Industrial Consideration for a Community Newspaper.

This was a part of the Alabama Press Association's Fall Workshop.

Specifically, Colby said, the newspaper has a duty to help the community and its citizens make up its mind where it is going and lead it in the right path to reach this goal.

The same five managerial principles which lead to successful newspaper in their role of operation of a business also apply to community leadership, he said.

First the newspaper should make the community aware of all its present resources and facilities and encourage it to make fullest use of them. Secondly, in line with the preceding though, the newspaper must educate its readers in their obligation to maintain and keep in repair those facilities they already have which were created by preceding generations.

If, after a careful survey of what already available changes in a community are still found to be necessary or desirable, he pointed out that the newspaper has a further obligation to:

1. Question motives and resources to determine what is the most effective, most useful means and methods of change;
2. Help identify the nature of community changes and the way in which they can best be accomplished;
3. Support the installation of these changes, whether it be by stimulating interest and enthusiasm, or encouraging continued support when interest flags.

First the newspaper should make

Mr. Semour E. Morris, age 77, of Route 4, Clanton, died Wednesday, September 20, 1:40 p.m. funeral services were held 3:00 p.m.

Clanton County and the City of Clanton are in danger of losing a much needed public improvement. This great loss need not occur if there is intelligent understanding among interested property owners and the general public plus firm and resolute action by public officials and community leaders.

This project, which is now held in a state of suspense pending the signing of easements for right of way by a few landowners, is the proposed drainage of all the swampy area in and around Clanton.

This project if completed, would bring everlasting benefits to all persons owning land in adjacent to the area to be drained. Approximately 1000 acres now subject to damaging floods could be fully utilized for crops, pasture, residential and industrial development, greatly increasing land value. Health condition in the community would be greatly improved. The resulting decrease in the mosquito and snake population should increase the health and comfort of the human population, making epidemics of malaria, typhoid and other swamp-bred diseases less likely to occur.

Damaging floods on Poley, Goosepond and Walnut Creeks have long been a costly nuisance and a continuing problem to the food and bridge owners of Chilton County and the City of Clanton.

These floods have always presented an unsightly and uninviting appearance to persons considering locating new industry here, and these conditions have greatly limited the number and size of available industrial sites in the area.

The deal for a Federal grant for this drainage project was first conceived by our able and dedicated Congressman, Armistead Selden. Through his untiring efforts over the past seven years, we are now in position to receive this improvement costing approximately $325,000.00 of which only $15,000.00 is to be paid by the Federal Government and the balance is to be paid by the landowners.

Members, Mayor, J. H. Jackson and the City Councilmen Representative Francis Speaks and Senator Joe Graham have all pushed this project along cooperating with all requirements at the city, county the Army Engineers and meeting state levels to bring this project to its present stage. They have received the enthusiastic support of most of the landowners involved as well as the general public.

The Army Engineers have already spent about $40,000.00 on the preliminary surveys and will spend approximately $20,000.00 more on construction engineering. The actual construction estimated to cost $275,000.00 will be advertised for bids as soon as all rights of way have been secured. This work will afford some job opportunities in the community and put some money into circulation during the eight month construction period.

It is planned that the channels of these creeks be widened for a length of six miles, Poley to 30 feet, Goosepond to 35 feet and Walnut to 40 feet. To do this the Federal government requires a one year easement to do the construction and a perpetual easement to come in and do maintenance work in the future when needed. This does not affect the landowners use of his land except to give the construction people the right to drain the creeks and gives the County the sandbars and other obstructions the right to come in and remove later if needed.

All concerned with this improvement to the community are hopeful that these landowners who have not yet signed the conveyances granting these easements will do so without further delay.

There is considerable danger that the Federal government will withdraw from this project if there is not full support and cooperation among local people. Also, if the matter has to be resolved in some lengthy condemnation proceedings we shall stand a good chance to lose this benefit to the whole community, as the Federal government may in the meantime change its policy regarding this allocation of funds.

Your Chilton County Chamber of Commerce has reported this drain to be one of the best things ever to happen for progress and development here. We highly commend all those who have worked to make it a reality. We are hopeful that we will overcome the present difficulties which will soon begin, and that we and future generations may enjoy the benefits of this worthwhile improvement to our community.

John M. Higgins,
President, Chilton County Chamber of Commerce.

OUR stand on the matter of industrial development for Chilton County is simple. . . We want more!

IF we would promote our County's resources and what we have to offer industry here as earnestly as we do some of the drives and what have you in which we take part, we would all see dramatic change in the economy of Chilton County!

CHILTON County is depending on a weakened crutch when it looks to farming for its entire support. The method of economy does not work anymore for our fast changing way of life and it is time we accepted this unavoidable fact and went about finding new ways to boost our economy instead of continuing down the road of mediocrity and lack of development.

AS one well-known gentleman, who should know says: "We lack coordination in our bid for big industry in Chilton County." If that is a fact, then we must do something about it. . . and soon!

IF 'town rivalry' is hampering the Chamber of Commerce in its efforts for industry, as has been suggested to us, then what are the possibilities of having a Clanton Chamber of Commerce, and Maplesville, Thorsby and Jemison? If we are going to have rivalry, let it be healthy instead of all the horses pulling in opposite direction and leaving the wagon exactly in the same spot. We have come to the conclusion that maybe it would be better if we did work on a smaller scale to attract industry rather than having everybody's efforts go against the grain of someone else's!

OUR ideas are perhaps not the best. . . but they're loud!

The Economic Story

IN Chilton County this year, the economic outlook has been more energetic and optimistic than it is at present. Some of the top men in Chilton's economic picture attribute this slump to the fact that crops, especially peaches, did not come up to the expectations of the farmers and growers, as well as the businessmen in the community. This coupled with the fact that several, in fact many of our laboring folks have been out of work, due to recession conditions in some of the industrial areas of the state.

The picture was such that we were built up to something better than we actually got, and unfortunately too many of us let it get next to us and get us down in the dumps.

The only way we, as businessmen, farmers, average citizens or what not, can lick the "depression" we're in and continue on the economic road to recovery and progress is to, first of all hold our chin up high.

There is nothing that will defeat a purpose like a defeatist attitude and griping and grumbling. It's time we accepted the time we've been through this summer for what it has been and set out anew to rectify it and see to it that it does not happen again.

Physical happenings, be they good or bad, can be improved upon, altered or changed. It is another thing to tackle an attitude and the attitude for the past few weeks has not been a progressive one. Look up at the bright, blue, clear October sky and be thankful for what you have and set out on a new road to progress in the year that lies ahead of us.

Respect The Ordinance; Or Pay The Price

ANOTHER case of "dog-bites" has occurred! And there is a City Ordinance to prevent such goings on.

If you are the owner of a dog, whether it be a he or she, mongrel or pedigree, you are responsible, by law, to keep that dog on your property at all times. How you accomplish it, is entirely up to you, but you must keep the dog from running loose.

This past Friday a young boy was pretty severely bitten by a dog. Anyone who has been bitten by a dog knows how painful it can become. And it's dangerous, too!

WHAT CAUSES A KERNEL OF POP CORN TO "POP"?
WHEN A KERNEL IS SHAKEN IN A POPPER OVER A HOT FIRE, THE HEAT TRANSFORMS THE MOISTURE INSIDE THE KERNEL INTO STEAM, WHEN THIS STEAM GENERATES SUFFICIENT FORCE, THE KERNEL BURSTS OPEN WITH A "POP"!

Every dog, over six months of age, is required by State Law to be vaccinated against rabies. The City of Clanton ordinance states that a dog must be kept on his own property. If he is caught otherwise, whether or not he has a collar, or looks harmless, he will be kept in the city pound for one week. The dog may be redeemed for a fee of $3.50. If he is not redeemed in the week of confinement, at the end of that time he will be exterminated with an injection of strychnine.

According to official source, there are now about 10 dogs picked up by the dogcatcher each week. Only about two of that ten are "bailed out." Apparently dog lovers have a short limit on their affections.

There is no child in the City of Clanton who is not worth all the dogs in the County. If you love your dog, which is fine, well and good, keep him confined to your property. . . folks love their children, too!

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

HOW TO STOP BEING AFRAID

Would you like to stop being afraid? Would you like to be at ease the rest of your life, to be filled with peace, to face your future with courage, power and might, instead of fear, weakness and faintheartedness? You can! Almighty God tells you to "fear not." Jesus of Nazareth tells you: "Be not afraid." God will not ask you to do anything you cannot do. If God says "fear not," you need fear no longer. If Jesus says, "Be not afraid," you need never tremble again.

But how? You can ask God to help you banish fear. God has three ways for you to stop being afraid:

1. Identify the thing you fear. What do you fear? Of what are you afraid? Is it death, poverty, failure, criticism, sickness, being hurt or betrayed by a friend? Is it old age?
2. Realize that fear is caused by your own wrong believing. Not only must you get your fears out in the open and expose them, but you must also get your faith out in the open and expose it. You must see that your faith has been used for wrong believing. When you realize this, you must admit it, confess it and change it to a positive faith in God.
3. Practice the power of your faith in God daily. Jesus' own secret for happiness was: "Fear not, only believe."

Jesus practiced His faith. Right believing was His daily practice. Day-by-day practice of right believing will increase the strength of your faith. The stronger your faith, the more courageously, peacefully and successfully you will live.

Remember these three ways to overcome fear. Paste them in your mirror or carry them in your purse or wallet. You can conquer every fear. You can stop being afraid. Your faith is your victory.

Learn to use God's power. His might dwarfs the power of the enemy. Let this knowledge change your spirit of timidity to one of boldness.

Fear not. Be not afraid!

Report from Washington

BY ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

Congress was working at a feverish pitch as the past week ended, in an effort to dispose of pending business and adjourn until next January. But adjournment was delayed until early this week, as the House and Senate were having difficulty in agreeing upon compromise versions of several bills that the two chambers had passed in differing forms.

Several other compromise versions were agreed upon, however, and sent to the President for his signature. These included a bill making the Peace Corps a permanent agency authorizing $40 million for its first year's operation. Under the terms of the bill none of the 2700 volunteers which the Peace Corps expects to have by next June can be sent to Iron Curtain countries except on a specific finding by the President that is in the national interest to do so. The measure also puts a ceiling of 275 on the number of paid employees the Peace Corps may have in the United States.

HEALTH AID EXTENDED

In addition, both chambers agreed to a conference report on a bill which expands community health services through increased federal aid. The bill extends the matching grant program for health research facilities through June 30, 1961, in order to provide for existing states to provide public health programs (out of hospital) services to the aged and chronically ill, and increases federal grants in aid for the construction of nursing homes. It also authorizes other health programs that are operated on a federal-state basis.

MR. Jimmy Bell mout near got run down by a horse at the Circus last Thursday evening. It didn't dampen his enthusiasm very much though. He looked like he enjoyed the event, as did several hundred other folks.

WE, ourselves, had the definite pleasure of taking our entire family to their very first Circus. Had more fun watching their fun than we did watching the show. We'd say it was a good one in spite of that fact and we personally want to thank the local Shriners for making it possible for us to take our youngsters to see the Big Top. It wasn't the biggest nor the best, but it was plenty alright.

IF you hear strange noises in the early morning or late evening these days, never fear. It's just M. D. Foshee and Grady Towell practicing up on their turkey calling for the coming season. They can yelp and creak and they even know what a crippled crow says. We know how to 'eat' crow (from experience) but we never learned their language. Might be just as well, too, cause knowing the nature of crows, we'll bet they can burn the air with vile talk when they're crippled. They know the Riot call too, and the Fighting call of 'five' crows! 'Bout the only thing they haven't learned is what a dead crow says. . . and they're working on that. Ah, these bird lovers!

OH, and by the way; if you ever want to call a con we know a fellow who can do the job and his rates are reasonable. It sounds terrible to us, but the coons seem to go for it! They just know how to appreciate a good racket when they hear it, we suppose!

IT'S amazing what they can do with turkeys these days. Did you know they could 'put' some of these golfers will be 'putt' out with that bit o' news!

HERB Salter says to tell you that his wife said to tell us that his new son, Herb Jr., said that he sleeps all night. We always knew that Herb was smart; he's already taught that young'un the difference in daylight and dark!

$8 Million Program Planned For Medical

Alabama's twin programs of medical care for the aged should approximate $8 million to $9 million at the next fiscal year, says Alvin T. Prestwood, commissioner of pensions and security.

The state's new 1961-62 fiscal year starts Sunday.

Legislation passed by the recent legislative session will enable Mr. Prestwood's department to expand the six month old program of medical care for old age pensions. Beginning Sunday, they will be eligible for 15 days free hospital care annually instead of only 10 days.

An entirely new program of medical care for the needy aged - those persons medically indigent but not on old age pension rolls - will be launched soon. Mr. Prestwood says arrangements are being worked out as fast as possible.

In addition to the two new programs, the Department of Pensions and Security has upped payments for nursing home care for pensioners in licensed nursing homes an item in old age pension medical care.

The programs are supported by four to one federal matching funds.

Science Club Met

The Science Club of Mrs. Hubert's room met Friday, September 22, 1961.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Prestwood for Joe Mims. The secretary, Pat Elynn, read the minutes of the last meeting which were approved. New and old business was discussed.

The President then turned the program over to the program chairman.

Legislature Provides Tax for Fallout Shelters

A special session of the recent Alabama Legislature took full recognition of the dire need for the protection of themselves and their families from the death-dealing radiation following fallout that follows explosion of nuclear weapons. Information today received from Kenneth F. Ingram, Assistant Director of the Civil Defense Department, State of Alabama, manifested by the two bills the Legislature which passed granting tax relief for construction of fallout shelters, Ingram stated, and the Legislature hoped these benefits would serve as further incentive to cause the people of Alabama to start construction of fallout shelters without further delay. The Acts passed apply both to benefits from Income Taxes and Ad Valorem Taxes. The Act relating to Income Tax benefits is as follows: Section 1. In computing net income for state income tax purposes, individual taxpayers shall be allowed as deductions any expense not exceeding $1000.00 actually incurred during the taxable year in constructing on his property a family radioactive fallout shelter, as approved and certified by the State Department of Civil Defense and any amount not exceeding $1000.00 which he contributed during the taxable year toward the construction of a community radioactive fallout shelter. Section 2. This Act is supplemental to Code of Alabama 1940. Title 51, Section 385, as amended. Section 3. This Act shall become effective immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor.

or upon its otherwise becoming a law. The Legislative Act, relating to Ad Valorem Tax Benefits is as follows: Section 17 of Title 51, Code of Alabama 1940 is amended to read as follows: Within this State shall be assessed for the purpose of taxation at sixty percent of its fair and reasonable market value less any value not exceeding $2000.00 per parcel occupied which is added by construction of a radio-active fallout shelter, as approved and certified by the State Department of Civil Defense. Simply stated, these Acts will provide income tax exemptions up to $1000.00 expanded by any individual for costs incurred in the construction of an approved fallout shelter. The ad valorem tax benefits will accrue through allowing

Now here—a great new exclusive from Buick

ADVANCED THRUST

Moves power forward for arrow-straight going

It puts the engine ahead like the tip of an arrow • It tames "wind wander" and road sway • It sweeps you forward in a hush of luxury • It turns the floor hump into foot space.

WHAT IT IS—Buick's big new move: It positions the great new Wildcat V-8 and Turbine Drive way up front over Buick's front wheels.

WHAT IT DOES—As the engine went forward, the floor hump went DOWN. And, the forward weight makes wheel response far quicker, cornering far surer, ride far smoother.

WHY YOU'LL LOVE IT—It's the closest you can come to sports car handling in a passenger car. Distances shrink before its 3/4-G thrust. Hills disappear. Lean on curves is gone because the frame's gone wider. Winds don't make you wander. It's going at its Buick best!

'62 Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe

The ultimate in smart styling is the 1962 Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe (shown above). The new roof line at first glance closely resembles the fabric top of the Impala Convertible. Closer inspection reveals adroit styling of roof sheet metal which gives the sport coupe an exclusive and jaunty appearance. The Impala tops a line of 32 passenger car models, including the new Chevrolet Corvair, the new Chevy II series, which Chevrolet dealers will introduce Sept. 29.

Telephone Directory Being Mailed In Sept.

Southern Bell's new Clanton and Mapleville telephone directory is being mailed to all subscribers in these exchanges this week.

"Mailing was begun on Tuesday,"
W. R. Waters, Southern Bell local manager said today.

About 4,500 directories will be mailed in this area. This is approximately 200 more than was distributed last year. Waters said

"You won't find a better yardstick of the progress and growth of a town than the new telephone directory. It shows how fast this area is growing."

One of the biggest changes in this year's book is the Mapleville section where all numbers have been changed to seven numerals instead of two letters and five numerals. The numerals "36" have been substituted for "EM". This is a new numbering system that will standardize telephone numbers throughout the United States and is referred to as all number calling or ANC. Clanton will have the seven numerals numbers effective with the conversion to the dial system.

You should have your directory by October 1st. If not please notify the Telephone Business Office, said Waters.

The Telephone Company suggests that old directories be thrown away in way to avoid the possibility of getting wrong numbers. Also the directory should be referred to before calling "Information."

Back To School With Soup

The familiar sound of school bells tolling begins, and no doubt your little ones are eager to "act big" and tote their pretty lunch boxes filled brimful with goodies.

Whether you're packing for a Junior Miss or young Robin Hood (and perhaps you must think about both), start planning around nourishing, tasty hot canned soup in a vacuum bottle. It's a kids favorite any time of year... and it's good whether made with water or milk (good way to include milk in lunch box too).

Both Junior Miss and Robin Hood need body-building foods. In addition to the hot soup, include interesting and colorful sandwiches, relish surprises and yummy desserts.

Exciting to the younger set is the smaller version of a Dagwood sandwich. A hot dog roll is just the right size for this, filled to overflowing with popular sandwich fillings. Here is one which uses cubed mild cheese and canned luncheon meat, combined with mayonnaise and relish.
It's nestled deep in salad greens too. For crunch, thin carrot strips, carefully wrapped by themselves.
Dessert includes date bars or crunchy cake and fresh rosy red apples. One for the young one, and an extra for teacher!

Menu
Hot Tomato or Vegetable Soup
(made with milk)
Young-Set Sandwich
Carrot Strips Cake
Young-Set Sandwich
1 cup diced canned luncheon meat
1/2 cup diced process cheese
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 tablespoon pickle relish
1 teaspoon grated onion
Dash black pepper
4 frankfurter or hamburger rolls
Combine all ingredients in medium-size bowl. Chill to blend flavors.
Use as filling for 4 split and buttered frankfurter or hamburger rolls.

Asparagus Soup is a "Natural"
For Sauce
The delicate green color and flavor of canned condensed cream of asparagus soup make it a "natural" for sauce. Try this combination over fresh or frozen cauliflower or green beans. You'll be the star of the show. Blend 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of asparagus soup with 1/2 cup milk and 1/4 teaspoon curry powder. Heat slowly but do not boil. Serve as a sauce over vegetables. Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce. FNS

LUXURIOUS STYLING of Pontiac's 1962 sports coupe models is graphically illustrated by these views of the sparkling new Bonneville. A smaller rear window and a lower roof design give this two-door hardtop the rakish look of a softtop convertible. A double V-shaped grille of horizontal bars exemplifies the smooth flowing lines and the Bonneville's generous full-length side moulding accentuates the car's long, low and sleek appearance. This same new look in hardtops is found in the Catalina sports coupe.

Farm Costs

FARM costs are near an all-time peak—three times the 1910-14 average, and 22 per cent higher than 1947-49 quotations.

Higher prices for items used in farm production accounted for about half of the rise in farm production expenses since 1947-49. Larger purchases accounted for the rest. Greater specialization led to purchases of more goods from other farmers as well as purchases of more goods and services from nonfarm sources.

Farm Wage Rates

Farm wage rates posted a 60 per cent increase from 1947-49 to the present. On the other hand, increases in farm machinery, fuel, and other motor vehicles, were in farm machinery, 44 per cent; in fuel, 44 per cent; in fertilizer, 32 per cent; and in other motor vehicles, 26 per cent. Fertilizer prices rose 7 per cent. Food prices fell 16 per cent and seed prices dropped 14 per cent.

Changes in the prices paid by farmers for production items from the spring of 1960 to the spring of 1961 ranged from a plus 8 per cent for farm real estate taxes to a minus 3 per cent for livestock.

Higher Farm Income Seen As Cost-Price Cures

Since there is no relief in sight for farm production costs, the solution to the present economic condition of the farmer lies in increased farm income. This was the conclusion of a House Agriculture Subcommittee which studied the cost-price squeeze. The committee recommended more industry on farm taxes, interest, transportation costs, insurance, research on the improvement of farm machinery and possible elimination of capital gains tax on the sale of farm property.

Man-Hour Output Lags in Food Processing

Output per man hour in factories that process domestic farm foods grew at a rate of 2.9 per cent from 1947 to 1960, but the increase was significantly smaller than the rate for the total private economy. And output per man hour in farming was more than twice as fast as in food processing industries. This lag for labor in farming is the larger substitution of machinery for labor in farming.

Hourly earnings of food processing employees increased in 1960. Compared with 1947-49 period, their wages were four-fifths larger. Because of the gains in output per man-hour, however, labor costs were up less than one-third—about the same as the general price rise in the total economy.

World Food Gap Measured

The first effort to measure world food needs showed that annual protein—in terms of tonnage dry weight—will run about 1.8 million metric tons below world requirements in 1962. This roughly equals 35 per cent of annual U. S. milk production.

A detailed study released by USDA shows that greatest diet deficiencies—especially in animal protein—are in Western Asia, Africa, the Far East, and Latin America.

EDITOR'S DESK

by Kenneth Copeland

RURAL resource development has been a much discussed topic during the last few months. But the program—which is still in its infancy—must undergo a substantial expansion if we are to reach our goal of a $1 billion annual farm income by 1970.

The Rural Resource Development program grew out of a self-study conducted by the Auburn Extension Service which showed that annual farm income in Alabama could be doubled by the use of the state's physical and human resources.

COPELAND

Just think for a moment what twice as much agricultural income would mean to the economy of the state. Farmers would benefit and so would everyone else. When farmers have money, they're going to spend it. And when they spend money, everybody gains.

W. H. Cowan recently, while visiting with Clay County Farm Agent Johnny Burson of Ashland told me that he found the going rough in the nutwood business and started looking for some other means of supplementing his income. Since he had worked in the woods for several years, he knew there were many dogwood trees in the area, so he began looking for a way to put them to use.

The Clay Countyman found a market for the dogwood—in the form of shuttle blocks—in North Carolina.

He returned home and got busy. At first he had several calls because of the required specifications, but after hitting an experienced sawyer, most of the blocks, which are used in weaving cloth, have been accepted.

Now Johnny buys dogwood in Clay and other adjoining counties, providing additional income for the area. Clay Countyman said that the new business could easily mean $50,000 in the hands of farm people of the county each year.

G. B. Phillips has come up with some interesting figures which show just how important it is—in dollars and cents—to wean a bigger litter of pigs.

He tells me that the cost of feeding on one experiment for a sow during gestation period was $1.88 per pig when 10 pigs were weaned. But if the sow weans only five pigs, the cost per pig jumps to $3.76.

The Auburn University hog expert went on to say it is just good common breeding, feeding and management practices. This includes proper feeding two to three weeks before breeding and during the entire gestation period.

Several people have asked what the sow should be fed during this time. Phillips says that a ration containing 16 per cent protein is needed. A 400-pound sow on green grazing needs six pounds of the ration, while a 500-pound sow needs 7½ pounds.

Mosquito Facts

A month or so ago I mentioned that mosquitoes seem to prefer some people while others are almost immune to the problem. entomologists in Florida have found that people who GHOSTS and Halloween, black cats and witches—it's Halloween time again! This year why not stretch your budget and have fun, too? Here are some ideas for costumes, masks and noisemakers yourself.

For paper bags like grocery bags come in, crumpled newspaper. Tuck in the upper half of the bag to make a hat. Tuck in the bottom corners to round out. Then, with crayons or tempera paints, make a face on the bag.

For a "witches" whistle, stretch a wide rubber band across the top of a spool and fasten the ends with a small rubber band. Blow through the hole in the opposite end of the spool to produce the eerie wail of a witch.

Another noisemaker that's easy to make and fun for the youngsters is made with foil pie tins and rice or corn. Put open sides facing each other, together, with a few kernels of rice or corn inside. Overcast with a large needle threaded with yarn. Then make a loop of yarn at the top so the youngsters can carry the noisemaker slipped over their heads.

lines to the bottom side of the paper plate and cut out. You can staple on cardboard and cut out a black cat's face. Three drinking straws, stapled on the good whiskers. Or, color the rim of the plate brown for hair. Use strips of sashed black crepe paper to form eyelashes, and glue around the eyes. Paint or color on a large red mouth, and a big black nose, and your mask is complete.

Masks can be made to fit the head by stapling the ends of a large rubber band, cut in two, to either side of the paper plate at the level of the youngster's ears. Slip the mask on and put the rubber band around the back of the head.

Proper Care Will Increase The Use Of Your Carpet

Myra Weaver

EVERYONE likes beautiful carpets and rugs. Enjoy the comfort and beauty of the carpeting in your home and beauty of the color in your life's easy care benefits. In come the winter when the air is clean, carpeting, like everything else in the home, stays fresh longer. Naturally you must work harder at the business of house-keeping in soot and dust laden areas.

WEAVER

Carpets and rugs retain their handsome appearance for many years when a simple regular care plan is followed. The regular care plan is following carpeting 40-day care and vacuuming. Use a vacuum cleaner, occasional vacuum cleaner, professional cleaning, but they do brighten the carpet surface.

There are three types of cleaning which the housewife can use for her carpets: cleaning with a detergent solution—one teaspoon detergent to one cup lukewarm water; cleaning with a cleaning fluid; and the use of absorbent powder cleaners.

A solution of detergent and water is all that is needed for many spilled liquids. It should be applied sparingly with a gentle motion. We only the face of the carpet, not the bottom. Dry cleaning fluid is quickly as possible. Greasy or oily stains, should be applied lightly with a gentle wiping motion so that only the top portion of the carpet tuft becomes wet.

Absorbent powder cleaners made especially for carpets are available for cleaning large areas. They are satisfactory for home use and when used according to directions, they give a good degree of surface brightening. However, like the other home methods mentioned, they are not a substitute for professional cleaning.

The service you get from your carpet or rug depends on its quality, kind of use it receives and the care you give it. Of course, there are good, better and best qualities, and the best you can afford will bring you greatest satisfaction. But even the least expensive carpeting repays its cost over and over again—and deserves the best of care.

Traffic Problems

As one fellow said: "some of our traffic problems are acute, and getting cuter!" That may well be true; and we also note that some of our traffic situations are acute and are not "cute" in any sense of the word.

As a for instance, too many drivers in Clanton are not observing the speed zones within the City Limits. There can be only one reason for this and that is that the drivers are not being "forced" if you please, to obey them.

Saturday afternoon, on 2nd Avenue, a car hit a dog and knocked him winding. Now we're talking against dogs running loose, but we aired that last week. Now we're talking about speed. The driver was, in anybody's book, speeding! It could just as easily have been a child he hit and knocked winding. 2nd Avenue has to many blind corners and is too narrow for speed in any area.

We would especially like to call attention of the proper authorities, to the blind corner at 2nd Ave. and Hinkle Road. It is almost impossible to see far enough down the main road to be able to venture onto it with any degree of safety; especially considering the speed at which some approach this crossing. Something should be done about it. It is used suite a lot.

Clanton's suburbs are growing more densely populated and extending further out with each year that passes. Some of drivers obviously think that when they pass the last traffic light in town they can open up the throttle. In many areas there are several blocks of residential area beyond the traffic lights and that is where the children are walking, running and playing.

A word to you speeders: We do not care if you speed and it is entirely your business if you break the law; but heaven help you if you strike a child. And something else, too: Is hearing your muffler pop or making your tires squeal really worth taking a chance on a life? If it is, we fail to see it!

What Our Youth Doesn't Know!

Ninety-five per cent of all high school students entering the work force of American business do so without any formal education in what makes business tick!

Each year in the United States, more than 2,000,000 young workers join the business community. And fewer than five out of every hundred have been exposed to as much as a one-semester course in economics.

The startling figures are cited by the National Association of Manufacturers (its 19,000 members include 83% in the small business category) as a matter of grave concern to the nation.

The association regards the lack of economic understanding as both a challenge and an opportunity

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

BY CARL GOGGINS

All's quiet on the political front. Although the average person may think this, it just ain't so! For after moving through more than 25 counties during the past two weeks, take it from me that many a prospective statewide candidate has crossed paths with another, many an Alabamian asked for support, and many a political conjecture, given by the folks in the interest.

Here are just a few things being heard by prospective gubernatorial candidates, and comment on these remarks: Understand Lt. Gov. Albert Boutwell is telling his close friends he will definitely run for governor next year and is soliciting help. However, he hasn't been this positive with the press.

Speculation of why Boutwell's ties and not the press is that he is informing friends of his intentions to keep the People Guessing but not possible opposition Eugene (Bull) Connor and Gen. Walter (Crack) Hanna, also from Birmingham, and who are primed and cocked and ready for the chase. No doubt, in order for Boutwell to come out of the Magic City with a heavy vote, he would like to have Bull and Crack sit this one out.

And speaking of Hanna, both his and Highway Director Sam Engelhardt's gubernatorial program has been picking up steam since the special session ended. Both men's Draft Committee have been fast at work mailing campaigns. Although there still hasn't been much heard from it yet, Scottsboro businessman Cecil Wood, chairman of the Engelhardt committee and Bessemer attorney Jack Paden, head of Hanna's committee, if you were to ask, would probably quickly tell you their mailing campaigns response has been tremendous. One thing that's becoming more and more noticeable is Engelhardt's name appearing on every road construction sign in Alabama. Yep, it shouldn't be long before everyone in the state knows who the Highway Director is. One apparent supporter said: It's a shame Sam can't go ahead and put For Governor under his name now.

While talking about response, if Sam and Crack's appears good, it isn't too far from the word Ed Strickland's putting out these days about his boss, Strickland, Atty. Gen. MacDonald Gallion's administrative assistant and apparently his campaign manager, says Gallion will win the governor's race without a runoff next May 1. It could happen, of course. But at the moment, most politicians don't see the picture as bright as Ed just yet. Had lunch with George Wallace in Birmingham recently and the Little Judge was confident that him and former Gov. James Folsom's race would be between son with, as you guessed George would report, Wallace on top. Wallace expressed his sentiments along the biblical line of how little fact, Wallace was so enthused he David slew Goliath. Matter of boasted he has been speaking before larger than ever crowds and that he even had Large James in trouble in his old home county of Coffee. Whether or not things are shaping up this good for Wallace remains to be seen from talk over the state, but he is being mentioned quite often these days.

Keep hearing that Tuscaloosa Sen. Ryan McGraw, one of Gov. Patterson's Senate leaders and likely gubernatorial candidate has been trying to decide whether or not to stump for Gov. John's $10 million First Bond issue up for a vote, Dec. 1. Some politicians feel that if he comes out and Large James campaigns actively against it as a few persons say he will, the political skirmish could possibly shed a little light on the vote potential of each man. Such a warmup could be very interesting to watch.

Appointed

U. N. DAY CHAIRMAN—Gov. John Patterson has appointed John C. Cooper Jr. of Tuscaloosa, above, who is owner and general manager of Radio Station WJRD, as 1961 state chairman of United Nations Day. The occasion, observed nationally each Oct. 24, commemorates the founding of the United Nations in 1945.

for every businessman in this community—and it lays on the line a plan for the butcher, the baker, and candlestick maker to do something about it.

Here are some examples of our shocking failure to teach high school students the facts of economic life, based on the results of authoritative polls:

62 per cent of the students thought that a worker should not produce all he can.

76 per cent said that most of the gains from new machinery goes to the owners.

82 per cent believed that monopolies are the rule in many of America's major industries.

On matters concerning company operations, profits on the sales dollar (after taxes) were estimated as high as 50%; dividends to stockholders were estimated at 24%; and the average capital investment behind each job was figured at $81.

(Correct answers: average profits for all corporations, 3 to 6% range; dividends 3 to 5% range; and it requires an average investment of more than $19,000 to provide a single job in industry today).

How can we expect our youths to support free competitive enterprise if they don't know what makes it operate? How can we spend billions of dollars to sell our way of life among foreign nations when our own young people don't know our economic system?

It's not enough to merely deplore the lack of economic education available to our youngsters. The business community in this area, and in every other corner of the nation, must attack the problem this way:

Start now a campaign to impress the state board of education and the school board the acute need for instituting or broadening economic education courses, particularly in the secondary schools.

On its part the NAM has prepared a series of authentic economic teaching aids (11 booklets telling the business story in terms acceptable to educators and understandable to students.) They're for classroom use. It's up to our businessmen to join this vital campaign in spreading the free competitive enterprise story among teachers—and thus to students. Business men are urged to write for further details to National Association of Manufacturers, Members Relations Division, 2 East 48th St., New York 17, N. Y.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

WELL WATER

All is not well with all well water. In rural communities a part of the population is dependent on private wells for water supply. Well water, even from deep wells, may become contaminated. The first essential for drinking water is that it be pure and free from bacteria.

Most municipal supplies can be relied upon, but private wells and springs are not so dependable. In the absence of definite knowledge that a private well or spring is safe, it is better not to drink from it, even though the person in need of water has been inoculated against typhoid fever. Questionable water can be made safe by boiling or by the addition of chemical disinfectants.

The source of all well water is rain, snow, or hail. Rain seeps down through the soil and then flows horizontally. Polluted material. Wells should be sunk in or near high, well drained ground. Wells should not be located closer than fifty feet from outside toilets, septic tanks, highways, cesspools or sewers.

The Walls of a new well should be watertight to a depth of from

100 YEARS AGO

WAR'S DISCONTENT

By October 1861, discontent was prevalent among Civil War Soldiers of both the South and the North. And abroad, because of the Confederate blockade, laborers were suffering.

Southern soldiers wanted to go home. After the victory at first Manassas they felt the War was practically won. There was no need for extensive preparation, and that it was up to the North to make the next move.

Confederate leaders had not been allowed a coordinated attack on Washington, so they set to work to strengthen their lines. With ammunition scarce, wooden guns were mounted at close range which the enemy looked like real guns. All the preparation looked useless to the Southern soldiers, and they complained of no freedom and no privileges in letters to their families.

On the Federal side General George B. McClellan developed a new army. The 90 day recruits were replaced by volunteers with three year terms. McClellan, strong on organization, and drill made his men feel like soldiers ready to fight, yet he hesitated to send troops into battle. He had been led to believe his forces were outnumbered, doubled or even trebled, this estimate given to him by the new chief of the Army of Potomac, Allan Pinkerton.

In countries abroad, the Confederate blockade prevented shipments of cotton and tobacco. As a result, laborers were either completely out of work or else working only part time.

Historian John Lothrop Motley, from Washington: A grim winter minister to Austria, wrote his wife is before us. Gather ye rosebuds while ye may. The War is to be a long one.

It takes about two and one half tons of raw materials to make one ton of steel.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

The First Session of the 87th Congress adjourned shortly before dawn last Wednesday morning after an active nine months that saw the enactment of a number of major bills.

Since both of the Congress and the President were of the same political party this year -- for the first time since 1954 more Administration backed legislation than usual was enacted. In the early series of measures requested by the President, including aid to depressed areas, increase in the minimum wage, assistance for underdeveloped Latin American countries, support and control for the feed grains program, extension of the veterans direct home loan program, aid for dependent children and a temporary extension of unemployment benefits, omnibus housing program, new federal ferries, liberalization of social security benefits, and new financing for the nation's highway program.

OTHER BILLS PASSED
Later in the session, a record peace time defense appropriation was approved. Congress also endorsed measures to control water pollution, help cope with the mount ing surplus of farm commodities, extend the National Defense Education Act, provide aid for airport construction, and extend excise taxes.

A public works bill containing aid for development of natural resources, including the Warrior Tombigbee and Coosa-Alabama Systems in Alabama, was also enacted. In the closing days of its legislative year Congress approved a measure making the Ueace Corps a permanent organization, as well as bills to establish an independent U. S. Arms Control Agency, to advance the effective date of an agreement between the United States and France for the exchange of classified information on atomic weapons, and to appropriate funds for the mutual security or foreign aid program for fiscal 1962.

PENDING MEASURES

Bills which were proposed by the Administration but not enacted by Congress this year include a general overhaul of the tax laws, medical care of the aged financed by increased social security taxes, a permanent revision of the unemployment compensation system, and federal aid to education.

RETURNS TO DISTRICT

I expect to be back in Alabama by the time this column is printed and will remain in the State until Congress reconvenes. During the throughout the eight counties of congressional recess, I plan to visit the 6th Congressional District. Two days each week will be spent in the district office located on the second floor of the Post Office Building in Tuscaloosa. I trust that those of you to whom I can be of service will not hesitate to call on me.

My weekly report to you from Washington will be resumed when Congress meets again in January.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

WHAT DOES CHRIST OFFER YOU TODAY?

At one of our crusades not long ago, I heard this unusual, true story.

One of the prayer counselors was talking to a young man about accepting Christ as his personal Saviour. "Wouldn't you like for Christ to come into your life?" she asked. His reply startled her.

"I don't know. Just what does He have to offer, anyway?"

When I heard this story, I realized that many people probably have the same question -- "What does Christ offer me today?" It is not unusual that this question should arise. Too often, people think of God as a mean, angry God with huge, horny hands, just waiting for a man to make a mistake so He can punish him. Others envision God as a God of hate -- a vengeful deity. It is normal that people should hesitate to dedicate their lives to such a negative, hateful God.

But these ideas are wrong! God is not hateful, harsh and vengeful. He is not bad! God is a good God! Think of what that means. He is good, totally and completely good. And He offers nothing but goodness to those who follow His teachings. The will of God for our lives is expressed in 3 John 2: "Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth. Christ offers abundant life to those who seek Him.

When you are sick, He offers abundant healing and health. When you are hungry or thirsty, He offers food and has promised to supply all your needs. When you are tired and discouraged, He offers strength. He is a strong anchor when you are in times of storm. He is a Friend who never leaves you lonely. If you are burdened with sin, He is the Lamb of God, which takes away the sin of the world. You sorrow, He is the comforter. He said, "Come unto me, all that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Christ has come to help you today! He offers good for your problems and sadness. He gives you peace and joy in your soul. He fills your heart with love. You are important to God because people are His business. Anything that touches you is vital to Christ. What do you offer him today? He offers you abundant life. Won't you accept it -- now?

Discussions will show how State and county departments are being of all children and how work such child care facilities the Baptist and other child homes, day care centers, etc., like," Miss Clements explained.

She invited everyone to bring children and their pictures in to this program.

"This new budget will allow the most comprehensive program taken in Alabama," said Gov. Patterson, chairman of the board of public assistance ever undertaken. Not only will our new program considerably expanded but all of medical care for the aged be categorized of welfare recipients will receive substantial increases.

Average old age pensions are expected to reach almost $63 monthly during the coming year.

The new budget includes funds allowing average payments of $46 monthly for the blind, $41 for the disabled, $45 for aid to dependent children families, and $28.79 to children in foster care. The case load totals more than 140,000 of which 102,000 are old age pensioners.

The Pensions and Security Department's record budget, which topped $100 million for the first time, was made possible by a $780,000 increase in General Fund appropriations, estimated increases in earmarked revenues and additional federal funds. Nearly three fourths of the total budget is made up of federal monies.

Alvin T. Prestwood, commissioner of the department, pointed out that a total of $98.5 million will be spent during the year by payments directly to needy persons or in payments in their behalf for medical care.

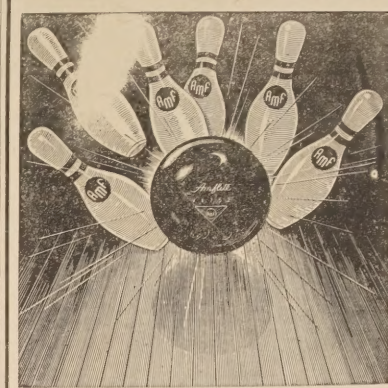

The hospitalization program for 10 to 15 days for acute illness or injury, is estimated to cost about $5 million. The new program of medical assistance to the aged persons who are medically indigent but not on an old age pension rolls, is budgeted for about $1.9 million.

Just recently authorized by the State Legislature, this program is expected to be underway by the first of the year.

The Board of Pensions and Security, meeting here last Thursday heard a complete report on the pension program for the coming year. James Record of Huntsville was elected vice chairman and two new members, William M. Clarke of Mobile and Thomas S. Roberts of Abbeville, were introduced.

Store Canned Food In Correct Place

Canned food needs to be stored in a cool, dark, dry place. Dark so the light does not fade the color of the food. Dryness is needed to prevent the lids and rings from rusting. Some food spoilage bacteria may not have been destroyed during the processing. At temperature above 80 degree some may start to reproduce. Thus spoilage could result. Take care of your canned food. Storage conditions can make a difference in the color, flavor and texture of your products.

Recipe From Old South For Gourmets

Shrimp Creole probably originated in New Orleans, and over the years, many recipes for this specialty have been created. Here's a delightful new version of an old recipe, made especially delicious by the addition of canned French Fried Onions. Stewed tomatoes, green peppers, mace, tabasco and thyme—old time favorites—can be added to this casserole. The dish is quickly and easily prepared because shrimp is pre-cooked and you need only heat until bubbly and hot. People who have the impression that shrimp are generally used in salads and cocktails only, will find there are many delicious and satisfying main dishes to be prepared using these popular shellfish.

SHRIMP CREOLE

1 pound cooked, cleaned shrimp
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
1/4 teaspoon mace

1/2 teaspoon thyme
2 (No. 303 cans stewed tomatoes) or 4 cups
1 can O & C French Fried Onions (3 1/2 oz.)
1/4 teaspoon salt

Melt butter in saucepan. Add green pepper and saute until pepper is tender. Add remaining ingredients and simmer for about 10 minutes or until heated through. Serve with rice and garnish with additional French Fried Onions, if desired. This dish is SHRIMP-DELICIOUS. Serves 4.

Shrimp tips: You may buy cooked shrimp by the pound (either in the shell or peeled, cleaned and ready to use), un-cooked (green or raw) shrimp, or canned shrimp, for this recipe. Remember . . . 2 pounds of green shrimp in the shell will yield 1 pound shelled, cleaned, cooked shrimp. Canned shrimp comes in 4 1/2- and 5-ounce cans. Use 3 cans of either for this recipe.

If you are using raw shrimp, avoid over-cooking which makes shrimp tough. Boiling is the basic method of cooking raw shrimp. The shrimp may be boiled and peeled or vice versa. About the only difference is the amount of salt used in the boiling water.

Chilton County Takes Part In Cancer Drive

Chilton County raised $279.17 toward a quota of $1,900 in the 1961 crusade of the American Cancer Society, Alabama Division, Inc. State Crusade Chairman Jimmy Faulkner of Bay Minette thanked all who participated in the campaign and reported that the state as a whole raised $312,634 second whole raised $312,634.

Larges amount ever contributed in a cancer crusade in Alabama.

"I am grateful to all the people over the state who had a part in this success," Faulkner declared, "those who gave of their time and energy as leaders and workers as well as all those, including the leaders and workers who gave generously of their means."

Daniel R. Mims of Clanton was crusade chairman for this county. Nationally the American Cancer Society crusade raised $20,691,805. Mrs. Lillian G. Meade, Birmingham executive director, Alabama Division reported.

The annual crusade is held in April to put out life saving information about cancer while raising funds to support the society's three point program of education research and service. Thirty cents of each dollar contributed go to research, 60 cents stay in the state for education and service to medically indigent cancer patients and 10 cents are used for fund-raising administration and purchase of educational materials.

Since 1945 the ASC has allocated to Alabama institutions and individuals $1,196,498 in research grants. This is almost as much as the amount sent by the Alabama Division to the national society during the same period of time, totaling $1,346,256.

Wise For Her Years!

Little Laura Willett of Los Angeles, Calif., proudly polishes "her" traffic sign, a self-imposed chore she performs every day at an intersection near her home. Ten-year-old Laura feels personally responsible for the stop sign, since it was erected at her request after several minor accidents occurred at the intersection.

Worrying about the accident problem, little Laura drew up her own petition to the Los Angeles authorities, requesting that stop signs be put up on the corner. Laura obtained the signatures of fifty neighbors before she sent the petition to Los Angeles city officials. In a short time, the new signs were put in place. The sign is coated with reflective material that glows in headlight beams and can be seen blocks away by motorists, even on darkest nights. Her daily polishing makes sure the sign always shines brightly.

Make A List Of What's In Your Freezer

By Kaye Curry
Assistant Home Agent

Wonder if you know how much of each vegetable, fruit and meat you have in your home freezer? Bet you don't! However, you may be a wise homemaker and has announced that arrangements have been made with Fair officials to have the exhibit displayed in Montgomery.

Army information specialists will be on hand to answer questions concerning the various missiles and space projects.

Spotlighted within the exhibit are three actual missiles—the Army's famed Hawk, a low altitude, anti aircraft guided missile; the Lacrosse, a transonic surface to air general support missile; and the Army's most advanced free flight rocket, Little John.

Tracing the history of rocketry from 1232 A.D. to the present, the exhibit will feature colorful paintings, back lighted color photo murals depicting satellite launchings, man in space research and a color motion picture showing dramatic firing sequences of Army missiles.

The exhibit will feature scale models of the Army's lethal Nike family of air defense missiles and the medium range ballistic missile Redstone. Other models include such tactical weapons as Sergeant, Corporal, Honest John, Hawk and the uncanny Lacrosse. The U. S. Army developed Jupiter ICBM will also be featured.

This is a time of heart-touching beauty of wonderful simplicity and warmth. But it's a fleeting time, and it must be captured correctly—professionally. Your local photographer is an artist trained in the capture of such wonderful moments. His eye and hand work in a way no untrained eye and hand can. His skill is yours for the most reasonable fees. Don't pass by these golden moments. Use the skills of a portrait photographer to hold close, forever, your child's golden moments!

Store Canned Food In Correct Place

By Kaye Curry
Assistant Home Agent

Canned food needs to be stored in a cool, dark, dry place. Dark so the light does not fade the color of the food. Dryness is needed to prevent the lids and rings from rusting. Some food spoilage bacteria may not have been destroyed during the processing. At temperature above 80 degree some may start to reproduce. Thus spoilage could result. Take care of your canned food. Storage conditions can make a difference in the color, flavor and texture of your products.

Store Pressure Cooker Away

By Kaye Curry
Assistant Home Agent

Now that you have finished using your pressure canner this summer, you will want to store it away. First you will want to wash the canner in warm soapy water. Rinse and dry thoroughly. The lid will need to be washed with a clean soapy cloth and rinsed. Don't put the lid in water for you may accidentally get water in the gauge. Unscrew the pit-cock and wash with soapy water, rinse and thoroughly dry. Run a string or pipe cleaner through the holes or vents to remove any food that may have collected there. Replace pit-cock. Stuff clean, dry, crushed newspapers in the bottom of the pressure canner. Turn lid upside down over canner. Place canner in pantry or similar storage area.

Organize Fruit In Freezer

By Kaye Curry.
Assistant Home Agent

Since you have your freezer full of vegetables, fruits, and meats, it's time to get them organized so you will know what you have and how much, our canned goods need to be taken care of, too, so read these tips from your County Home Agent on freezing and canning.

Now that you have your home freezer full of fruits and vegetables do you know where the waterbeans are and the peas. What about the okra and snap beans?

The wise home freezer owner has each vegetable stacked in rows. This makes it easy to find, especially when you are in a hurry. The same thing is true for fruits, meats and cooked foods. If you haven't arranged yours this way, do so as soon as possible. You'll be glad you did!

"We Have Faith In The People.."

"We have faith in the people of Chilton County and the efforts they are making for progress in our fair County. That," says Mr. Otto Jones, President of First National Bank in Clanton, "is why we have made our progressive effort to better serve the people of this community."

Folks At The First National Bank, long known for "Safety and Service" in Chilton County, strive very hard to live up to their motto. They have recently expanded their facilities by adding another teller window and new office space for President Jones and his lovely secretary, Mrs. Helen Liveoak.

All the officials and the employees at First National are eager and willing to make your banking business as comfortable and as efficient for you, their customer, as is humanly possible.

Drop in today and look at their new facilities, if you haven't already had the pleasure. We're here to serve," says Mr. Jones "and we are continually seeking new ideas and methods for doing the job that we know the people of this community expect!"

ClantonU psets Wetumpka Friday

By Warren Edwards

A stout defense and sharp offense was adequate enough as the Tigers blanked Wetumpka 7 - 0 last Friday night.

It was a battle of defense up to the third quarter when the Tigers recovered an on side kick. Wetumpka holding the Tigers to their series of downs moved the ball down field on three first downs.

Wetumpka found the going rough on first and 10 on the 10 as the Tigers held them to only 4 yards in 3 downs. On fourth down Billy Wyatt crashed end and halted Wood down on a 4 yard loss.

After getting the ball the Tigers did not give the ball up until they had crossed the goal line.

The Tigers moved the ball down field on 6 first downs and the touchdown came when Coe ran off tackle for 2 yards. The extra point was added by Grant.

With about 3 minutes left in the game Wetumpka had not given up as they moved down the field, An interception by Keith Mims of the drive. The Tigers took clock out as they won 7-0.

The defense standouts: Thomas Mims, Billy Gray, Mullins, Johnny Mims, Coe, Guy Ray and Donald Ineson. The offense standouts: Douglas Grant, Hillard, Wright, Douglas Coe.

The Tigers will play Clanton tomorrow night here at 7:30.

The 1962 Ford Galaxie line features a crisp, fresh approach to Ford's classic styling. Shown here is the Galaxie 500 Sunliner convertible, one of twelve models in the Galaxie line. While the new Galaxie is slightly shorter and fractionally narrower than the 1961 model, the large passenger compartment is the same as 1961. Large door openings, coupled with Ford's convenient two-position door stops, make entering and leaving the Galaxie an easy and natural movement. The Sunliner top is anchored at each roof bow to prevent "ballooning" when underway. The vinyl lined top is stowed under a color-keyed boot.

Keep Thermometer In Freezer

To keep frozen food at its best be sure the temperature in your freezer is at least zero degrees or below. To keep a check on this, put a thermometer in the basket. Several times during each week, look to see if it is registering at least zero or below. If the temperature should be up, regulate on food now by storing it above the control. Don't ruin your freezer.

During the past five years, the American steel industry has produced about three fifths of a ton of steel each year for each American. Per capita production was 1,236 pounds annually.

Priority County In Shelter Survey

Long 25 ON TOP PRIORITY LIST

Civil Defense Fallout Shelter in Alabama is receiving attention long deserved and according to information available recently by Bobby Smith, Director Civil Defense of the State of Alabama. He is a member of the Army is handling the responsibilities of the program.

On Saturday of last week the Carpenters Local Union voted to give the Association $100.00 for the futherance of the program in this vicinity. One day last week a gentleman from Birmingham, on his way to a fishing trip on the Coosa stopped at Littleton's Grocery east of Clanton and saw the county paper with the mention of the Association. Mrs. Littleton told the gentleman that they were selling peanuts for the cause so he bought a bag... with a check for $100.00.

Peasut sales will continue this week on the corner across from the Courthouse. Sales are pretty good according to our report, and so are the peanuts. The school is still scheduled to open November 1st. Our contributions to this most worthy of causes is earnestly solicited by the Association.

Last year farm accidents cost $64 million.

School building at Maplesville. The school will be located just north of the present school site on Randolph Road about one-half mile. As you can see, work has just begun on the new structure which covers several acres and it will be a welcome and de serving addition to Chilton's growing educational system. (News photo by SCOTT)

Housing Project Bids Offered

The work is to begin today (Thursday) and is to be finished in 30 consecutive working days or about the 20th of November. Last word we had on the Courthouse itself was sometimes in December. That still is not official, however.

Poison Moonshine--
THE State reports that poison moonshine whiskey is still a major problem in the State. Although none was reported from Chilton County during last month, there were 16 counties which did report poison moonshine. This is a killer; one of the most unnecessary of the lot!

Proration Has Cost Chilton A Quarter Million Dollars
FOR the past few weeks we have been hearing quite a bit about proration of school funds over the State of Alabama. In 1959-60 proration cost Chilton County schools $59,378.86 and in 1960-61 proration cost our county schools $128,129.15.

In addition to the above figures Chilton County has already had a cut-back in the State allocation for 1961-62 in the amount of $103,099.00. This added to the proration of the previous years makes a total amount of $290,602.01 which amounts to approximately two and one-half months operation of our schools.

With figures such as these it is easy for one to understand just the plight our schools and all the schools of Alabama are now in. Chilton County has figured in every way possible means by which the cost of operating Chilton County schools could be reduced. Expenses have been cut—to the core, but still there is not enough money to carry on in the way our boys and girls deserve. Our financial crisis is a most serious one and the Chilton County Board of Education wants the patrons and citizens of our County to know and realize the predicament we are in.

Transfusions And Revolutions

WE are most in favor of the library program for Chilton County and are amazed at times at the fervor which the supporters of this effort put forth. But, it has occurred to us that a library program is not going to be of much use to a County which is constantly losing it's youthful population.

The past census indicated that Chilton County has suffered a terrific blow, population-wise, in the age group of 20-30 years. These people are, or should be, the very life-blood of this community and there is proof positive that the life-blood is flowing swiftly from our economic veins.

The effort mentioned above is commendable, but there is obviously a need for effort toward keeping the young people of Chilton County in Chilton County.

And there is no effort which produce more results along these lines than that of acquiring new industry to employ these young people. Therefore, it stands to reason that we need at least the same effort, if not a greater one, by as many individuals and groups if not more of them to attract big industry to this area.

We are going to continue to lose our young people in this County if we do not do something about this employment situation. Figures bear out the fact that we have lost too much "blood" already and if we don't start working, and working hard, to stop the flow, we're going to need a king-size transfusion and the only kind available is a government grant or subsidy of some kind. And that's the most expensive shot in the arm we will ever take.

It boils down to the fact that if we are to survive as a prosperous and growing area, we are going to have to change our way of living and doing things. Don't wait on the government to do it either, whether it be the Federal, State or local government. What we need is a revolution... and that takes you, and you!

This Is What We Mean

OUR hats off this week to the Thorsby American Legion for the excellent job they did in presenting the American Flag to the school at Mineral Springs a week or so ago.

The Legion felt that it wasn't enough to just give the flag; so they held a program, suitable to the occasion, and not only presented the flag to the school, but also dedicated it, and in so doing gave the boys and girls and some parents besides a good lesson in how to treat the good old Stars and Stripes and just what "Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America..." means in plain old English.

Congratulations to Messrs. Cox, Chapman, Wright Jackson, Headley, Yeargan and all other members of the Post who feel it is their solemn duty to keep the grand old flag flying and also to tell folks about it!

The American Legion is one organization which is above controversy and skepticism when it comes to "who is American and who ain't!" Long may it wave, tellers!

Beauty And The Bank

We have had the distance privilege of several times going through the new Bank of Maplesville, and we would like to tell you, here and now, that you must see it to believe that it can be so beautiful. If ever there was a tribute to the people of a community this is it! The folks at the Bank are noticeably proud of their new building and when you see the inside of it you will understand their feeling. It certainly will be nice to do business in a place with the atmosphere and distinction that will be available to everyone in the new building. Be sure to go over next Sunday and see it!

You're The Poor Fish!

News Item: House of Representatives votes $20 million to build new aquarium for the District of Columbia.

Now, let it be understood that we aren't against fish. And were not against aquariums either. In ordinary times it might be a dandy idea for the residents of Washington to have a fine new aquarium.

But these aren't ordinary times. Our nation is fighting a cold war; government spending is astronomical and growing more so every day. Every hour of the day the Federal government is spending $1 million more than it takes in. A $10 billion deficit is in prospect.

With the government spending that kind of money one might ask "what's wrong with a mere $20 million for a badly needed aquarium?" Again, we say aquariums are fine... we like to look at fish, too... and for all we know $20 million might not be an unreasonable figure.

But it is unreasonable, we believe, to spend millions... either a few millions or many millions... for non-essentials, for unnecessary luxuries, in an era when the interest on the public debt alone costs us taxpayers $9 billion a year.

Yes, we taxpayers are the poor fish and that aquarium at the nation's capital would be just a symbol to remind us of it. We have enough reminders already... high taxes, extravagant spending, waste and inefficiency, undue federal regulation, unwanted federal welfare programs, creeping socialism... an endless list.

Attitudes Change History

YOU know, it is discouraging, but we can count on two hands the number of businessmen in Clanton who are as enthusiastic about the growth and development of Chilton County as we ourselves are. Our enthusiasm comes natural because we are interested in the future of this County and its people. What we don't understand is why there are so many of us, in the same situation, who don't seem to give a royal rip. There's something wrong! Now all we've got to do is find out what!

And while we're on the subject; the biggest thing we notice is these folks mentioned are forever complaining about something, either real or manufactured. There is one thing that is a certainty: events and happenings are not going to change our attitude about life; but the attitude we assume will certainly have a decided effect on those events and happenings. Before you complain, stop and decide if you really and truly have the right to!

Something To Consider

J. EDGAR Hoover really brings us face to face with something to consider in ourselves when he says: "Too many of us concentrate on the negative rather than the positive. They are against communism without being for freedom. They are against ignorance without being for education. They are against sin without being for God." The food for thought in that statement is obvious!

Loan Price On Corn Storage Facility

Mr. Eddie Owen, Chairman, Chilton ASCS Committee, announced today that the loan price on No. 3 corn, or better is $1.27 per bushel for Chilton County.

Due to the reduction in corn acreage this year, it may be to your advantage to store your corn and get a loan on it. The interest rate on this type loan is 3%.

Since we do not have commercial storage in Chilton County, and you have a suitable place to store your corn, it might be worth your time to take advantage of this service offered by the government, stated Mr. Owen. There is also a Farm Storage Facility Loan available. This loan is to help farmers finance needed storage space on the farm. You can borrow 95% of the cost of the structure which is to be repaid in four annual installments at the rate of 4% interest. If you are interested in either of the two loans, be sure to go by the Chilton ASCS Office in Clanton.

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

BY CARL GOGGINS

The political season is in full swing now, and the bag is no limit. Such may be, presumably the chief reasoning behind Lt. Gov. James Allen of Etowah and Gov. Hugh Sen. Bob Kendall's recent decisions. Whatever the reason though, these two men are causing a great deal of speculation across the state. Here's why.

First, big word from Gadsden has it Allen is going to be a candidate in the coming lieutenant governor's race. When this rumor was first received several weeks ago, it was checked off; but now the story warrants merit, for time again it's being talked he will be in the chase and that close associate George and will give up his plans to run for that office and seek the Senate seat from Etowah County.

Informed sources report Hawkins, after deciding not to run for governor, wanted to make the Lt. Gov. race but Allen's apparent decision has influenced George to run locally. And like it or not, when Allen's name is mentioned around the political pros for the La. Gov.'s chair, ears perk up at immediately you hear comments like: "He would be tough," or, "If he runs he will win."

Further comment on why Allen would run extremely well is because he is well known; he won many Birmingham friends by helping fight the Jeffco Cup-Off Bill; and he would probably have little trouble in raising money to run on.

Strong speculation has it Allen runs for Lt. Gov. it will mean the Big Mules, who would probably back him to the hilt, have about decided they can't win in the governor's race, so will take second best. But second best could be a real winner, because it's the Lt. Gov. who appoints Senate Committee members.

Then, too, the man behind the gavel in upper chamber is a powerful being, especially if he is against legislation. Therefore, it's understandable why the Mules would want the Lt. Gov. on their side, isn't it?

Thus, if Allen does make the race, along with former Clay Rep. Pete Mathews, Lauderdale Sen. Bert Hattom, Bibb Rep. Virgil Asworth, and former Tuscaloosa Sen. E. W. Skidmore, there appears no doubt about this point in the game there would more than likely be a runoff.

When Sen. Kendall of Evergreen decided to throw his hat into the ring against Farm Bureau President Walter Randolph for the Bureau's top post, all sorts of conjecture was forthcoming. Especially after a Kendall victory. If one comes, is considered. Of course, Kendall, who is expected to be Randolph's most formidable opposition in years has his hands full for Randolph has been the Farm Bureau power for 21 years.

But Randolph's political enemies figure he can be had this trip, and they are apparently out to get him. And a Kendall win, observers feel, change, especially in the coming election, for no doubt Randolph has state wide candidates and he which Kendall as head of the Bureau are interested in and reau might desire to change.

Alabama's nine congressmen are pumping hard now. Ran across George Huddleston of Birmingham in Morgan County the other day and Albert Rains kicked off his state wide campaign in Alex City last week. Understand Carl Elliott and others already are sending out letters apparently seeking support.

Hear that Cullman Rep. John Guthrie may take to the stump against the Patterson-supported $10 million bond issue for the new Huntsville Research Center will probably pass December 1, that reason it will be because it would mean a great deal toward the state's education and economic betterment.

Within a few months faster cruisers were ready for use by the North. For use in shallow waters they developed steam powered "ninety-day gunboats" named for the time it required to build them. And for fast maneuvering on rivers gunboats called double ended were constructed. These were canoe shaped vessels capable of reversing direction without turning the crafts.

When little equipment to build a Navy, the South was dependent upon capturing or purchasing vessels. By October 1861 the CSS Sumter, purchased at New Orleans, was on its commerce raid. By the end of 1861 it had added 12 vessels to its credit.

On October 11, 1861, the CSS Nashville, a captured vessel, escaped through the blockade at Charleston, South Carolina. One day later, the USS Richmond was damaged at the Head of Passes on the Mississippi River when attacked by CSS ram Manassas. And on October 12, 1861 James M. Mason and John Slidell, envoys to England and France, secured passage of the British steamer Teledora that took them through the blockade.

Money Problem

As State Superintendent of Education. I feel it my responsibility from time to time to pass on to the people of our State pertinent information which I believe our citizenry is entitled to have. Since assuming office on July 1, 1961, many questions have been asked me relative to the financial situation of the public schools. Often I am asked why the schools must have additional funds and why they cannot operate on the present budget. I would like to call to the attention of all the people of our State the fact that operation of the Minimum Program Fund, which supports the public elementary and high schools has been increased from 94% to slightly more than 14%. This simply means that county and city boards of education will receive in State funds approximately 86c out each dollar which was originally appropriated.

I think it would be of interest to the people of our State to learn that during the last school year, the period ending on September 30, 1961, the public elementary and high schools of Alabama received some $2,940,081.18 less than these school systems received during the previous twelve months. It is also our understanding that Thorsby and Jemison have some thing on the same order in mind and are working through the Clanton Housing Authority to have it come to pass. This will mean much to Chilton County towards attracting new industry and

ACNE
One of the unhappy disorders affecting the adolescent is acne. Acne vulgaris, or common acne, is the worst kind; for it is a chronic inflammatory disease of the sebaceous glands of the face, back and chest. These glands normally secrete an oily substance called sebum which keeps the skin pliable and soft. When the sebum flows outward more slowly than normal in the ducts, it tends to collect as a plug, causing raised spots on the skin called whiteheads or blackheads.

Practically every aspect of poor health has been mentioned as a possible contributing factor to acne. Most authorities, however, changes play a minor role in causing acne. It is most often used in order to tendancy to acne include cleanliness of the skin, of an excess of cosmetics, especially of sugar in the diet, the proper vitamin A and B, the dermatologist of acne, sleep, plenty of fresh air, Moderate exercise.

ABUNDANT LIFE

How TO CONTROL A BAD SITUATION
A young fellow was having a lot of trouble with his mother-in-law. Every afternoon when he came home from work, she was in a peevish mood. She was constantly nagging, complaining and accusing him unfairly.

At first he took it meekly. But then he could no longer bear it in silence. Unknowingly he began to reflect her mood like a mirror. If she complained that she and her daughter had too much work to do, he gripped right back to how hard he had worked at the office. When she accused him of not making enough money, he would quickly inform her that he made more than the average person, but that she and her daughter would have bankrupted a very wealthy man.

In fact, every time she yelled, he yelled. His wife, who was caught in the middle, yelled first at one and then at the other. The children joined in and just yelled.

The home became so tense and edgy that divorce seemed to be the only solution. And he made this decision. He decided he must have help. He went to his pastor and talked the situation over with him.

They discussed who was setting the tempo and emotional of the household. They both agreed that the mother-in-law was.

Then the pastor told him this: "You are simply reflecting whatever mood your mother-in-law establishes. There is only one way to ensure peace and har-

WIDELY KNOWN FOR QUALITY FRUIT

Inherent Climate Willing to Pay Top Prices — Profitable History

Mr. and Mrs. Cox realize repeat income from many sources — Peaches, plums, plums, chestnuts, figs, berries, hogs and livestock. They've built a great repeat business by honest dealings and by offering superior quality. Fruit can be sold at the packing shed nearby, or by the load in the fields, but the widely known Cox roadside stand has enabled this couple to get a premium retail price for much of the fruit produced. "People have been stopping with us for 40 years," said Mr. Cox. "We guarantee everything — let people select their own fruit if they like. One satisfied customer tells another, and now we ship all over the nation. We sell to Alabama leaders like Mr. Comer of Comer Mills and Thomas W. Martin of Alabama Power, as well as tourists from everywhere." He makes mail order sales all over the country.

Prices have ranged from a high of $9.00 per bushel to $1.00. You know they'll never be under $1.00, and if you figure the income from 8,000 trees, based on a yield of 3 bushels per tree even at a $1.00 per bushel, you can see you'll have a good income. "We had no trouble getting $3.00 per bushel most of the time," said Mr. Cox.

My Neighbors

It's sad to report that 48% of Chilton County's senior citizens' 65 years of age and over are welfare cases. We have 2657 people more than 65 years of age and in 1960, 1295 were welfare cases and received $781,142.00 in welfare checks. To qualify they had to give ample proof that their monthly income was less than $75.00. There were, in addition in 1960, 604 dependent children in 161 families drawing welfare checks totalling $68,377.72.

Invitation To Industry

WHAT THE PEOPLE DO FOR A LIVING

Agriculture remains as one of the chief income producing vocations in Chilton County. But, it decreases in importance as far as the population statistics are concerned with each agricultural five year Census. For example in 1954 the Census takers counted 2785 farms. But, in 1959 the number had dropped to 1898. This means that in the five year period between 1954 and 1959 30% of the farms went out of business in Chilton County. It is also interesting to note that the average age of all farm operators in 1959 was 51 years. In addition to the drop in the number of farms the acres of crop land harvested in 1959 was 40,021, whereas in 1954 the crop land harvested was 53,577.

An interesting fact is that in order to get by most of the farm families must have outside income and the 1959 Census shows that out of the 1898 farm families 1105 had other income of the family exceeded the value of the farm products produced.

The local economy of the County also feels that each year the tremendous impact of school expenditures, which are by and far the largest single governmental expense in the county. In 1960 the public school system's budget in Chilton County was $1,884,205.29. Schools are very expensive items in the State's budget and in rural counties the cost is often times increased greatly because of the transportation cost to and from school by publicly operated school buses. Chilton County now has 62 school buses and they average 1,000 miles per month each during the school term at a cost of 18c per miles. Therefore, we see that is a school bus drives just one mile out of it's way to pick up a child it cost the county and state an additional 36c per day or $1.80 per week just to get that one child that extra mile closer to the regular bus stop.

During the last month of 1960 school term 6028 students were enrolled in the public schools of Chilton County. 4869 were white and 1159 were Negro. The 1960 population census shows that in the school age group (6 to 18) there were 6579. This indicates that 551 in the school age group were not enrolled in the public school system.

They include children reaching school age after the term began and children who quit after the 8th grade, the mentally retarded, and students who drop out to get married or because of illness.

It's sad to report that 48% of Chilton County's senior citizens' 65 years of age and over are welfare cases. We have 2657 people more than 65 years of age and in 1960, 1295 were welfare cases and received $781,142.00 in welfare checks. CLIMATE

Chilton County's annual temperature is 64° and the average annual rainfall is 54 inches. The land surface area is 699 Sq. miles.

In our next issue of the Newsletter, we hope to make a survey of Chilton County's present industrial situation and commuting habits.

Large Crowds See New Bank Open

"It couldn't have been any more successful in any way at all!" Those were the words used by President Ed Clapp, describing the Open House festivities held at the Bank of Maplesville this past Sunday afternoon and Monday morning.

Hundreds of people were present at 2 p.m. Sunday when the ribbon was cut in front of the bank. Open House was held from then until 5 o'clock.

A drawing was held Monday morning and the following persons were awarded $25 savings deposits:

J. D. Pickering, Plantersville; Ben S. Atchison, Stanton; James E. Webb, Rt. 2, Maplesville; Vandy Head, Clanton; James B. Smith Lawley and Mrs. Evelyn Roebuck, Rt. 2, Maplesville. Little Miss Anna M. Hampton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hampton did the drawing for the occasion.

Some 400 persons registered on Sunday and, according to officials who were receiving the guests and showing them around, another 400 did not register. This in itself indicates that the day was quite successful.

The new Bank of Maplesville is now officially open for business and for your inspection. Present directors are: W. L. Hampton, H. G. Herrod who is vice president, J. P. Thomas, also a vice president, W. C. Herrod, E. T. Clapp who is president; Stanley Hayes, K. C. Gubern, J. U. Chambers, E. P. Jones who is cashier and Margaret N. Clapp.

Bookmobile Service To Begin Immediately

On Monday, October 16 at the City Hall an enthusiastic group of citizens representing various clubs and organizations met to hear plans discussed for installation of the Bookmobile Service for Chilton County. This service of the Alabama Public Library Service Division comes through the untiring efforts of Morris Moates, James D. Hefflin and Jon Will Pitts of the Jaycee's club. It was the desire of these citizens that all arrangements for the setting up of this service and plans for its successful maintenance be set in motion immediately.

The Study Club accepted the responsibility of working out schedules for the routes of the Bookmobile along with Mr. Morris Moates, Mrs. Johnny Lane, Mr. John Sellers and all Home Demonstration Clubs throughout the County. In this project all teachers and many faculties of the County Board of Education are asked to aid in setting up a workable schedule which will be rendered by the Bookmobile.

Public Libraries have been rich storehouse of the mind from which boys and girls and adults have given pleasure, inspiration and knowledge. But only since the establishment of Bookmobile have all these riches been available to those in rural areas.

After informative talks by Mr. Morris Moates, James D. Hefflin and Jon Will Pitts of the Jaycee's a discussion and question session followed and plans were made for the establishment of City Public Library Service Division and the Cooperation of City and County officials and Boards.

Upon formal request to the above official governing bodies, quarters for a City Library it is hoped will be provided in the City Hall and permanent headquarters rare Service Division will be housed in the former County Jail after it can be renovated through joint efforts of our City and County.

Friends of the Library plans to pay the salary of a librarian by voluntary contributions of all citizens interested in securing this service for the people of Chilton County. As Sen. Lister Hill put it, "More than ever before, Americans must be fully informed of the forces and events, which mood our severely changing world."

We Don't Want Industry—

"We cannot sell a bond issue in Clanton. That is the way most of your industry seeking new locations likes to do business. That is a good reason why we don't have more industry in Clanton. The people don't want it!"

There words came this week from a source which bears listening to. It points up a possible answer to a problem which we've been seeking the answer to for some time. "Why don't we have more industry in Clanton and Chilton County?"

I want industry for Chilton County, more than any other one thing, as far as the economy of my community is concerned. The citizen I talk to each week on the street and in business wants industry, or so he says! Then who doesn't want industry?

It seems that the answer to this question lies with the people in this community who can afford to support a bond issue for instance, the people who can afford to spend money in order to make better living for our entire community!

Then what manner of evil spirit possesses these people to make them believe that industry will not pay all of us? Is it possible that these people are ignorant enough to resent new business coming into the community?

Ordinarily you would say that anyone who had money would logically be something other than ignorant; otherwise they wouldn't have money! Are there individuals in Chilton County, born with silver spoons in their mouths, so to speak? And are they numerous enough to hold the rest of us back while they sit on their inheritance or good fortune?

Obviously, there are not enough of us here in Clanton or Chilton County who truly want industry badly enough to get out and get it. The number is growing, however, and we predict that in the very near future the revolution will come to pass whereby the wishes of the majority of the common folk, the working man, the backbone of this nation will be supreme and whether or not an idea is sanctioned by the "upper class" will matter very little, if at all.

There has been so much backsliding with regards to industry of late that a greatly growing number of our citizens are taking a second look at the problem. And that is the key to our economic progress and development in Chilton County: an aroused, and thus interested public!

The Right To Vote—

AND what is "the right to vote"? Taking away all the political double-talk and social pressure, the right to vote is simply the birth given privilege of the American citizen to express his own individual opinion.

This in itself, is a vital influence on the future of our nation, and is one that is being sorely abused and neglected.

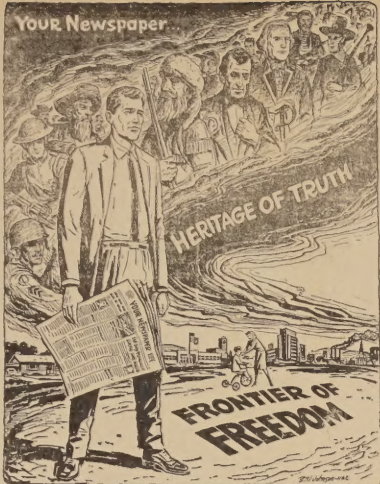

Our young people, graduating from high school, do not know how to exercise the privilege, or better the duty, of voting. They simply do not know the mechanics of it. What to do where, when and how to do it. That is an important influence on the fact that we have too few people voting who really should be. We are not for our fight votes; the people simply will not turn out to vote their convictions.

We think a large part of the reason for this is ignorance after the fact. Our people, youngsters especially, simply do not know what they are supposed to do about their voting, and they are ashamed to admit it.

Our high school teachers, principals and Boards of education would do well to consider this as an important factor in interesting more of our good young people in politics and the American way of majority rule. Not only should we instill in the high school student a desire to support the Constitution and to carry out his duty to his country; we should also tell them how it's done, in black and white so that there will be no mistaking their knowledge of the system and ideals they are asked to support and maintain.

You don't tell an airplane pilot the importance of his job and the cost of his machine, and then fail to teach him how to fly it!

AMERICA'S TEXTBOOK

Take Your Choice — Security Or Opportunity—

Can a new business succeed in the USA today? Is the risk worth it? One of the best answers we've seen to these questions is the following editorial by the Warner & Swasey Company, manufacturers of heavy industrial products:

"With all the emphasis in this nation on personal security, it is encouraging to know there are still young Americans more interested in Opportunity. Last year almost a quarter of a million new (most very small) corporations were started in this country, plus countless more partnerships and individual one man concerns.

"There is proof some true Americans are still alive, with courage and determination and willingness to work. And willingness to take a chance, for they know nobody guarantees them success—they will have to earn it.

"Out of those thousands some will fail—and many of these will try again. Some will succeed—and provide the taxes, the jobs, the better products of the future.

"When this 'new-companies-started' index stops, America stops. And it will stop unless tax laws let these young companies keep enough profit (when they make it) to grow and build for the future, and unless Government changes its attitude from punishing and suspicion of success to one of encouraging it.

"Big corporations, unions and government should all devote a healthy part of time and attention to providing Opportunity, and encouraging Americans with courage to seek and seize it."

Advertising Is Big Business In Hometown, U. S. A.—

The advertising operation, both local and national developed and handled by the small-town press, gives an excellent idea of the tremendous importance of the vast market called "Hometown, America."

First of all, as an ever increasing number of these non-metropolitan newspapers has gained in prosperity one finds fewer and fewer publishers and editors doubling in brass. A good many of them now not only have an adman but more and more have well paid advertising managers, and some have whole advertising staffs, employing professional space salesmen.

On top of that some 7,200 of these papers have Weekly Newspaper Representatives selling a growing amount of national linage for them.

Statistics help to enlarge this picture. There are 8,287 paid circulation weekly Hometown newspapers published in this country. Individually they are small: average circulation 2,436. But taken together, they make up a tremendous market.

Just how tremendous? The total paid circulation builds up to 20,186,144 copies. Further, there is an average of 4.3 readers per copy—so you have a potential reader exposure of 86,795,557 or over 50 per cent of the U. S. population. Surveys have indicated that a small-town reader picks up "his and her" newspaper 3.5 times a week. That makes the astounding total of 303,784,450 potential reader-impressions each week.

An important point to consider here is that hometown newspapers have exceedingly high ad-visibility and those three hundred million impressions produce exceedingly high sales, for all advertisers.

Just how high are sales? In a normal year, total advertising revenue, for weeklies, is $225,000,000. And here is how that breaks down by classification: total retail, classified and legal, $191,250,000; total national $33,750,000; spent by auto and truck advertisers, $19,225,000; gas and oil, $3,100,000; feed and fertilizer $2,250,000; farm equipment manufacturers, $1,300,000; beer and liquor, $1,150,000; drugs and proprietaries, $1,000,000; food, $750,000.

All the figures used throughout were the latest compilations that have been made. They are as of the beginning of 1960. Most figures refer to the small-town weeklies. However, when you add all the dailies large and small, one finds a market that is not just tremendous—it is almost staggering.

Taxes! Are They That Important—

WHICH would you say was more important to you and your community, your newspaper or taxes? seem like a foolish question? Well, it isn't. Have you ever thought about the fact that your newspaper is about the only enterprise left in our country, which is primarily and basically a public service institution, and is not supported or subsidized in some way, by the Federal Government?

And let's think seriously about that for a moment. Can taxes be that important? If a newspaper — say the one in your community — fails to pay its taxes according to the dictates of the government, then they can close the doors. . . cease publication of the people's free voice and right to be informed.

Are taxes that important? Can we allow such a thing as taxation to take away the very freedoms which our forefathers died to preserve? History, if not the present, has proved that the newspaper is a vital, irreplaceable, and unequalled part of our country and our way of life.

There is of course no reason to believe that taxes will ever take the place of the newspaper; but the appetite of the tax is such that it could, feasibly, swallow up anything, even such a public necessity as the free press of America if it is allowed to do so. Newspapers are certainly not the only thing hit hard by taxation, but it is a good example of the American institution being bled white by the greedy demands of taxes which are spent loosely, sometimes corruptly, and too many times against the very people who pay them.

If the American people would show the interest and enthusiasm in their free newspapers that they do in the Socialist hand-out programs our government is so wrapped up in, we would not only see new vitality and ambition toward free enterprise, but also a keen awareness in our people of their heritage and God-given rights and responsibilities!

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS
HOW GOD SUPPLIED OUR NEED

The other day I received a letter from an old friend who is now quite wealthy — a very successful businessman. I can really say that "I knew him when!" At one time he was as poor as anybody could be, struggling to make ends meet — a far cry from what he is today.

While reading his letter I couldn't help but recall a certain problem that confronted this man in his earlier life, and how God helped him through his trial and to new heights in the business world.

As a young man in college, John was struggling to pay his bills. He was lucky to get to college at all since his family was in poor economic circumstances. His superior mind had enabled him to win some scholarships which helped him financially and made it possible for him to spend more time in study. However, he still had trouble paying his living expenses.

Like so many of us, John took a wife before he entered college, strongly believing the old adage, "Two can keep a secret cheaply as one." As life would have it, John's "two" soon became "three," then "four" and finally "five."

John had faith that he would succeed, but he was worried over pressing bills and insufficient income to keep his creditors satisfied.

"One night I began to panic," John told me. "The angels were hammering me for the rent, and I didn't have it. I didn't know where I was going to get it. All I knew was that it was winter and very cold outside. We couldn't be turned out with three small children. So, in desperation, I fell to my knees and asked God for help. 'God,' I prayed, 'somehow, somewhere, please help me get that rent money. I've just got to have it.'"

The Lord shall guide thee continually. — (Isa. 58:11)
Keep this prayer close to you as you attend to the day's affairs, and you will find, at the day's end, that it has been a blessed day.

"Even back in Grampa's time there was something to make you sleep... they called it work."

by BOB

OUR son Ben and yours truly, along with Mr. Semmie Scott took in the Open House ceremonies at the Bank of Maplesville this week and were very pleased with the entire thing. Mr. Ed Clapp, he's the president of the bank, had told us that there would be a lot of fanfare and hornblowing; it would just be a simple but effective dedication program. It went off without a single hitch that we could see and folks came from all over the four-county area around Maplesville to see their new bank. It was an enjoyable and memorable day, one to be cherished and long remembered by those in and around Maplesville whose hard work and diligence has made such a thing possible. Our warmest congratulations to the folks!

AT Destin, Fla., they have an annual prize of $250 for the largest sailfish caught in the year. Last week Mr. Smoke from west of Clanton caught a beauty and thought he had the prize money in the bag along with his prize sailfish. So much so, in fact that he went out on about a hundred dollar limb to get the monster stuffed and mounted. A few days later another fellow came up with what seemed to be a prize sailfish. And you know what? It was just about 5/8 of an inch longer than Mr. Smoke's! Now if that isn't enough to make a fellow swear off fishing, for fun or other-wise we don't know what is!

MOST regrettable to learn of brother Harry Loyd's illness. It seems he's laid up, pretty serious. By we understand, for a few weeks. Harry and family have been a wonderful boon to this community since coming here a couple of years ago and we're sorry to learn of his misfortune. Hope he's up and kicking around again real soon!

PLEASE take note this week that this is the News' third annual salute to the Oil Men of Chilton County. This is one of the largest industries in the area and the men in oil are always striving to find new ways to better serve the people of Chilton County. We are proud to be connected with the Oil Men in Chilton and hope that you, too, will join us in this salute to the men who keep the nation on the go, the oil distributors, the service station men, the dealers, agents and all others who are in any way associated with the oil industry of Chilton County.

IT is getting to be an annual thing with us this Trick or Treat business on Halloween. We don't like it. And we know of hundreds of others just like us, who think that this business of youngsters going around on Halloween "begging" for candy, is a nuisance and assorted junk has to be run in the ground. It is aggravating and imposing good nature of folks who it is also disgraceful when you multiply your terms by several million of it is O. K., but knows what a little bit of stop? Not many of the little critters!

We'll we know a million problem! We didn't the idea, but we sure can a way to put it to rest one that will help others hinder them. Here for is a good example of what youngsters CAN do on a night, instead of carousing looking for trouble.

The Young People's Churches in this area have an excellent job over the q43y9L D:) (y) $200 in collecting funds for the records show that during the past few years their collection during Trick or Treat for UNICEF have totaled $4472. In of the aid given to 10 million children and mothers by the United Nations Children's Fund over 100 countries, this could that our boys and girls have the following thing:

vaccine to protect 50,000 ren from tuberculosis; a daily glass of milk for children for a month; penicillin to cure 10,000 of yaws, a crippling tropical disease;

antibiotics to save 272,000 from the blindness of trachoma; DDT to protect 435,000 against malaria for a year; sulfone to treat 544 young rosy vitamins successfully three years;

272,370 vitamin capsules for dren suffering from malnutrition. This year the boys and this area hope that their collection of $223.44 will led. They ask for friends neighbors to participate in Trick or Treat for UNICEF October 30th.

Now there is something books! Miss Helen I though she'll be the last to Chilton County. She has done more for this than perhaps any other one thinks this UNICEF Trick Treat is the thing. A can't help but agree with ter seeing that can be done the kids really try!

TANGIBLE PROGRESS in civil defense in Charlotte-Mecklenburg County, N. C. can be measured by the moving of its office from the trailer to the house, made possible by a new Federal cost-sharing program for State and local CD personnel and administrative staff workers.

NEW LAW AIDS C.D. BUILDUP

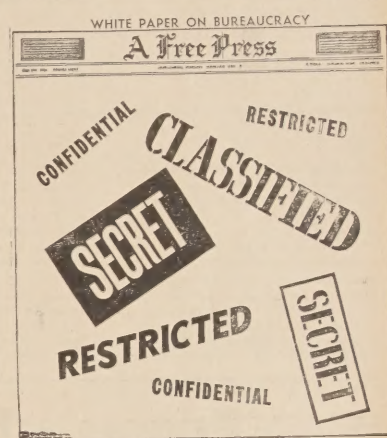

New muscle for understaffed State and local civil defense agencies is now resulting from a Federal program to match 50-50 with States or localities the expenses of additional civil defense staff workers.

This new program, authorized by Public Law 85-606, provides $5,000,000 in the current fiscal year for the hiring of additional State and local civil defense personnel and to meet added expenses such as office rental, furniture, necessary equipment and official travel. This is the first time Federal funds have supplemented State or local civil defense salary or administrative expenses. States and localities have requested funds for 3,633 employees under this program.

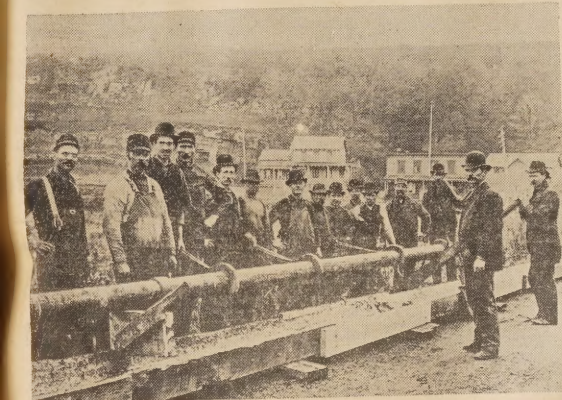

FRANK B. ELLIS, Director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, who administers the shared-cost program, stresses that the funds must be used to expand State and local civil defense capabilities and that hiring must be on a merit basis. Ellis declares: "We cannot maintain a status quo in civil emergency planning in the face of tensions that now beset the world. Civil defense at the local level must expand to keep pace with our national need to strengthen our resistance to aggression and measure up to the President's expressed demand for maximum effectiveness in civil emergency operations."

A typical example of how Public Law 806 is helping our States is that of North Carolina. Under its director, Major General Edward F. Griffin, the North Carolina Civil Defense Agency has hired 21 professional and clerical people to strengthen the State's readiness for emergency action. Hitherto its staff of 11 persons was hard-pressed to maintain a basic minimum of readiness for emergency preparedness.

THE STATE, which was allocated $113,000 by OCDM, passed on $33,040 of its allotment to local civil defense organizations for the hiring of an additional 39 persons. The bulk of these are clerical workers, whose shortage in the past often has hobbled the executive staff with routine but necessary tasks.

BIRTHPLACE OF THE OIL INDUSTRY - Titusville was a quiet little Pennsylvania town of 300 population in 1859 when Edwin L. Drake drilled the first oil well nearby. With the mushrooming growth and activity that came with oil, the "Queen City" by 1873 had grown to the proportions shown above.

LAYING PIPELINES BY HAND - Early pipelines for transporting oil to refineries and markets were slow and arduous to build by the muscle-power methods illustrated in this picture taken in New Jersey in the 1890's. Slowly but surely, however, the network grew to the 205,000 miles of pipeline now crisscrossing the country. The BOOM TOWN, THEN GHOST TOWN - Pitohole City was a fabulous boom town in the oil rush days in northwestern Pennsylvania. Discovery of the first flowing well there in 1865 caused the town to grow within nine months from nothing to a "city" of 15,000 population. A year later the town was deserted and today no sign of remains.

May 20, 1927—Lindbergh flies the Atlantic

A Great Day for America—and Oil Was There!

For 100 years—since 1859—oil's people and products have been responsible for milestone after milestone in America's march into the future.

From the hushed doubts of a Long Island airfield to the rousing cheers of a Paris throng, Charles Lindbergh flew into history. Oil was there... oil helped make it possible!

Oil's first hundred years have brought undreamed-of changes in the lives of all of us. Not only in efficient, economical fuels and lubricants but in clothing, food, medicine, housing, and in many other ways we reap the benefits of a century of oil progress.

At the root of this progress lies the tradition of freedom fostered and cherished in our country. Working in this same freedom, oil's men and women will bring forth more Great Days for America. No one knows all the wonders that lie ahead for America. But we know this—progress lies ahead... and oil will be there!

Another Great Day Ahead...and oil will be there!

Someday in the future...chines boards will span the Ocean in less than an hour...this Great Day for America...oil will be there!

The "Fifth Freedom"

How a century of oil progress lets your family enjoy a "Fifth Freedom"—the freedom to go!

Today oil makes travel a pleasure instead of a problem. Whether we ride to work, drive for pleasure or fly on business—oil takes us where we want to go—quickly, comfortably and confidently. No wonder Americans are the most "free-to-travel" people.

Progress in transportation is only one part of oil's first century. Oil research in medicine, farming, new products and many other fields helps make a better life for all of us. And the best is yet to come!

Born in Freedom... Working for Progress...

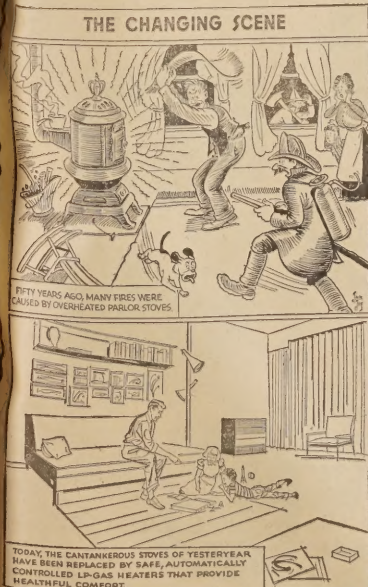

Both America and the oil industry have come a long way since that August day in 1859 when Edwin L. Drake drilled the first oil well at Titusville, Pennsylvania. The development of the oil industry has closely paralleled the development of America for the last hundred years. A free climate nourished them both, provided the atmosphere in which they grew best. And, though each has moved forward magnificently, the world's people expect that, for both, the best still lies ahead.

We in the oil industry are proud of our contributions to America's ever-rising standard of living. Nothing in our land of ours moves, but that oil helps to move it.

How 100 years of oil progress helps today's farmer produce better food for us and a better life for himself!

The men and women of oil and the American farmer have worked side-by-side for the past century. Together they've filled America's shopping bags with more food, better tasting food, healthier food.

And while oil's products and power have helped farmers grow better food for everyone, they've also brought undreamed-of changes in the way of life of the farmer himself. That's because agricultural progress is just one candle on oil's 100th birthday cake.

Today's farmers enjoy better transportation, clothing, shelter, medicine and many other things made possible by the first century of oil progress.

We're proud of the part we've had in bringing progress to the farmers in our community and of the progress our farmers have brought to you. And we're sure that for all America the best is yet to come.

Buried With Honors

COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA—A 16-foot galvanized corrugated steel culvert pipe has been "buried" with honors. An historical plaque marks the location of the water-drain pipe which is being used in the Pottawattamie County highway improvement program.

The forty-two-year-old galvanized steel pipe—24 inches in diameter—was removed from its old site. Engineers checked its condition, found it excellent, and ordered it put back into the ground for further duty. The plaque above it notes the culvert's long life, recording the original date of installation and the date when it was reburied.

The Committee of Galvanized Sheet Producers said this long life is typical of galvanized steel culverts, many of which are still in use after more than 60 years, and noted that the durability of the culverts is saving taxpayers' money in the construction of modern roads and highways.

Modern production techniques continue to make available galvanized corrugated steel culverts which are not only economical, but should have even longer life, the Committee said. It stated these features contributed to the use of galvanized steel culverts in the Interstate Highway network, and other highways, because of their efficient operation and long life.

Shrimp And Olive Bake In A Superb Sauce

Flavorful California ripe olives and Gulf Coast shrimp combine handsomely in this interesting au gratin dish. It's a rich and delicious entrée designed for the National Fish 'n' Seafood Parade. Bake the shrimp, ripe olives and mushrooms in a rich cheese sauce until the almond topping browns and the sauce is bubbly.

GOURMET SHRIMP AND OLIVE BAKE

3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons chopped onion
1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
1 chicken bouillon cube
1/2 cup hot water

3 tablespoons dry white wine (optional)
Evaporated milk
1/2 cup grated Gruyere cheese
1 1/2 to 2 cups cleaned, cooked shrimp (fresh, frozen or canned)
1/2 cup ripe olives

Blend in cheese. Stir in shrimp, olives cut into large wedges, and mushrooms. Turn into shallow casserole or individual baking dishes. Top with almonds. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Harvest Supper — Soup or Stew?

Soup or stew? This savory mixture of chicken and vegetables might be either one. It's best served in a bowl so everyone can enjoy all the flavorful juices. California wine is the unusual seasoning; its alcohol vaporizes long before the soup is done.

For a substantial supper, serve bowls of Harvest Supper Soup with French bread, buttered and sprinkled with Parmesan cheese before it is toasted. Accompanying glasses of red or white dinner wine will turn this supper into a festive affair.

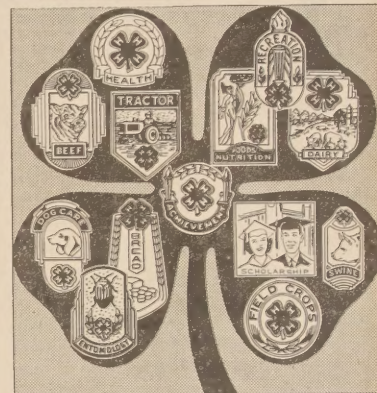

HARVEST SUPPER SOUP

(Makes 2 quarts)

- 4 large chicken parts (breast, legs or thighs — about 3/4 to 1 pound)
- 3 cups water
- 1 1/2 cups California Santerne or other white dinner wine
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1/2 teaspoon EACH curry powder and paprika
- 1 (10 1/2-oz.) can chicken noodle soup
- 2 cups cooked vegetables (such as carrots, green beans, whole kernel corn*)

Place chicken in saucepan with water, wine, salts, curry and paprika. Bring to a boil, lower heat, cover and simmer until chicken is tender, about 1 1/2 hours. Remove chicken and when cool enough to handle, remove meat from bones and cut it into small chunks. Skim any excess fat from broth. Add chicken noodle soup, chicken pieces and vegetables. Simmer 5 or 10 minutes longer.

*Or, use 7 to 8 1/2-oz. cans of these vegetables, undrained.

MEDALS MARK 4-H PROGRESS FOR MANY

Scholarships Aid Outstanding Youth

One 4-H Club member in 14 will qualify for a county medal this year, predicts the National 4-H Service Committee, while the ratio for national scholarship winners will be one in approximately 10,000 members.

The coveted medals shown here represent 12 different 4-H award projects. More than 50,000 boys and girls in virtually every county in the U. S. who have done outstanding work in one of these areas will earn a medal, according to the committee.

Altogether, there are nearly 60 national 4-H projects and scholarship programs participated in by 2.3 million club members. Last year a total of 166,000 medals were won.

Only members over 15 years of age who have been in 4-H at least three years can compete for scholarships and other awards. Younger 4-H'ers are eligible for medals only, one of the first badges of county recognition.

At the national level, around $15,000 in scholarships will be presented to qualified 4-H youth and young adults who were former 4-H'ers. This is a slight increase over last year, the committee reports.

All 4-H award winners are named by the Cooperative Extension Service. Funds for awards come from private business firms and educational foundations, and are administered by the National 4-H Service Committee.

Among the award sponsors are: Ford Motor Co., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, Standard Brands Incorporated, Oliver Corporation, Ralston Purina Company, Hercules Powder Company, Allied Chemical Corporation, General Foods Corporation, Eli Lilly and Company, John Deere, Moorman Mfg. Co., Humble Oil and Refining Company.

Also, California Chemical Company, Singer Sewing Machine Company, Homelite, a Division of Tectron Inc., Sperry and Hutchinson Company, Massey-Ferguson, Inc., Successful Farming (through Edwin T. Meredith Foundation), Elgin National Watch Company, International Minerals & Chemical Corporation, and Whirlpool Foundation.

As the 4-H Club year draws to a close, well over 1,400 top-notch boys and girls look forward to winning the most exciting award of their 4-H career: a sponsored trip to the week-long National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. More than 200 will receive scholarships at this event.

America's "Eiffel Tower"

A 600-foot "Space Needle," topped with a 250-seat revolving restaurant, will be a major attraction at Seattle's Century 21 World's Fair, opening in April of 1962.

Three elevators, traveling the length of two football fields, will take guests to the top of the central core between three giant steel legs, which carry passengers to the restaurant. They will step out into a fixed interior, containing a cocktail lounge and kitchen. The dining area is on a huge, doughnut-shaped turntable, 94 1/2 feet in diameter, rotating about the center once each hour. Thus, guests will enjoy a 360-degree panoramic view of the Fair grounds and Seattle's skyline in the course of a meal.

A 1-hp. electric motor powers the turntable, turning 180 degrees for a single rotation of the restaurant. The complex design and engineering of the mechanism was done by the Systems Management Division of Western Gear Corporation, Everett, Wash. Manufacturing and installation is the work of the Industrial Products Division of Western Gear Corporation, Seattle. Being controlled by the frequency of Seattle's power system, the turntable will run with the accuracy of an electric clock.

The 2,000-ton Space Needle, tallest structure west of the Mississippi River, will be preserved after the Fair closes. It is expected to become a world tourist attraction to rival the Eiffel Tower, which was built for the famous Paris International Exposition of 1889.

SOARING "SPACE NEEDLE" which will rise 600 feet above the Seattle Century 21 World's Fair of 1962. The circular platform at the top will contain a rotating restaurant.

Army National Guard Exalains Program

Most readers of this newspaper have taken care of their own draft and military obligation problems long since but a lot of their children haven't. This article gives a thumbnail sketch of the program offered by the Army National Guard of the fulfillment of military obligations.

In general the young man may pursue the even tenor of his ways until age 23 and take his chance then on the draft, which took 25,000 of that age in September and will take another 20,000 in October. They too two years in the Army two years in the Ready Reserve, two in the Standby Reserve. Draft Director Hershey says the draft age will approach 22 by next year.

At present a young man must register for the draft at 18. Technically he is liable for induction at any time from 18 1/2 to 26 years of age. The theory of the Army National Guard program is that a man starts early, as young as 17 with parents consent and at about high school graduation age takes 6 months active duty training with the regular army forces and then comes back home to his home unit to drill and be a member until his obligation is served.

He doesn't necessarily have to get out then - he can choose to stay in the Army National Guard and continue to get paid for his attendance at drills and build up retirement points for when he reaches that retirement age that so many others have.

National Guard enlistment is for 3 years. An enlistee under age 18 1/2 incurs an 8 year obligation

Pensions & Securities

Those 18 1/2 through 25 incur a 6 year obligation. If the guardmen does not reenlist at the end of 3 years enlistment he automatically becomes a member of the U. S. Are you aware that juvenile delinquency has been on the decline for three years in Alabama at a time when national figures show an increase? Miss Joyce Clements, County Pensions and Security Director said that because a vital part of the work of the Department is in the area of Juvenile delinquency, the fifth program in the current television series Alabama Welfare Services is devoted to this subject.

Juvenile Delinquency will be seen on channels 2, 7 and 10 at 6:00 p.m. Friday, October 20, Miss Clements said. It is released through the cooperation of the Broadcasting Services Extension Division, University of Alabama.

In addition to Moderator, Alvin T. Prestwood, Pensions and Security Commissioner, participants will be Dallas County Child Welfare Worker, Clara Mae Lloyd, Probate Judge Bernard Reynolds, who is juvenile court judge in Dallas County, and Alex Darabaris a staff member at the Alabama Boys Industrial School.

Miss Clements said the program would review the many responsibilities of the Department in re-

Miss Clements urged all citizens and organizations in keeping juvenile delinquency down in Alabama to see this important program.

AN INTERESTING current development in education is the use of television for instruction—both in classrooms and in the home. Already in use in many sections of the country, TV lessons may someday become as commonplace as TV westerns. Bell System TV transmission facilities and years of experience are a valuable asset to educators who are looking for a solution to a growing shortage of qualified teachers.

Ever See This Emblem Before? Its the symbol of the Telephone Pioneers of America—225,000 active and retired employees who have been in the business 21 years or more. Now celebrating their Golden Anniversary, the Pioneers have 63 National Chapters, all of which will be re-emphasizing their original goals of fellowship, loyalty and service. Wherever you find Telephone Pioneers, you'll find them engaged in worthwhile community projects to make their home towns even better places in which to live.

CANADIANS ARE THE TALKINGEST PEOPLE in the world, according to the latest telephone statistics. These figures show that their average phone conversations per person total 511 per year! The United States (472) was next, followed by Sweden (346). By states, Alaskans average 609 calls per person, and Hawaiians are next with 536.

CONVENIENCE, PLUS: An extension phone in your bedroom! Mighty welcome—when you're laziest or busiest; whether it's night-time or nap-time; daytime or anytime, you'll be forever grateful for a step-saving extension in your bedroom. Call us today and order yours.

Raisin Buttermilk And Applesauce Muffins

Try these tempting muffins for every meal of the day.

The word "gem" generally means a precious stone. But did you know that muffins years ago were also called gems? Although the term didn't mean jewel-like, muffins were still thought to be precious when it came to adding sparkle and interest to a meal. Breakfast, lunch or dinner—a basket of hot muffins will be the center of attraction. Muffins can be plain or fancy. For fancy muffins, some of the ingredients you might add to the batter are chopped fruits, jam or preserves, nuts, chopped vegetables, cooked meats such as sausage, bacon bits or luncheon meat, and grated cheese.

To start off, try these two recipes for Applesauce Raisin and Buttermilk Raisin Muffins. They're both extra good. They're tops in nutrition, too, because they're made with enriched flour.

BUTTERMILK RAISIN MUFFINS
2 cups sifted enriched flour 1/2 cup dark seedless raisins
1 tablespoon baking powder 1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon salt 1 1/2 cups buttermilk or sour milk
1/2 teaspoon soda 1/2 cup sugar
Sift together all dry ingredients. Add raisins. Combine egg, buttermilk or sour milk and shortening. Add liquid to flour mixture, stirring until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin cups 3/4 full. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 1 1/2 dozen 2-inch muffins.

APPLESAUCE RAISIN MUFFINS
2 cups sifted enriched flour 1/2 cup raisins
1 tablespoon baking powder 1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup applesauce
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon 1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar 1/2 cup melted shortening
Sift together all dry ingredients. Add raisins. Combine egg, applesauce, milk and shortening. Follow directions for Buttermilk Raisin Muffins. Makes 1 1/2 dozen 2-inch muffins.

A New Trick With Chocolate Icebox Cake

MOST EVERY SMART HOMEMAKER has a bag of tricks up her sleeve—a few short cuts to good eating—recipes so delicious and so glamorous as to be unrecognizable as short cuts. Here's one that is sure to be a welcome addition—a graham cracker and chocolate refrigerator cake. Sweet cooking chocolate, the delicious secret of so many famous Continental desserts, is used for the filling.

GRAHAM CRACKER REFRIGERATOR CAKE
1 package (1/4 pound) Dash of salt
1 sweet cooking chocolate 2 egg yolks
1 tablespoon water 1 cup whipping cream
12 double graham crackers
Melt chocolate in water in saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly. Add salt. Then add egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each. Cool. Meanwhile, whip cream. Then fold a little of the whipped cream into chocolate mixture. Blend well. Fold in remaining cream, blending well. Chill.
Spread double graham crackers with chilled chocolate mixture and layer 6 together in a loaf, repeat, making 2 loaves. Cover top and sides with remaining chocolate mixture. Chill 8 to 12 hours in refrigerator. Serve in slices. Makes 8 servings.

Streamers of scarlet Washington Delicious apples festoon snowy mound of tangy salad. Caught in a molded gelatine-whipped cream base are contrasting tastes: sweet and tart, cool and spicy. Golden Delicious apples. Of Smorgasbord heritage—this dramatic salad is perfect for holiday buffets.

Smorgasbord Apple Salad
2 large Washington Golden Delicious apples

Remove from heat; blend in softened gelatine. Combine mustard, vinegar, and remaining mixture; chill until slightly thickened. Core and dice golden apples; combine with pineapple tidbits and fold into gelatine mixture in whipped cream. Core and thinly slice red apple; arrange in pattern in a 5-cup mold. Carefully fill mold with gelatine mixture; chill until firm. Turn out on platter and garnish with tidbits of parsley or watercress. Serves 6-8.

GO DANISH, EAT HEARTY!

Here's a concoction that revolutionizes the world of sandwiches... the Danish open-faced sandwich. Perfect fare for your party "before the game" for any fall festivity! Eight versions of this man-pleasing delight can be seen in the October Ladies' Home Journal, and here are two to try right now.

Danish shrimp with dill: Sprinkle tiny canned shrimp with lemon juice. Place a crisp lettuce leaf on slices of lightly buttered, trimmed white bread. Mound 1/2 cup shrimp on each. Mix equal amounts of commercial sour cream and mayonnaise; season with lemon juice, liquid hot pepper seasoning and salt. Garnish with this and a sprig of dill, or a slice of pickle.

A Youth Prayer

O, God give me clean words, clean thoughts. Help me stand for the hard right and against the easy wrong. Save me from the habits that harm. Teach me to work as hard and play as fair in your sight alone as if all the world saw. Forgive me when I am unkind and help me forgive those who are unkind to me. Keep me ready to help others at some cost to myself. Send me chances to do a little good every day and so grow more like Christ.

Herman LeCroy; Co-Chairman Mrs. Alpha McRae; Standing Committee, Program, Mrs. Houston Nivens; Publications Mrs. Beatrice Bryan; Mission Study, Mrs. J. W. Sexton; Community Mission, Mrs. Lois Black; Stewardship, Mrs. H. W. Yeager; Prayer, Mrs. Houston Nivens; Flowers, Mrs. S. E. Waters; Social, Mrs. A. L. Farley; Benevolence, Mrs. Thomas Moore; Reporter Mrs. E. L. Leibold.

Mrs. Houston Nivens was in charge of the program and opened with the reading of the 67th Psalm. Mrs. Yeager, Mrs. Waters and Mrs. Sexton presented a most entertaining and enlightening program. The Baptist Mission work there they covered the natural resources, peculiar marriage customs, superstition and the language barrier all of which make missionary work there interesting but most trying and surely requiring much patience.

Rita Weed Is Sixteen

One of the loveliest parties of the season for the younger set was at the Veterans club on Saturday night, October 7, when Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Weed honored their daughter Rita with a party on her 16 birthday.

The color scheme was pink and white. The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth overlaid with net. A candleabra holding white candles entwined pink carnations centered the table. The heart shaped birthday cake was embossed in white with pink flowers and the figure 16 in pink on top. Individual cakes in pink and white with pink punch and cookies, mints and nuts were served to a large group of her friends.

Diversion for the evening was dancing, music by the Hi Fi and games. Rita received many nice and useful gifts. Coming from Troy for this occasion were an aunt Mrs. Yancy Shaurer, a cousin Larry Shaurer and both of her grandmothers who are Mrs. Henry Green and Mrs. Howard Weed. On Monday, October 30th the Young People of Clanton and surrounding areas will once again participate in Trick or Treat for UNICEF. The General Chairman for this project is Miss Helen Parrish and she will be aided by volunteer worker form the local churches.

Chilton County's contributions to UNICEF have grown tremendously since the Churches began their participation four years ago. In 1957 the contribution was $66.34; in 1958 the Young People of the Clanton Churches united in a joint drive and the collection amounted to $112.55; in 1959, $142.41; and in 1960 the result of Trick or Treat for UNICEF was $223.41.

What President Kennedy has described as an outstanding example of active citizen concern in the work of the United Nations Children's Fund started in a humble way as so many great human traditions will. A few children decided that that year on Halloween, rather than candy and apples they would like to collect pennies small coins that might help other children in need in other parts of the World.

They did and sent about $36 to UNICEF. The year was 1950. A decade later on October 31, 1960 over two and a half million American boys and girls in some 11,000 communities Trick or Treated for UNICEF, and the treats they received totaled $175,000.

A Halloween to share than scare a program for our children to enjoy double fun by helping other children everywhere. a fine new American tradition must go on. Please encourage your children to participate in Trick or Treat for UNICEF in your local community.

RESULTS from Many Years

War II were times of national crisis when his important. Down through the years, the pig has contributed to the welfare of humanity by helping man know the joy of good eating. He has provided high quality proteins, plus iron and mian.

Pork is an especially important source of thiamine, because there are fewer food sources of this vitamin than of other known vitamins. Miracle drugs, leather and numerous other by-products are additional benefits to mankind.

Furthermore, the pig is:

1. The most intelligent domestic animal in America, according to a study made by Cornell University (domestic animals include horses, cows, dogs, cats, etc.).
2. Adaptable to the extent that he will accept almost any environment, so long as he is not forced upon him through ignorance, although he prefers clean surroundings.
3. A perfect conservationist; he will eat whatever his master provides.

4. A prolific meat-making machine. A 10-sow herd, properly handled, should produce 35,200 pounds of meat annually. This is more meat produced annually than 70 head of cows will produce when each raises a 500-pound calf.

Alabama's stake in the pig is a big one. According to the 1960 census nearly 40,000 state farmers sell market hogs—pretty good proof that "Hammus Alabama" fits well on many thousands of these farms.

First place Geneva County, with 59,012 head marketed from 1,458 farms, sold more than the 17 lowest producing counties combined.

Alabama, with just more than a million head sold from 39,902 farms, ranked 17th in the nation. The average was 26 hogs sold from each farm. The pig changed to meet man's needs, so the pig methods to produce him. The trend today is toward a larger volume on the individual farms and greater specialization. (County agents reported last year that 102,343 porkers were sold in Alabama from 631 specialized feeding units.)

More and better farrowing facilities are being built to help save and sell larger litters. This business of raising hogs is constantly getting more complicated. The producer must be three men in one: hog raiser, scientist, and bookkeeper.

We haven't mentioned annual and sericea lespedeza. Sericea lespedeza has a place on the production of better quality forage. Many cattlemen use sericea as an insurance crop during extremely dry years for grazing and soil improvement. Sericea lespedeza may be followed with Coastal bermuda and crimson clover, a more productive and better quality pasture.

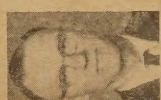

Study your land, talk to your county agent, and use the grasses and legumes that are best suited to your farm. On many farms it is best not to depend on any one grass and clover combination. You may need several pastures planned to fit combination on the correct soil type is a step toward a good pasture program, but it is not the complete answer. You must keep the proper fertility. This calls for lime and fertilizer. A definite program should be worked out based on soil tests and recommendations of the Auburn University Soil Testing Laboratory. You can't grow fat cattle on starved pasture. Well-fed pastures must control weeds and avoid overgrazing.

place on some farms to provide winter and spring pastures for mature beef cattle. Pensacola bahia grass is best suited for moist sandy lands or "carpetgrass" type of soil of central and southern Alabama. It is just as well to mention that the grass is not suitable on droughty upland soils. It is not as productive as Coastal bermuda on such soils. It is also difficult to keep a perennial or reseeding legume with it. However, bahia has a place in many pasture programs in the state.

Common bermuda is well established on many farms in the state. A common bermuda and reseeding crimson clover combination is the best to use in pecan orchards. Some farmers add rescue grass to the mixture. Although common when grown in combination with crimson clover or vetch it will go a long way toward furnishing the grazing needed on many livestock farms.

Other legumes or grasses may be added to the mixture on some farms. However, it is usually best to stick with one grass and not over two legumes in a clover-grass pasture.

PHILLIPS

You see, the pig is 39 million years older than man. (According to some scientists; we don't verify this fact.) Maybe the dog is older.

The American Meat Institute, the national association of the meat industry, states that facts and many more are available in "The Story of the Pig," a booklet available from the United States Department of Agriculture.

In certain parts of the British Isles, a slice of bacon eaten by a bride and groom once was believed to insure happiness for a year. In Latvia, the planting of a pig's tail insured good yields of barley; in some parts of Germany, planting ribs did a similar magic on flax.

As late as a century ago, pigs were considered weather prophets. The pig is a plunger. He ate at Pilgrimage—as part of Hernando de Soto's expedition which landed at Charlotte Harbor, Fla., on May 25, 1539. De Soto brought with him 13 pigs. And that started his troubles.

The Indians along his route learned just how good pork could be; and de Soto's records show that the whole Spanish expedition was completely turned to pork. Times because of the known up with America. Hogs on the winning side during the trying days of Valley Forge when pork chinks in brine became a saving provision to the tattered Continental Army. Protect Your Family From A Nuclear Attack

WHAT would you do if an H-bomb hit your area? Are you prepared? At the present most of us aren't.

Ninety per cent of the population could survive nuclear attack with adequate shelter, food and clothing. The basic responsibility of protecting your family is yours.

No area is safe from fallout. Winds can carry you will be. This can be earth, sand, debris, books, magazines, newspapers, or filing cabinets.

If you are caught in the house, the fallout will sift in like dust. Stop up the doors and windows tightly and stay in the center of the house, away from doors and windows. This will probably cut the radiation in half.

Staying in a basement will reduce your fallout exposure to about one-tenth of the outside exposure. If basement windows are protected with sandbags, exposure will be reduced more. As a do-it-yourself project, you can build a basement shelter of solid concrete blocks in your home for $200.

Changes in Agricultural Marketing
More teenagers and more people in the older age groups will effect domestic markets for agricultural products in the decades ahead, according to USDA forecasts.

There will be more youngsters with ravenous appetites. Older people will be doing less, thus eating less. So, the two groups may offset each other on the average food eaten by each person.

But market gains will depend mostly on population growth. It is believed that by 1955, the U. S. population will be about 10 per cent larger than it was in 1950.

Other things also effect the amount of farm products needed to feed the nation. Eating habits of the people have a big influence on the amount of food consumed. And eating habits are different by a number of factors: amount of money people have, desire for better diets, progress of science, food habits, medical and medical developments and big changes in the food supply.

Life Span Increases
A startling statement on how our life span has increased is that one-fourth of all the people who ever lived on this earth who passed age 65 are alive today.

English Club Meets "Beef and Liberty"
The "Beef and Liberty" was the stirring motto of an English club flourishing in England during the 14th and 15th centuries. The name of the club was "The Sublime Society of Beefsteaks." Members of the club wore a special uniform to their meetings—a blue coat and buff waistcoat with brass buttons engraved with the motto. The menu, of course, always included beefsteak served on hot power plates. Club rules strictly prohibited all plays of bad humor, and the society became noted for its good humor.

It is still easy to stay in a good humor when a person finds his teeth loose and his stomach weak. There is nothing to eat but steak dinner. Good news for the weak heart is that more U. S. steaks are made here than in any other country. The average family's grocery bill is only about one-fifth of the family's take-home pay today compared with one-fourth shortly after World War II. Americans are now getting more marketing services, more processing, distribution, and transportation services for their food. These marketing services are in direct benefit of the consumer by keeping them supplied with fresh fruits and vegetables.

Today's food bill also buys more convenience, food and meat-and-vegetable dinners. Foodshoppers get more for their money even though food prices have gone up over the last decade. The price rise is due to higher costs for wages, freight rates, fuel, supplies, equipment, taxes, advertising and all the other items used in getting food from the farm to the market. All together, these marketing costs take 63 cents of today's food dollar (April-time figure). The farmer gets less than 37 cents of the food dollar—or 12 cents less than he got 10 years ago.

Taxes and Co-Ops
"Tax favoritism, tax advantages, or tax discrimination in favor of cooperatives does not exist," stated the American Bar Association's president-elect, John C. Satterfield of Jackson, Miss.

"Every individual proprietor, every partnership, every corporation in the U. S. may enter into patronage contracts under which patronage refunds are deductible or excludable from taxable income of the business," he explained. "It is a weak and fallacious argument to say that because these 'double taxations' of corporate income and the dividends thereon should be double taxation of patronage refunds."

"One of the most powerful tools which the farmer may use to free himself of the economic pressures now being brought to bear upon him is the proper use of his cooperatives," he said. Mr. Satterfield, whose previous experience includes the legal aspects of cooperatives, took office as head of the 130,000-member Bar Association in August.

Twenty-One Per Cent More Chickens in Alabama
Alabama farms are expected to raise 9,627,000 chickens in 1951, the Alabama Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said. This is 21 percent more than the number raised in 1950. The number of broilers produced in Alabama in 1950 was 1,100,000. The number of chickens raised in the entire country is expected to total 34,626,000—four per cent more than the low number raised in 1950, but 10 per cent below 1950.

Every American should plan and act now for the safety of his family. For more detailed information, contact your local county agent or Civil Defense authorities.

FOOD is a bargain. It costs us less at the supermarket—in terms of hours we have to work to buy it—than ever before.

A person said to me the other day, "Our grocery bill is only part of the food bill. What about the money we consumers spend for taxation?" Why should we pay taxes when the government pays farmers to produce food?

and go under money on agricultural research and education when farmers are already producing more than we need?

Too many people have this misconception about agriculture. Not all the tax money you and I spend for agriculture benefits the farmer.

Consumers receive just as much benefit as the farmer if not more. Less than 1 per cent of the federal agricultural budget last year went for price support and conservation programs. These programs for which the cash outlay was $2.1 billion, directly benefit the farmer.

Many of the commodities under the price support program are used to help carry out international activities. Consumers benefit, too. These programs help to assure an abundant food supply. They also help to protect our investment in our agricultural plant and a stable, healthy agriculture is vital to the entire nation.

The True Picture
What are the real facts about our agricultural abundance? Farmers cannot produce exactly what we need, 180 million people. Few of us feel as if given the choice between too little and too much, would prefer that we produce too little.

Overproduction is fairly small in relation to total farm production. Between 92 and 95 per cent of our agricultural abundance moves through regular marketing channels each year. Although stocks of some products have become excessive, we should not forget that we must carry stocks as an insurance against emergencies at home or abroad.

Price support, crop storage, and conservation programs cost less than $2 billion in 1950. Their benefits to consumers are hard to measure.

Aggricultural research and education are other bargains we get for our tax dollar. Last year, USDA spent $200 million—just $1.10 per person. What did each person receive in return? Let's take an example. If farmers used the same production techniques as they did in 1940, it would cost $1.10 billion more to produce the food that each of us use. That cost amounts to $288 for each of the nation's families.

WAY I SEE IT...
By Dr. Fred R. Robertson, Jr., Director (Acting) Auburn University Extension Service

FOR more than 20 years "This Month in Rural Alabama" has gone into the homes of both rural and urban dwellers all over the state.

Those of us in the Extension Service are deeply appreciative of your reception to its pages of agricultural, homemaking, and urban information. Working in this publication has been a gratifying task and we trust it has helped Alabamians lead a better life.

Thus it is with regret that we announce the discontinuance of this publication as of the June issue.

The reason was not an easy one. However, due to budgetary limitations and the growing need for different types of communications media, we saw no alternative.

During the many years "This Month in Rural Alabama" has been published, your newspaper has been the means by which "This Month" was distributed. To this newspaper we offer our sincerest thanks.

It has been my pleasure during the past few months to visit with you through the columns of your newspaper. I hope you will recall some of the times discussed in the "This Month" columns.

I think it fitting here to salute the many of you who are actively supporting the program. The golden age of Alabama agriculture lies ahead. We in the Extension Service want to work with you in achieving the program's goal of a billion dollar farm income by 1970.

Although we won't be coming into your home through the "This Month" publication, our doors are always open and we stand to serve you in any way possible.

son. And its sole purpose is to assure the public of a clean, wholesome meat supply. Dedication of breeders in livestock is another program designed primarily at public health protection. Federal costs for this program are just a little over 11 cents per person. Just think of all the sicknesses and deaths that could be avoided if the school lunch program and the meat program of USDA last year, the program cost the government about $305 million. This is only about $1.69 per person. What did we get for this $1.69? We helped furnish noonday meals—by both cash and commodity assistance—to 3 out of every 10 school children with more than 2.4 billion half-pints of milk.

Now that it's been planting time, many an Alabama farmer can increase his yield next spring by doing what he did last year. The U. S. Department of Agriculture is the only agency in the country that was among the first to begin in the county. Agent John Dawson, left, and Cobb.

SOCIAL SECURITY

of earnings for Social Security credits, errors in reporting which will result in his not receiving proper credit for his earnings. It is important that you receive proper credit for all your earnings as your future Social Security benefits are determined by your average earnings under Social Security.

Q. I am a farmer and I expect to have a loss on my farm operation this year. Can I pay into Social Security anyway? I would like to get credit for all the years until I retire.
A. You may, if you wish, use the optional method of reporting your farm income for Social Security purposes. If your farm gross income for 1950, 1951, or 1952 is $120 or more, you should contact your Social Security office for a more detailed explanation of this provision of the law.

Q. I own and operate my own farm. I will be 65 in December. How long must I have been paying into Social Security to get benefits?
A. If you are 65 in December of this year, you will need to have 10 quarters (seven years for a woman) of coverage under the law to get benefits. These quarters of coverage are earned, four for each year, beginning with 1955 in which your net earnings were at least $400. If you are already 65, you may be able to get credit for quarters of coverage which may be advantageous to them.

Q. I am a self-employed farmer; how do I get Social Security credits and how many do I need?
A. You get Social Security credits by reporting your farm net income. You do this at the same time that you report your income tax to the Director of Internal Revenue for your district. How much credit you need to qualify for benefits is determined by your age. We have prepared a new leaflet that deals specifically with these questions. Get it at your local Social Security office. Ask for number 856.

Q. I have a long time to go before I'll be old enough to get old-age Social Security benefits, but I'm thinking about changing my farm operation so that the different ways to qualify farm self-employment income for Social Security?
A. (1) Operate your farm yourself and have at least $400 net profit by actual net or (2) Hire the work done by employees (still have to have the $400 net).

(3) Rent the land to a tenant on a crop or livestock share basis and take a very active part in the management and operation of the farm. (Still need $400 for your share).
Q. My father is a farmer. How long does he have to pay Social Security to get disability payments? How old does he have to be?
A. Your father must have five years of work in the 10 years just before he becomes disabled. Disability payments are made at any age under 65.
Q. My husband died 25 years ago. I am 63. Can I get a widow's benefit?
A. No. He died before 1937, the first year Social Security started. Therefore, he had no Social Security credits.
Q. I just bought a small grocery store. My wife is helping me run it. Can I pay Social Security taxes on her salary?
A. No. You can't pay Social Security taxes on wages paid to her. A wife can't get Social Security credits for work done for her husband. Your work, however, is covered as a self-employed person if you make a profit of $400 or more during the year.

HOLD IT!—It's no easy trick to stop in mid-air and wait for the camera to shoot a picture like this. And, it's hard to tell who made the point at the phase in the forestry ball game. This 4-Her attending the forestry camp also participated in other organized sports.

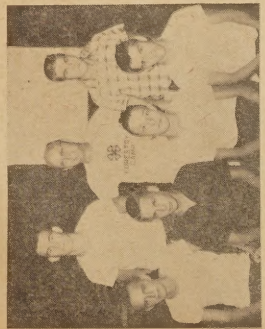

FUN and instruction spotlighted the 4-H Forestry Camp this summer. More than 100 young foresters won an all-expense paid trip to the annual event. They were selected from 4,000 4-H boys throughout the state who entered the forestry projects.

Extension Forester R. Martin, camp director, said the boys received instruction in tree identification, planning, insect identification, management and measurement of timber.

All work and no play dulls the appetite of 4-H boys. "So," commented Martin, "they took part in organized sports, shuffleboard, swimming, and other activities. They also had their share of good eating."

Other Extension Service personnel assisting at Camp Tuskegee included Assistant Camp Forester Charles D. Rutledge, Morgan County Extension Forester H. H. Logie, State 4-H leader, and 34 county and assistant agents over the state.

The camp is sponsored jointly by the Auburn University Extension Service and the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Questions Alabamians Are Asking About Social Security

EEDITOR'S Note: Nearly everyone, sooner or later, has questions about Social Security benefits. These questions, answered by Douglas Richard, district manager of the Montgomery Social Security office, are among those commonly asked Social Security officers. Of course, not all points are covered in this article. Contact your local Social Security office on any other question which you have.

Q. I began working as a farmhand last January. I am paid $200 a month, but my employer has not been taking Social Security taxes out of my pay. What can I do to get Social Security credit for my work?

A. You should discuss this with your employer. If he refuses to deduct Social Security taxes and report your wages, then ask him to give you a written statement of your wages. He should give you this statement at least once a year. Keep an accurate record of your wages. After April 30 next year, get a "Request for Statement of Earnings" form from your Social Security office. Complete and return this form. You will receive

Q. I hire a school boy to do some irrigation work during the hot months of July, August and September. I pay him $30 a month. He is paid the same amount if the weather is not hot and dry, requiring many hours of work, or if it is cool and damp, requiring very little work. I have never reported his wages for Social Security purposes. Am I in error?

A. No. The boy's wages are not creditable under Social Security. Work in agricultural employment is covered by Social Security only if: (1) the employee is paid $150 or more in cash wages during the calendar year by one employer, or (2) he works for one employer on 20 or more days during the year and is paid on a time basis.

Is Still Ahead In Alabama

By J. E. Jernigan

COTTON income still exceeds that of any other crop in spite of declining acreage since 1930. Last year cotton grossed $132 million as compared with $130 million in 1959.

The farmer is not the only one who benefits from this money making crop. Fertilizer and insecticide dealers, equipment dealers, ginners and warehousemen, as well as those who are employed as a result of the crop, reap the benefits.

Mercantile gain, too, because when farm people, like everybody else, have money to spend, they spend it.

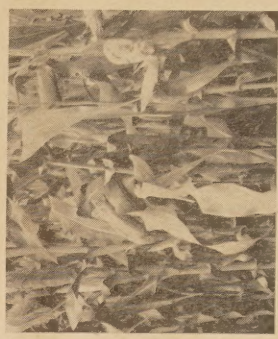

This year 900,000 acres of cotton. If yield predictions are correct—it is estimated at 365 pounds of lint per acre—the crop will gross farmers about $125 million in spite of some of the worst cotton growing weather in history.

Farmers Benefit By Following A Crop Rotation Program

By Dean Boyd, Extension Peanut Specialist

2ND YEAR—CORN

1ST YEAR—COTTON

ALABAMA farmers are doing everything possible to make the highest crop yields with the least expense.

And peanut growers are no exception. The top producers in the state are growing peanuts in rotation with other crops.

What's the advantage of this? The highest peanut yields are made on soils that follow well-fertilized crops, that is, crops that have received at least 700 pounds of 4-10-7 or 400 pounds of 4-12-12. Soils receiving this much fertilizer in the rotation serves a double duty. It will provide winter grazing for livestock, and then after it's plowed under, it will provide nitrogen for corn the next year.

Cotton has been on the come back in Alabama since the new acreage allotment transfer program began two years ago. Since 1959, a grower who does not want to plant cotton can transfer his allotment to the local county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services Committee for reallocation to other farmers in the county and state wanting additional acreage.

This program has made it possible for many farmers to get enough acreage to give them economical size cotton farms. This acreage release transfer program tends to shift cotton to farms in areas of the counties and state wanting additional acreage. It has resulted in more enthusiasm among cotton farmers, and others interested in the important cotton industry in Alabama.

But in spite of the new program, farmers underplanted the state's allotment by a little more than 100,000 acres in 1961. This meant a loss of nearly $14 million to our potential cotton income.

Peanut hay blown back on the land will also provide organic matter and nitrogen for the cotton crop that follows the next year.

The United States is the second largest importer of food and fiber in the world—one-sixth of all food imports comes here. Also, the production of one acre out of six in the U. S. is consumed abroad.

Artificial Lights Will Make A Difference

THE fact that plants need light to grow is well known. But few people think about using artificial lighting. They depend on sunlight to take care of their plants.

Even the best-lighted areas are sometimes too dark for house plants to flourish and do their best. This is especially true during the winter months.

Natural light can be used to supplement artificial light, or can be the only light source. Light gives a dramatic effect as well as promoting best growth and plant shape.

Some plants, such as geraniums, which grow best in full sunlight, won't survive and become artificial light. Cactuses, carnations and begonias, as well as artificial light alone.

Plants with artificial light alone should be used close to plants. They are fine, however, when used four to 10 feet away from such foliage as dieffenbachia, tall philodendron and fiddle-leaf fig. Use a 150-watt fluorescent light as most satisfactory for small flowering plants. Either white or day-light tubes, or better still, a combination of both, will give good plant growth. For direct light on plants, use a reflector. A commercial two-tube reflector may be used, or for greater light intensity, mount tubes on white painted plywood.

Consult an electrician before installing several feet of light to be sure wiring is adequate for the increased load.

Experiment to find the best plant-to-light distance. Too much light bleaches and withers leaves; too little causes thin, spindly stems and small leaves. A height of 12 inches gives good results with many plants and allows easier care. Measure the distance from the plant leaves to the light. Adjust the lights for the tallest plants and raise shorter plants on inverted pots or bricks.

If plants don't get any natural light, they will need 16 to 18 hours of artificial light each day. Reduce the artificial light according to the amount of natural light they get. A timer like those used for poultry house lights can be used to turn the lights on and off automatically.

Plants can be grown under artificial light in the basement, family room, or even in the kitchen. Any place where the temperature is 60° to 70° F. and the light is bright, the plants will grow. The temperature at a comfortable level for the plants.

Do you have more plants than windows to hold them? A light set up in the basement might be the answer. Build shelves or turn unused canned goods shelves into a place for indoor gardening.

Inexpensive portable light units are ideal for getting plant cuttings off to a good start. They come in various sizes, assembled, or ready for you to do it yourself.

Plants in a north side window may need a few hours of artificial light to supplement the natural light. The lights behind curtains in good care is just as important for plants under artificial light as natural light. Use a good potting soil and provide good drainage. Vermiculite helps keep humidity high enough for good plant growth. Fertilize every two weeks and water when the soil surface is dry to the touch.

Plant lighting cost depends on the electricity rates in your area and the amount, the family uses for other purposes. The cost would be about $1 to $1.50 a month for two 40-watt fluorescent tubes used 18 hours a day.

Hog Killing Time

Use Proper Methods For Best Results

IT'S hog killing time again and many folks are planning to put one in the home freezer. Here are some ideas to consider. Hogs that weigh from 200 to 225 pounds are best. One that is heavier will have lots of fat. Pen the hog up and don't give it anything

FOOD TIPS

FOR best results from frozen fruits put in the freezer last summer thaw the fruits in the refrigerator. Only thaw enough fruit for one meal and don't open the container until you're ready to eat the fruit. If you should have some left over, put it in the refrigerator in an air tight container.

When you take a package of frozen food from the freezer, be sure to put a mark in the "used" column of your frozen food list. Otherwise, you won't be able to tell just how much you have left.

When you bake apples for dinner, prepare some extra ones. They can be frozen and are good after thawing. They make good snacks for the children after school.

Check to see that your canned food is stored in a cool, dark, dry place. Light can change the color of some food. Light can also cause the lid to rust and a high temperature may aid in the growth of spoilage bacteria.

Plan Your Time And Don't Be Rushed

Elizabeth Bryan
Home Management Specialist

THE holiday season is just around the corner. It is a season too, when with little time and energy to spare, we are in this way of life. How can you solve it? Let's take a look.

Time and energy are two of our most valuable resources. The way you use them depends on what is most important to you. For example, would you rather work in the yard than to keep the dust off the furniture? Would you get more satisfaction from working with a group of young people or from reading a book? You must choose the one that is most important to you and your family. To do more of the things you want to do, you may need to change the management of your time and energy.

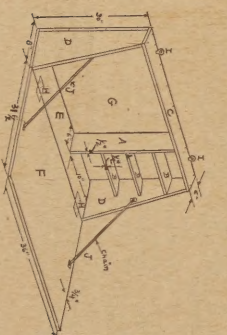

By BILL COX, SPECIALIST IN FARM BUILDINGS

DO you need an extra desk in your home? Most of us do. And all of us need a place to keep letters and important papers. Here are the materials needed:

- 1 piece 1/2 inch plywood 6' x 36" (a)
- 2 pieces 1/2 inch plywood 6' x 36" (c)
- 1 piece 1/2 inch plywood 6' x 36" (e)
- 1 piece 1/2 inch plywood 6' x 36" (f)
- 3 pieces 1/2 inch plywood 6' x 10" (b)
- 1 piece 1/2 inch plywood 31 1/2" x 36" (d)
- 1 piece 1/2 inch plywood 30" x 36" (g)
- 2 eye bolts (h)
- 2 pieces chain (i)

Now you are ready to go to work. After you get the material, take pieces (d) and saw them so that they will be 8 inches wide at one end and 6 inches at the other end. Then fasten pieces (d), (c) and (e) together. That makes the frame for your desk. Then put in piece A. After this you're ready to put on the back (f). Then put in the shelves (b). Fasten the desk top (f) on with the hinges. The two pieces of chain are used to support the desk. Place the eye bolts in piece (c). This is to use in fastening it to the wall.

Be Thankful For What You Have

By Dorothy Overbey
Consumer Education Specialist

AS we bow our heads in thanks for the plentiful foods on this Thanksgiving Day, let's remember some of the people who have helped make our traditional meal possible.

We are indebted to research workers for their part in developing turkeys that give us more meat and less bone. They are responsible for the many sizes of turkeys we have today—big ones, small ones, a size to match the need of every family. We are grateful, too, for quick frozen methods that make turkeys available all year around, and for the excellent and best methods of bringing a wider variety of foods to our dinner tables, we owe our thanks. With improved methods, the farmer can now produce enough for himself and 26 others. For this promise of plenty, we are thankful.

Food processors deserve our thanks for doing many of the time consuming jobs for the modern homemakers—dressing the turkey, making the cranberry sauce, freezing vegetables and fruits for a wider variety than was ever thought possible.

The people who assure us that any food we choose is wholesome for our family have our gratitude. We acknowledge the vast network of transportation systems that bring fresh products to our table—lettuce from California, celery from Florida, apples from Washington state.

Decide and Plan—Decide what changes to make in managing your time and energy.

Make a plan for putting these decisions into effect. Make a list of things you want to do. Make a list of things you are willing to cooperate in helping carry out the plan.

Good home management not only know the best way to do everyday jobs, they know how to fit them together. A plan is the most useful tool you have for managing time and energy. The plan, whether it is in your head or written, serves as a guide. It not only includes what jobs will be done, but who will do them, and when and where they will be done.

Take Action—This new way of doing the job may take more time and energy at first. It requires practice to develop new skills and overcome old habits. Assume a willing attitude, accept things you can't change and become time-and-motion conscious.

Work through one job until you reduce the time and energy required, and then take another.

Accept Outcome, Check on Results, Reconsider—Now that you have given this plan a try, will the results be satisfactory? Ask yourself:

- Have planned changes been made?
- Have time and motions been reduced?
- Did the time plan work? If not, why?
- What can be done differently to improve results next time?

You cannot add to or take from the 24 hours in each day. Nor can you save pep and energy you have today for next week. Better management of these resources will help you and your family to accomplish the things that are important to you.

HELP YOUR CHILD

WHAT is our responsibility to children as they grow toward maturity?

"A baby is born completely selfish and this is as it should be," says Elita Mayors, Auburn University Extension Service child care and family life specialist. "But as the grows physically, it is our job to help him grow less selfish."

No man or woman is "self made." Many people help to make a child into a dependable adult, she adds. The guidance must begin early in the child's life.

Parents are most important in guiding the child but adults such as grandparents, aunts, uncles and adults outside the family also have responsibilities.

"Another thing we need to remember is that it takes a lot of love and understanding to help a completely selfish baby grow into a mature other-centered adult," says the specialist.

Before The Age Of The Handout

It seems almost heretical to bring it up in this Age of the Handout.

But there's a colossus of a statue in this country that was built without one cent being contributed by the Federal government.

The Statue of Liberty, 75 years old this Fall, was financed exclusively by the people of France and the United States. In particular, schoolchildren of both countries poured their pennies into the popular subscriptions. Neither the French nor United States governments were asked to aid in the construction of the statue and the giant pedestal which bears it.

The United States owes this great symbolical statue to French friendship and the personal enthusiasm of Alastair sculptor Frederic A. Bartholdi. In 1875, it was decided that the French would build the statue and transport it here; and the American people would finance and build the pedestal.

In France, citizens of 180 cities raised $250,000. In this country, an American committee raised 125,000 for the pedestal, but it wasn't enough. Then a champion of the cause appeared; Joseph Pulitzer, owner of the New World popularized a campaign for funds.

School children were appealed to, and they contributed their bit. Benefit theatrical performance, sporting events, entertainments and balls were sponsored. The campaign raised $100,000 from 120,000 individuals.

On Saturday, October 28, 1886, the torch held high in the right hand of the Statue of Liberty was lighted. In his dedicatory address, President Grover Cleveland said:

"We will not forget that Liberty has here made her home; not shall her chosen altar be neglected."

We promise we won't forget where Liberty is. We will not forget, either, that patriotism has to be bigger than government; and as freedom-loving men and women we must keep a close watch on government lest it buy away our liberty with our own money!

Megaton Madness Must Stop!

YOU may call this a petition, a proclamation, a plea, a suggestion or an ultimatum, but it is time that the individual citizens spoke up and denounced the Kremlin for its unwarranted and inhuman attack on mankind itself!

We are not fanatics on any subject and we do not hate anyone that we can think of. We do not wish any harm on any individual in the world or any race of people. And we believe in freedom of speech, choice and the pursuit of happiness in life.

But the Russian people are allowing their dictator government to take into its hands forces and unknown elements which could, at this time more than at any other time in the world's history, alter the course, not only of mankind, progress and the future, but of the very physical world upon which we live.

This "megaton madness" has got to stop! And from all indications it will be the American people who stop it, or it will not happen.

We do not know the course to take for the good of all mankind, but we firmly believe that there are wise heads in government and in religion and in education who can guide the peoples of the world back into the sunlight again, away from the monstrosities which some men on earth would have us face!

This is our solemn plea: that these men, whoever they are, and wherever they are, work out a course or us to take with regards to Russia, Khrushchev and the Atomic Bombs and then that the American people and all freedom loving peoples of the world set out upon that course to bring the relentless foes of free men and democracy face to face with the fact that free people will no longer tolerate their insolence, stupidity and ultimate destruction of all that is beautiful and all that we hold dear.

This newspaper is going to send this plea to all our Congressmen, Senators and Representatives alike, for they are the men who represent our opinion in domestic and world affairs.

We would like very much for your name to be signed to it, along with the rest of this community: Do you have the fortitude and determination to sign it?

Signed:.....

Young Joan of Arc

Lola Lucas

With faith, hope and courage, a chubby little blonde girl answered a call to battle. The call came from Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, which selected seven-year-old Lola Lucas of St. Louis, Missouri, as its 1961 National Poster Child. Accepting the responsibility with an awareness of purpose unusual

Girl in one so young, the lit-in-the crusader's lining an army of volunteers in the MARCH FOR MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY, MDA's annual drive for funds to fight the tragic disease that afflicts Lola and tens of thousands of children like her. Lola is a pretty, brown-eyed, precocious youngster, sparkling and energetic in spite of the muscle-wasting disease that weakens her daily. Diagnosed at the age of four as having dystrophy, she now must wear braces to walk. In her own words: "When I was small, I couldn't walk and all I had was prayers. Then I got orthopedic shoes and then braces. It was just in that order—prayers, prescriptions, shoes and braces—and now I'm walking!"

Lola recently toured the Institute for Muscle Disease in New York City. This $5,000,000 facility, built and maintained by MDA, is the only research center in the world devoted solely to the study of muscle and its diseases. After watching scientists at work in their laboratories and talking with young volunteers, research patients, Lola thoughtfully commented: "Now I must go out and make money to keep this place going."

At the White House... During a Washington visit, Lola was greeted at the White House by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, who was pinning a star on her. Kennedy, Honorary Chairman of MDA, President Kennedy, while still U.S. Senator for Massachusetts, served for three years (1953-56) as Honorary State Chairman of the MARCH.

The Kennedy were in Hyannisport at the time of Lola's visit, but the little girl was thrilled at seeing the President's room and desk ("The wood is old, old"), Caroline's doll house ("Boy is that ever a big playhouse!") and the swimming pool ("Looks more like a lake").

What Lola wants is hard to get...

Lola's earnestness and dedication astonish and charm everyone as she goes about recruiting for her army. She has personally enlisted the support of such Washington notables as HEW Secretary Ribicoff and Senators Dirksen, Symington, Holland and Bell.

Unshakably Poised... Lola loves an audience. A gifted mimic and singer, her uninhibited performances generally bring down the house. Recently, in an appearance before a large audience in Washington, she gave a saucy rendition of "Whatever Lola Wants, Lola Gets." As the applause subsided, she remarked coolly: "Oh, it's nothing. I've done it a million times on television." In addition to making personal appearances on local TV shows, Lola is co-sponsoring with Jerry Lewis, MDA's National Chairman, in a spectacular one-hour TV film called "High Hopes."

Mid Cure Must Be Found... What does Lola want? To walk without braces, to run, to be a ballet dancer and a scientist and a psychiatrist when she grows up. As she grows up, Children afflicted with dystrophy rarely survive to maturity. Their only hope lies in scientific research. However, the day when dystrophy is conquered will undoubtedly come a little sooner because of the inspiration and fighting spirit of this little Joan of Arc.

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

When the Alabama legislature passed the so-called 94 redistricting plan so that the state's nine congressmen would not have to run a wide-open state-at-large race next year, the representatives were pretty well pleased.

But from the table of things now a few of them are finding it pretty tough to communicate to the public just what the 94 plan is all about, because the congressmen visiting outside their own districts are not finding things all peaches and cream.

For instance: One North Alabama congressman was telling me the other day he was visiting down state, asking some of the country folks there to help him in his race to go back to Congress. The only congressman received was "Wish I could help you, son. But my Congressman is... (and the name of that district's congressman was given.)"

Naturally, the visiting congressman began to explain how the man could vote for his own and seven other persons for congress next May. The man seemed pleased that he would be able to vote for eight of the nine representatives, the congressman said.

But the thing which had the congressman upset was that he knew he would not be able to tell everybody in the state about the 94 plan, that there just wouldn't be that much time left before election.

And speaking of the congressional races next year, several of the present incumbents may get opposition in their own districts for the May 1 primary. Down Mobile way, in the First District, there is a big talk that Rep. Frank Boykin will possibly find two men against him. They are Mobile auto dealer Charles Kilborn and Mobile attorney Perre Pelham, whose father was a former Circuit Judge there. Congressman George Grant of Troy in the Second District may find Montgomery Circuit Judge Dick Emmett running against him. Earlier, it had been reported Crenshaw Sen. Albert Turner would also be in that district, but word now it is probably won't.

Rep. George Andrews of Union Springs and the Third District will probably get by in his area without opposition. And so far there is no known opposition to Fourth District Rep. Albert Rader, however, Congressman Armistead Selden of the Sixth District is expected to be opposed in the first primary by C. C. Hornsby of Bibb County.

Rep. Carl Elliott of Jasper in the Seventh District is also expected to get by without opposition in his home district. And since Madison Sen. Dave Archer was recently appointed Circuit Judge in Huntsville and reports now he will not run at this time, Jones may get by without any opposition in that Tennessee Valley district.

In Jeffco's Ninth District, George Hodleston may draw some opposition from Charles Morgan, Birmingham attorney, or Attorney Joe Simpson, son of well-known politico James Simpson.

But the congressional races don't always reflect seriousness. Overheard one old-time politico said a friend the other day who he was planning to vote for in the coming congressional race, The friend shrugged and moaned: "I'm not going to get involved in that mess. All I want is to be left alone!" At this, the old-timer replied, jestingly, but quite philosophically, "Now that's something. Being left alone is all a burglar wants, too!"

Gov. John Patterson's determined opposition apparently has caused the White House to back down in its repeated demand that a section of late-state highway in Montgomery be re-routed for political reasons.

The White House intervened after several Negroes living in the path of the new highway contacted Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of the late president.

In his biweekly news conference, Gov. Patterson revealed that Presidential Asst. Fred Dutton as well as William Taylor of the Civil Rights Commission objected to the routing of the highway during a Washington conference with state officials in September. The governor accused both Dutton and Taylor of "finagling" to get the highway re-routed to protect their Negro friends.

After keeping official silence for two days, Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger denied the White House attempted to re-route the road.

Thorsby Elementary 4-H Club Met

The Boys 4-H club met in Mrs. Williams room October 11, 1961 at 8:45. Mr. Futral discussed the purpose of 4-H club.

The following officers were elected for the coming year:

Roger Marcus president; Kyle Porter vice president; Byron Higginsey secretary; Jerry Mims reporter. Randall Collins Song leader.

The Birmingham Post-Herald, which broke the story, stuck by its guns. Washington Reporter Gene Wortman insisted the White House did, in fact, order the high priced section of highway to be re-routed.

"The White House was even more insistent on changing the route than Gov. Patterson revealed in his press conference," the Post-Herald said.

In the face of the governor's bitter attack, the White House apparently backed off. This week state highway crews were at work on the disputed route, buying property and making final plans for construction of the four lane road.

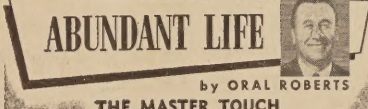

The section in question runs through a residential area on Montgomery's south side. It is the extreme western section of Interstate Route 85, which runs from Atlanta through Opelika, terminating in Montgomery at its junction with Interstate 65, which runs from Birmingham to Mobile.

In the disputed area, two routes were considered but private engineering firms "ruled out the Section line route than the North line -- as being more feasible cost-wise and engineering wise. It is also a bit straighter."

The North line route would have taken 345 Negro residences and 135 white residences (total: 380) and the South line takes 237 Negro residences and 151 whites (total 388). However, it has developed that several Alabama State College (for Negroes) faculty members live along the South line route.

At the Washington meeting, Civil Rights Commission Spokesman Taylor said the South route would disturb some of the most able and educated people of the Negro race important to the North as well as the South.

This position, Gov. Patterson said, "discriminates against the poor Negroes living on the North route in favor of the rich Negroes a favored few on the South route."

ABUNDANT LIFE by ORAL ROBERTS THE MASTER TOUCH

I was told a story once about the great Freiburg organ. The day it was finished, it was acclaimed as the instrument of the age. It was valued so highly that a caretaker was hired to look after it.

One day, the caretaker was aroused by a sudden knocking at the door. He opened the door and met a stranger. The stranger wasn't a very prosperous looking man. His suit was soiled and wrinkled from his travel. He didn't ask for food or lodging, but was bold enough to ask if he might have the privilege of playing the great Freiburg organ.

Appalled at the request, the caretaker explained that he was not allowed to let untrained fingers touch the great organ. The stranger pleaded with the caretaker until he finally consented. He warned the stranger, however, not to tell anyone that he had played the organ or the caretaker would lose his honor and position.

The stranger smiled and agreed. He sat down at the organ with experienced ease, and the caretaker returned to his dusting. He didn't dust long, however, for suddenly the organ burst forth with music like a bird's song after the hush of winter. The melody that the stranger played held the caretaker enchanted. Musical moments flew by.

The stranger glanced down to see the caretaker's penitent figure kneeling, his eyes dim with tears as he asked in wonder, "Who are you?"

The stranger replied, "It doesn't really matter, but my name is Mendelssohn."

"Oh, but surely you aren't the great Mendelssohn? What have I done?" the caretaker cried. "Please forgive me, Sir, for I have tried to keep the master from the organ."

You, like the organ, are an instrument and only the Master can bring your life in tune. When our hearts are in harmony with Him, He draws out the best in us.

When Jesus Christ becomes supreme in your life, you are filled completely with His love and peace. His love is unselfish and unending. We who can do all things will calm the storms of life and take away your fears. The song of a grateful heart will be inscribed in your heart.

We see and hear

by BOB

CONTRIBUTIONS have come in very goodly numbers for the appeal made for Mrs. Henry Clevelker, who was recently seriously injured in an automobile accident. The radio station, over which the appeal was made, said this week that $266.00 had been pledged and almost all had been collected. Contributions still being accepted and will be appreciated by the family and friends.

ACCORDING to a note we have here, Alabama gained 118 physicians since 1957. Population has increased also, but the ratio is still in favor of the doctors. Who, said doctors were getting shorter? The hours aren't getting any shorter either; in fact, the coverage doctor works some 65 hours a week and the current trend continues that figure will increase. No wonder they're getting "shorter". We work a few 60 hour weeks ourselves and THEY sure are getting any shorter!

MR. Clyde Robinson, here from Nevada on hunting trip, dropped into the office the other day with a report from the Colorado Assaying Co., dated June 8, 1946, which stated that a sample of ore from the Blue Creek area of Chilton County showed a content of 13.65 percent. At 60c per pound of ore, that time, it was valued at $163.80 per ton. The report also stated that the ore was of use commercially due to its tin content. And Mr. Robinson says the ore is definitely tin, in quantity, in this area. Somewhere with a million dollars and a nose for tin (could be) could probably make a million bucks with a mining outfit. You gotta have the mineral rights first, of course!

UNDERSTAND that Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Starn are moving out of the community. Needless to say, they will miss this family from Chilton County. They are very public-spirited and gentle people and we are fortunate in losing them. Wish them well at their new home!

A BELATED note tells us that Tommy Walker of Stanton, has been recently pledged to the Kappa Sigma Fraternity at Auburn University. A good Chilton County boy ought to boost the morale of a group like that, considerably!

"NINE out of ten drivers have an elevated sense of their own importance." Among other notable sayings, this was one very appropriate one in the recent issue of the Alabama Future Farmer magazine in a ture on highway safety. Congratulations on such a mighty fine journalism. Hope we see more of it the months ahead from such publications which have influence on our youth!

WE note with a degree of reservation that they are seeking to convert the basements of churches to fallout shelters. This no doubt will meet approval from a great percentage of our people. However, even have to use them (perish the thought) it will probably be the only way we will get some of our citizens into the church at all! Preachers should note and prepare sermons accordingly!

100 YEARS AGO

THE SS SUMTER, the first cruiser armed for the use of the Confederacy, captured 18 Federal vessels during its six months of operation in the Civil War.

It's mission outlined by Confederate Secretary of Navy Stephen Mallory was "to do the enemy's commerce the greatest injury in the shortest time." The orders were sent to Sumter's Commander Raphael Semmes while he was equipping the vessel at New Orleans.

Formerly the Alabama and built in Philadelphia, the Sumter was given its name by the South when bought in New Orleans April, 1861. For two months it remained in the port being equipped for the sea. Then on June 20, 1861 the vessel escaped through the blockade at New Orleans.

On the sea route the Sumter could carry only enough coal for eight days of sailing. Touching at ports in the West Indies, French Islands and the coast of Spain for fuel and food during its six months' expedition, it disposed of its captured vessels along the way. Eight ships were burned, nine were sold and one released only to be recaptured. By January 19, 1862 needing fuel, repairs and supplies, the Sumter entered the port of Gibraltar. No repairs were available and three Federal vessels anchored nearby to "set watch" so that the Sumter could not be towed to England or France for repairs. The stranded, Semmes sailed the Sumter to the British, sent his crew to London and later went to Liverpool to become commander of the CSS Alabama.

ATLETIC INJURIES

Half of all injuries in football involve the face, and these have to do with the use of the unprotected prominence of the nose. This is an unfortunate fact, for the nose is a vulnerable part of the body.

It is immediately after the injury that the nose should be examined. If the nose can be diagnosed as broken, the responsibility of the team physician, trainers and coaches. Also, the team physician should be delayed for several days of the injury.

A careful examination of the nose should be made by the team physician. Frequently, the injury is not serious, but it is important to have the injury checked out before it becomes a permanent injury.

While face bars have greatly reduced the number of injuries to the face, the nose is still a vulnerable part of the body. The nose is somewhat of a weak point, and it is important to have it checked out before it becomes a permanent injury.

AT THE CROSSROADS...

CHILTON County, in its efforts to proceed into the future, has not progressed according to its abilities and its natural resources. We are seeking the answer to this situation. Economic necessities are pointing a bolder finger at the needs of our community and the wishes of our people. We are giving some of the reasons why we should logically attract more industry to this area. We are seeking the reason, or reasons, why we are not doing so with more success than we have been experiencing in the past. If you know why, please tell us! Or better still, do something about it, yourself!

Manage Our Own Affairs

THE popular trend today is to "hire it done", but very few of us have the natural resources to foot the bill. So what do we do... we gripe about it.

Let's take our tax money and the folks we have hired to handle it for us... the Federal Government! We don't like the way they handle it, and we have to pay too much for the service!

A dollar of tax money taken into the County of Chilton or the State of Alabama could be spent, by local management, right here in this state and go a lot further toward paying the bill than it does by the time it gets back from Washington. There's too much "rubbing off" by the time it gets back.

Our problem is, we want the money, but we don't want the responsibility. And that, my friends, is a sad state of affairs. We cannot have one without the other.

If the people of this County and State truly desire better conditions with less taxes, they have most certainly got to stop depending on the Federal Government. That hired hand has gotten so big, that it is now telling us what to do, when to do it, what to spend (and send) and when, who we can associate with, where to eat, who to sit by, how much we can earn and what THEY want us to do about the foreign situation.

Charity, beginning at home, is one consideration that our Federal Government looks on as secondary. We who pay the bills had better make it understood that this is primary.

Gripping is certainly not going to help... we've proved that! But first, we have to have men who are willing to accept the responsibility of self-government. Until that time, we will go on paying a high price for our "hired help"!

Threadbare

THE basis of our freedom is the love and sacrifice we manifest to those who are less fortunate than ourselves. The average American citizen is losing the principle of "love thy neighbor" because of the increasing demands on his already threadbare pocketbook. Our giving has reached the point that we are suffering at home. If you don't believe it, what about the heart attacks, high blood pressure and psychoanalysis that we are exposed to?

Giving is a virtue, but we believe that giving ones material possessions to a power that has professed to hate us will not serve to win that power to our way of thinking. It is ridiculous! If we continue to sell and give our resources to Communist countries, then we certainly will earn the consequences!

Motorists

MOTORISTS, as such, are among the most short-tempered, ill-mannered, unappreciative, disrespectful, callous and antagonistic lot we have ever heard of or seen. We base this analysis on the science of observation and experience and there is only one consolation: There are exceptions to the rule... that makes it almost bearable!

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

BURNS

Burns are the second most frequent cause of accidental death in children. Every year burns cause 2400 fatalities in children in this country. Today, burns are fatal to more children than are all the contagious diseases combined. When a child survives a severe burn, the problems during recovery and treatment are complex, disturbing, and fraught with discouragement. The child's emotional view of his predicament is tragic.

Into the hospital he brings his own concept of his illness, his preconceived notions about hospitals and doctors; and as his feelings are fearful and foreboding, his recovery may be retarded.

In the treatment of patients with burns, the presence of pain is often an overwhelming reality, for a long time, and the treatment. The pain from the burn persists often adds to the pain.

A fantasy common in children is that pain, either from internal sources or from treatment procedures, is somehow punishment for real or imagined misdeeds. A severely burned child is seriously ill, separated from home and family, bewildered with guilt feelings that punishment is upon him. Such cases require a understanding of the child, his feelings and his background, as well as an allowance for frequent visits to the hospital by the parents so as to retain the child's comforting contacts with the past.

Planning a skillfully guided play program both in the hospital and afterwards at home is important. The burned child has psychological as well as physical problems and the attitude of the doctors, nurses and the child's family has much to do with recovery.

THE TRENT AFFAIR

The capture of two Confederate envoys - James M. Mason and John Slidell - aboard the British vessel, Trent, caused a threat of war between Britain and the United States during the Civil War. The encounter took place November 8, 1861 which involved interference with a British merchant ship.

Mason and Slidell had been appointed by President Jefferson Davis as special envoys to England and France respectively. In October, 1861 they were successful in reaching Cuba through the blockade as passengers on the Confederate prisoners.

You Call That Singing?

WE are not radio fans by a long country mile and chances are good that we won't be. We do get occasion to hear to radio now and then and it is appalling how much screaming, yelling and hollering you have to listen to just to get to hear some music. They do everything but beat on the door and loosely refer to it as 'singing' or 'entertainment'. What we want to know is, what's happening? We may not be hep, but we certainly aren't losing any sleep over that 'short-coming'. No beat, no rhythm, no lyrics... just noise! And say what you will, but most of it comes from Negro "singers".

State Dept. Of Public Health Keeping Eye On Radiation

Arthur N. Beck, Director, Bureau of Sanitation, State Health Department, represented Alabama at a special meeting on radiological health policies in Washington October 26 and 27. The meeting, which was attended by representatives of all 50 states and officials of the U. S. Public Health Service and the Federal Radiation Control Council was called by the Policies under consideration at Public Health Service.

The meeting included Public Health Service control measures relating particularly data and surveillance systems.

Following Mr. Beck's return from the Washington meeting, the following statement was released by Dr. D. G. Gill, State Health Officer:

"The conference from which Mr. Beck has just returned was called British ship Trent. There they boarded the Trent.

While the Trent was on its route to England, Captain Charles Wilkes in charge of the USS San Jacinto apprehended the British ship. Mason and Slidell were taken prisoners of the United States government and sent to Fort Warren prison in Boston harbor.

When news that the British vessel had been intercepted reached Queen Victoria it caused much irritation. She demanded an explanation of the act in a seven day ultimatum and immediately dispatched 8,000 British troops to Canada as a result of the interference.

Threatened with war, both President of State William H. Seward and Abraham Lincoln and U. S. Seward promptly apologized for Trent affair and later released the Confederate prisoners.

after increased levels of iodine 131 were measured during the period September 20-29 in certain areas of the United States. Radioactive iodine is part of fallout debris which may be ingested by cows while feeding. It should be emphasized however that the quantities of iodine 131 that have accumulated in milk to date are well below the Federal Radiation Control Council's guidelines for yearly consumption under normal peace time conditions.

"At the present time, the Public Health Service operates 58 air sampling stations, 60 station for milk sampling and 93 sampling stations for water. Alabama participates in this program in all three areas. It was the consensus of those attending the Washington meeting that this surveillance system is adequate to determine the trend of radioactivity in air, water and foods. It was also the feeling that action to establish counter measures for the protection of food is not necessary at this time.

"During the course of the conference the kinds of action that can be taken should it become necessary were discussed. It was agreed that the Public Health Service Surveillance Program should be continued, and that the States should supplement it with programs of their own.

"Although the Alabama Department of Public Health is presently operating a limited program to secure data on levels of radioactivity in water, we do not believe it is adequate to meet our needs. However, should levels of activity rise to an alarming degree, as reported through the present national surveillance network, the public will be advised and appropriate action will be taken by the Health Department."

On Sunday afternoon we had our Dedication Services. This was a milestone in the history of the Church. Special music was rendered by the Girls Trio of Lomax and Mr. Richard Bolin, minister of music at the Bethel Baptist Church of Birmingham. The invocation was given by Mr. M. A. Powell. Brother Stuckey then prayed the Dedication Prayer and this was followed by the history intended Mr. O. N. Glenn. Then of the Church given by the Super-Brother Fields delivered the Dedication Sermon. Immediately following the sermon the note was burned. It was an outstanding point in the history of the Church and will be remembered for many years by the members of the church.

THINGS

We see and hear
by BOB

WE meet so much these days, we've started meeting ourselves coming back. It's getting so bad we heard two fellows arguing the other day about who was going to pay the bill. They would have called a meeting on the matter, but they didn't have enough involved in the thing to elect officers, so they forgot the whole thing and neither one of them paid it!

THERE once were two kittens named Reglet and Slug. They were found by the side of the road.

Adopted and nursed by the clan we call ours, They soon were as fat as two toads.

Now slug got missing one afternoon late, And we've seen not hide nor hair since.

The only one left around Tuckerville then, Was Reglet, to prowling back fence.

On Halloween night, and we know not why, An auto came flying past home.

And Reglet joined Slug and his eight other lives. Once again, they're together, to roam.

Now we're certain and sure that the fellow who struck Reglet down in the middle of the street.

Didn't mean to do that, to that little old cat, But it's one thing he shouldn't repeat.

We'll assume he is sorry for what he has done, Won't deny that he probably is.

But if we ever meet, on that little old street, We're going to tie knots in what's his...

THE noise made by the Russians and their Megatons is exceeded only by the quiet determination of free people everywhere to put a stop to the madness and teach the Communists the meaning of brotherly love, common sense and charity!

AND we're going about that charity business wrong! If the Communist were to learn anything of example then we'd have taught them that meaning long ago!

CREDIT may have made the American people a whole, more honest, but it has certainly made them less independent at the same time! For who, these days, is independent?

KNOWING of but a few Federal Agencies, we were just wondering how much richer this country would be without them. Used to a Federal job was just that, and people looked upon it with some amount of justified skepticism. Nowadays folks look on Federal job as some kind of Paradise. It seems to more like Purgatory! Especially to those who have to pay the rent!

NATURE is unnering the population hereabouts. Folks who normally hate to see Old Man Winter coming, are wishing he would come ahead with his rain, sleet and icy winds. It isn't that they have had a change of heart about the winter miseries... it's just that this suspense is worse than the weather!

GOT fute a few welcome "signers" on our "Will You Sign This" editorial last week. If you haven't signed one yet, will you do it now? If you don't have one, we have!

YOU won't believe this, but the title of an article we were just looking at was: "I wish some of my parishioners would go to Hell!" Wonder why they didn't get more to the point...?

THE fellow who said, "you aren't human if you don't make mistakes" certainly makes us feel better. In fact, almost human!

WAIT until you see old Leon Wilcort decked out for the Grand Opening of Belcher IEH Homes Sunday week. He's a post graduate guitar picker, and you oughta hear that boy play!

While the Governor's race has been running its still pretty fluid course, along with the chase for Lieutenant Governor, the Attorney General's election has really been shaping up in the past few weeks, especially from an organizational point of view.

All the real contender, former Dothan Sen. Richmond Flowers, Assistant Attorney General Willard Livingston, Birmingham Rep. Walter Perry, Jr., have been hard at their political tasks. However Gov. John Patterson's ABC Administrator Ed Azar has been relatively quiet about his intentions since Gov. John's recent you'd better quit if you plan to run memorandums to his department heads.

Neither do you hear much from Jerry Coe, also an Assistant Attorney General, or Morgan Rep. Bob Gilchrist. The reports are the only reason Coe plans to run is because he wants to be in a keep my job bargaining position with the front runner in the event there is a runoff. Word out of Morgan County is that the local politicians are encouraging Gilchrist to stay in the Legislature.

The Chilton County High School Band, the lovely majorettes, the lively Cheer Leaders in colorful uniform added much to the parade. Preceding the game against Prattville the cheerleaders were introduced and formed an aisle for the band. round the actions of Flowers and Livingston, followed by the others in any order you wish.

But one thing appears certain among those politicians closely following this race and that is this election will probably no longer just be an election which only the lawyers are interested in and which they along oftentimes have determined who would win; but one with many and serious issues and one that should draw wide interest from all Alabamians.

Peripiscing - When insurance man Wayne B. Jennings of Athens announced recently he would run for governor with the aim of defeating former Gov. James Folsom, many Capitol Hill observers were claiming that Folsom had put the man in the race. Jennings has said he plans to throw a lot of mud, apparently at Folsom. Keep hearing that Industrial Relations Department chief Ralph Williams is planning to run for the Senate over Tuscaloosa way next year.

Miss Evelyn Creamer of Birmingham, Mrs. Janie Smitherman of Talladega and Ann Conway also of Birmingham are planning to be candidates for Secretary of State. A question being repeated from time to time about the coming attorney general's race is: Will the state's Chief Justice, Ed Livingston, be able to whip the Supreme Court and its many affiliates in line for his boy, Willard, to join forces with the Attorney General's office?

How About This For Industry

FOLLOWING is a letter from Mrs. G. C. Edwards of Montgomery and she not only has some nice things to say about Chilton County, but also gives us some food for thought that probably most of you have never considered. It doesn't seem like pipe-dreaming a little bit. On the contrary, as we think about it, the possibilities seem unlimited. (The Editor)

Mr. Bob Tucker, Mng. Editor
Chilton County News
Clanton, Ala.

The enclosed which I read in the paper this morning prompts me to write you concerning a matter I have had in mind for some time for Chilton County. Perhaps I have more than average amount of interest in Chilton, as I was born there. (But we will skip that).

It strikes me that Chilton County has much natural beauty going to waste which could be developed and expended to attract thousands of visitors and tourists each year who would seriously come to look, admire and to buy. The country side naturally abounds with lovely native dogwood, honey suckle, red bud, etc. If people would seriously work at planting distributing and propagating more of these beautiful native wild trees of the fame of Chilton as a Churn would soon spread and the sale of young trees plants, shrubs, and flower could become a fine source of income for the County. This in turn would create a greater demand or fertilizer, garden tools, insecticides, the study of horticulture, landscaping, prevention of soil erosion, and perhaps many other things yet unthought of which would benefit the entire County. You have a veritable Sleeping Beauty of an industry waiting to be awakened by the enterprising citizens of Chilton County. It could rival Bellingrath Gardens. Few people fail to be attracted by beauty.

This may sound like the talk of a dreamer, but I am of the opinion that much wilder dreams have been made to come true, and I would hate myself if I neglected to write this letter.

Sincerely yours,
Eunice Edwards

Grace Sunday School Class Installs Officers

Members of the Grace Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of the class teacher, Mrs. Lake Jones for their regular October meeting and installation of Class Officers. The President Mrs. J. L. Teel opened the meeting and brought the devotion entitled "God The Trinity" using scriptures chosen from the book of Genesis and Matthew.

The nominating Committee submitted the following names for class officer for the ensuing year: Mrs. J. L. Teel, president; Mrs. L. Bulger, vice-pres.; Mrs. James Dennis, sec.; Mrs. Jarrell Burdette, assistant secretary.

Group leaders: Mr. Bill Minor, Mrs. Thomas McKee, Mrs. John like and Mrs. D. H. Askins. The officers were installed in a very impressive ceremony by the visiting teacher, Mrs. Howard Johnston. She presented each officer and each member present with copy golden key to the door of service, to the door of her class and church. Her very appropriate installation title was "Key Of Standardization, Master Key To Sunday School And Church."

Special Announcement

The Chilton County Hospital and Nursing Home Auxiliary will meet at the dining room of the Nursing Home on Tuesday, Nov. 14, 1961, at 9 a.m.

This is the 3rd meeting of the year and since there will only be one more in this year, the nominating Committee will be appointed.

Publicity Available If We Want It

"The tourist industry in Alabama now ranks closely to cotton and steel as our best sources of income. Congressman Bob Jones commented this week, we are making efforts to increase tourism in our state and we should be grateful for the help given us by federal funds. We are now getting advertising and skills of experts which we could hardly afford for a world wide campaign to boost Alabama and its business." This could mean much to Chilton bid as a tourist attraction.

WSCS To Have Bazaar

The WSCS of the First Methodist Church are making preparations for the annual bazaar on November 9, 1961 to be at the church. Mrs. R. C. Williams and her committee are busy making decorations to give the Recreation Hall a Mexican Setting. Mrs. G. L. Robertson with her food committee are making plans for a buffet luncheon with the added attraction of Mexican dishes to be served at noon. Mrs. B. G. Godwin and her committee plan to have many delicious hot cakes, cookies and candy for sale. During the morning hours coffee, cake and pie will be served to any one taking a few minutes to rest before going through the gift shop. Mrs. L. E. Diefenderfer and her committee members have been very busy making many useful gifts of aprons, yo yo clowns, caps and sunbonnets as well as many other items for the gift shop. Mrs. O. To Jones and her committee are taking donations for the bazaar. The WSCS extends an invitation to the public to come and see us on November 9.

The Auxiliary only meets 4 times each year, beginning in February. It is very important that all the members are present at this meeting to help plan for Thanksgiving and Christmas projects.

Farmer can use this bull in two ways: first, in growing milk calves. A calf will put on weight much faster and also bring a better price if it is sired by a good beef type bull. In the second place one can save replacements at there by build up his herd with better brood cows if he will use good selection program.

The Hereford bull is located at the school and cared for by th Jamison Vo. Ag. classes. If you would like information concern our program and the bull, please contact the Vo Ag Teacher in Jamison, Mr. McGee or ask any of the Vocational students.

We will be using the bull for the next two breeding seasons in this community. Remember it is much cheaper to use our bull than to own one.

DO RURAL ELECTRICS PAY TAXES?

YES, Rural Electrics pay every kind of tax which their competitors pay. They of course pay no tax on profit because they operate at cost. In many cases they are among the chief contributors to the tax revenues of the states and counties where they are located. We are all "better off" because today's farms have Electricity.

C.C.H.S. Field Improved

The CCHS has one of the finest football fields anywhere in Central Alabama. However, few people know just how the renovation project was started.

It all began back in 1957, when Dr. Sturkie of Auburn University gave the Clanton Chapter of the FFA two square feet of sod of Tifton 57 Bermuda grass. This grass was broken up in a 12' x 16' plot was sprigged. Two years later the plot was a solid sod.

With the help of County and City equipment the field was subsoiled. The Athletic Club donated three hundred yards of gravel and topsoil for the field. The field was then packed and grade stages were put up by the VO-AG class of Clanton County High School, under the direction of Mr. Thompson. After the finishing touches of elevation were completed, the field was disced and fertilized. The job of sprigging the field was done by VO-AG and Physical Ed. classes of Clanton County High School.

An irrigation system was worked out by the VO-AG department. Water was piped from the creek behind the school by a pump purchased from Army Surplus supplies. Pipe and sprinklers were also purchased from the Army Surplus.

Mr. Spicer, the transportation officer made sure that the field was watered during the summer months.

It's true that exercise will keep you slender, why is it that all talkative women have chins?

Stores are beginning to get their Christmas finery all out. It won't be long before all the Christmas trees will be up. It also means that Clanton County is preparing for its big Christmas Parade.

The new Clanton County High School is fast nearing completion. It is more like a high school than a school. According to plans, it is going to lend a lot of class to the town, but most important, it is going to lend a lot of class to our students.

FREE cheers for the Grammar Club of the Grammar and especially to Mrs. L.C. teacher. They mailed the Christmas Seals this year and did a splendid job. Now, let us hope the recipients do as well to their fellowman, in providing less fortunate in the community, care and protection.

They Need YOU-- Red Blooded Citizens To Show 'Why' 20th

THE Blood Donors are expecting to break all previous records in Clanton County, November 20. The Clanton County Red Cross Blood program is short of "badly needed blood". The Hospital has used 32 more pints than previously donated and the use is increasing, causing the shortage to increase daily.

The County schools, industrial plants, clubs and merchants with the help of the individual citizens are planning to break an all-time record this month, when the collecting term comes to the First Methodist Church from noon until 6:00 p.m. on Monday, November 20.

A number of the plants are letting the workers off from their jobs an hour early to help break this record.

A list showing the number of donors will be published of all groups reporting their number to the local chapter. "OK" Mr. Merchant here is your chance for some good, free, advertising.

All members of the "Gallon Club" are requested to wear their pins and if this will help you a member be sure and ask for your membership.

A list of the members of the "Gallon Club" will be published in the News next week.

This Is Farm-City Week

EACH year the mutual dependence of Farmers and Merchants is brought to light in the celebration of Farm-City Week, this year observed November 17th through November 23rd in Clanton County and throughout the nation.

The week is so designated to bring about a closer understanding and broadened harmony between farmer and businessman and to show the public the meaning and the 'harvest' realized through cooperation.

This year, as we celebrate this occasion, it would be appropriate that the farmers-businessmen of Clanton County to take stock of their attitude toward one another and see whether or not they can improve relations by understanding more fully, the other fellow's problems.

Farm-City Week is just what it implies and we here in Clanton can profit greatly through a greater realization of the problem facing us and a closer working together and swapping of ideas in order to solve these problems to the best interests of all concerned.

$40 THOUSAND— Construction To Begin On Paving

Governor Patterson and Highway Director Engelhardt have entered into a contract with Clanton County for the construction of grading, drainage, and pavement on 1.841 miles of road from a point on Clanton-Chilton County Industrial School road extending north to Penter Avenue in Clanton.

Construction will get underway in the near future.

This work will be done by County forces and equipment by negotiated contract at an approximately cost of $40,000 of which $16,900.00 will be County FAS funds, $11,600.00 will be paid by the State Highway Department and $11,600.00 by the County.

The paving of this project is part of the regular Farm to Market program whereby unimproved roads and bridges are being replaced and improved to higher standards to serve the local people.

The regular program provided by law and the Special Aid program as granted by the Governor and the Highway Director will be the means for the construction of 1000 miles of County roads and bridges within the State during each year of the present administration.

Clanton County will construct its proportionate share.

UPON taking the deluxe tour of the new Clanton County Courthouse Tuesday afternoon, we were amazed at the workmanship which has gone into the new building. With Probate Judge J. C. White we covered nearly every square foot of the new building, and found absolutely nothing lacking from the basement to the mechanical room atop the building.

The new courtroom in the building are beyond description in their finish and decor and the vault facilities are impressive in every department where they are required.

The word is more than adequate. It's tops! Clanton's new Courthouse which will open to the public in the very near future is something we are very proud of and is a tribute to the progressive efforts to the majority of Clanton County's people.

There are ample restroom facilities, both public and private, plenty of storage and vault space and the offices are strategically Mayor Hollis Jackson designated the week of November 13, 1961 as Christmas Seal Week.

In special recognition of the work of the Clanton County Tuberculosis Association, the Mayor in an official proclamation urged residents to contribute to the Christmas Seal Campaign.

2. Intelligent—You will be respected in proportion as you can use your mind. If you cannot think, is not much you can do.
3. Dissatisfaction—You cannot do the job better if you are satisfied with your efforts.
4. Ideals—These are evasive and elusive. You cannot grasp them. They challenge you, but you never touch them. They give you something to ever strive for.

For 1962...an all-new kind of Ford!

the car that's just right for just about everybody
right between Galaxie and Falcon

You've never seen anything like it, because there's never been anything like it... until today. On the outside the new Ford Fairlane 500 measures a quick 197 inches from stem to stern. A good foot shorter than the cars from which it borrowed its name, it calls the snugger parking places home. At the same time, on the inside the new Fairlane 500 is every inch as big as some of the biggest Fords ever built. The new Fairlane 500 is priced way under previous Fairlanes; it is well under many compacts. But Fairlane economy doesn't stop with a pretty price tag. It runs to amazing gas savings—with either the world's first economy V-8 or the nickel-nursing Fairlane Six. And routine service has been reduced to a minimum—30,000 miles on many items, only twice a year or 6,000 miles on the rest. And it adjusts its own brakes.

DO RURAL ELECTRICS PAY TAXES?

YES, Rural Electrics pay every kind of tax which their competitors pay. They of course pay no tax on profit because they operate at cost. In many cases they are among the chief contributors to the tax revenues of the states and counties where they are located. We are all "better off" because today's farms have Electricity.

Clanton Battles Centreville To 7 Tie

Don Finalyson's Chilton Tigers ended the 1961 football season last Friday night by the Centreville Choctaws. The Tigers had a successful season with a 7-2-1 record. The also won the Twin River Conference Championship in their first year in it.

The Clanton, Centreville game was probably the Tigers best game of the season, although the score did not show it.

The Tigers moved the ball very good against Centreville but pass interception and fumbles kept the Tigers from scoring. The Tigers moved within the Choctaws 20 four times but 3 pass interception and 1 fumble killed the drive.

Centreville scored first in the second quarter when quarterback Larry Elam threw to end Boddy Johnson on a 15 yarder. Oscar Smitherman kicked the extra point. Also in the second quarter the making the score 7-0, Centreville. Tigers put in its best drive of the night it covered 52 yards on seven plays. But the drive was killed when Centreville intercepted a pass.

The Tigers put in the only score in the third quarter when Douglas Grant went through a giant hole in the middle of the line and simply out ran the Centreville back field defenders for 50 yards. Grant also added the extra point.

Jimeson FFA

Sponsors Donkey
Basketball Game

The Jimeson FFA Chapter has been sponsoring a Donkey Softball game in the past. We are again this year sponsoring a Donkey ball game but it will be Donkey Basketball. This will be held in the Jimeson High School Gym on November 21, 1961 at 7:30 p.m. Mr. McGee, Vocational Agriculture Teacher of Jimeson states that he has sponsored games similar to this one and had a capacity crowd and lot of fun for the past several years.

There will be many acts of interest throughout the night, but the combination dodeo, circus and basketball game will be the main acts and they will be played while riding the donkeys.

The program will last for about one hour and a half with plenty of laughs throughout the game. The Jimeson FFA boys will play the business men of Jimeson. Some of the businessmen that you may see riding the donkeys are Mr. Lester Pate, Mr. Alton Cobb, Mr. Shaw, Mr. Davenport, Mr. Glass, Coach Otis, Coach Sawyer, Mr. Guy and many others.

The rules are very simple just play ball while riding the donkey. The rules will be explained to the players and also to the audience just before the game starts. The game will be played in the Jimeson Gym, remember 7:30 November 21, 1961.

The memorial on the banks of the Marne River overlooks the site of the courageous stand made by the 3rd Division in repulsing a major German offensive during World War I. It was this action which earned the 3rd its "Marne Division" nickname.

An intelligence sergeant in the division's Headquarters Company he entered the Army in 1947 and was stationed at Fort Bragg, N.C. before his arrival overseas last June on this tour of duty.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

On Halloween night, the Primary and Junior Sunday School classes met at the home of Teresa Cunningham for a Costume Party.

The rooms were decorated with spider webs, spiders, jack-o-lanterns and stacks of corn stalks. Against this spooky background, the children in their variety of Halloween costumes looked mighty frightened.

After a number of spine chilling games and an unexpected visit from a moaning ghost and a man with a very ugly face, everyone was thoroughly scared.

Ricky Martin won a treat for drawing the best house in the dark. The treat was to open a squeaking door and look at a dead man, only the man wasn't so dead and jumped out at Ricky.

Popcorn and lemonade were served to 25 little spooks and goblins.

I'm sure there wasn't much sleep after such a good time and a good scaring.

U. S. Army News

If the civilization of the bulk of our country were a commodity, it should belong to the Army. The Army conducted nearly all the preliminary explorations of the early days. It alone was able to conduct the early surveys and make the maps which are essential in the opening of a new region. Army engineers initiated most of the methods which are still employed in the geodetic, topographic and hydrographic surveys of our possession. The Army was virtually the pioneer of the pioneers.

As our citizens moved west, they traveled routes which were surveyed by Army engineers, constructed by the Army and supported by military posts. They settled on locations which soldiers had surveyed and their title were established and valid only because of such surveys. Finally, when the time came to link these outposts to our eastern civilization it was the Army which located and constructed the railroads. Only after the railroads had developed engineers of their own and the country had become safer for travel, did the Army relinquish its task and turn elsewhere for its missions. The engineer of the Army then began to develop the great waterways, improving the rivers and harbors, superintending public parks and constructing our public buildings.

Regular Army men greatly aided in the molding of our national character. It was they who understood how quibbling, vacillation or false statements might be the ruin of a battle, a campaign or even a nation. In other professions such weakness might lead to loss of property or money; in the business of protecting the nation, the live of stalwart men and a nation's honor were at stake. Honor, therefore was the first consideration of the Soldier and the guardian of his every act.

It was the Regular Army man who brought education, engineering, architecture and the many professions, as well as industry, the art, to what they were today.

Basic training of an American Soldier begins long before he takes his enlistment oath. It starts in his school, church, home and even before he is born. It begins with a tradition of service that is as old as America.

Great technological strides of recent years have drastically increased its importance. Instead of reducing the need for him, new complex weaponry demands much more of today's Soldier. By themselves, modern weapons are inert. Despite their marvelous mechanisms, they are incapable of exerting the highest influence upon an enemy. They are only tools awaiting the touch of human hands. But the hands must be skilled and the mind guiding them must have the resolve to make them act when they are needed.

He doesn't float, fly or fission but MAN is the only ultimate weapon. American Soldiers are not supermen, but they are a little better than most men, a little

Our 'Quality' Educational System in Jeopardy

(UNLESS our schools remain stand a good chance at losing our open for 175 days this year, we accredited standing which means that our children will not have the same opportunities in furthering their education as other children do. So what are we going to do about it, parents?—THE EDITOR)

Commission on Secondary Schools Supt. W. A. LeCroy State Department of Education Montgomery 4, Alabama Dear Superintendent LeCroy:

Recently, the Alabama State Chairman for this Commission, Dr. J. C. Blair, advised me that there is a real possibility a number of schools in the state may be unable to operate for a term of 175 days this year. I have been aware of the difficulties being encountered by Alabama schools but had hoped these problems were possible of solution.

I realize that you probably are aware that failure of any school associated with us to operate for the minimum of 175 days we specify in our Standards would place the continued accreditation of such a school by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in serious jeopardy. Since we take action only at the time of our annual meeting the first week of each December, students in the schools this year would not be affected but we would have no recourse but to drop these schools at the annual meeting in December, 1962.

I recognize that, since the Legislature did not approve adequate support for the schools, local communities do not face the necessity of raising funds, outsource a quality and daughters and that, in some educational program or their sons cases, tax ceilings and other circumstances may actually prevent the public from doing anything about this situation despite a strong desire to do so. While, at a first impression, one is inclined to be sympathetic with them, it strikes me that this same public recognize that its own apathy made it possible for a Legislature to subject them to the present situation. Whatever the situation, it is quite likely that your own office and ours would be wise to begin preparing the public for what will happen in 1962.

Yours sincerely, Raymond G. Wilson Executive Secretary Commission on Secondary Schools Suite 502 - 795 Peachtree St. N. E. Atlanta 8, Ga.

This is Mayor Hollis Jackson. I know you have heard me campaign for many things around this City of ours. Right now I'm campaigning for a fight. But not a political fight. This is a fight to save lives... a fight against the nation's number one infectious killer, Tuberculosis. And you can join this fight just by using Christmas seals. Because Christmas seals pay for so many weapons that will help stamp out this killer. Weapons like medical research and health education. I would like to urge you to use Christmas seals to put them on every card, every package. Let's help make Chilton County an even healthier town by using those bright little patches of color on all our holiday mail. They fight TB and help save lives. To join with me in campaigning for this different kind of fight. A fight for good health by answering your Christmas seal letter, today. Won't you?

ANCIENT HISTORY:

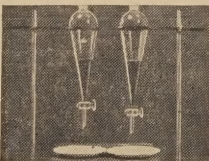

Gasoline gum used to cause unexpected repair bills.
Today, one of Super Shell's 9 ingredients fights off gum —to save you money and give you top performance.

The gum preventive in today's Super Shell is so powerful that one thousandth of an ounce is enough to treat a gallon. Read how this "chemical policeman" works.

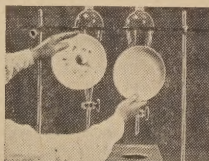

THE MECHANIC in our photograph is about to go to work on a gummed-up carburetor. A nice little repair job.

But to Shell scientists, gummed-up carburetors are ancient history.

And so are other gum troubles. Such as sticky intake valves. And fouled automatic chokes. Here's why:
1. Shell uses refining processes that hold certain gum-forming gasoline components to a minimum.

Drip test shows how well Shell gum prevention works. Container on left has raw, unprocessed gasoline without gum preventive on right, processed gasoline with Super Shell's gum preventive. Gasolines drip onto heated plates and evaporate, simulating long storage.

2. Shell guards all tanks, pipes, and trucks against dirt and other gum-forming contaminants.
3. Shell includes a powerful gum preventive in Super Shell's nine-ingredient formula.

"Chemical cop" at work

The gum preventive in Super Shell is so effective that a thousandth of an ounce is enough to treat a whole gallon of gasoline.

This remarkable ingredient has been described as a "chemical policeman." It helps to keep unstable elements in gasoline from sticking together—the way a skilled policeman prevents trouble by keeping a crowd from forming.

Hot Weather Blend

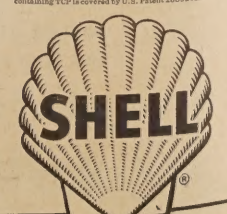

For a quick run-down on the other eight ingredients in today's Super Shell, see box at right.

And for top performance all summer, keep your tank filled with Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend. It's specially formulated to fight engine flooding and other hot weather troubles. At Shell stations now.

Here are the 9 Ingredients in Super Shell—and what they do to give your car top performance

- #1 is TCP—for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #2 is Pentane mix—for fast warm-ups.
- #3 is anti-knock mix—for knock resistance.
- #4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock".
- #5 is Butane—for quick starts.
- #6 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.
- #7 is an "anti-icer." Added when cold weather sets in.
- #8 is gum preventive—for clean carburetors.
- #9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2889115.

Big Wheels In Small Circles

ABOUT two or three weeks ago word was being spread around to the effect that Governor Patterson had gotten it straight from the horses mouth that Bob Kennedy would relinquish his "throne" as Attorney General for a more obscure position on the President's private staff. The source was thought to be reliable and some opinions were that John F. Kennedy had finally come to his senses. Apparently though, it was the wind whistling Dixie... we've yet to see anything concrete about the situation, but we're still hoping!

The Big Boys

ANY of you advertisers or merchants who feel that the larger the media, the greater the effectiveness don't know enough about it. And if you give these larger media credit for being pretty smart about what is good advertising and what is not, then it might interest you to know that this weekly newspaper gets gobs of mail each week from magazines, television large agencies, etc. doing their level best to advertise in the local community newspaper. Of course, they pitch to you that they are doing you a service by giving you the material, but you can bet your last pair of winter underwear that their product, name, or service is mentioned somewhere very prominently in that "free" bonus material which they so generously furnish. Mr. Businessman: These fellows know where to advertise, and they think they've found a way to get it free... but not here! We know where to advertise, too! Didja ever see a newspaper ad in a magazine or on television? Seldom if ever! We're not knocking their products... we just think that if they want to use newspapers to advertise their products, then they shouldn't be ashamed to come out and do it... legitimately... everybody's doing it, you know!

Beware of "Sameness"

WE, as American citizens in fact, as citizens of Chilton County are in very real danger of letting our good intentions enslave us by completely destroying our individuality. Laws and restrictions, created to "help those who need it" are closing in on our freedoms as citizens of this great country of ours, and if we don't recognize it and fight it, we will all be swallowed up in the sameness, the ignominy of socialism and stereotype!

There are too many laws and restrictions guiding the lives of the American people. If you don't want to lose your identity as an individual human-being you need to rebel against the ideas which make us all "equal", "the same", "patterned", "a mass of humanity". Personally, we don't want to be a part of "a mass of humanity." We much prefer the God-made blessing of a man being his own man, and answerable to the Almighty only!

You were made in the image of God. That is as far as your likeness to your fellowman goes. The Lord gave us abilities, each man his own, and it is a terrible waste, and sin, if you do not use the one you

School Amendments

THERE is not a citizen among us, who would not admit that our educational system is in one bad mess. Neither is there one among us who should not give his or her most careful attention to ways and means of solving this educational problem and, say what you will, it looks like the only sure answer in the foreseeable future is a local tax on property.

Amendments eight through 28, which you will vote on December 5th are concerned with the levying of special taxes on property with the express purpose of relieving the pressure on our school budget problem.

Amendment No. 12 is to allow Chilton County to levy an additional 2 mill property tax to establish and operate a vocational trade school provided it is approved by the voters in a local election.

The other 27 Amendments are primarily the same, only they deal with other counties in the state. All are based on educational needs.

We do not recommend that you vote "YES" on anything that will further the cause of socialism in our country. We are too far along on that road as it is. But, you are aware of our educational problems, especially if you have children in school. It is with this thought in mind, that we recommend strongly that you consider these Amendments mentioned, and if you feel that they are justifiable and will serve to help our children to get a better education, vote for them!

There are better ways, perhaps, but we don't see any one offering any, and the time is here when we must do something to help our children in their efforts to gain an education.

Mr. and Mrs. Voter: The Choice is yours!

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your doctor as a health service to the Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

WHAT IS CHOLESTEROL?

Cholesterol is dangerous for overweight men in the 45 to 62 year age group. Cholesterol is a fatty substance believed to be a factor in hardening of the arteries and heart attacks. A recent study indicates that overweight men in the mentioned age group who have high cholesterol level also have a risk of developing coronary heart disease fourteen times that of men with normal weight and normal cholesterol level.

The answer to this condition, according to a leading nutritional authority, is a diet high in protein and low in the saturated fats of fat. Such a diet, the doctor says, restricts beef, lamb, and pork while emphasizing fish, sea food, veal, fowl and the low fat dairy products such as skim milk, fat free buttermilk and cottage cheese.

In the study of 111 men who took part in the high protein reducing 97 were said to be successful in achieving a normal weight in a 10 week reducing period. The reducing diet ranged from 1350 to 2000 calories and the average weight loss was 19 pounds. After the 10 week period, the reducing diet was altered to maintenance diet by adding a small amount of corn oil, fruits, vegetables and bread.

Seventy four men followed the maintenance diet for at least six months and 56 followed it for at least one year, with blood cholesterol remaining level and average weight loss being maintained. This diet, according to the doctor reporting on the study, maintains blood cholesterol at a low level unlike traditional diets which may have irregular effects on cholesterol levels.

Christmas Seals A Weapon Against TB

TB fighting Christmas Seals, Alabama's mightiest weapons against tuberculosis made their annual visit in Chilton County this week.

Thousands of gaily colored letters containing Christmas Seals were mailed to homes in this county in the 55th annual appeal to the public to continue its support of the slowly winning fight to wipe out tuberculosis.

According to Mrs. R. M. Tucker Chilton County's 1961 Christmas Seal Chairman, the people of this county never have, and never will let this campaign down as long as TB remains a threat to our homes.

She added, "Tremendous victories have been won in the battle against TB but the war against this treacherous disease is far from won. TB caused the deaths of several thousand people in the United States, and 26 of them in Alabama and 4 deaths occurred here in Chilton County. 1400 Alabamians have active tuberculosis and 76 of those cases are here in Chilton County. That makes it everybody's fight, the chairman stated.

The annual TB Christmas Seal Campaign combines simple giving with love and concern for our neighbor. It tempers us to a kinder more generous mood and interest us in helping those who

Test Should Be Resumed Soon Regardless Of World Opinion

The following reprinted from the Mobile Press)

Never mind whatever propaganda advantage the United States might have gained by living up to her atomic test ban commitment while the Reds were violating it--let's get back to testing quick-like.

A majority in the United Nations political committee seems determined to set up a new voluntary unilateral moratorium on nuclear testing.

This nation has had enough of that kind of business. As a result of our willingness to agree to such a setup and to live up to the deal we may now be behind the Soviet Union in nuclear weapons knowledge.

All those nations which voted for the new agreement know full well that the Russians were cheating all the time on the recently ended ban. From the moment the United States agreed to halt testing several years ago until August 31, the Reds worked feverishly to set up scores of new tests. The very fact they were able to get off such a long series of blasts, one right after another, clearly demonstrates that they were not acting in good faith with other nations of the world.

On the other hand, there is no clearly defined evidence that we have much of a propaganda advantage by refraining from tests. If we enjoy such an advantage now, then why did the majority of nations represented on the U. N. political committee to put on into another bid, if it shouldn't object to us protecting ourselves.

And bound we would be if our U. N. delegation voted for the moratorium. In such a situation, Khrushchev and his gang would enjoy an enormous advantage.

The world should know that the American people are sick and tired of the so called neutrals prescribing high standards for us as to when by when the enemy that is conquering the world has their permission to subscribe to any measure of conduct it sees fit.

All American energies should be devoted to resumption of weapons testing at the earliest possible time regardless of world opinion.

SELDEN IS RIGHT

We agree with Rep. Armistead Selden of Greensboro, Ala., that the United States should consider withdrawing its financial support of the Organization for American States, if the OAS persists in its refusal to take action against Fidel Castro regime in Cuba.

The Alabama congressman pointed out that thus far the OAS, which took sanctions against the regime in the Dominican Republic, thus far has taken no steps against Cuba.

Mrs. Selden is right in insisting that since the United States is paying two-thirds of the cost of supporting OAS, the organization should take steps immediately to live up to its charter.

"I have advocated sanctions against Cuba in the past, and believe the OAS is failing in its purpose when it fails to take stand," he said.

Congress some time ago overwhelmingly adopted a Seldenian call for sanctions against Cuba. The lawmaking body followed this up with a resolution of the hemisphere organization with the view of making it to do what needs to be done with regard to Cuba.

While the OAS did dally around Castro continues to use his armed might and to resort to such extreme measures as kidnapping children from their parents for the purpose of indoctrinating them in his cause.

More power to men like Selden who have the courage to speak their minds on the critical questions of the world.

100 YEARS AGO

RAILROADS NEEDED

One hundred years ago, the Confederacy was suffering because of the lack of railroads. It had few materials to use in constructing new lines or in repairing old ones. And by November 1861, Union "sympathizers" were destroying railroads in the South.

Realizing the need for a railway line, Confederate President Jefferson Davis asked that a 40 mile gap be completed between Danville, Virginia and Greensboro, North Carolina. Congress appropriated money for this work on February 1862, but because of the lack of materials the project was not finished until 1864... and then only after other lines were taken up to get materials.

Most disheartening to the South bridges in Tennessee in November was the burning of five railway of 1861. This cut off transportation between strategic points and caused much disorder. On November 21 Confederate Colonel S.A.M. Wood wrote Secretary of War Judah P. Benjamin about conditions near Chattanooga, Tennessee. He said, "The Pro-Union line are now quiet, but not convinced. Erections needed."

Besides the destruction of railroads, the South received another set-back at Pensacola, Florida. Attacks made by Union forces at Fort McRee and Barrancas continued. From November 22 to November 25, 1861 Federal guns at Fort Pickens aided by USS Niagara and USS Richmond bombarded 14 Confederate Batteries, North Warren and Woolsey, near the navy yards, were affected by burning buildings.

On the sea however, CSS Sumter experienced success with its raids. At the French Island Martique, on November 23, 1861, the Sumter escaped through the Federal Blockade and evaded the USS Iroquois.

Talking Pines

Have the pines ever talked to you about their philosophy of life? Did you ever listen to them and tell you how they have grown tall because they have grown straight; how they grow big because they look towards the sun; how they have learned to be strong because they are earth-rooted in God's good earth; how they have learned to be patient because it takes time to grow; how they have learned to be humble and how they have been listening to God at the turning of each new day. ON YOUR Thanksgiving Trip

LOVING CARE IS NEEDED when you're driving, too!

There are so many ways to express your love for a child—amuse him, caress him, understand him, protect him from hurt and harm.

Because drivers kill and cripple more children than any disease, a car is potentially one of the most dangerous places your child can ever be. So protect him whenever he is in the car—with a seat belt.

If every car owner in America had seat belts in his car—and used them—we could reduce severe injuries by one-third, deaths by 5,000 a year!

It's terribly important to drive with loving care, always. And to support strict law enforcement in your town, for where laws are strictly enforced, accidents and deaths go down. But can a parent who wants to protect his loved ones and himself possibly overlook the protection afforded by seat belts?

Canned Gravy Is Always Smooth

A word well known to chefs is "roux" . . . pronounced "roo." It simply means a mixture of melted butter or other fat and browned flour used for making "gravies." You, as a homemaker, are less familiar with the word, more familiar with the procedure as you remove a roast from the oven, measure drippings, and blend in flour and water. Since this is usually the trouble spot why not pledge yourself to end gravy-making problems forever . . . by substituting any one of the good canned gravies available at your store. Certainly you'll be proud to serve beef, chicken, or mushroom gravy at any meal. Once you pour or ladle any one of the gravies you'll marvel at the satiny smoothness and shininess of each. Too, they're bound to please calorie watchers. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

... is PRIVATE ENTERPRISE AT ITS BEST!

In the early '30's, rural electrification was at a standstill. Scattered farms were supposedly too costly to reach. Only one farm family in ten had or could get electric light and power at a price it could afford.

Then, in 1935, came the Rural Electrification Administration. Rural people like us could form groups, incorporate, borrow funds—at modest interest rates—from REA, and build lines to serve ourselves.

Up to now about 1,000 rural electric systems from coast to coast have borrowed $3½-billion from REA, to build 1½-million miles of line which serve over 16-million rural Americans.

Over $1.1-billion in principal and interest has already been repaid to the United States Treasury—on or before due date. And 97% of all Americans who live beyond the city limits are now being served.

This, we submit, is private enterprise at its best.

Parent Commends Better Speech Club

The following, though they may think, a just and proper tribute to one of our educators in Chilton County today. Brevity, in this case, would have left something to be desired. So, here 'tis.)

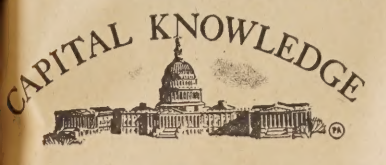

Dalene King Foshee

November 10, members of the Better Speech Club presented a Skit of a Days Dork. The host, Phil Cole, greeted guests at the door. The arrangements of red and white chrysanthemums made the classroom more Ginger Alred, president welcomed the guests and introduced the class officers: Vice president Edw. Johnson; secretary, Jimmy McKee; treasurer, John Morgan Foshee; and host Phil Cole.

Phil Cole called the guests attention to various materials available in their room. They included encyclopedias, maps, pictures and library books.

In preparation for American Education Week the activities committee made colorful red and white badges. This committee is composed of John Morgan Foshee, Norma Bates and Lynn Thrash. These badges were pinned on the parents and friends.

Alabama

Montgomery and stately building on Capitol (Goat) Hill is perhaps as famous for what it was as what it is. Alabama's Capitol Building, dating from 1846, was the birthplace of the Confederacy, its Capitol the first years of the Civil War. The spot where Jefferson Davis took the oath as President of the Confederacy is marked by a bronze star. Near the Capitol, the "White House of the Confederacy" is maintained much as it was when Davis lived there. Montgomery is an interesting Capitol to visit.

Lynn Thrash was in charge of the opening prayer and the devotional. The following scriptures were repeated in union by the class: Psalms 139:23-24; Ecclesiastes 12:1; Proverbs 22:6; and II Timothy 2:15. The class sang All Things Bright and Beautiful, accompanied by Susan Speaks.

Susan Speaks in a very capable manner, reported on Arithmetic. Ginger Alred and Edwin Johnson worked problems on the blackboard with great speed and accuracy.

Jimmy McKee gave an excellent report on Handwriting. Each child is taught penmanship. Samples of their work are sent to penmanship experts for evaluation several times during the year. Leading writers in the room, at present are Linda Blackmon, Ginger Alred, Edwin Johnson, Jimmy Rogers, John Morgan Foshee and Irene Wright.

Wade Giles gave an interesting report on Health. Drawings pertaining to digestion were posted on the bulletin board.

A report on Physical Education and its importance was given by Billy Mims. The class elected Ginger Alred, Susan Speaks, Jimmy McKee and Warren Miller to serve as squad leaders. Students enjoy rhythm games and dance on rainy days. Several couples participated in a rhythm dance to Autumn Polka accompanied by their class mates in son and Belinda Headley at the piano.

Laura Ann Klinner stressed her classmates were learning many things besides subject matter found in textbooks. Such traits as kindness, helpfulness, helpfulness, honesty and welcoming new friends are practiced in daily living and in the classroom.

Social Studies were discussed by Edwin Johnson. The class has been studying the period of explorations and discoveries, the Revolutionary War period and the formation of the Constitution of the United States.

A language report was given by John Morgan Foshee. The class is learning to use, speak, and write better English. At the beginning of the school year Mrs. Thomas visited in the homes of her pupils. Class members were divided into groups and allowed to accompany her after school. As a result, the students made a booklet, We Go Visiting, which tells of the pleasant experiences they encountered on the trip.

Spelling was discussed by Belinda Headley. A written test is given every Thursday, followed by an oral test on Friday. A prize will be awarded to the best speller at the end of school. Realizing that real weakness is likely to prove both a business and social handicap, Mrs. Thomas encourages the children to proofread their papers and to consult the dictionary for correct spelling.

In an excellent manner, Donna Little talked on reading. She gave an oral book report on "The Doll Who Came Alive" by Enys Tregarthen. Phil Cole reported on "Will Rogers" by Guernsey Van Ripper, Jr. Oral encyclopedia reports were given by Laura Ann Klinner and Wade Connell. Brief Weekly Reader reports were given by Norma Bates and Edwin Johnson.

Mike Jones gave an interesting coverage of art work done in the class. The children have been working with tempera paints. Several lovely paintings were on display. Among them were: "Fall Harvest" by John Morgan Foshee; "Oceanside" by Ginger Alred; "Mountain Scene" by Edwin Johnson and "Thoroughbred in the Pasture" by Norma Bates.

Members of the Better Speech Club consist of all students in Mrs. Thomas' room. Tony Smith, a member of the club, read the preamble. Various club workers recited poems.

Among them were: Tony Smitherman on Good Citizenship; Edwin Johnson on Jonathan Bink; Billy Mims on Time For Homework; Norma Bates and Linda Blackmon on Not In Vain.

Also on program were Mike Jones and John Foshee, Laura Ann Klinner, Debbie Bates and Ginger Alred, Lynn Thrash and Irene Wright, Wade Connell, David Holcombe and Susan Speaks.

Several piano selections were given by the following boys and girls:

Belinda Headley played "Distant Bells"; Ginger Alred, The Star Spangled Banner; John Morgan Foshee, "Londonderry Air"; Edwin Johnson, "The Spider Dance"; Susan Speaks, "Starlight Waltz"; and the class song was sung by the club workers. Ginger Alred made the closing remarks.

The students led, with self-assurance, this most enjoyable skit which was presented to some 22 parents and guests.

They displayed initiative and leadership ability and most of all goodwill toward others.

Mrs. Thomas is to be commended for the excellent work she is doing with these fifth grade pupils. She gives words of encouragement

VOTER Another Side On The Amendment Question

The so-called $10 million Bond Issue for new Prisons to be voted on December 5th is being misrepresented to the people of Alabama.

Some who are interested in the passage of this preposterous, unrealistic amount for new prisons say they want the young prisoners separated from the hardened criminals and they want to teach high school subjects to the young prisoners. We need both. Our young offenders could easily be separated without this monstrous new prison building program. A few textbooks could be made available for those, young and old interested enough to study and learn high school subjects while in prison on their own time.

Many of our prisoners should not be in prison. We need a complete revision of our criminal code. Let us not forget why we have prisons. I do not believe any prison system can be better than the men who run it. Our convict guards and other prison employees need more pay and better working conditions. Furthermore, I see no guarantee under the present penal system laws whereby the changes being talked about would necessarily be carried out if the bond issue is passed. The proposed $10 million College Motel prison plan does not increase the guards and other employees pay one dime; nor does it shorten the 12 hour work day for the guards and prisoners in our road camps.

How can we vote to spend $10 million for new prisons when Kilby prison is in better condition than most of our school buildings? Even in prison road camps where some of the state's toughest prisoners are located are in much better condition than some of our county schools. The road camps get money for maintenance and repairs and our schools do not, because of proration.

Also, I do not feel that sufficient safeguards were written into the prison bond issue proposal to guarantee that the full value will be received for the property which is disposed of in the process of rebuilding in new prison sites.

We are facing the greatest need for our money for education today than any other time in our state's history. Let us show by our vote on December 5th that we place the needs of our young school students ahead of the new prison buildings.

Easy But Elegant Peach Mousse

A simple dessert becomes a conversation piece when it's made in a fancy shape, as this handsome molded peach mousse testifies. Almond flavoring and the tang of lemon enhance the fresh-fruit flavor of frozen peaches in whipped cream. For less formal occasions the same mixture may be molded in the freezing tray of the refrigerator.

Molded Fruit Mousse
1 package (12 ounces) Birds Eye Sliced Peaches, thawed
4 tablespoons sugar
Crush thawed fruit thoroughly; add sugar, lemon juice, salt and extract. Then whip cream and fold into the fruit. Spoon into 1-quart or freezer compartment of refrigerator. Let stand 3 1/2 to 4 hours, or until firm.

To unmold, wipe mold with a cloth, which has been dipped in hot water. Then remove waxed paper. Loosen edges of mousse carefully with a sharp knife. Cover with cold serving platter and turn mold and platter together. Lift off mold. Serve at once or place in freezer or freezing compartment of refrigerator until ready to serve. Garnish with additional sliced peaches and mint leaves, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Happy Thanksgiving New Cedars for Lebanon

Spreading cedars once covered all the mountaintops of Lebanon.

The famous "Cedars of Lebanon," from which the Phoenicians built their ubiquitous merchant fleets and ancient Egyptians fashioned solar boats, will be rejuvenated and increased when Lebanon puts into effect a huge reforestation project.

Known as "Green Project," the program will add about 300,000 acres to Lebanon's forests, estimated at present to cover an area of 160,000 acres. The magnificent cedars, which only grow in Lebanon's highest mountains, and some of which are hundreds of years old, will get special attention from the Ministry of Agriculture. New shoots will be planted on the high mountain slopes, and strict laws will be imposed against cutting down the centuries-old trees which have become one of the main tourist attractions of this beautiful country on the Mediterranean.

"Green Project" also aims at making the country self-sufficient in the production of wood and in preventing soil erosion. No estimate of cost, yet been worked out for the scheme, but it is expected to provide employment for about 6,000 laborers.

The trees most recommended for Lebanon's forests include cedars, poplars, pines, oaks, wormwood and eucalyptus. Nurseries have already been started to grow the young shoots.

The Director of Agriculture, Dr. Malek Baboun, will make available, free of charge, all afforestation land and fruit trees, both for private and state land. The contracting company may also be approached about opening roads into agricultural lands.

FOLKS

About

by Ben

SOMEbody mentioned us going back to work at the shop. I almost scared us to death. We almost three times and then talked into giving us three or four months before we go back to real work. We understand that stuff's hard on the situation.

CHARLIE Cox insulted us the other day as we went into Dixie. Having to carry that metal cane and it makes a suitable weapon. Charlie had to serve to greet us with, "Good morning Colonel."

This amendment coming up Dec. 5th regarding the building of a $200,000 prison in Alabama, reminds us of Gov. Patterson's campaign, "Everybody's for it, but the people."

We were out riding over Chilton County, Saturday afternoon and we never saw so many peach orchards still needing pruning. The reasonable weather, is bringing peach trees forward pre-maturely even at this early season. Taking the fields all-in-all, they are in as good a condition as we have ever seen.

Let's trade pigs for Christmas. We had an old hen Thanksgiving years old and as tough as the evidence attorney with all the evidence on his side. We're going to find something to supplement the turkey as the National Bird. We should be able to find something that is more tender and easy for Christmas and off hand we can think of several things.

Graham Smith is a lousy bird dog. He hunts with a trained dog and an untrained bird. He can't hit a quail unless it goes around a haystack. We saw him Monday morning and he said he would swap both for a couple of used pumpkins.

Nothing will encourage a man to answer the call of duty like the ring of a silver dollar.

Library Board For Chilton County

The Chilton County Board of Revenue on Control appointed a County Library Board at the regular meeting of the Board with the following members from the various communities selecting:

Mr. Ed. Clapp, Maplesville; Mrs. H. H. Champion, Verbenia; Mrs. Neo Langston, Jemison; Mrs. Curtis Smith, Thorby and Morris; Motts serving for Clanton, Chairman.

These individuals, and many others like them have worked tirelessly to obtain library facilities for Chilton County. They are making an unmitigated progress and have now reached the point where a permanent service for Chilton County is next thing to a reality. The support of this cause is solicited by this group of public-spirited citizens.

Chilton Quarantine-- Costly Treating For Beetle Begun Here

Eradication Program Of Fire Ants Renewed

ACCORDING to Bill Heims, local Superintendent for Plant Pest Control, Division of the United States Department of Agriculture work is underway to rid some 2500 acres north of Clanton of the White-Fringe Beetle which has become a major problem in some parts of Chilton County and the State as a whole.

Heims said the application being used at this time is a 10% Granular Dieldrin insecticide and it is being applied aerially by the Southland Dusting Service of Montgomery.

The area being treated at this time extends from the Thorby City limits south to New Salem Creek on the Thorby straight east to Yellow Leaf Creek and west to the Sam Bentley Farms. Work got underway last week, but they cannot work in winds over eight miles per hour so it is going rather slowly.

Heims also stated that farmers in the area were cooperating almost 100% on the project. The Federal and State Government pays for the materials used, amounting to some $6 per acre and the landowners involved are paying 70c per acre for the application. The White-Fringe Beetle is a "bitchlike" and therefore the quarantine which we are now under covers materials and products which are shipped out of Chilton County and is being enforced to try to halt the spread of this pest. The beetle lives in roots, especially of those vegetables which have an extensive root system. It is about three times the size of the Boll Weevil and there is only one sex of the species. It just takes one to start a new infestation.

"The imported Fire Ant, which has been dealing much misery to local property owners, is again being attacked by the USDA," said Heims, "and with the help of the people, we think we can stamp out this pest too, before too long!"

Chilton Seeking Passage Of 2-Mill Tax Amendment

Twenty-one of the 45 proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on in Alabama December 5 would allow individual counties, cities, or school districts to impose additional taxes for schools.

Seventeen counties and five municipalities are seeking for a chance to vote new or increased taxes for education.

The counties are Baldwin, Bullock, Tuscaloosa, Calhoun, Chilton, Choctaw, Clarke, Clay, Franklin, Jackson, Jefferson, Lamar, Lauderdale, Mobile, Randolph, Talladega and Washington. Cities are Tuscaloosa, Tuscaloosa, Sheffield, Muscle Shoals and Florence.

These proposals appear on the ballot as Amendments eight through 28.

The amendments, the counties, municipalities and the tax proposed for schools are as follows:

No. 8, Baldwin County, special five mill tax.

No. 9, Bullock, additional license taxes.

No. 10, Tuscaloosa county-city, special property tax of one-half of one per cent.

Hill-Burton Funds Have Touched Chilton

Passage of Amendment No. 3 will bring Alabama approximately $132 million in Hill-Burton funds for the construction of hospitals and other medical and health facilities, according to a statement by Dr. D. G. Gill, State Health Officer.

Amendment 3 authorizes a $2,000,000 bond issue for hospital construction. The bonds would be General Obligation Bonds of the State of Alabama to be retired from current revenues and would involve no additional taxes.

Dr. Gill said that two earlier bond issues, proceeds of which have been exhausted, have been of great benefit to the State. The 1949 and 1958 bond issues each made $600,000 worth of hospital and health center construction possible. Funds from these two bond issues plus $15,600,000 in local fund brought over $26 million in Hill-Burton Funds to Alabama.

These funds were used for the construction of 116 facilities in 59 counties. Types of facilities included general hospitals, public centers, nursing homes, mental health clinics, a chronic disease hospital, a school of nursing, a tuberculosis and a diagnostic center.

Santa Claus is Coming to Town Cotton Referendum In December

Just what a yes or a no vote will mean in the December 12 Referendum on cotton marketing quotas was explained today by Eddie Owen, Chairman, Chilton Co. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. All farmers who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1961 are eligible to vote in the referendum.

"If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote in the referendum approve of quotas," he declared, "then the quotas will be in effect for the 1962 upland cotton crop, marketing penalties will apply to any 'excess' cotton produced on a farm, and price support to farmers who comply with their farm acreage allotments will be available at the full effective level."

"On the other hand, if more than one-third of the growers who vote oppose the quotas, then there will be no quotas and no penalties applicable to the 1962 upland cotton crop, and price support to farmers who comply with their farm acreage allotments will be available at 50 percent of parity, as directed by law.

"Allotments are not affected by the outcome of the balloting. They will remain in effect—whether or not the quotas are approved—as a means of determining eligibility for the available price support."

Mr. Owen pointed out that while the Secretary of Agriculture is directed by law to proclaim quotas for the next crop when the cotton supply exceeds normal, it is the growers themselves who decide whether or not quotas shall be used. Previous votes on the subject have been outstandingly favorable. Marketing quotas for the 1961 upland cotton crop were approved by 96.6 percent of the growers voting.

Allotments for individual farms will be made available to growers within the next few days so that farmers may have the information prior to the December 12 Referendum.

Seven years of conscientious practice yielded Mary Clyde Chism Clanton, an array of trophies and the Alabama State Grand Champion Twirler title Saturday at the Cloverdale Community Center.

Around 40 youngsters from across the state competed in the Alabama State Twirling Contest, while some 70 participated in the annual clinic.

Mary Clyde is not only head cheerleader and assistant head majorette of the Chilton County High School Band, but an excellent student and a member of the Beta Club. She plays also clarinet with the band.

Let The People Decide If They Want To Help Their Local Schools

The school financial situation in Alabama is serious. Everyone knows we must pay to educate our young people. Alabama expenditure per child per year is the lowest in the nation. Twenty-one amendments have been proposed, that will be voted upon December 5th, which will permit these twenty-one County and City School systems throughout the State to raise additional funds on the local level for their own school systems. But to do so they each need all voters throughout the State to VOTE 'YES' for their respective constitutional amendments. VOTE 'YES' FOR AMENDMENTS 8 THROUGH 28 ON December 5th. Your YES vote for these amendments will permit the people in the following County and City school systems to raise additional funds if they wish to do so:

Baldwin, Bullock, Tuscaloosa County-City, Cahoon, Chilton, Choctaw, Clarke, Clay, City of Tusculum, City of Sheffield, City of Muscle Shoals, Franklin, Jackson, Jefferson, Lamar, Lauderdale, City of Florence, Mobile, Randolph, Talladega and Washington.

KEEP ALABAMA'S PLACE IN SPACE!

The Space Age has meant that you as a citizen of Alabama have been a part of the most dramatic development in the history of the human race. This has significance for the farmer in Dothan the businessman in Montgomery, the school teacher in Gadsden, the housewife in Selma, the industrial worker in Birmingham and Mobile, the doctor in Greenville. It has significance for YOU wherever you live in Alabama. It means more jobs and higher wages... additional brain-power for our schools and industries... and a higher standard of living.

Further Construction... through the Alabama Research Institute an agency of the University of Alabama - will spark growth of industry throughout the state.

This Is Not A Tax... it is a bond issue for $3,000,000. It could yield billions in return. The bond issue is needed to construct and equip the Research Institute Building. B.I. operating costs will be paid by contracts with the government and industries. It is anticipated that the Research Institute will be self-supporting! Remember! It won't cost you, it will pay you!

If The Necessary Research Environment is not provided in Alabama, the opportunity we now have will go to another State. California, Florida, and other states are making every concerted effort to attract the space agencies we mistakenly take for granted in Alabama.

You Can Help by going to the polls December 5th and voting YES on Amendment No. 2. Encourage your friends and neighbors to vote with you.

When You Vote on December 5th, remember these facts:

1. Amendment No. 2 will provide new space - related industry in Alabama - new payrolls for our people.
2. Amendment No. 2 is a bond issue - no school money will be used to pay these bonds.
3. Amendment No. 2 does not require any new taxes.

Miss Martin Weds Mr. Smith Thanksgiving

Miss Mary Mell Martin became the bride of Bonny Rayburn Smith in the First Baptist church here on Thanksgiving night, November 23 at half past four.

The Rev. J. Gilbert Hutchinson, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated in a double ceremony.

Members of the couple are Mrs. Martin and the late Mr. Martin, and Mrs. Joseph Smith.

The background for the altar was a southern smilax with white flowers. The white arch was enlivened with ivy. There were two large baskets of white mums and a large basket of mum and red gerberas. There were two candelabra turned toward the bride where the bride party stood.

Miss Billy G. Wyatt played the organ and accompanied Miss Miriam Golden who sang, "Whither Thou Goest, Hand in Hand With Me and the Lord's Prayer as a fervent benediction.

Miss Mary Clyde Chism served as maid of honor. Her dress was bright blue velvet with a long skirt, short sleeves and a scalloped neckline. She wore a silver circle with matching veil. Her dress had a colonial bouquet of blue carnations. Joni Hayes, one of the groom served as flower girl. She was wearing a light blue velvet dress, with puffed sleeves, low neckline, full skirt and a bow at the waistline. She carried a blue satin basket decorated with a corsage of sweetheart roses and scattering rose petals for the bride.

The candles were lighted by Robert Martin, brother of the bride and Joe Powell cousin of the groom.

Given in marriage by her brother James M. Martin the bride wore a picture of loveliness in her dress of chantilly lace and net over white. The collar was of Queen Anne design, long sleeves that came to a point over the hands. The bodice came to a point in front with a beaded design. The dress was buttoned down the back with lace covered buttons. The skirt was floor length, with side panels and medallions of lace in front. The back was beaded with ruffles of lace and net. She wore small cultured pearls gifts of her late father. Her veil was elbow length of illusion attached to a crown of pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible with a bouquet of stephanotis, lily of the valley and centered with a white orchid.

The groom chose Kenneth Ray for best man. Ushers were Billy Hayes, Boyd Alaune, Billy Chism and Donald Martin, brother of the bride.

Bill Hayes, nephew of the groom served as ring bearer.

For her daughters wedding Mrs. Martin wore a mint green brocade satin sheath with matching jacket, white hat trimmed in pearls and sequins, white gloves and wore an orchid. The grooms mother wore cinnamon colored brocade satin sheath with matching hat and gloves with an orchid.

A reception in the home followed the marriage ceremony. In the receiving line was the mother of the bride, mother of the groom, the bride and groom, father of the groom and other attendants.

The brides table was covered with a white satin cloth over laid with silver lace caught at the corners with wedding bells. On the table was a five branched candelabra with blue burning candles. The cake was five tiered with swas dividers. Theme for the cake was birds, bells and flowers. Pink roses, sweet peas, cama lillies and hand molded love birds decorated it and was topped with a miniature bride and groom. It was placed on a satin circle overlaid with net.

The punch bowl was surrounded with ivy.

Miss Julie Wade registered the guests in the brides book from an appointed table marked with a single blue candle.

After the traditional cutting of the cake by the bride and groom it was cut and served by Mrs. Boyd Alaune, cousin of the bride and Mrs. Billy Hayes sister of the groom. Others assisting in serving were Misses Ara Nell Pettijohn, Carolyn Mitchell, Linda Brown, Susan Powell, Dorothy Foshee and Mrs. William B. Eiland.

In the gift room were bronze and yellow mums. The mantle was banked with ivy with two pair of love birds spaced on it where many gifts were on display.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a black wool suit, a magenta hat with accessories to match and the orchid from her brides bouquet.

After a wedding trip they will make their home in Clanton where the groom is employed at New Port News.

Wet And Dry--

LEGALIZED alcohol, in all its various forms, is a term which most Chilton Countians avoid like the plague. But, it is definitely part of our social structure even though highly over-rated and grossly misrepresented.

The folks who are seeking legalized alcohol for Chilton County are, as near as we can gather, doing so on the assumption that alcohol is already flowing over every hill and gully in the County and the State and County are realizing nothing in monetary return. It is, in fact, costing us money. This we concede to be a possibility, if not a probability, but we can see no dividend in swapping the devil for the witch just to line the treasury.

If money is the only real argument for legalized alcohol then it hasn't much in its favor. We need the money, and we need to get rid of a lot of bootlegging operations, but will the end justify the means? Can we swap bootlegging and the loss of dollars for even the possibility of corrupting and damaging our new generation? The possibility is there!

True, it is up to the parent to guide and discipline his child or children, but how many parents of teenage children these days, know exactly where that child is 24 hours a day? The unsavory element which would be brought out into the open with legalized alcohol is not nearly worth the risk we'd have to take with the lives of our people and the future of our children.

Large cities do it; but larger cities are not small towns. The way of life is completely different. There are recreational facilities and entertainment available which we do not yet have and there is also a lot of "teenage vice" evidenced, which we do not have.

The "hiding from it and maybe it will go away" attitude has no particular merit; but neither does the attitude of "asking for it and living to be sorry we did it!"

Some have said, "it would be up to the law to see that the bad element was kept out!" That is very true, but it is also "up to the law" to see that bootlegging is not practiced, but it continues to prosper. Why? First, because the law enforcement agencies have inadequate facilities and resources to do the job. Second, because the people themselves do not want it stopped! A good argument, we think, against legalized alcohol, because we see much more harm in "voting" for the possibility of more lawlessness and corruption when we are already having difficulty overcoming that which now exists.

We may come out with less money; but rather than extending the realm of a blight that is already shaming us why don't we satisfy and challenge ourselves with the task of defeating it! We see no progress in alcohol, legalized or otherwise!

A petition against bootleggers, vice and corruption would seem to be in order. We are not going to lick the evil which is alcohol by joining forces with it!

Government Control--

THE Federal Government and Mr. Kennedy have set up a program whereby industry will begin a system of hiring "qualified" Negroes for good jobs in any industries holding government contracts. They have also developed a "checking and reporting" system so they can tell who is complying with their "request".

This is a most revolting blow to our integrity in a free enterprise economic system and is further evidence that we are strangers to our 'leaders'. They don't give a royal hang about what we want or think is right. It is degrading enough that the Federal Government "suggests" as much as it does about what we do and do not do; but when they start making us report on the matter, then we know it is no longer a request, but an order.

If the using of government contracts as a battering ram for minorities is not blackmail, then we fail to see its value at all. We believe there are enough real Americans in industry today to turn them down cold and accept the furor of the almighty 'Feds'!

When we were kids and a guy came around to play ball with the rest of the crowd, he didn't make the grade by whining to the coach that everybody was treating him dirty. He proved himself and earned his position. The worst thing he could have done would have been to throw his weight around and try to bluff his way into the group. It doesn't work in games, it doesn't work in business and Coach Kennedy is going to find that his 'protege', the apple of his eye is not going to make the team—at least not that way!

Just one question: Under the Government's plan of total equality and qualified allegiance, how would a group of white Southerners from Alabama fare if they could stomach stooping and asking for such a wonderful "favor"? Would y'all hold our hand, too?

Vote "YES" For Schools--

A YES vote by 21 amendments, No. 8 through 28, in the December 5 special election will help solve critical school problems facing Alabama counties and cities.

With state school funds having been prorated to the amount of $35,250,000 over the past five years, it is no surprise that our schools are in desperate need of additional operating capital.

Budgets have had to be cut to the extent that practically no supplies could be bought.

Maintenance costs have been held to a minimum. Classrooms are overcrowded, and some schools are running double sessions.

Teachers' salaries have not advanced in line with those in comparable professions.

Believing that if we choose to wait for federal help, it will mean definite federal control, and if we depend on state help, it will mean a repeat of the last five years, 21 of our counties and cities are asking the people of the state to approve amendments authorizing them to levy additional taxes for schools.

At a time when Alabama is endeavoring to prosper, we cannot let our schools stand in the way of progress.

LOCAL support is the answer!

Vote YES for amendments eight through 28 on December 5th.

CHILTON COUNTY ENDORSE AMENDMENT NO. 12

Mr. Bob Tucker
Chilton County News
Clanton, Alabama

Dear Mr. Tucker:

On Tuesday evening, November 21st a representative group met at the Probate Judge's office to discuss ways and means of securing local support to the passage of Amendment No. 12.

This amendment provides for a special two mill ad valorem tax for the purpose, as stated in the preamble of this bill, "To propose a constitutional amendment relative to levying additional taxes in Chilton County for acquiring, constructing and maintaining a vocational trade school and for rural and industrial development of the county."

Judge White appointed Gordon Conway, M. R. Glascock and the writer to draft publicity to be published in both county newspapers on Nov. 29th. It is hoped that most local governing bodies and civic groups will appear as endorsers of this advertisement.

The above named committee met the following morning, and this meeting was also attended by Mr. James Duke Hefflin, President Chilton County Board of Education.

Mr. Hefflin stated that, in his opinion, the Board of Education would not endorse Amendment No. 12 without first obtaining a commitment from the Board of Revenue and Control as to future appropriations from this tax revenue.

Since parties interested in the passage of Amendment No. 12 seem to be in agreement that the primary goal for the present is to establish a trade school, and to do so we must have the endorsement and enthusiastic support of the Board of Education, I am hopeful that this matter can be satisfactorily resolved, even at this late date.

At my suggestion, Mr. Hefflin promised to appear before the Board of Revenue and Control on Monday, Nov. 27 at 10:00 a.m. He stated that he would at that time present recommendations regarding the establishment of this trade school and the requirements of the Board of Education in lending its endorsement to the passage of Amendment No. 12.

I sincerely hope that you will make it a point to attend this meeting.

Sincerely yours,
Chilton County Chamber of Commerce
John M. Higgins,
President

Vote YES on Amendments Eight through Twenty-Eight.

A YES vote on Amendment 12 will give Chilton County the Opportunity to Vote for a Trade School and to encourage new industry.

The proposed Trade School will give High School students and others in the whole area of Chilton County the opportunity to learn the following trades:
Radio and Television; Elementary Electronics; Auto Mechanics; Farm Machinery Repair; Practical Nursing; Cosmetology; Auto Body Repair; Carpentry; Cabinet Making; Brick Masonry; Welding.

THINGS

We see and hear

by BOB

YESSIR, there are lots of things we don't print because of age! We have to answer to our readers each and every week about things being published and not being published and there is a point we'd like to make in our defense... (we know that's ridiculous). This week's happens very often, we received some news concerning a Halloween Carnival. Well, heavens to betsy, it's almost time for Halloween again. We are more than happy to run such articles, especially when they concern our readers, but those same readers wonder why we're so long in doing it. And we can't print it until we know about it. Don't think for a minute that because we are a weekly newspaper that we'll accept stale news. Our readers are as demanding as any in this world and we certainly do appreciate and try to give them current copy.

If you are responsible for having something published in the paper, please get in touch with us far enough in advance that we can publish it on time. For a few weeks past we have been having a bit of a production problem, but that's a temporary thing and we think our regular readers will tell you that you read it "first" in the News... not "last!"

B. L. ADAMS, Public Accountant, has just returned from a trip to Birmingham where he attended a Federal Tax Clinic. Foy, we bet he had a headache when he got home. It's bad enough to pay 'em, much less listen to them!

Cedar Grove H. D. Club Met

The Cedar Grove HD club met November 7, 1961 with Mrs. Glenora Parrish. The President called the meeting to order. Devotion was by Mrs. Amos Smith. Story of the hymn and group singing was by Mrs. Emmett Smith. The secretary treasurer, Mrs. Kermit Lowery called the roll, read the minutes of the last meeting, and gave a treasurer's report.

The new officers of 1962 are: President Mrs. Amos Smith, vice president Mrs. Lillie Mastin, 2nd vice president Mrs. Evie Smith; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Avoline Mastin; song leader, Mrs. Evie Smith; Reporter, Mrs. Avoline Mastin; Recreation leader, Mrs. Turner Eiland.

A layette was completed at the meeting. The Library chairman from Cedar Grove is Mrs. Lillie Mastin. The meeting places for 1962 are to be the same as 1961.

The leaders for each project were selected and the four perfect attendance members were listed. The hostess served punch with cheese crackers and cookies to 11 members.

The December meeting is to be held at a Tea at the home of Mrs. Frank Mastin on December 5, 1961. Each member is to bring a gift to exchange.

Skilled workers make more money. A YES vote for Amendment 12 means greater opportunity and more money for all the people of Chilton County.

Amendment 12 is supported by: Chilton County Board of Education; Chilton County Board of Revenue and Control; Chilton County Chamber of Commerce; Chilton County Council of Parents and Teachers Association; American Legion Post 206, Thorby; American Legion Post 6, Clanton The Pilot Club; Kiwanis Club.

THE fellows we mentioned last week with the pettiest well, aren't ashamed of it at all. We agree with at least part of their idea... we just don't agree with their method of getting it done, that's all! They realize the problem and are seeking a solution to it; but legalized alcohol is not the answer!

MAX Franklin Scott of Clanton will be initiated into the fraternity in agriculture at the University on December 15. He is one of the Senior agricultural students to attain this distinction this session of school. Chilton County Delta was organized to recognize and honor outstanding contributions in the field of agriculture by students and professional workers. Congratulations! Max!

CHILTON County was seen in rural traffic accidents in Clanton, Alabama during the month of October with 10 accidents involving 17 persons injured and 1 death. Only other County with a higher rate than Chilton was Autauga with 11 accidents. Chilton was much higher in personal injuries, however. The causes: excessive speed, driving wrong side of road and under the influence of alcohol. The cure: The cure is known?

THE Highway Patrol says the cure is to reduce the traffic violations. We think they're wrong. They're talking about what you are you to question?

BONNIE Martin and her husband Martin have tied the record for the longest marriage in the county. They have been married for 50 years. Bonnie is a youngster. Bonnie is a youngster by Newport Business firm in Clanton and Mrs. Smith is in Birmingham. They've got home all fixed up and happy sail on the sea of marriage. Set a true course, Bonnie! There's some rough sailing. Bet she burned the oil in the very first time!

OBJECT OF FAITH
This is the victory that overcomes the world, even our faith. (1 John 5:4) The object of a Christian's faith is God, also Jesus Christ. Paul said, "Believe on the Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." The Clock Company every tick of time. The clock never changes. East, West, and South are always the same. God never changes. WHY IS AMENDMENT NO. 1 IMPORTANT TO YOU?

The Alabama legislature recently enacted into a bill that will place the people to vote on Amendment No. 1 on December 5, 1962. Write the bond issue placed upon in the amount of $5 million dollars, the enabling act passed by the legislature is for work that will be done in the next two years. When the legislature meets the board and architects will go to the body all information to how the 3 million, or part of it, has been expended prior to that time. They also present to the legislature need for more money during following two years. It is estimated that 2 million dollars will be needed, then another enabling act for 2 million will be passed.

BOND ISSUE—

Under the procedure is somewhat similar to the method already followed in the Inland Empire bonds program. It is the opinion of the Board of Corrections that this is the best method to handle the financing inasmuch as bonds will ever be sold until money is actually needed in the correction progress so the indication of need. This will decrease the considerably in the financing of the bond issue.

Under the provisions of the enabling act, all matters pertaining to the construction of new prison facilities, as well as the purchase of lands where the building will be located, will be handled by the board designated as the Prison Board by the legislature. This board will be composed of members of the present Board of Corrections and the Governor. At the present time, the Board of Corrections is composed of Charles E. Red Bay, Alabama, Chairman; H. J. Little, Alabama; William Mitch of Birmingham; Charles Woods of Dothan and John F. Britton of Montgomery.

PRISON LOCATION—

The new facilities, with the region of the young offenders training center and the women's house, will be located in Montgomery County. The receiving house for youths and the women's prison will be constructed in Chilton County in property owned by the Board of Corrections.

At this time no land has been selected for the location of the new construction units. The Board of Corrections is presently interested in purchasing 1,000 to 1,500 acres of land in Montgomery County, which hopes to obtain the $75 to $125 per acre price. Due to the geographical location of the City of Montgomery, the new location almost of a necessity has to be located in the south portion of the county. The property should be located from 10 to 20 miles from the city limits of Montgomery, inasmuch as one of the main reasons for moving the prison from its present site is the fact that Kilby is now surrounded by residential and business buildings.

FACILITIES INCLUDE—

One of the new site will be located a receiving and classification building in which will initially house the new prisoners, coming into the system with the exception of female prisoners and offenders under 20 years of age who have not previously been convicted. There will also be constructed a maximum security prison to house approximately 200 prisoners; a medium security prison to house approximately 500 prisoners. In addition to these facilities, there will be garages, warehouses, office buildings, cotton gin houses and other industrial establishments.

None of the present buildings at Kilby Prison or the Trusty Workshops adjacent thereto will remain standing. Much of the materials in the buildings to be demolished will be used in construction of the new facilities. This course of action will decrease the cost of construction. To further decrease the cost of construction, labor will be used in all instances except where highly technical employees are needed. The labor will be at all times be under the supervision of skilled construction foreman.

PAY ITS OWN WAY—

While the above described program is being carried out, Alabama's prison system will continue to produce and pay for its own operation 72 percent of the way. The State's prison system earns more money per prisoner committed than any other state in the United States, with the exception of Minnesota which has a large industrial output.

general fund bear out that it can sufficiently support the bond issue since a considerable portion of the issue will be paid through the sale of the Kilby properties.

$5 MILLION—

Commitment appraisers have appraised the property at 3/4 to 5 million dollars, but in view of the fact that it will probably be five to eight years before any of the property can be sold, it is likely that the value of the property will increase. Any and all proceeds from the sale of the property go directly into the state's general fund to repay the bonds issued.

YOUTHFUL OFFENDERS

The principal item that is of the greatest concern to Alabama officials today is the need for "re-training" youthful offenders who come into the prison system from the courts of Alabama. At the present time there are more than 1,000 boys in prison under the age of 20 with a present population of 5,700 persons.

Under the present system these youths are thrown in with the older and more hardened criminals—the murderers, arsonists, rapists, etc., and after spending just a short while with this group it is practically impossible to send a boy home a better individual than he was when he was received. As a maternal-manufacturing process.

FUTURE PLANS—

Under our future plans, boys 20 years of age or younger who come into the prison system will never have to associate with, or actually see, a previously convicted second or third offender or more hardened criminal. The boys under 20 will be received in the special receiving center and will spend about four months there until it is determined whether or not he can or will adapt himself to camp life in Alabama's park and conservation areas. The camps will be constructed along the lines of the old CCC camp operation. If it is determined that the boys will not adapt to camp life, he or they will be placed in an institution where there will only be youthful offenders, but under a more strict custody.

Also, under these plans, the Board of Corrections will have facilities for properly educating the youth who come into the system. The planned camps will be set up in the conservation areas which have a population of from 60 to 75 boys who will be under the supervision of professionally trained individuals. The camps will operate under a system whereby the boys assigned there will be given academic training, vocational training, religious instruction, work and recreation.

GREAT VALUE—

The work these boys will do in the conservation areas will be of great value to the Conservation Department to the people of Alabama. They will build roads, beautify park areas, repair cabins, and do many other things which are badly needed in Alabama's state parks. By beautifying and improving the parks, more tourists will be attracted to the park areas, thereby increasing the number of tourist dollars for the businessmen of the State.

TAXPAYERS INSTEAD OF TAX USERS—

The Board of Corrections believes that the programs outlined above is one primarily for the youthful offender who will be discharged from a period of prison who will become taxpayers instead of tax users, and they will have received vocational and academic training which will permit them to earn a lawful and decent livelihood and they thereby will not stoop to commit crime again. Prison officials know from bitter experience that association of these youngsters with the more hardened criminal element is one of the worst things existing in the prison system today.

PAY ITS OWN WAY—

While the above described program is being carried out, Alabama's prison system will continue to produce and pay for its own operation 72 percent of the way. The State's prison system earns more money per prisoner committed than any other state in the United States, with the exception of Minnesota which has a large industrial output.

CIRCUIT JUDGES IN FAVOR OF AMENDMENT NO. 1

Citing its long range economic and economic soundness, Gov. John Patterson has given his all out endorsement to Amendment No. 1 on Dec. 5 ballot.

The amendment one of 45 to be balloted on by Alabama voters in a special referendum, provides a $10 million bond issue for revamping the state's prison system.

The cost of financing this program would be perhaps less than we are now spending for the upkeep of out-moded and over crowded prisons, said Patterson.

It will be done without any new taxes and will provide badly needed separation of youthful prisoners from hardened criminals.

The governor urged an adequate rehabilitation program that would give errant youngsters a second chance and called the program a program for the people who are down and out.

Patterson explained that a system of minimum, medium and maximum security units would be built to replace Kilby Prison and other aged facilities.

He strongly urged the voters of Alabama to give serious consideration to Amendment No. 1 on Dec. 5 ballot.

Meanwhile, the men who see first hand the need for correcting Alabama's sky high rate of prisoners who fall once they are returned to the free world, have given the proposal their overwhelming endorsement.

The Alabama Circuit Judges Assn. endorsed the bond issue in a formal statement.

"The circuit judges of Alabama are greatly concerned because of the inadequacy of the present prison facilities, especially so as they relate to the housing, custody and rehabilitation of youthful prisoners, resolution said.

Amendment No. 1 will relieve this situation and place our state out in front in its effort to reclaim those young people for useful citizenship. "The judges declared.

The judges joined Alabama educators - who have emphasized the bond issue will in no way affect school funds - public officials, civic and community leaders and others in throwing their support behind Amendment No. 1.

Chilton Seeking Passage Of 2-Mill Tax Amendment

Twenty-one of the 45 proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on in Alabama December 5 would allow individual counties, cities or school districts to impose additional taxes for schools.

Hill-Burton Funds Have Touched Chilton

Passage of Amendment No. 3 will bring Alabama approximately $132 million in Hill-Burton funds for the construction of hospitals and other medical and health facilities, according to a statement by Dr. D. G. Gill, State Health Officer.

Amendment 3 authorizes a $2,000,000 bond issue for hospital construction. The bonds would be General Obligation Bonds of the State of Alabama to be retired from current revenues and would involve no additional taxes.

Dr. Gill said that two earlier bond issues, proceeds of which have been exhausted, have been of great benefit to the State. The 1949 and 1958 bond issues each made $60,000,000 worth of hospital and health center construction possible. Funds from these two bond issues plus $15,600,000 in local funds brought over $25 million in Hill-Burton funds to Alabama. These funds were used for the construction of 116 facilities in 59 counties. Types of facilities included general hospitals, public centers, nursing homes, mental health clinics, a chronic disease hospital, a school of nursing, a tuberculosis and a diagnostic center.

Asked about the need for additional hospital construction, Dr. Gill said that Alabama still needs over 4,000 general hospital beds. The need is even greater for other types of facilities with 11,358 mental hospital beds, 6,306 chronic disease hospital beds and 8,406 nursing home beds needed. There are still two counties which do not have general hospitals and 25 counties without adequate public health centers. The State Health Department already has applications for State funds to be used for 48 projects in 36 counties.

Dr. Gill said that if the bond issue passes the funds will be allocated to areas which have the greatest need.

Note: Chilton County projects receiving funds from 1949 and 1958 bond issues: Amount Rec'd Chilton County Hospital $60,000 Chilton County Public Health Center 13,591.52

YOUNG PEOPLE FOR AMENDMENT NO. 2

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Nov. 17 - With papers and charts scattered on the table before them, a group of University of Alabama ODK's honorary leadership fraternity, were in serious discussion last week. Planning a fraternity dance a Thanksgiving junket. They were in outer space - working out plans to inform every student at the University about Amendment No. 2.

Their interest in the Amendment stirred by the enthusiasm of the youthful Dr. Preston Farish, Life Science Advisor to Future Projects, GCM Space Flight Center, Huntsville, they were almost ready to drop books and campus activities and make a bee-line for Huntsville where important things are happening in the space and missile field. Dr. Farish outlined the work of the National Aeronautical and Space Administration and climaxed his talk with a film showing the thrilling performance of the Alabama-built Saturn.

As everyone at the Capstone will soon know, Amendment No. 2 will provide a $3 million bond issue to construct and equip a missile and space research institute at Huntsville, to be operated by the University of Alabama.

This facility has been unanimously endorsed by Auburn University's board of trustees, as Auburn will also participate in this vast missile and space program.

They will use the institute for their own research projects as well as accept contracts from the institute, on a cost plus basis, to be executed in the laboratories on the Auburn campus.

Impressed by the awesome power and perfection of the rocket, and with the fact that it had been developed from the conference tables, drawing boards and laboratories in our own State, these young citizens suddenly realized what other informed Alabamians already knew. Here was our chance (by the simple act of voting, yes on this amendment) to provide the improved research facilities our space scientists must have to continue our nation's successful space program while we give our state the advantages of operating this unique research institute.

Wasting no time, this fraternity voted to coordinate student support of Amendment No. 2 at their service project to the University. Their plans are being carried out with a high degree of effectiveness and competence.

A Speaker's Bureau was formed to send representatives to every dormitory group and fraternity and sorority house of the campus to inform and answer questions about this amendment. It is the aim of ODK that every student impress on his parents during the Thanksgiving holiday the urgency of voting for this amendment.

This institute will raise Alabama to a position of national prominence in technological education, said ODK president, Donald Stewart of Anniston. We are excited over the opportunity for today under first rate scientists and technicians which students from Alabama colleges will have through this institute. It opens the doors to careers in our country's space program for us. This facility will also generate activity in many other fields, thus creating job opportunities here at home that we would have had to seek elsewhere, he added.

You may be sure that on the night of December 5th, when election returns are broadcast, the young people of Alabama will be listening anxiously to know what was done about their future.

didn't win first prize but did learn two things that every farmer should know:

"One was that better crops can be produced if they are properly handled; the other was that there is great joy in competition."

Senator Sparkman, who was the 1952 Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, was educated in public schools in Morgan County. He received his L.B. degree from the Uni-

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

... is PRIVATE ENTERPRISE AT ITS BEST!

In the early '30's, rural electrification was at a standstill. Scattered farms were supposedly too costly to reach. Only one farm family in ten had or could get electric light and power at a price it could afford.

Then, in 1935, came the Rural Electrification Administration. Rural people like us could form groups, incorporate, borrow funds—at modest interest rates—from REA, and build lines to serve ourselves.

Up to now about 1,000 rural electric systems from coast to coast have borrowed $3½-billion from REA, to build 1½-million miles of line which serve over 16-million rural Americans.

Over $1.1-billion in principal and interest has already been repaid to the United States Treasury—on or before due date. And 97% of all Americans who live beyond the city limits are now being served.

This, we submit, is private enterprise at its best.

If gum were to get into your carburetor, it could lead to unexpected repairs like this. One of the nine ingredients in today's Super Shell fights gum to give you top performance.

ANCIENT HISTORY:

Gasoline gum used to cause unexpected repair bills. Today, one of Super Shell's 9 ingredients fights off gum —to save you money and give you top performance.

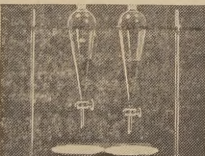

The gum preventive in today's Super Shell is so powerful that one thousandth of an ounce is enough to treat a gallon. Read how this "chemical policeman" works.

THE MECHANIC in our photograph is about to go to work on a gummed-up carburetor. A nice little repair job.

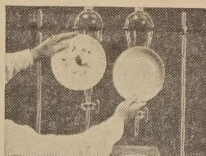

But to Shell scientists, gummed-up carburetors are ancient history.

And so are other gum troubles. Such as sticky intake valves. And fouled automatic chokes. Here's why:

1. Shell uses refining processes that hold certain gum-forming gasoline components to a minimum.

Drip test shows how well Shell gum prevention works. Container on left has raw, unprocessed gasoline without gum preventive; on right, processed gasoline with Super Shell's gum preventive. Gasolines drip onto heated plates and evaporate, simulating long storage.

2. Shell guards all tanks, pipes, and trucks against dirt and other gum-forming contaminants.
3. Shell includes a powerful gum preventive in Super Shell's nine-ingredient formula.

"Chemical cop" at work

The gum preventive in Super Shell is so effective that a thousandth of an ounce is enough to treat a whole gallon of gasoline.

This remarkable ingredient has been described as a "chemical policeman." It helps to keep unstable elements in gasoline from sticking together—the way a skilled policeman prevents trouble by keeping a crowd from forming.

Hot Weather Blend

For a quick run-down on the other eight ingredients in today's Super Shell, see box at right.

And for top performance all summer, keep your tank filled with Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend. It's specially formulated to fight engine flooding and other hot weather troubles. At Shell stations now.

Here are the 9 Ingredients in Super Shell—and what they do to give you car top performance

- #1 is TCP®—for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #2 is Pentane mix—for fast warm-ups.
- #3 is anti-knock mix—for knock resistance.
- #4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock"
- #5 is Butane—for quick starts.
- #6 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.
- #7 is an "anti-icer." Added when cold weather sets in.
- #8 is gum preventive—for clean carburetors.
- #9 is Plateform for extra mileage.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasolines containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2,883,314.

Holiday Serving— Stuffed Rock Cornish Game Hens

For the Holidays, your family may vote for the traditional Rock Turkey with all the trimmings. But for a change, especially if your family is small, try these delightful little Rock Cornish Game Hens. They weigh from one to one and a half pounds and have unequalled sweet flavor, all juicy white meat, rounded broad breast, finely-grained texture and unusual capacity for retaining heat. The flesh is not as bland as chicken, nor as wild in flavor as game birds such as pheasant. You can stuff these little birds with your favorite stuffing, or try something new like this.

STUFFED ROCK CORNISH GAME HENS

1/2 pound mushrooms (chopped) or 6 oz. can
1/2 cup finely-chopped celery
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 (3 1/2 oz.) can O & C French Fried Onions
2 cups small stale bread cubes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon rosemary
1/2 teaspoon pepper
4 Rock Cornish Game Hens
1/4 cup soft butter or margarine

Saute mushrooms and celery in 1/4 cup of butter or margarine until mushrooms are tender but not browned. Add crushed canned French fried onions, bread cubes, salt, rosemary and pepper. Mix well. If you wish a more moist dressing, add a little warm water. Stuff hens with mixture. Fasten with wooden picks or skewers. Place closed with string.

Brush hens with the 1/4 cup of soft butter or margarine. Wrap each hen in single piece of aluminum foil; place in a shallow pan and roast at 425 degrees for 35 minutes. Open foil and brush hens with drippings. Roast 25 minutes longer or until hens are goldenbrown. Prepare and serve extra dressing if desired. 4 servings.

For a delicious vegetable to serve with Rock Cornish Game Hens, here's a recipe for Creamed Onions, easily made with small whole boiled onions, available in convenient 1-pound jars.

CREAMED ONIONS

2 jars O & C Small Boiled Onions
1 cup salad oil
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1 cup shredded process cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt
Chopped peanuts

Blend salad oil and flour. Stir in milk and cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Add salt, pepper, onions and heat through. Pour into vegetable bowl and sprinkle with chopped peanuts if sauce becomes too thick, add a little additional milk to make sauce of desired consistency. Note: You may keep onions hot in double boiler until ready to serve, or if you wish, pour cream sauce over at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until bubbly and lightly browned. Be sure to sprinkle peanuts on the onions just before serving. This way they'll be crispy and crunchy.

Historical Note:
Jacques Makowsky, owner of the Idlewild Farm, Pomfret, Connecticut, first introduced Rock Cornish Game Hens to the public in 1950. Today he ships about two million birds a year. The Rock Cornish Game Hen is a cross between the fighting game cocks of Malaya and the domestic chicken.

An Open Letter From "Bing" Lecroy

To Friends of Education:

I am writing you about a matter extremely important to the future of Alabama's economy and it follows, to its future ability to finance public education at all levels. Amendments which will be voted upon at the referendum scheduled for December 5, 1961, is Amendment No. 2 authorizing a $3,000,000 bond issue for the purpose of erecting and equipping research laboratories near Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville. Approval of this amendment and the construction of this facility is, without doubt, a significant key toward opening up a whole new phase of industrial development for Alabama relating to the space and missile efforts of our Nation. Without this investment by our State at this time, the opportunity for Alabama to capitalize on its present leadership in these fields may well be forever lost. Agencies are spending more than $350,000,000 per year in Alabama amount equal to more than $150 per year for every man, woman, and child in the State. Dr. Werner von Braun told the Legislature last summer that the absence of a facility, such as that proposed by Amendment No. 2, not only limited the amount now spent in the State, but could well force the diversion of some of his work to other states who are desperately bidding for it. The immediate action of the Legislature, in unanimously recommending this amendment, is proof of their concern. I join them wholeheartedly in this matter and strongly recommend your active support of glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard Allen who have just moved back to the community with us.

RED CARPET' TO ROLL FOR SANTA FRIDAY AT 4

★★★★★ Parade Route

ACCORDING to Parade Chairman Dave Norman, the big Christmas Parade Friday at 4:00 p.m. will cover Clanton completely.

Norman said the parade will form at the Clanton Hotel on 2nd Avenue. It will proceed east to Highway 31 where it will turn south and go back to 2nd Avenue. From there it will turn east again and go to the Courthouse where the Christmas tree will be lighted by Santa himself and that will be the end of it.

Then it will go east again to 6th Street and turn north, continuing to 4th Avenue. It will turn West on 4th coming back to Highway 31 where it will turn South and go back to 2nd Avenue. From there it will turn east again and go to the Courthouse where the Christmas tree will be lighted by Santa himself and that will be the end of it.

Winners in the best float contest will be announced and will be awarded their prizes during the festivities.

Business houses decorations will be judged the night of the parade and winners will be announced next week's News.

Quarterback Club To Meet Monday

THE Clanton Quarterback Club will meet Monday night, December 11th at the Clanton City Hall, according to Chick Wade, spokesman. Meeting time is at 7:00 p.m. and the purpose is to make final decision on acquiring an electric scoreboard for ball games.

All members and prospective members are urged to attend this final meeting of the year 1961.

Proceeds For Christmas Chest

ANNOUNCEMENT is made this week that the Starlight Roller Rink in Clanton will donate proceeds of the night of Thursday, December 14 to the Clanton County Christmas Chest.

Public Telephone Booths Burglarized

A wave of coin telephone burglary occurred in Chilton County in the pre-dawn hours last Friday. Three outdoor installations were burglarized in rural communities of the Clanton exchange area. The burglaries resulted in the destruction of all three telephones. They were located in U. S. 31 at Limax, Coopers and Verbena.

Thieves attempted to open the public telephone in front of C. E. Bowden's Grocery on the Montgomery Highway but were apparently frightened away before finishing the job. Telephone officials report that the value of the destroyed telephones far exceeds the stolen money. One of the telephones had actually been collected from the day before the burglary. The company plans to reinstall all three telephones.

Cooperation between various law enforcement organizations solves a large number of telephone burglaries each year. An Escambia County Court recently sent a youth to prison for three years for burglarizing public telephones. The Chilton County burglaries were investigated by the Sheriff's office.

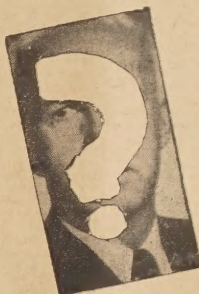

Moose Lodge Solicits For 'Chest'

THE local chapter, Loyal Order of Moose is in charge of collections for the Christmas Chest this year, according to publicity chairman J. B. Ray.

On December 11th, beginning at 7:00 p.m. members of the Lodge will call at your home for your contribution to this worthy local cause. Money, toys or non-perishable foods are the items they seek to make some Chilton County family a little happier this Christmas.

T. C. Davis is chairman of the collecting and Ray and Herman Goddard are also on the committee. Contact one of them if you wish to help by making a contribution.

First one to identify the "Mystery Man" correctly will win his or her choice of $2 in cash or a year's subscription to this newspaper. If he is not identified, the prize will be doubled next week!

Remember, first one in is the Winner and you must COME BY the News for your identification to be valid!

Now, who is he? Answer and write-up next week!

Voting Places Set; Cotton Referendum

Polling places where Chilton County farmers may cast ballots in the referendum on marketing quotas for the 1962 upland cotton crop were announced today by Eddie Owen, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. The referendum will be held on Tuesday, December 12.

The polling places and referendum Committee are as follows: Community I, for voters in Beats 1, 11, 12, and 13; E. L. Parker at Martin's Store in Cane Creek; O. Earl Martin at Shaw's Store in Providence Beat 13; and D. L. Culp at Glasscock's Store in Union Grove.

Community II, for voters in Beats 4, 9, 2, and 16. S. D. Posey at Jimmie City Hall; Frank Parrish at the ASCS Office in Clanton; and Clyde V. Gire at Thorsby City Hall.

Community III, for voters in Beats 15 and 18, and Beat 6 vicinity of Pooles Cross roads; Leslie Dobson at Kelley's Store in Cross Roads; R. H. Davis at Stanton School; and Dan L. Owen at Sardis Church.

Community IV, for voters in Beats 7, 3, and 14, and Beat 2 vicinity of Posey's Store; Marvin R. Oates at Vezzey's Store in Isabella; Coy Rabberty at Posey's Store in Beat 14; and Frank Brown at Brown Bros. Store in Maplesville.

Community V, for voters in Beats 5, 6, 10 and 16; Lloyd Martin at Cooper Community House; Lloyd F. Mims at Leonard Jenkins Store in Verbena; Melvin Yeargan at Edwards' Store in Enterprise.

Polls will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Chairman Owen explained that every effort has been made to inform farmers fully about the all-important quota program, so that the outcome of the referendum may represent the considered opinion of all the voters. Farmers eligible to cast ballots are all those who engaged in the production of the upland cotton crop in 1961.

Approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting is necessary if the quotas are to go into effect.

Issues to be decided in the Dec. 12 Referendum are (1) quotas or no quotas, and (2) the level of price support to be available for the 1962 upland cotton crop.

If the vote is favorable, quotas will be in effect or the crop, with penalties on any "excess" cotton produced on a farm, and price support to growers who comply with their farm allotments will be available at a level of from 65 to 90 percent of parity.

If the vote is not favorable, there will be no quotas or penalties applicable to the 1962 upland cotton crop, and price support to cooperators will be at 50 percent of parity as directed by law.

Concord P.T.A.

The Concord P.T.A. will meet Monday night, November 11 at the School at 7 O'clock. We urge that all parents be present.

CLANTON and Chilton County are all set to welcome the fellow with the "little round belly" and the white whiskers when he rides into town during the Jaycee Christmas Parade this Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Preparations have been carefully made and a real treat is in store for the citizens of Chilton County.

The CCHS Band will be a feature of the big parade and the Shriners Drum and Bugle Corps will also take part. Two color guards will march and quite a number of local clubs, organizations and businesses will have colorful floats to delight the youngsters.

Large crowds are expected to this event; perhaps the largest ever, due to the fact that some local merchants, for the first time in history, are keeping the stores open extra hours so that the people will be able to shop and buy in convenience while they are in town.

Parade Chairman Dave Norman says, "we've planned the biggest and best parade ever this year, and I am confident that the people will turn out to see and enjoy it!" These sentiments were also expressed by Jaycee President Richard Muncher and he urged everyone wanting to participate in the parade, to get in touch with him, or any Jaycee member, as soon as possible.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
Happy is the people whose God is Jehovah.
—(Psalms 144:15).
This means we will have an awareness of God's good that will enable us to go quietly about our daily tasks so that those around us feel a sense of happiness and peace. They will respond by becoming cheerful, too, and by entering into the joy of Christmas.

Clanton Stores Open Until 6:30 Friday

For the convenience of Christmas shoppers and to help either the Christmas Store in Clanton or the stores, will remain open until 6:30 p.m. on Friday, December 8th.

The local merchants realize that there are a lot of shoppers who cannot shop in the daytime, due to working hours and such, so they are preparing their stores for a special event Friday and you can find Christmas bargains galore. It will give everyone in the family a chance to do a little early shopping and you will find that there is very little you need or want that cannot be found right here in Clanton.

Before and after Christmas Parade, shop in Clanton where you will find what you want, for everyone in the family!

RESPECT FOR THE FLAG

DURING the parade Friday afternoon there will be at least one or more American flags flying which will pass by you.

Do you know the correct patriotic procedure when the flags is on parade? If you are not ashamed of what and who you are the following procedure is acceptable when the flag is passing in review:

"When the flag is passing in a parade or in a review, those present in uniform should render the right hand salute. Men not in uniform should remove their head-dress and women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart."

I AM OLD GLORY

"I am Old Glory: For more than eight score years I have been the banner of hope and freedom for generation after generation of Americans. Born amid the first flames of America's fight for freedom, I am the symbol of a country that has grown from a little group of thirteen colonies to a united nation of fifty sovereign states. Planted firmly on the high pinnacle of American Faith my gently fluttering folds have proved an inspiration to untold millions. Men have followed me into battle with unwavering courage. They have looked upon me as a symbol of national unity. They have prayed that they and their fellow citizens might continue to enjoy the life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, which have been granted to every American as the heritage of free men. So long as men love liberty more than life itself; so long as they treasure the priceless privileges bought with the blood of our forefathers; so long as the principles of truth, justice and charity for all remain deeply rooted in human hearts, I shall continue to be the enduring banner of the United States of America. I AM OLD GLORY!"

Can you be ashamed of such a heritage? Honor your flag when it passes!

ELVIS PRESLEY IN A PARADISE OF SONG!

NOW THERE ARE FOUR CLASSES OF CARS

And only Ford offers all four! Each is represented by a separate and distinct line of cars, and one (the Fairlane) is in the new class not offered by any other manufacturer. Look below for the new car that exactly fits your needs.

COMPACT CLASS:
This class includes cars with 106 to 114-inch wheelbase. Most popular by far (a million happy owners!) is the Ford Falcon. Falcon is America's lowest-priced* 6-passenger car, set a 25-year record for Sixes or Eights in last spring's Mobilgas Economy Run, gives you a choice of 13 models, including the Futura and new Falcon Squire wagon.

FAIRLANE CLASS:
The 1962 Ford Fairlane is the first member of a new class which combines the advantages of both compacts and big cars... you get big car room, ride and performance... compact savings and maneuverability. Priced below many compacts, Fairlane even rivals some in gas economy. Has twice-a-year maintenance introduced by the Galaxie.

FULL-SIZE CLASS:
The class for families who want big car comfort, performance and prestige. Value leader is the Ford Galaxie - which has every essential feature of far costlier fine cars. With the optional Thunderbird 390 V-8 engine, a Galaxie will outperform America's most expensive luxury cars. Requires servicing only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles.

LUXURY CLASS:
The top class - cars for people who want the very finest. First of the true-size luxury cars, the 4-passenger Thunderbird is the most distinctive car in this class. Its styling sets the trend for an entire generation of cars and now finds a new elegance in the Landau (left). And Thunderbird's performance is just this side of flight.

Whatever you're looking for in a car... look to the long Ford line!

A festive treat for two

"Hi Ho Holiday Dinner"

A small holiday dinner that's easy to prepare and a festive treat to serve features Cornish Game Hens with new Hi Ho Holiday Stuffing. Good enough to intrigue a most particular gourmet, this stuffing is made with a base of coarsely crushed round buttery crackers. Stuff the birds and surround with small pat of stuffing to fill second-helping requests. Make it this easy way:

Hi Ho Holiday Dinner
54 Hi Ho Crackers, coarsely crushed
1/2 teaspoon dried parsley flakes
1 3-oz. can chopped mushrooms
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 cup chopped pimento stuffed olives
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
2 Cornish Game Hens, about 1 pound each
Coarsely crush crackers (makes about 3 cups coarse crumbs). Combine crushed crackers, parsley flakes, mushrooms and mushroom liquid, lemon juice, crushed stuffed olives and 1/2 cup melted butter, reserving remaining butter. Toss mixture to blend. Stuff body cavity and crop of hens lightly, using about a quarter of the mixture for each; do not pack. Fold wings and pin neck skin in back with small skewer; tie drum sticks to tail piece with cord. Brush hens all over with part of remaining butter. Place on rack in shallow pan. Bake in pre-heated hot oven (425°F) for 45 to 55 minutes, or until drumsticks are tender and will easily twist from thigh joints. Fat remaining stuffing mixture into little mounds and place in a shallow pan. Drizzle with remaining butter and place in oven with hens for last 15 to 20 minutes of cooking time. Yield: 2 servings. Note: If desired, use all of mixture for four Cornish hens, or a 4-pound turkey or chicken, baked at 325°F for about 3 hours.

Mrs. U. S. Savings Bonds of 1962

Blonde, blue-eyed Mrs. Emily Terrall, of St. Helens, Oregon, is the new "Mrs. United States Savings Bonds of 1962." As a Treasury volunteer Goodwill Ambassador, she will tour the nation during the coming year in the promotion of Savings Bonds. The 37-year-old housewife won the title from among 51 state contestants for the "Mrs. America" title in competition just closed at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where she appeared as "Mrs. Oregon." The Terrall family is no stranger to Savings Bonds. Husband of the new "Mrs. Savings Bonds" is an industrial engineer, and buys bonds regularly on the Payroll Savings Plan. Mrs. Terrall, an alumna of the University of Washington, has been active in the PTA-sponsored school stamp program. And needless to say, their three sons—aged 7, 9 and 12—are all avid stamp buyers. Mrs. Terrall is the fifth winner of the "Mrs. Savings Bonds" title. She succeeds Mrs. Vivian Ackerman, of Tucson, Arizona.

"14 Years Of Gospel Variety"

ONE of the most, if not the most unique radio programs on the air today is Marion W. Easterling's daily variety program of gospel songs, spirituals and hymns. It originates over radio station WKLF seven days a week and last Sunday celebrated its 14th anniversary.

The show went on the air for the first time on December 2, 1947 and has been a part of the local stations daily programming for these 14 years. Mr. Easterling says he has missed only about 30 days from his program in the 14 years and then someone filled in for him. His is one of the few radio programs, of any kind, which has a waiting list of sponsors.

The Variety Program was the first of its kind on radio and according to the owner of the program, it has been copied by other stations some 400 or 500 times. Some have lasted, some have not, but the original has survived and according to Mr. Easterling, "is more popular than ever!"

Easterling is also a song writer in his own right and has had several of the better ones recorded by the top gospel singers in the nation. Perhaps his best known is "Lord Lead Me On" which was written back in 1937 and recorded by the Chuck Wagon Gang in 1940. The recording has been the biggest seller for the Chuck Wagon Gang in all their long recording history and they have recorded many more. Easterling is also the composer of such favorites as "When He Reaches Down His Hand For Me" and "Angels Rock Me To Sleep."

The Little Man also has made some 10,000 funeral announcements during his 14 years, which is part of his daily material on the program.

He and Mrs. Easterling have two sons; Lynn Wesley, 18, who recently won a special scholarship to Auburn University. He was among the top 20 in the nation for this honor. The other son is Ray Mell, a student at Chilton County High School.

"I've had an interesting 14 years in radio; made a living at it" says Mr. Easterling and there is nothing to indicate that he won't be around another 14 years of the Good Lord willing of course!

600 Forgotten Men

Dear Christian Friends:
Greetings in the name of Christ Jesus, Our Lord:

There are approximately 600 Forgotten Men in those institutions of the Alabama Prison System that I serve as Chaplain. These men receive little or no mail and will not get a Christmas package from home.

Through the help of our Christian friends we have, in the past, been able to help many of these "Forgotten Men" at Christmas time. Last year, thanks to you, we were able to make up and distribute 600 packages to these men.

Would Your Church group or you, individually, care to assist us this time? Attached hereto is a list of items that can be sent to these men.

If it would be more convenient rather than preparing a box, you may send $2.00 in cash, money order or check. The Chaplain's Department will then prepare a box for these "Forgotten Men".

Let us move quickly, prayerfully and all for Christ in this most worthy cause.

To those of you who may not see fit to help this cause, we still wish to you and yours a very Merry Christmas and a most prosperous and Happy New Year.

Your friend in Christ,
R. S. Watson, Chaplain

Don Graham, Pastor

Last Monday night the Baptist churches of Chilton County met at the First Baptist Church where they had Mc-Night. This was truly an inspiration to all those who attended.

On December 21 the members of the Church have planned a Christmas Party. Instead of exchanging gifts among members they are going to give presents to the Church. We feel that we have been blessed in many ways and therefore want to return some of them to the Lord.

On Friday night, December 22, the Intermediates and Young people are going to have a hayride. This is not just a hayride but this will be a means of transportation for carolling. We are going to the homes of those who are unable to come to Church and those who do not come. After the hayride we will go to the home of one of the members and have refreshments. We would like any of you who would like to come to be our guests.

The Young Married People are planning to go carolling on Wednesday night, December 20 after Prayer Meeting. We would like to invite any of you to be our guests.

We want to invite you to our services. We urge your support of our Visitation Program and of WMU.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

Waiting—

RELIABLE sources say it will be on into the first of the new year before the new Courthouse is open to the public. It's been a long haul, but we assure you, it is well worth the waiting! Providing of course, it isn't too much longer!

Viaduct On 3rd—

We are still very much in favor of a viaduct across the railroad on Third Avenue. It is our opinion that it would greatly benefit the flow of traffic into the western part of town, especially on crowded and congested days such as Saturday afternoons!

New Building Program—

THE Official Board and the congregation of the First Methodist Church in Clanton have voted unanimously to construct an educational building directly behind the present church building on the west side. It is greatly needed facility and we commend the people of this church for having the foresight and courage to embark on this program. It is a sign of enthusiasm and progress for our community. Clanton is blessed with some of the most alert and active churches and church groups to be found anywhere!

Still Thinking Small—

SOME of Clanton's merchants are trying to use horse-and-buggy day tactics in a world which is fast becoming jet-propelled and it's showing up in our economic step.

It is not necessary to speed up your physical pace to accept modern techniques and trends that would help sell more goods to more people and thus bring us further up the ladder to economic stability and independence. We are not going to reach our goals of a better community unless we are willing to accept changes in peoples habits and customs. We do not have to compromise our principles in order to serve the buying public the way they want to be served.

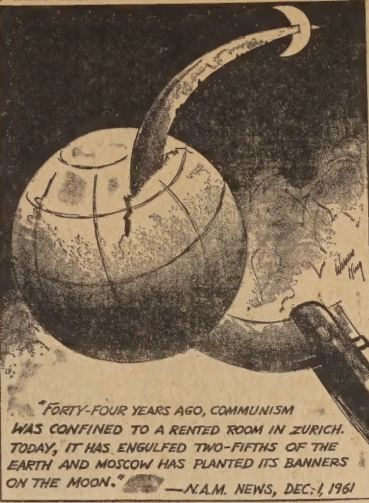

Let's take this Friday and the Jaycees Christmas Parade. An ideal situation for literally every merchant in Clanton to take advantage of the situation and give the crowds that will be attracted to town what they want in the way of "store open hours" and shopping convenience. When people are crowding around pour door waiting to buy your products, you don't lock the door and go home! Well, that's exactly what some of our merchants do in a situation like this. Thousands of people on the streets and some merchants close their doors like it was Sunday morning. It doesn't make sense!

There should be some organized effort on the part of local merchants to welcome these people into their stores and into Clanton. Stay open until 9:00 O'clock if necessary on that particular day. One day a year will not kill you or your clerks and it could mean a lot extra sales for the town as a whole. You may not want to admit it, but people DO go out of town to shop because it's more convenient! You may not believe it, but if the merchants would get together and make concerted effort to do something in behalf of the buying public, they WOULD see a difference, over a period of time! The buyer is not going to make it convenient for the merchant. It has to be just the other way around, if we want to keep pace with the changing world.

Efforts should be made in behalf of the town for such a thing as this. The Jaycees are doing their part by giving you the opportunity to sell to the crowds which they attract. It is up to the merchants of Clanton to advertise the fact in advance that this is a special event, the opening of the Christmas buying season in Clanton. Let's tell them, and show them, that they don't have to go out of town to get the product of THE SERVICE they want! It's time we showed them that we have it right here at home. If we don't we might as well install hitching posts outside every store in Clanton's business district, because that is certainly the direction in which we are headed.

It is ridiculous to assume that the buying public knows what you have to sell and when you can sell it to him! That may have been true in the days of the General Store, but those days are gone forever. We're living and working today. . . let's show our buying public that we realize what they want, and are willing to give it to them. It's the only way we will truly progress. With regards to your product and your store. . . "If you don't tell them, how will they know?"

This Is Big Business—

IT is understood that the Post Office Department will see "red" again this year! Yet, it costs our government to run the Post Office Department instead of it paying it's own way. How do they propose to remedy this situation? With greater expenditures by the government of course, or by increasing already sky high postal rates!

We happen to be in an industry that is no wise subsidized by the Federal Government in fact, they are in direct competition with us. And it's pretty tough competition because we are not subsidized by anyone or anything and the Federal Government, it would seem, has limitless funds for such things.

For instance, our business, in part, is printing envelopes. The U. S. Post Office furnishes and prints envelopes for a fraction of what we can profitably do the same job. If they were doing it on a business level to compete and play the game fair and make a profit, then we wouldn't complain. As a matter of fact, we could probably do it cheaper. But when we see this same thing every year, we cannot help but wonder who the mastermind is behind the whole thing that figures the Post Office Department can give away part of its services without coming out in the red. And not only does it come out in the red, but it is cutting off of the hands that feeds it. . . namely independent weekly newspapers. They may not feed it much individually, but collectively they do more than their share and it has always seemed to us to be a low blow for the Post Office to compete in a field that is already saturated with cutthroat competition. Don't get us wrong, we don't want any help from the Government, we just want an even chance at bread. . . and in case they didn't know it, that's our bread they're taking away and we can't reach over and dip into Uncle Sam's till every time our pocket reads empty. Tell you what we'll do: we won't lick any more stamps, if they won't print any more envelopes.

FINAL WINNER IN 'INDUSTRY QUIZ' ANNOUNCED

MRS. R. H. (Bob) Davis of Stanton is this week's winner in the News "Industry Quiz" contest. Mrs. Davis came up with 203 words from the word "industry" this week so she is the unchallenged champion. Other winners in the contest have been: E. A. Yeargan, Thorby; Mrs. Hal Bray Clanton; Mrs. Marie Felton, Alton, Ala. and Mrs. Davis, this week's winner. Congratulations folks and thanks to all who participated in the contest. We enjoyed it and we think there was quite a bit of interest and enthusiasm shown. The losers; well, they had a good time playing the game, too! Now, let's get some of that industry we've been talking about. We're familiar with the word, anyway.

Mrs. Evelyn Davenport had as guests for dinner Sunday Miss Betty Jackson, Miss Brenda Ratliff, Miss Margaret and Linda Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Mayfield had as supper guest Sunday night their son Mr. and Mrs. Argye Mayfield and boys. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mayfield and children of Centerville Ala.

We are sorry to report Mr. Eli Mayfield is not well at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson and Sue spent Sunday with Mrs. Wilson's mother Mrs. J. D. Houston of Liberty Hill.

Mr. Jim Wilson spent Saturday at home but he returned to Montgomery Saturday night where he is employed at WAPX.

CCHS Student Says— Studying Can Be Fun

"I have found this year that studying can be fun! Last year, I thought studying was boring and there wasn't any fun to studying, but I have changed my mind completely. Studying is interesting and fun! I started out this year with a completely different study system and this system has helped me to improve. Now I enjoy my studying more."

I think if you try, you can get an enjoyment out of studying, too. This statement was made recently by Mrs. Roper, guidance counselor. She expressed her enthusiasm with such radiance that she was asked to express her idea in writing.

The "system" to which she refers to is one where the student previews the assignment by forming questions about each topic in the lesson before he reads the lesson. These questions are kept in mind during the reading of the assignment; however, the student is not encouraged to search for the answer alone, since this habit, leaves him without the background or frame for the ideas which answer the question. He then attempts to answer his own questions in his own words about if possible. Until he can discuss the idea in his own words, he does not understand what he is attempting to learn. Further, he is encouraged to review the questions for the two previous days before beginning his new work. Questions assigned by the instructor can be handled in this manner also, and stress is placed on preparing all homework assigned by the instructor.

Many students who have tried this method of studying have expressed enthusiasm for it because of the improvement in the quality of their work. Often, students who freeze up when taking tests find that they can think more clearly during the test after studying in this way. They are not dependent on memorized facts, but can reason through the questions; therefore, they feel more comfortable. College officials tell us there is a great need for students who, after they earn basic facts can apply them to new situations through the process of reasoning.

The Guidance Reading Room contains vocational pamphlets, self improvement booklets, college catalogs, scholarship information, business college, trade school and nursing school catalogs, and service information, as well as booklets giving study suggestions. A student assistant is on duty at all times in the Reading Room to assist student in finding the material they wish.

Personal interviews are conducted by Mrs. Roper with students who need assistance with vocational or educational planning or with personal problems.

A historical lathe, located on the campus of Auburn University, was built at an arsenal at Selma, Alabama, 100 years ago and spent part of its life buried in a deep pit near Birmingham during the Civil War.

Having been manufactured along with other military supplies, it was specially constructed for boring cannon and turning tires for the driving wheels of locomotives.

Toward the end of the war when the Federal troops were coming into the state from the west, the lathe was loaded on an improvised wagon pulled by a long line of ox-teams to a military supply plant at Columbus, Georgia. For safety an indirect route to Columbus was selected. However, the Federal troops quickly sent a detachment to intercept the wagon, but they were not successful. The Confederate soldiers had heard of their coming and had completed a hasty burial of the lathe near Irondale.

Later, 12 miles east of Birmingham, it was dug up and moved to Columbus, where it was used until the end of the war. After the war, the lathe was used by the Birmingham Rolling Mills which later became part of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company.

In 1936 the vice president of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company presented the lathe to Auburn University, where it has been permanently mounted as a historic landmark.

NOTE: that the Grand Opening of the Taylor & Ramsey Book in West End Clanton is going on this week, due to the popular acceptance of the new managers, Mr. Grady Taylor and Mr. Cecil Ramsey invite you to come in this week end and see what they mean about top quality and good prices. They're putting on the dog out there and it is to your advantage to take advantage of the tremendous savings being offered during their Grand Opening Sale celebration.

WE were all having trouble the other day at lunch persuading two year old son Mark to allow his sister to wash his hand and face for eating purposes. He looked wistfully out the window and said, "The birds don't wash their face." That was somewhat a surprise because he acts like washing (in any capacity) is for the birds!

GOD IS INTERESTED IN YOU

Lee Braxton has had fellowship in more homes of Christian businessmen than any other man I know. Mr. Braxton has found that a person is a mistake to believe that businessmen are not interested in God as he is to believe that God is not interested in businessmen.

God is interested in whatever you do. With respect to business, God is in business, too many businesses, the greatest of which is the saving of the souls of lost and condemned humanity.

God is the greatest of all businessmen, and He constantly seeks qualified partners. In turn He offers Himself and His infinite resources to His partners for their own businesses here on earth.

Not long ago Lee and I exchanged greetings with an acquaintance in an Indiana city. We thanked him for all he was doing to help win souls to the Lord. He wouldn't accept our thanks. "It's the other way around," he said. "I am the one who is grateful."

He said that as soon as he accepted God's partnership offer, he began to see the Lord's blessing him beyond his fondest dreams. "I began at first," he explained, "by building small frame houses, one at a time. Later I was able to build three at a time; and now, a few years later, I have several large real estate developments under way."

Every businessman should realize his need for a partnership with God and his value return as a partner with God. To realize that God is interested in businessmen and that business is the beginning of a successful business career.

God shares your interest, whatever they may be. When you share His interests in the gospel of souls by helping take the gospel to every creature in every nation?

GOD IS INTERESTED IN YOU

I have been able to be a greater blessing to my church and to the Lord's work. All the glory and all the praise should go to God.

That is quite an admission for a competent businessman to make. God belongs the glory and the praise.

It is God's will for us to prosper in soul, mind, and body. Lee Braxton and countless others have learned that God is a perfect partner to have in any business, for with Him as partner, failure is impossible.

When failure is impossible, then can be only prosperity. As you work for Him, God will bless you in mutual interest, but it is mutual self-interest.

The world's population today is almost three billion people. The goal of God's business is to bring salvation to every one of them.

For this important business, God calls qualified businessmen as partners.

Every businessman should realize his need for a partnership with God and his value return as a partner with God. To realize that God is interested in businessmen and that business is the beginning of a successful business career.

God shares your interest, whatever they may be. When you share His interests in the gospel of souls by helping take the gospel to every creature in every nation?

THE WORD SELAH

This word occurred in the Old Testament. The Hebrew scholar in the Hebrew Bible, Robert Young, who translated the Bible, and wrote an explanation, says that Selah means, "musical note, indicating a change in the singing. Praise songs are used today to indicate joy and emphasis, they are used but not pronounced to read Selah may be omitted from reading without changing meaning."

The Unseen Adversary

JUST as indecision is an unseen adversary that can sap the strength from any undertaking, so we have an adversary in regards to our stand on promoting Clanton as a trading center and our "Trade At Home" campaign.

This apparent opponent says that we "hit below the belt" in our editorial of last week with regards to the Jaycee Christmas Parade and the merchants taking advantage of the crowds which it attracted. Most estimates of that crowd stated that it was the biggest ever for the event.

Our friend also said that he did "not think the situation should be aired in the newspaper!" We would like to know where such a situation regarding literally the whole of the community should be aired?

The individual mentioned is unknown to us; we learned of his opinion from a mutual friend. We do not consider such a stand as ours on the matter "hitting below the belt" when we have expressed our views openly and this newspaper has extended every effort regarding this situation in behalf of the merchant and the business community.

Nowhere else did the Christmas Parade receive such publicity as it did in the News and we think the failure of the crowds to shop the stores after the parade was solely and completely the lack of coordination and promotion by the business community. 99% of the prospective buyers did not know who, what and when about the store hours. If they had they would have come prepared. We made every effort to tell them, but without the cooperation of the merchants we cannot do the job.

Your newspaper is a tool; it is not a college education. Cooperative effort is the only way it can be successful in such a decision!

Mission Accomplished - Santa's Here

CONGRATULATIONS to Dave Norman, Richard Muncher, all the Jaycees and the business men and organizations who took part in, and made such a success of the Christmas Parade last Friday afternoon.

Despite the cold and rainy weather, record crowds turned out to view the proceedings and they got exactly what they were promised and more.

This event created and nurtured by the Jaycees, has become a very much awaited event in Clanton and Chilton County and each year it grows bigger better and more outstanding.

Those who participate in the event are, as a rule, outwardly fed up with the whole shebang, but we think they get some enjoyment out of the thing that they don't let on about, especially when it turns out successful.

It's the biggest thing to develop around these parts since the now defunct Peach Festival and our predictions are that it will continue to grow and delight everyone with the Jaycees organization behind it!

Our Standard Or Our Epitaph

"ALABAMA'S most neglected potential for increase in jobs and income for the State is tourism!" Or so says Congressman Carl Elliott.

We do not say why, that same idea does not apply, at least in part, to Clanton and Chilton County. One of our greatest natural resources is the Coosa River and our geographical location in connection with it.

But there is quite a bit of pro and con on the subject of river developments in these parts, and, as always, that is exactly what keeps the cart from moving ahead.

For example: Major roads leading to and from Clanton and other towns to the Coosa in Chilton County should be developed to accommodate the necessary travel on them to promote the "tourism" mentioned above. But, many citizens of the Board of Revenue and Control doing any work on these roads. The question is: How are we going to develop the River in any form or fashion if we do not first have adequate access to its banks?

On the other hand, and deserving your thought the question is: "If they start grading, paving, and developing the public roads to the river, how much is it going to cost and where will the public work stop and the private work begin?" This is a question in the minds of many, but one we think could be handled adequately by the Board itself.

There are many groups of people, as well as individuals who would profit by the development of the Coosa River in Chilton County. Not in the least of these is the property owner, the merchant and the laborer. In other words, if the river is developed to its potential, it will benefit every one of us.

As Congressman Elliott puts it, "We are short only in vision and determination." That can easily be our standard with which to improve ourselves, or our epitaph... whichever we choose to make it!

Burton Mullins Is Man Of The Week

BURTON Mullins, presently the Director of Civil Defense in Chilton County is the News' Man of The Week, and is one of Clanton and Chilton County's native and most staunch supporters and backers.

ACCIDENTAL POISONINGS

More than four-fifths of all fatal accidental poisonings occur in the home. Because household chemicals and drugs are easy to get to, children are likely to be poisoned by them. Probably more children between the ages of one and fourteen die each year from accidental poisoning than for any other reason. In the house are detergents, deodorants, depilatories, herbicides insecticides, rodenticides, stimulants, sedatives.

The chief substances causing accidental death in children are barbiturates, aspirin, disinfectants, a cleansing agents. Petroleum products, especially kerosene, cause a fourth of the Rev. F. F. Glidewell, pastor Sunday School 10:00 a.m. Worship Service 11:00 a.m. Training Union 6:00 p.m. Evening Worship 7:00 p.m.

Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:00 p.m.

Our Sunday School attendance was 103. Bro. Glidewell preached an excellent sermon, Obedience, based on Matthew 7, verse 21. We were glad to have Rev. and Mrs. Cook visiting with us for the morning services.

Training Union attendance was 59 and there were 18 daily Bible readers. Our Sunday night sermon, using the text Romans 1, verses 18 to 32, was The Wrath of God is Revealed from Heaven and not from Man.

Arrangements for our Christmas program to take place 7 p.m. Sunday, 24 of December were made.

RA boys will meet at 6:30 p.m. and the Brotherhood at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Mr. Grady Bryant is now home from the hospital. Pleases pray for him and our many other sick and shut in members and friends.

deaths. Bleaching agents, furniture polish, and moth balls cause a third of the deaths, and drugs cause about a third. Medicines that cause accidental poisoning in children include camphor, iron and salicylates and fluids for external use such as liniments.

As to over dosages of aspirin in children, this accidental poisoning is related to the fact that the tablets have been flavored to make them tasty like candy for youngsters. Formerly, food stuffs have been a common source of poisoning in children but comparatively few fatalities are now reported from this cause. Today's main food offenders are wild berries and toothpastes. Adults should be educated to realize fully the danger of accidents to children in carelessly exposing them to household agents.

Manufacturers are urged to assume the responsibility of using precautionary labels and of packaging their products in safe containers. More stringent laws by federal and state government might help reduce the danger. The accidental poisoning of children is preventable.

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

The congressional act is in the fire-and before the flames subside some incumbent congressmen and the state's Supreme Court might well get scorched!

Because there seems to be no doubt in most Gosh Hill observers' minds that Alabama's present congressmen might as the high court here to declare the so called Nine-Fifth redistricting plan constitutional. Such a declaration would overthrow Mobile Judge Joseph Hocklander's recent decision that the bill was unconstitutional.

The Mobile contestants, however, seemingly are so positive the bill is illegal there is presently a lot of U. S. Supreme Court talk for a final decision if the state's top court reverses the Mobile decision. One of the explanations for going to the federal court, if the Mobile ruling is overturned, was that probably Alabama's Republican leaders, alone, would not let the Democrats get by so easily if the state's Supreme Court held the 9-8 bill legal.

It was pointed out the state's top court they had a much better chance to elect a Republican to Congress from Alabama if the congressmen ran a wide-open state at large race next year. Reportedly, some of the state's top lawyers have indicated that, legally Hocklander's decision is based on sound premises.

Hocklander has said the 9-8 bill conflicts with existing state election laws on several points. He termed the bill as "incomplete, vague and unworkable" and that the Mobile Judge was incapable of administering its provisions "without the use of unbridled discretion and the arbitrary promulgation of rules."

Political word on the Hill and in several corners of the state is that the present nine congressmen are scared green and

Across The Editor's Desk— A Letter From W. A. LeCroy

Dear Editor:
I was pleased to learn of the passage of Amendment No. 12 on December 5. This amendment, in its final passage will allow trades training for the youth and adults in Chilton County. This is another forward step in my opinion, which the good people of Chilton County have taken that others throughout Alabama can follow at the earliest opportunity. The favorable vote for all educational amendments on December 5 is a clear indication that the people of Alabama responsibility for additional financialize the need and accept the financial support for all levels of

Virtuoso of the Koto at Carnegie Hall

Kimio Eto, one of Japan's foremost musical artists, recently gave a brilliant recital on the koto before a captivated audience in New York's famed Carnegie Hall. Mr. Eto has been totally blind since the age of five, but has become renowned as a composer and a master of the koto. The koto is a 13-stringed instrument and is played with three ivory plectrums in front of the musician, first and second fingers of the right hand. After its introduction to Japan in the eighth century, it was played for court music for about 400 years. Since then it has found its niche as an instrument for many young Japanese ladies.

THINGS

We see and hear by BOB

BEFORE we go one step further, let us remind you to be sure (and drop everything so that you will be able to see and hear the White Christmas Program at the First Methodist Church in Clanton this coming Sunday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock. This comes as the best of the most inspiring Christmas Pageants in these parts and this year promises to be no exception. The music is very capably directed by Mrs. Clois Robertson and the play itself is beautiful indeed. Something we think the entire family will enjoy and remember.

ABOUT right now, or maybe a little before you read this, a lot of folks are wondering why something wasn't done about flood conditions in these parts. It looks like we're going to have a repeat performance of last January's catastrophe. It also looks like somebody would have thought of that! Throw me that oat, Noah!

SOMETHING we've been wondering about. Why don't revival singers who are participating in local revivals have special programs before or during a revival at the local high schools to further interest youngsters in attending such events. What got us to thinking about this was hearing a fellow sing "The New Jerusalem" on a program the other night and it brought to mind that we heard a revival singer do the same song in a special program at CCHS when we were a student there. It impressed me to the extent that we still remember it, and that's been a while back (as much as we like to admit it).

LOTS of flu flying around these days and all kinds of viruses and stuff (not just the flu here we suppose). Ask a fellow down the street the other day how it was feeling and he said, "Man, I feel like snuff that's been dipped in Pretty sloppy way to feel, say!

HOW to feel stupid about the morning: Look into the mirror over the lavatory with the door of the medicine cabinet open! Talk about a silly grin.

THE doc came out to see Terri the other evening when we were at work and when we got home we asked Mark how she was doing. "Oh," he said, "she was feeling OK, but she stuck that screwdriver in her nose!" Really! Like one to the nose!

have the lasting peace of Christ. He's been at the same job for forty-three years, and here I am getting tired of mine in forty-three hours!" remarked a factory worker to another.

"He hasn't done the same job for forty-three years," was the reply. "He has done a new job every day. Oh, all that time he's been doing exactly what he's doing now. But every day he has come to work as if he had never done this kind of work before. As far as he's concerned, he has had a new job every day."

And that is the only way to true success and lasting happiness. Making your life acceptable to Christ is the first job before you. Doing the things constantly that you know are right is your life's work. Certainly, this job could become drudgery if you would let it. You could become tired and bored "living right." But don't become bored. Look at each day as a distinctive experience within itself, and you will see that it presents duties which will never come again. You will find that there is really too much to do for the job to become dull. And the most wonderful attribute of your job is that you will be happier than you have ever been. You will

December 5, 1961 with Mrs. Frank Mastin. The meeting was called to order by the President Mrs. Fred Robinson; Devotional was given by Mrs. Amos Smith; Story of the Hymn, Silent Night Holy Night was led by Mrs. Emmett Smith. She also led the group in singing the song. The demonstration was on Planning Nutritious Meals and was given by Mrs. Johnnie Lane.

After the business meeting was completed, we exchanged gifts and had a pleasant social interlude. The refreshments were served buffet style and consisted of open face sandwiches, cookies, minths, nuts and coffee. Ten members and four children were present. Mrs. Mastin's home was beautifully decorated throughout in the Christmas theme.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Emmett Smith on January 2, 1962.

Many tourists find the shrubs and trees on the park surrounding the Sacramento Capitol even more interesting than the huge domed building. There are more than 1,000 varieties from all over the world. Among these are a collection of trees from Civil War battlefields. Inside are paintings and statuary of historical interest. Sacramento visitors should also see Sutter's Fort, the first outpost of civilization in California's interior. The adobe house contains a museum of pioneer and gold rush days.

The Woman's Page

By Edward Collier

Good all-weather highways make the New Year's of today a gala family holiday with celebrations, sports and fun within easy driving distance of every town in America. For thousands, this means the noisemakers, confetti and merrymaking in New York City's Times Square. To others it is skiing at Mt. Hood in Oregon, or the thrill of the ski jump, bobsled and speed-skating contests at Lake Placid, N.Y. Philadelphia offers its traditional Mummers Parade with peacock-dancers, sequin-costumed dancers and caroling minstrels. National golf champions will tee off at Pinehurst, N.C. Miami's colorful King Orange Jamboree and parade introduces the Orange Bowl football classic. Texas' glamour events include water sports at Padre Island and the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas while the Sun Bowl tilt kicks off El Paso's Sun Carnival, climaxing in a gorgeous 50-foot parade. Just across the border in Juarez, Mexico, star matadors will face ferocious bulls. New Mexico's celebration includes the famed Pueblo Indian ceremonial dances. Pasadena's Tournament of Roses features a spectacular parade, riotous with flowers and pretty girls, followed by the famous Rose Bowl game. The Shrine East-West game is a revered San Francisco tradition, with Chinatown's New Year festival and its Dragon Parade following in February. Other seasonal highlights are Colonial, comedies and bell ringers at Williamsburg, Virginia; winter sports at ski resorts; Sun Valley, Idaho; Denver's 56th annual National Western Stock Show; St. Paul's glittering Winter Carnival; and top gridiron shows at the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, New Orleans' Sugar Bowl and the Copper Bowl at Phoenix.

noids on Sunday afternoon, December 10.

The front door was marked with a wreath of greenery, bells and green ribbon. Red carpet was out to the guests who were met at the door by Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds. They introduced the honor guests, Governor and Mrs. John Patterson of Montgomery.

Decorations in the home were in the Christmas motif. A boxwood tree with red carnations in a brass urn gave a cheerful welcome in the entrance hall. An arrangement of red carnations with brass candelabra red candles with white lace bells, accented by a brass chubb was on the piano.

The mantle was adorned with a brass edged mirror with seven branched candelabra with red candles on each end. They were marked with red carnations, arrangements of red carnations were placed at vantage places about the room. A large Christmas tree, beautifully decorated with pretty wrapped packages was very enchanting.

In the dining room the table was covered with a lace and embroidered cloth. The oblong centerpiece contained red carnations flanked by red candles in silver holders with streamers of white lace bells extending out.

The punch table in the den was covered with a white linen cloth edged with clooney lace. The punch bowl was centered in a wreath of boxwood surrounded with fresh fruit.

The open fire place had logs laid. An attraction here was the Christmas stockings hanging over the fireplace. Three candy jars were on one end of the mantle, hanging above was a wreath of Christmas candy.

Alternating at the silver coffee urn were Mrs. John C. Page, Mrs. Samuel E. Johnson, Mrs. Otto Jones and Miss Lurline Harper, Mrs. Charles Moore and Mrs. Charles Patterson served at the cheese mound at one end of the table. Dainty party sandwiches and tid bits were the refreshments. Serving punch were Mrs. L. H. Bodden, Mrs. Harold Lawrence and Mrs. Joe Moore alternating.

Music at the piano was beautifully rendered by Mrs. William P. Burnette, Mrs. Gordon Robertson and Mrs. Percy Pitts during the tea hour.

Others assisting with the courtesies were: Mrs. Omar Reynolds, Mrs. John Hollis, Mrs. Sibly W. McGowan, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Mrs. W. A. Willis, Mrs. William B. Eiland, Mrs. Douglas Barton and Misses Josephine Moore, Susan Elsvier,

A New Look at the Three R's

Imagine the impact on our way of life if we could increase educational achievement in America by 80%.

According to William H. Armstrong, outstanding teacher in the famous Kent School of Kent, Conn., and recipient of the 1961 prize for the best article of general interest in the field of education by the Independent Schools Education Board, the average child actually uses only about 20% of his learning ability. This shocking but well-substantiated statement appears in Mr. Armstrong's recently published book, "87 Ways to Help Your Child in School—The Parents' Common-Sense Guide to Sound Elementary Education." Concerned with the most important thing in a child's life—his life-time career—this book outlines the best possible preparation to develop his inborn talents. It explains why elementary school years are the "golden years" of receptivity to learning and what must be done to offset the current "Relax Now—Pay Later" maxim of irresponsibility.

Even with ideal classroom conditions, how much individual attention can the most dedicated of teachers give to your child? Parents must therefore do more for the child's education than "pay school taxes and forget it." "87 Ways" is based on the sound and newly reaffirmed theory that the communication skills (the three R's) are the most vital working tools for all educational progress. Omissions in these areas during elementary school years are tragically revealed when children move up to the secondary school, where undoing and retraining is a painful, often expensive process. The purpose of this book is to provide the basis for a working partnership between parent, child and teacher. The gap between what your child is doing and what he could be doing can be filled by putting into practice the day-by-day practical suggestions crammed into each chapter. Some vital topics covered are: how to improve handwriting; simple steps to grasping math; how to study and review without cramming; a planned schedule of study; the art of learning to listen; reading with understanding. Published by Barron's Educational Series, Inc., Great Neck, New York, "87 Ways," priced at $1.95 in paperback, points out that the skills acquired during these formative years—skills that we now recognize to be as much the parent's responsibility as the teacher's—will remain with the child during all the years of his future education.

"Today we need a nation of Minute Men... citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life..."

—JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

10 days after his inauguration as the 35th President of the United States.

Twenty years ago, in the dark, uneasy days before Pearl Harbor, the Minute Man of Concord, timeless symbol of our Nation's determination to defend its freedom, emerged as the emblem of the U. S. Savings Bonds Program. When came, the Minute Man became the rallying force behind the huge and overwhelmingly successful effort to back our fighting men with War Bonds.

In this, the 20th anniversary year of Savings Bonds, the Minute Man of Concord calls all Americans to an unending effort to help preserve our peace and freedom, threatened by forces more powerful and resourceful than those we faced in 1941. Though this effort will take many forms, one way open to all is the continued investment in Shares in America, U. S. Savings Bonds, by "citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life."

Versatile Teens Cited for Best 4-H Achievement Record

A pair of teenagers has been chosen 1961 state 4-H achievement award winners. Miss Kate Hall, 18, of Rt. 1, Montgomery, won an expense paid trip to the 40th National 4-H

Kate Hall

Miss Hall has been 4-H Club president and carried on many civic projects. One of her most exciting moments, she said, was being chosen county and district queen of the 1960 Dairy Maid contest. She represented 4-H in the governor's inaugural parade.

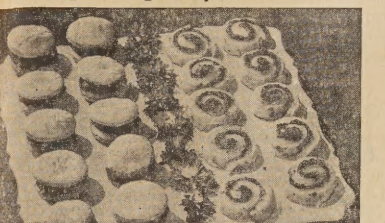

Young Helton, who farms 400 acres with his father, has been a 4-H'er for eight years. His main interests are corn, cotton and beef cattle.

Helton has carried on an intensive program for farm and rural safety, and appeared before many audiences as a safety advocate. He is especially interested in firearms safety.

Helton and Miss Hall are eligible to receive $400 scholarships that will be awarded to 12 national achievement champions at the congress. There is a grand prize for the top two—a boy and girl—of a set of table silverware presented in the name of President John F. Kennedy.

The final awards will be presented on the last day of the congress during the annual 4-H recognition banquet. All of the achievement awards will be provided by Ford Motor Co. Winners are selected by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Spiced-Up Party Pastries

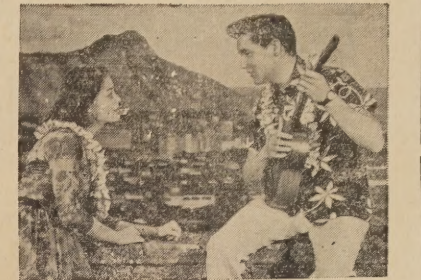

Here's a party-perfect recipe for morsel-like hors d'oeuvres that can be made with only three ingredients: pastry dough, spicy deviled ham and a little onion. You begin with the same basic pastry dough for both the Pinwheels and Party Rounds—to make the most tempting, easy, hot hors d'oeuvres you ever tasted!

Party Pastries
1 recipe pastry
2 4/5 ounce cans deviled ham
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion

Make your favorite pastry dough. Roll into rectangular shape, 1/4 inch thick. Mix deviled ham and onion together. Cut pastry into 1 inch rounds with small cookie cutter, dipped in flour. Prick each round with fork. Spread half the rounds with deviled ham mixture. Top each with another round, pricked side up. Place on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Makes 15.

Pinwheels: Spread mixture over pastry shaped like a rectangle, 1/4 inch thick. Roll jelly-roll fashion. Slice and bake at 400 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Makes 30.

"BLUE HAWAII"

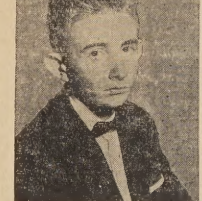

ELVIS Presley will appear at Clanton Drive-In Theatre beginning Christmas Eve, December 24. He stars in "Blue Hawaii" and it's his newest smash hit. Fans of the "Blue Suede Shoe" boy will want to see him in this new one.

York Boy to Play in Chicago Annual 4-H 'Pop' Concert

A 14 year old Alabama boy who has been playing the piano since he was seven, will soon find himself in the center of the huge stage of historic Orchestra Hall on Michigan Avenue in Chicago.

Dudley Lockard, who lives with his parents, the W. T. Lockards of York, a small town in Sumter county near the Mississippi border, has been selected to play two piano solos at the annual "Pop" concert sponsored by Singer Sewing Machine Company for 4-H boys and girls.

The concert will be presented Monday evening, Nov. 27, before an audience of more than 2,000 club members, leaders and guests who are participating in the 40th National 4-H Club Congress.

A 4-H'er himself, Dudley will share the spotlight with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Arthur Fiedler, and Miss Marilyn Turner, a 4-H alumnae, who will be the vocal soloist.

Both young people were finalists in a nation-wide 4-H talent search arranged by the Cooperative Extension Service, Singer and the National 4-H Service Committee.

Young Lockard will play Chopin's selections from Les Sylphides and Scherzo in B Flat Minor.

"Dudley Lockard plays with a maturity seldom noticed in a boy of his age," observed Mrs. W. S. Irwin, an accomplished York pianist. "He seems to sense the emotions of the composer."

Lockard has been described as having "exceptional" ability. He has been highly recommended by Hanchey E. Logue, state 4-H Club leader.

The lad is a four-year 4-H member and this year was elected president of his club. He was Alabama's 1961 state 4-H talent contest winner, outclassing some 50 entrants. This year he also received top rating at the spring festival for Federated Music Clubs of Alabama held at Livingston State College. He has given many local and state-wide performances.

Glogg To Celebrate The Holidays

Throughout Scandinavia, Glogg is the traditional Christmas drink, beloved by Americans of Scandinavian descent here. Made with Danish Cherry Kijafa wine and brandy, seasoned deliciously with spices and fruit, Glogg is served hot.

The traditional holiday drink throughout Scandinavia is Glogg, a spicy hot blend of wines whose aroma is as fragrant as mince pie baking and as warming to the "cockles of the heart" as the spirit of Christmas itself. Each Scandinavian home has its favorite Glogg recipe, but basically the drink is always a blend of wine and spirits with spices and fruit. Usually the drink is flamed just before serving. Served with cheese and fruit, this is a merry way to celebrate Christmas Eve.

Scandinavian Glogg

1 bottle (fifth) Danish Cherry Kijafa wine 12 to 16 whole cloves
½ bottle (or 2 cups) brandy ¼ cup sugar
Peel of 1 orange ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup raisins

Trim the orange peel carefully, removing every bit of white membrane. Cut peel in sections, stick each section with whole cloves. Combine sugar, cinnamon, orange peel, raisins, wine and brandy; heat, but do not boil. Bring in the bowl, and just before serving, set aflame. Serve the Glogg hot in punch cups or mugs. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

 There isn't too much news this week. I would just like to remind you all to pray for the sick and shut ins.
 Pray especially hard for Danny Lucas, he is back in the hospital once more. He and his family need all the prayers of the Christian People. Danny is being very brave and humble too, so let's all help him through this terrible ordeal.

The Chilton-Unity Association Carol Hymn Sing meets Sunday, December 17, 2:30 p.m. at the First Baptist church, in Thorsby. Aside from congregational singing, there will be special music rendered by special singers of the churches. Randall Veazey, Director, Rev. Laney W.  We want to invite you to our services, especially our Visitation Program on Thursday night at 6:00.

Industrious 4-H's Singled Out For State Awards, Chicago Congress

Four teenagers will be part of the Alabama 4-H delegation attending the 40th National 4-H Club Congress at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago, the week of Nov. 26.

The youth have won their trips and chances to compete for national 4-H honors, by ranking first in the state in their respective 4-H projects. Approximately 125,000 boys and girls in Alabama are enrolled in 4-H.

The award winners are: Bob Alverson, 15, of Albertville;
Judy Carnell, 16, of Holly Pond;
Louise Minor, 18, of Gorgas, and Patricia Odom, 18, of Columbia.

Young Alverson won his honors in the 4-H entomology program. Oscar Strickland, assistant Marshall county agent, says:
"Bob Alverson stands head and shoulders above the average farm youth in that he possesses unusual initiative, desire, cooperation and qualities of leadership."

Miss Odom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Odom, lives on a 250 acre farm. Her 4-H beef project took top honors.

She will visit the Windy City as the guest of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company.

Patricia, a high school graduate this past June, climaxed nine years of 4-H participation by winning her 1961 award. She has specialized in beef breeding.
She reports earnings of more than $1,000 from this project.

future.

The members though it wise to continue meeting once each

The purpose of this advisory council is to assist the vocation

al program in the Jemison school district. There are many ways the council can help to improve the program although we believe the big assistance will be in planning and carrying out the over all program.

Jemison is one of the few Departments in the state of Alabama that have an advisory council set up and in operation.

Mr. McGee states that he is looking forward to the very fine advice and guidance by the council in the future. He stated that he believes this council to

The Very First Christmas Tree!

To August Imgard, a home-sick immigrant tailor, goes the credit for introducing the Christmas tree to America.

Imgard came to this country in 1847 to visit his brother in Wooster, Ohio. With the prospects of a dismal Christmas for the first time away from his native land, August decided to bring to his newly adopted home all the Christmas Spirit and festivities he had loved so much in Wetzlar, Hesse.

To his young nephew and niece he would show how Christmas was celebrated in the old Country.

First, he needed a Christmas tree! This is the way he described how he found it:

"I walked up Apple Creek where I found water so high I could not get across. So I walked along until I found a tree fallen from bank to bank and crossed on that. I cut a tree and carried it to the fall log. But to get across this time I had to tie the tree to my neck and crawl in hands and feet. People looked at me with considerable curiosity when I walked thru down town with my tree."

Adept with scissors, Imgard cut his own paper ornaments and a local tinsmith fashioned a shiny star for the top.

And thus—the first Christmas tree in America.

THE CHRISTMAS PHASE...

Are you preparing each Christmas phase? Every phase of Christmas observance has careful preparation except one—The Christmas Phase. Big business concerns began preparation a year ago. Many folks do their Christmas shopping months ahead. Thousands have baked cakes and many more people have planned a vacation with loved ones or friend Christian parents must remember that "Ours is A Christian Home."

But aside from a little scripture reading and perhaps an occasional gospel story, very little Christmas preparation is made. In this modern age so many of us make more preparation of the tangible than of the Christmas phase. Christians should feel that there is a deeper meaning of Christmas than last minute shopping, illuminated trees, exchanging of gifts, etc. Of course these have meaning. But they do not speak the central message of Christmas—Christ the Saviour, God incarnate, born in humility, obedient to His redeemptive suffering on the cross, risen and exalted to the Father which provides the basis for our salvation. The message Christians should make Christmas more humble and less selfish and more selfless, and strive to make Christ the example of living. What does Christmas mean to you? Will your pastor or you at Church Christmas?

Mrs. Tucker said, Only through contributions received for Christmas Seal is the work program of the TB association made possible. The Chilton county TB association does no door to door solicitation. The appeal for funds is made by mail and the public has in the past responded with understanding and generosity. In the privacy of his or her own home, each person makes a decision as to whether or not he will contribute to the Christmas Seal Campaign. Mrs. Tucker continued, We are truly grateful for the tremendous response the public is showing to this year's campaign. It proves that our fine folks in this county will not stop fighting until every case of tuberculosis is wiped out.

In addition, said the chairman of the Chilton county TB Association, a bridge specialist in the 37th Engineer Group's 814th Company which is regularly located in Hanau, entered the Army in 1955 and arrived overseas on this tour of duty in May 1959.

We Don't Need A Big Wheel - We Need A Starter -

WE have spent a lot of time the past several months talking with businessmen who have been hit 'in the breadbasket' so to speak with regards to the economy of Clanton and Chilton County and the 100% opinion of these individuals is "more industry for Chilton County"! The judgement of these businessmen comes, not as a 'one man opinion' but as a community spirit as a whole.

As one fellow put it this week: "ye've got plenty of Indians around now... what we need is a chief." And he is exactly right; we do need a chief... but not another Rain-In-The-Face! We need a man who has the community interest as a primary concern and one who is capable and willing to do whatever is necessary to bring Clanton and Chilton County out of the dumps of depression!

Perhaps, more than anything else, we need an organization of these public-spirited "Indians," including a board, which could act, make decisions and THEN send the right man out to the right place the name of that organization.

There are quite a few local businessmen and interested parties who would gladly give of their time, talents and also their financial support to a group or organization that would truly represent industry and new business for this community.

The die has not been cast, but the time is now, for us to get together and decide what we are going to do in this community, for the good of the citizens as a whole and for the sake of our families and our children. We have everything we need, with the exception of motivation, without which, we aren't going anywhere!

Three To Make Ready -

ONLY four days left until Christmas. The short time emphasizes shopping, decorating and preparation activities as families get ready for the holiday go-round. Doyle N. Brown of the Alabama Motor Club remembers that last year at this time, the four days left until Christmas meant only four days left to live for 650 people! These people were also involved in the gay preparation for a joyous Christmas holiday. Had they known the fate ahead, the preparation might have been entirely different. Rather than making sure gifts were wrapped and cards were addressed, they might have made sure extra preparation was made for safe driving under safe conditions!

These 650 deaths were results of motor vehicle accidents over the Christmas holidays in 1960. That means 650 people who prepared for holiday celebrations last year will be missing from the Christmas fun this year.

December is Danger Days for motorists. There are longer hours of darkness, increased pedestrian activity, and increased low ebb drivers who have their minds preoccupied with seasonal matters, drivers who have imbibed in alcoholic cheer or one too many holiday toasts. These added dangers must be anticipated and prepared for. Motorists must drive with extra cautious eyes to foresee these hazards.

The Alabama Motor Club recommends that you be sure YOU are safe to drive, be sure your CAR is safe to drive, then drive as though all other drivers and vehicles are unsafe. Take the extra precaution to assure your being around to be in the holiday-go-round next year.

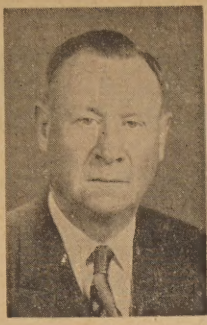

SCHIZOPHRENIA

It could be that the child, part at the edge of the playground, is showing early signs of schizophrenia, a form of mental illness. This is not to say that a quiet, reserved child must be on the way to mental illness, however. Characteristics vary, and some children are naturally less aggressive than others. Schizophrenia originates in the inability to adapt to the demands of life or to emotional situations. The first signs of schizophrenia vary from behavior that is odd, bizarre, or extravagant, to apathy, melancholy, and self-absorption. A child with early symptoms is inclined to be a spectator rather than a participant, lacking initiative for group activity. There are children of high intelligence who show an extreme inability to be on their own, tenaciously clinging to parental ties. Children are called precocious when they develop mentally far beyond the usual during their early years. A mental illness encountered in adolescents is sometimes called dementia praecox, another term for schizophrenia. It should be a matter of concern to parents and medical advisors when

MAN OF THE WEEK

THE NEWS is proud to present as a community headliner, Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Clanton for 13 years.

Dr. Hutchinson, born in northern Ireland, of Scottish background, came to the United States in 1927 after receiving his formal education in Ireland. Mrs. Hutchinson is the former Frances Ewton of Nashville, Tenn., whose father was a well known Baptist minister and who lived in this community. The Hutchinsons have one son, Clark, who is a sophomore at Baylor University in Waco, Texas.

Under the leadership of Dr. Hutchinson, the Clanton First Baptist Church has grown each year until today it is one of the finest and largest Baptist churches in Central Alabama. He is active in civic and community affairs and is well liked by both businessmen and laymen in Clanton County.

The last time the family saw Scotland and Ireland was in 1955. Three made the trip and found it enjoyable in most every phase. Education and integrity mark Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson as a strong leader in our community - only one of the many reasons why we are proud to salute him for his unselfish contributions to this community and to mankind!

Faith, Family And The Future -

THIS season called Christmas is nothing at all to those without a faith to live by. There may be giving, sharing and joyful jubilation, but without faith these are empty emotions cold and without any real significance.

The Birthday of a King is Christmas and without faith in the King the celebration loses its magic charm it's warm glow, it's cheerful renewing of optimism.

And a family at Christmas time is a wonderful part of this life which gives meaning to the very idea of Christmas itself. The companionship, love and sharing which can only be enjoyed in the circle of a family are the evidence of Christmas, the living proof of why Christ came and why we celebrate the anniversary of that night in Bethlehem so long ago. As the family live, so lives the Spirit of Christmas and you alone can give your share in the universal effort to make the Light of the Star Shine, brighter and brighter with each new generation.

The Spirit of Christmas and of the Christ Child will live on and on in future generations only if we understand it's true meaning and work diligently to increase it's power in the generation in which we live. If the light of the Star fails in this generation, then your light will shine and the faith of millions of Christians will be bright, and new, and everlasting.

Our faith is but a glow, in time; But altogether, we Can light the path, and lead the way Throughout eternity! MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Federal Courts 'Mad March' To The Left - Gallion

MacDonald Gallion, Alabama's Attorney General told the Clanton Kiwanis Club today that, "State sovereignty is being ravished by a trend toward a federal court dictatorship."

Gallion pointed out that this week the U. S. Supreme Court reversed the convictions of Negro "sit-in" demonstrators in Louisiana. He stated that the federal courts are making it hard for the states to defend themselves from outside agitators and trouble makers.

Gallion referred to the so-called freedom rides in Alabama last Spring as being Communists inspired and he leveled a blast at the federal government for lending support to the freedom rides and sit-ins in the South. He stated that many leaders of the integration movement only came south to break our laws and that they often have a long record of membership in Communist front organizations.

Gallion read the transcript of the telephone conversation between U. S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy and the manager of the Greyhound Bus station in Birmingham. In that conversation Kennedy demanded that the bus company continue to carry the freedom riders through the South, and he also referred to it as "our project." Gallion referred to Kennedy as "Bobby" Kennedy and said that he was a wreckless and childish attempt to influence voters in the Northern slum sections.

In ending his speech, Gallion said, "Alabama and the South stand today as the last great bulwark of strength; the last bastion of defense in this nation's mad march to the left, and we in Alabama must stand firm and not be overrun."

a child fails to form social contacts and fails to follow the pattern of his age group in dress and behavior. The child who grows up as an average boy or girl, not too different from others, is more likely to develop normally.

All children with non-conforming behavior patterns are not to be classified as incipient schizophrenics. There are individuals who in youth were odd little boys and girls who develop into great and famous personalities, to be envied and admired by people who grew up as ordinary average little boys and girls.

PEOPLE ARE DIFFERENT

We all need more of the rare quality to develop understanding, sympathetic understanding. We would do well to make a constant effort to see things from the viewpoint of others. To honor and respect people who have their own personal opinions is our way of conceding to them their rights. This is sympathetic understanding, and it shows the biggest which enables us to let other people be happy in their own way - instead of our way. By so doing we broaden our own viewpoints.

Clanton Goes 'Far East'

A letter received recently by County Agent John Sellers accompanies a clipping of an article written by Patrick Harden, UPI Correspondent, which was reprinted by the "Pacific Stars And Stripes", a publication which covers Japan, Korea, Okinawa, Guam, the Philippines and other parts of the Far East.

Expressway's Challenge Awakens Town

By PATRICK HARDEN

"Clanton lived a quiet existence beside Route 31 which sliced through the heart of peach growing Chilton County. The 600 residents knew that bleak winters would be followed by bustling summers. With the warm weather, the highway became an artery pumping peach growers, farmers, tourists and businessmen into the town. Giant trucks blocked the streets and parking was a problem. The tourists came steadily from the north and the west, filled the motels and left their money with curb-side fruit vendors along Route 31. And they stopped on the way back too.

Then, just one year ago, the Highway Department opened Interstate Route 65 between Birmingham and Montgomery. By passing Clanton, the first victims were the restaurants which depended on truckers and tourists for trade. Then filling stations began to feel the pinch. A few drug stores noticed sales drop and the city revenue department saw income from taxes and parking meters drop slowly and steadily.

The worst was yet to come. As the peach crop ripened, fruit stalls opened up for the business that wasn't there. At the end of the summer, tons of rotten peaches and overripe tomatoes filled the gutters and small farmers looked for outside work to support their families.

"It could have been much worse," says Attorney Jon Will Pitts, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. And it would still be bad had not leading citizens worked together to make this highway pay off.

"Now we consider the super highway a tremendous asset to the town. It's a wonderful thing which could bring new business and industry here. Property values are going up and the farmers have access to bigger and better markets."

"More people are commuting daily to Birmingham. Once the Red Mountain Highway is opened and the bottleneck is eased, it will be just 40 minutes from Clanton to downtown Birmingham."

County Agent John Sellers said laws prohibiting roadside sales of the interstate highway had cost local vendors about $250,000 during the year. But, he said, necessity had produced some interesting new markets for the big peach crop.

"We're now picking some of the peaches normally sold at roadside stalls and we are testing others for frozen food. With quick transportation to Birmingham and cold storage there, the big food companies buy our local produce at any time of the year."

Managing Editor Bob Tucker of the Chilton County News, said the super highway had shaken the local people from their lethargy.

"It's brought a new awareness to the town. We've been trying to encourage new industry and new ideas for years. Now, at long last, there is a grass roots move to open up the town."

Well, they know it all the way to China, now! Are or ain't we awake?

THINGS We see and hear by BOB

SOMETIMES we think our two-year old son ought to be wearing the pants at our house and we should have the diapers. On very rare occasions (Rare meaning of: "frequently," very often, almost continuously") we lose our tempers and the other night for some reason or other (probably joking) we told our eldest son that we just might ease the fire out of him if he didn't watch out! Number two son, Mark said, very innocently: "If you slap the fire out of him daddy, you'll get burned!"

There's probably more truth in that than he or I either one realized! Oh, for the patience of Job! And the wisdom of Solomon, and... the innocent wit of a child.

WHEN Alec Jones enters upon the scene, everyone sits up and takes notice (amid snickers and muffled mirth.) His manner is not the most graceful perhaps but very effective for announcing arrivals and that sort of thing!

IF the rains don't cease soon, some of our most prominent citizens are going to mold! And there is nothing worse than a moldy prominent citizen. Unless it's two moldy prominent citizens!

WHAT is public apathy? It's when nobody's doing a good job... and everybody tells 'em so!

BEWARE of the fellow who says we're going to the dogs, and smiles; he's usually leading the pack!

WE have committed the unforgivable what-ya-ma-callit and forgotten to announce the arrival of one of the clan! Actually she's not one of the clan but she is! She's a West, and her name is Nanette Elise. The daughter of 'Admiral' and Mrs. L. R. West of Brunswick, Maine, she weighed in at 8 lbs. and 13 ozs. on Saturday, December 8th at 10:20 A.M. We're not being smart when we call old Leland 'Admiral'. We just don't know what his rating in Uncle Sam's Navy is, and we figured we'd be safe that way. If we fell shy of his real rate, we'll hear from him (and Mr. Kennedy). Anyway, congratulations to 62.

Christmas joys to our friends...

May the gentle spirit of the Prince of Peace gladden the hearts and homes of all our many true friends and customers...

Junior Citizens' Club Holds Meeting

The Junior Citizens Club met on November 22, 1961 in the club room. The meeting was called to order by the president Mary Holley. The officers took their regular places in the officer's chairs. The club opened with the Club Prayer. The president lead the club in the Alabama's Creed.

At this time the president, Mary Holley, called for the secretary Roger Crew to read the minutes of the last meeting and to call the roll. The club members answered present to the roll call by reciting Thanksgiving verse from the Bible. There were no corrections to the minutes.

At this time the president called for the reports from the officers.

Vice president Kathy Goddard reported she was ready to help the president in any way she could.

Treasurer Charles Crowe reported a balance of $4.40 in the club at the last meeting and $1.91 collected since the last meeting, a total of $6.31 in the club.

Corresponding Secretary Laura Carlisle reported she had sponsored a shower of letters which the Junior Citizens had sent to the patients in the Nursing Home wishing them a happy Thanksgiving. And also a shower of letters to Mrs. McGowan, the director of the Nursing Home. Laura Carlisle also reported a letter which was placed in the Thanksgiving box wishing the Knight's a happy Thanksgiving.

Song Leader Richard Ray reported the following songs were to be sung at this meeting: Star Spangled Banner; Brighten the Corner Where You Are; America the Beautiful; America and Home on the Range.

At this time the president called for the reports from the committees.

Program Committee, chairman Diane Carter reported the program for this meeting was ready to be presented on time.

Activity Committee, chairman William Ziland reported the club had prepared a Thanksgiving box of food and other things to be gathered over the State with limited combining of soybeans yet to be done. Harvest of a big pecan crop is now well advanced.

Cotton harvest is well advanced but a little more than usual remains to be picked in north Alabama, especially in mountain areas. Most farmers are now pulling bolls rather than picking. Late cotton in northeastern counties was hard hit by late October freezes and yields are very disappointing.

Other activities on farms during the week included usual chores relating to livestock and poultry. There was limited late seeding of small grains, especially wheat. Cutting of stalks and turning land was underway until heavy rains halted this work. Other farmers were busy with maintenance jobs around the farm as well as forestry work.

Small grain and grazing crops have responded well to improved moisture and mild temperatures. Much of the acreage is late due to dry weather earlier; consequently, only limited grazing is now available. This situation should improve rapidly with ample moisture and continued mild weather.

Cattle continue in good condition despite a shortage of grazing. Cleaning of harvested fields is of some help but supplemental feeding is required on most farms. No unusual losses were reported. Farmers who intend to feed out cattle were busy placing these animals in feed lots.

The First Thanksgiving, by Kathy Goddard, Laura Carlisle and Joan Blalock.

Thanksgiving by David Mills. A Poem, by Roger Crew. A Poem, by Laura Carlisle. This concluded the program. At this time the president accepted the chair.

Then the president called for the Critics and Parliamentarian reports.

The Critic reported the program was excellent but it could use some improvement.

The Parliamentarian reported the club members seemed to be improving in their parliamentary procedure.

At this time the president lead the club in the American's Creed.

Then the song leader lead the club in the songs America, Star Spangled Banner, Brighten the Corner Where You Are, and Home on the Range.

Then the club pledged Allegiance to the flag of our Country. It was moved by Kathy Goddard and seconded that the club be adjourned until next Friday. The motion was carried. The club stood adjourned until next meeting.

To Kappa Chapter

The Kappa Chapter of the Alpha Delta Kappa held its annual Christmas party in the home of Miss Elizabeth Barton Tuesday night December 5.

The entrance of the home was lighted by a number of unique Mexican lanterns. The holiday theme was carried out in living room and dining room where the guests assembled. Festoons of pine boughs and red berries adorned the mantle. There were bowls of greenery and red berries at vantage places in the party rooms. From the archedway between the two rooms hung a small parasol holding tiny candy canes.

The chaplain Mrs. W. E. Robinson gave the devotional and the program. She read the lovely passage from the 2nd chapter of Luke and told a beautiful Christmas Story.

Mrs. Isaac Byrd, altruistic chairman reported that a very generous collection of food and clothing had been given to two needy families at Thanksgiving. Brenda LeCroy, the young daughter of Mrs. Herman LeCroy passed out the names for the drawing of Christmas gifts. Each member received a gift and there was much merriment and fun when the gifts were opened. Brenda Kay gave to each member a favor from the chapter's president Mrs. W. F. Haywood at the conclusion of the social hour.

Miss Barton assisted by Mrs. L. D. Easterling served delicious refreshments in the color scheme of red and green.

Fourteen members and a guest enjoyed this happy occasion.

Worthwhile Club Met

Mrs. Luther Bean was hostess to the Worthwhile Club when met on Thursday December 7. Plans were made for the annual Christmas party and luncheon to be held at Mrs. W. F. Haywood on the 21 of December. At this time items for a sunshine basket will be collected and given to a shut in.

In the social hour the hostess assisted by her granddaughter, Mary Murr served refreshments carrying out the Christmas motif to nine members present and one visitor, Mrs. Charlie Cox.

Nelda McKee Is Seventeen

One of the most enjoyable parties of the season was on Saturday night, Dec. 9 when Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKee honored their daughter Nelda McKee with a party in her 17th birthday, at their camp on Mitchell Lake.

The party room was lighted with candles which gave a soft glow to the setting where the group enjoyed records on the Stereo and dancing.

After a period of fun together delicious refreshments of punch and birthday cake with nuts and mints were served. The birthday table was adorned with an arrangement of fruit.

The honored received many nice and useful gifts from her friends. There were 30 young people who enjoyed the party.

Christmas Wish

To think that there will be Christmas Day, around each tree, feeling of the presence of Child God sent us with His Love; there, beside each girl and boy, to witness all their joy, to think that all the gifts unfold, I'll see a smile; than He'll hear our caroling know it's for the thanks God the Father, for His gift among us here on earth may we have our Christmas day, not forget that it's His day; let the Lord Jesus share it— have a bit of prayer in it.

NEWS OF — Samaria

Don Graham, pastor

On Saturday night the Chilton Associational Youth Rally met at the Liberty Hill Baptist church. Music was presented by youth from different sections of the county. We will be beginning our New Year in which we have planned special programs. We hope you will come to our January meeting.

The Intermediate and Young People have planned a hayride on December 22. We will also use this as transportation for carolling. We are going to visit the homes of the sick in the community. After the hayride we are going to one of the homes for refreshments. On Thursday night, December 21 we have planned to present our gifts to the church. After this there will be a Pot Luck Supper. We feel this will be a great success.

We want you to remember our services. We urge your support to all our programs.

We want each of you to stop and think what you have to be thankful for. Then stop and be thankful for these things.

Enjoy this holiday season and remember what it means and attend church to honor the one it honors.

COLORADO

The Colorado Capitol whose golden dome gleams above Denver was 22 years in the making. Its outer walls are five feet thick. All the stone, mostly granite used was quarried in Colorado. The world's entire supply of Bulah onyx was used in the interior. Masters of the building are the do-it-yourself type with the aid of a guide book so complete it even identifies all the species of trees on the Capitol lawn. Denver, truly a wonderful place to visit.

Hunting In Flooded Areas Prohibited

Would Be Hunters—
NOW
THIS!

Conservation Director William C. Younger today announced the passage of an additional regulation in an effort to curtail illegal hunting in the flooded areas. The regulation makes it illegal to hunt deer and turkey in the flood waters and back waters of the rivers and streams of the State.

The new regulation reads as follows:

"By authority vested in me as Director of Conservation, by Title 8, Section 17 and Section 21, as amended, of the 1940 Code of Alabama, I do hereby establish and promulgate the following regulation which shall have the force and effect of law as provided for by said sections. The penalty for violating this regulation is provided for by Title 8, Section 13 of the 1940 Code of Alabama.

Section 1. Regulation No. 12 which appears on Page 29 of the booklet entitled 'Alabama Regulations and General Laws Relating to Game, Fish and Fur bearing animals, Season 1961-62,' is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person at any time to kill, or attempt to kill, wound or capture any resident game bird or animal while such animal or bird is taking refuge in Title 8, Section 13 of the 1940 Code of Alabama.

Section 2. This regulation shall become effective at 12 noon on the 15th day of December 1961.

Section 3. Any person violating any of the provisions of this regulation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished as provided for by law."

Younger stated that shooting game from a boat or from a car along the road is also illegal and those found guilty of such crimes will be prosecuted.

The Conservation Department issued a strong appeal to the sportsmen of the state to assist the conservation officers in the prevention of the illegal hunting in order to preserve their game. If illegal hunting or unreasonable slaughter of deer within the proximity of the flood waters persist, the Department will be forced to close the hunting season until the flood waters recede.

Holiday Season Means Entertaining

'Tis the season for friendly get-togethers. While good fellowship and good food should be symbols of your holiday life, it should be fun and easy for you, the hostess. A late evening supper... for any night during the week between Christmas and New Year's... is a good choice for gathering friends together to see your Christmas decorations and gifts. Set up a "help-yourself" table. Arrange small trays and soup bowls near a tureen filled with canned condensed vegetable bean soup "partied-up" for the occasion with sliced mushrooms and bourbon. Your guests will be back for seconds.

Close by, place a tiered platter of "party-type" sandwiches. Use small fancy rolls and party rye bread. Make some closed and some open-face with fillings of deviled ham, sharp cheese, and pimiento cream cheese.

Dessert... "make-your-own-sundae"... sherbets of ice cream with toppings of chocolate sauce and walnuts.

Party Vegetable Bean Soup
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed vegetable bean soup
1 cup water
1 can (2 ounces) sliced mushrooms
1 to 2 teaspoons bourbon
Combine all ingredients. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Deviled Ham Sandwiches
Combine 2 cans (2 1/2 ounces each) deviled ham, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, and 1 tablespoon pickle relish. Spread on split packaged dinner rolls. Tuck in a bit of lettuce.

The Christmas Spirit

Hobson Shirey, superintendent of the Alabama Baptist Children's Home in Troy, is shown with two of the children from the Home. More than 200 orphaned and abandoned children from throughout the state receive love and Christian care at the Home each year. This month a Christmas offering of $300,000 is being taken for the continued support of these children.

REGION HONORS TOP CHS ATHLETES

The Annual Athletic Banquet for all Chilton County High School players was held Monday night. Jack Hayes, member of the Class of 1922, was the principal speaker of the evening, giving some memories of playing days at CCHS and his professional days with Chicago White Sox.

Highlight of the evening was when the outstanding players were called forward to receive the trophies.

The first trophy went to Earl Mims, as having been chosen the Most Valuable player on the 1961 American Legion Team.

Gray will also be back for another year of baseball with the High School and American Legion teams this Summer.

Gray was picked by his teammates as the winner of the Championship Award.

Thomas Earl Mims, a Senior, selected as the Outstanding player of the year.

Gray was chosen as the Most Valuable Back for the year. This is the first time a player has ever received this award.

Gray was also awarded the Don Finlayson award and thanked the American Legion for sponsoring this annual event.

Principal at CCHS, Mr. Waters, gave a brief talk on the Legion and giving credit to all the athletes.

Gray assisted greatly in the publicity for this event.

All Calm In Chilton; No Fatalities Reported

ACCORDING to reports from the County Sheriff's office this week, there were no accidental fatalities of any description in Chilton County over the Christmas Holidays, and very few minor incidents. This speaks well of our law enforcement, Highway Patrol, Sheriff's Forces and the City Police. The state and national rate of accidental deaths was tremendous. They were far above the estimates made by the National Safety Council.

With the exception of a fire at the Dan River Mills plant on Christmas Eve (exactly midnight) the County came through the Holidays unmarred. The only damage done County wide was... over-indulgence in one form or another. It wasn't fatal, but we're all paying for it this week!

Everyone take the same precautions during the New Year week-end coming up and Chilton County will set some sort of record for these two holiday periods.

About 97 per cent of each year's peanut harvest is sold. The rest is kept on the farm for feed, seed and household use.

It takes 10 quarts or 20 pound of milk to make one pound of cheese.

Who Is This Man?

Miss Susan Bentley First To Identify Sen. Joe Graham

IN spite of very inclement weather last Thursday and Friday, quite a number of folks came into the News office to identify the News' Mystery Man who was Senator Joe W. Graham of Maplesville.

Little Miss Susan Nix Bentley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bentley of Thorsby, Route 1 was the first one to come in and identify the Mystery Man correctly. She has earned her choice of $2 in cash or a year's subscription to the News sent to whomever she chooses as long as it is in Chilton County.

This one must have been a bit more difficult than usual (we tried to make it that way) because some who have been guessing each week either failed to guess at all, or missed the right answer.

Howard Buckner and Douglas Glass were identified along with some other folks, but it really is Sen. Joe Graham.

Now... Tell us who this News' Mystery Man is!

Sallie C. Minor Succumbs At 74

SEEK BIDS FOR FLOOD CONTROL

ARMY Engineers have invited contractors' bids for channel rectification and bank clearing on Goose Pond, Poley Bridge and Walnut Creeks in Clanton Alabama and immediately below to alleviate flood conditions in the city. The work was authorized by the Chief of Engineers last year under Public Law 685, 84th Congress which permits the allotment of funds for certain small flood control projects not specifically authorized by Congress.

The work will include enlarging and straightening Poley Bridge Creek from Hinkle Road to its intersection with Walnut Creek, Goose Pond Creek from a point about a third of a mile above Mt. Pleasant Road to its intersection with Walnut Creek, and Walnut Creek from the intersection to below Old Mill Rd.

Seeding the ditch slopes; clearing the stream banks; and reinforcing and protecting ten bridges across the creeks will also be included in the project. Bids for the work will be opened at 11 a.m. C.S.T. on January 4, 1962, at the Corps of Engineers district office, 2301 Airport Boulevard, Mobile, Ala.

The improving will increase the carrying capacity of these creek channels so as to permit flood waters to drain off more rapidly, thus lowering flood stages and lessening the duration of high water in the city.

Ivey, also of Marion and they have two fine sons, Howard, who is a student at Marion Institute and Walter, student at Maplesville High School.

The Senator is a member of the Baptist Church of Maplesville, being very active in the work of his church and he is also a member of the Town Council. According to our report he has been on the Council since Maplesville was incorporated as a municipality some ten years ago.

Also active in the work of Civitan International, Sen. Graham is owner of the Graham Lumber Company, a large part of Maplesville's industrial growth and development. His father, the late J. H. Graham came to Maplesville in the early 30's and was also in the lumber business.

Industrial Development Increases In State — And Where Is Chilton County?

89 new factories (or "industries") located in Alabama during the period from January 1 to December 15, 1961 and they will employ some 4,111 persons. The investment of these new businesses in our State reached a total of $27,090,000. Chilton County, with all its natural resources and its labor population did not receive a single one of the 89. Why?

The County did fare better in the expanded industry field, however! Four were listed: Ala. Furn. Mfg. Co., Central Ala. Furn. Mfg. Co., Knight Eng. and Machine Co. and E-Z Pak Company, Inc. in Maplesville. These were already in our community. . . and they are growing! That, in itself, would seem to be some additional incentive to "industry!"

Cities and towns, some not as large as Clanton, attracted new industry this year. Places like Foley, two new industries; Eufaula, 2; Greenville, 2; Lineville, 2; Gadsden, 3; Red Bay, 3; Scottsboro, Vina, Brewton, Aliceville, Boaz, Monroeville, Gordo, Troy, and many others.

What do these towns have that we here in Clanton and Chilton County do not have? The greatest thing is "determination"! They decided they wanted new industry and SOMEBODY got out and worked for it!

The new industries cover everything from egg processing to garments, fertilizer and ready mix concrete. Electronic products, steel processing and meat packing plants. Chilton County can have industry! The first step we must take in this New Year is that of determination and then go to work! By this time next year, we too, can have some new, sizeable and thriving industrial development! And we might add; with the economy of this area reaching a low ebb, we had better find some determination. . . and fast!

THE MONEY ROLLS IN

The Sylacauga News

Our neighboring city of Anniston, recently gone wet, reports that over $200,000 worth of intoxicating beverages were sold there during the month of November. Think of what the taxes on that much money will be, and what it will do for the several places to which it is dedicated! This close to Christmas time, too.

Of course these purchases were not from Anniston or Calhoun Counties alone, but from surrounding counties like Childersburg, Sylacauga and Talladega.

It is even possible that the local people are content just to sell the stuff and collect the taxes, and let the drinking be done elsewhere. Whatever it is, we need to find out whether Anniston or Calhoun County need have any fear about having necessary funds for schools, teachers, etc.

LIQUOR CONTRIBUTES MILLIONS

By FRED L. ALLEN, News staff writer

Alcoholic beverages industry salaries and taxes helped the Alabama economy by $54,055,000 during 1960, a state economic study prepared by Lisen-Beverages Industries, Inc., reveals.

State and local revenues derived from taxes on alcoholic beverages amounted to $27,711,000, including general retail sales taxes. Salaries paid to the 11,200 persons directly employed by the industry in 1960 totaled $26,344,000, the state reported.

But, We Cannot Leave Unsaid. . .

THE fact that regardless of its economic possibilities and promises, Beverage Alcohol in any shape, form or fashion would be harmful to our community and to our people.

Organized crime and gambling of all sorts brings in money too, but we do not condone or support it. To further support and endorse the use of alcohol because of its economic promises is wrong almost to the extent of being ridiculous!

Those who look at the $ signs make a mockery of the attitude of those who are putting something more important. . . first; namely the character and moral fibre of this, and the next generation. The fact that "people are going to drink anyway", is also a weak reed argument. If they are going to "drink anyway" that is completely between them and the Almighty, however they may feel about it. But for a community

Required Reading For The Kremlin

There's remarkable industry in the USA which rarely gains the headlines. It has no board of directors, no stockholders, no visible profits.

And yet it's the fastest growing business in the nation!

Certainly, all of us are aware why research, like Topsy, is growing so fast. It pays off. Funds invested in research produce traceable returns in better products and competitive products.

And one more thing is for sure—the billions spent by American industry on research are directly responsible for the swift rise in the American standard of living.

Incidentally, the rate of growth is astounding. Back in the Roaring Twenties, American business spent less than $100 million a year on research and development.

Now, in the Soaring Sixties, research is costing about $12 billion annually—as much as the whole national output in 1890!

Thousands of new opportunities are being provided by research. Rockets, space exploration and electronic brains are adding exciting new possibilities. They can be preludes to further growth—if we are all determined that it shall be.

Each of us can help to bring this about if we recognize that our own future is bound up in the welfare of all.

Across The Editors Desk--

A Welcome

Letter From

Hon. Bob Jones

Dear Editor:

You and your associates in small businesses throughout Alabama represent a vital element of our economy. You are in business to make a profit but at the same time you are contributing to the strength of our free enterprise system, the foundation stone of American Democracy.

Alabama is essentially a State of small businesses and for you operations to expand and flourish it will be necessary to support and encourage them as a unit as an institution of our State economy. It is the national interest for those of us in Congress to find ways and means of promoting your cause of helping you.

A number of reforms already have been achieved, including removal of the excess profits tax and the granting to small businesses of certain significant tax exemptions. I supported these reforms down the line.

But the tax reforms now on the books do not go far enough. Because our Nation is dependent on your welfare, it seems to me that we should provide you with more incentives. This is the reason I am going to introduce legislation during the next session of Congress which would permit tax exemptions on earnings reinvested in one's business. Provision of more adequate financing through the Small Business Administration is another primary need of small business today. And small business requires a fairer share of government procurement.

Your problems deserve sympathetic and prompt consideration. You may be certain that as long as I will continue to do all in my power to insure that small businessmen remain a dynamic system and to combat Communists doctrines.

Sincerely,

to endorse the use of alcohol by making it easily obtainable to everyone is morally, spiritually, physically and mentally wrong!

A fellow we know says: "It isn't the alcohol, it's the man!" He says, "I've seen alcohol sit around for days and weeks and not bother anyone. . . until a man took it and drank it!" And that is just our point. Nobody who seeks to make alcohol legal is expecting it "to sit in a corner". It will not create much money-changing that way!

So it is temptation which makes it an evil! And why tempt a person, who is weak in the first place, with the very thing that can destroy his life, his family and his very soul!

We do not need it. . . therefore, why should we seek it?

Our Nation Loves Hymns.

IT is interesting to note, especially at this time of the year, just what the favorite hymns and religious songs most beloved by our fellow Americans.

Tops on a recent newspaper poll, which ended in October of this year were the following: The Old Rugged Cross, How Great Thou Art, What A Friend We Have In Jesus, In The Garden and Amazing Grace. It is also interesting to note, that the entire list of 50 or more hymns are familiar to all our us and all beautiful and inspiring. We have the list. If you'd like us to print all of them, let us know!

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

Much has been written and discussed of the political significance of the recent election on amendment number one and its defeat. Here are the Hill's most talked about comments.

Many of the leading politicians here talked with, termed the defeat of amendment one, the proposed $10 million prison reform bond issue, as, and like John's popularity, which was believed to be at a rather high level, is waning? For, as it was put, it loss in the legislature is not uncommon for a government and he has lost a few battles there; but to lose on the front line is considered something else.

Persecution - Word on the Hill is that the political signs are presently pointing toward an Attorney General McDonald Gallion-Gov. John Patterson coalition during the coming gubernatorial race. The talk is the bulk of Gov. John's machinery will apparently go with Gallion for governor, for whatever it is worth. Comments were Patterson personally, will probably remain mum on all issues. But politics from the quarters of the state are saying Gov. John's leaders appear to be falling in line for Gallion. Place J. C. Gentile of Birmingham in the Agricultural Commission race. He could be tough reports go, because he polled 123,000 votes when he ran for that job in 1958. Look for former Folsom finance director Ed Pepper to be named President of the state's Young Democrats in the near future. President Drexel Cook of Elba has joined Congressman Carl Elliott's staff and will be down from the Young Demo job. Noticed where Sec. of State candidate Ann Conway if Birmingham is apparently pulling another pretty Frink highway sign, dimming on the Montgomery to Birmingham highway. Miss Conway has a billboard which reads: Remember Ann Conway, Capable-Qualified Progressive.

Politics are wondering if this type political lightning will strike twice? Word from informed sources report that President John will issue a formal statement in or about Jan. 10 declaring that all public housing shall be integrated. Further talk was such an edict would politically hurt former Gov. James Folsom's gubernatorial chances.

where: Catching the greased pig, contests of climbing greased poles, card playing and bull sessions to hear news from home. And still some chose to read the Bible and religious newspapers they cherished.

One soldier wrote home about a friend who gained a fortune by getting married, and added I've a great mind to plan to get married myself so I can come home.

Many soldiers had relatives as visitors during the holidays which often made the camp vicinity take on a tinge of the street carnival look. Hawkers of giftware invaded the sites to sell items while visitors with ready money were present.

A Southern soldier wrote home. Sometimes we are granted a pass to visit the City. If not, we run the blockade, visit the Theaters, maybe get a big show and paint the thing red."

Among recreational activities

the old woman said. "It's been so lonely out here."

Then she asked them: "Are you going to stay on your side of the valley and keep your light burning brightly?"

The man and his wife then realized the old lady was depending on their light. Just to know that someone else was near—even though on the far side of the valley—gave the old woman comfort.

"We'll keep our light burning every night, just for you, Dear; and you're welcome to visit us any time," the man's wife said. Then they went home and kept the curtains wide, so their light would shine brighter across the valley.

Are you letting your light shine?

There are many who desperately need and want the light that shines from the window of your Christian experience.

Sometimes people tell us how they have been blessed through our own individual testimony or prayer. Sometimes they do not. We may be assured, however, that somewhere someone "on the hillside across the valley" is watching our light.

If we radiate our light so people can see what God has done, we will serve as a guiding light for those who need help, particularly when those people are depressed and upset.

IT is our firm opinion that we should not look at other communities to pattern after them, with regards to the sale of alcoholic beverages. They are the unfortunate ones in the battle against alcohol if they already have it legally. We should not be ashamed of the fact that we are so "old fashioned" as not to have, or more especially, not to want legalized alcohol. One fellow this week was pretty upset about the way his business grounds were misused as long as there are people and broken glass during the holidays. He said, "If they're going to dry it up, then they should dry it ALL the way up!" This does perhaps sound futile, but while it is improbable it is definitely not impossible. The legal sale of alcohol does seem to have its material reward all right, in more corners than one, but everyone knows that it is a blight against mankind. Why then should we accept it as inevitable?

Some of us seem to satisfy ourselves by saying, "Well, they're going to have alcohol there; there are people and there's nothing we can do about it!" That is hogwash! There is nothing that is wrong, which cannot be overcome by persistent fighting for what you believe to be right! We should worry when those who believe in the right, stop fighting and give in to the element which is wrong.

We have folks, practically every day throw up to us the "efforts" made during the days of Prohibition. That was a different era and a different time and possibly the efforts were not the right efforts. That does not convince us that those who fight against the use of alcoholic beverages are whistling in the dark and fighting a losing battle.

As far as we are concerned, if we have said many times, it is up to the individual and the Almighty whether or not he indulges or overindulges in anything which he might be held to his person, body and soul! Still we cannot condone the widespread pushing and selling of that particular item, whatever it may be.

If we are weak and knowingly indulge in something which is wrong we are that much more determined that our children will understand the wrong and strengthen their against it themselves. Why should we try to "sell" our children on the very wrong which has cost us during our lifetime? Hypothetical perhaps, but true nevertheless, if you love your children!

True, we cannot hide wrong from our children and we cannot forever shield them against the temptations and hardships and realities of the world but we do not intend to taunt them with those things which we know either from experience or knowledge, to be harmful to them.

them! A better world is on improving the old status quo.

It boils down to this: you wish to drink, it is your privilege, but why should you pose my children and my life to the elements which inevitably present with anything just so you can your drinking?

As for educating our party was the best day financially speaking, the best day ever had. You can give credit to whatever you want, but the stimulation created the combined efforts of that effort was in a state of open extra hours did have effect, regardless of what of the day the buyer made purchase. The hours may have been ideal, but the effort showed up in the increased sales! It matters little, think that the street was cleared before the apocalypse hours; what really matters is that an effort was made to attract the buyer to local stores was made. . . and it paid in increased business in most of the stores especially those who advertised the fact that they would extend their hours for the convenience of the public; We do not recommend the hours for any merchant's store, but we do recommend the hours for the buyer's desire, but we do it to do it at home. We need more of this kind of stimulation. . . at last!

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of the Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

INFANT DIARRHEA

Infant diarrhea has decreased by 70 to 90 per cent in this country in the past 25 years. Yet diarrheal diseases of infancy are still the most frequent cause of death in infants under one year of age in many sections of the country and in most parts of the world. Many of these deaths are due to diarrhea resulting as a complication of other diseases.

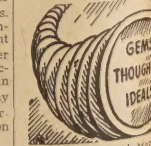

Shigella infections caused by dysentery germs are found in 80 per cent of acute diarrhea patients over one year of age. In infants under one year, the incidence of Shigella infection is high in those areas where poor sanitation prevails and low in areas having good sanitation. Many other types of germs have been identified as causes of infant diarrhea. Epidemic diarrhea among the newborn which has at times broken out in hospital nurseries in severe form, is believed to be due to a virus.

Undernutrition is a cause of frequent and severe diarrhea. Contamination of food and disease producing bacteria is now a minor cause of infant diarrhea thanks to refrigeration and sterilization. Diarrhea is more common in artificially fed infants than in breast fed infants. Artificial feeding is not a cause of diarrhea; but where control of artificial feeding is poor, the number of cases is higher than a similar breast fed group. Infants suffer diarrhea due to allergic reaction to certain foods. There is no need for a long as an infant having some slight diarrhea is able to gain or show no loss in weight. It retains a good skin color, accepts food readily, does not vomit. Diarrhea comes a serious problem if it persists and increases and infant's digestive system is delicate. . . and may easily become upset.

25 Years Of Service With Western Auto

A handsome plaque recognizing 25 years of service to his community has been awarded to Louis C. Craig owner of the Western Auto Associate Store here in Clanton.

The walnut and bronze wall plaque, engraved with his name, was presented through the firm's division offices which serve this area.

Holiday Five Minute Fudge

All you need to make economical gifts and sweet-eating treats, to serve during the holiday season, are a pinch of imagination and this delightful fudge recipe developed by Carnation Company's home economists. It takes minutes to whip-up a batch of this satin-smooth textured fudge, thanks to extra creamy, better-blending evaporated milk.

Decorated with "Wild West" or Animal cookies, the candy is a fine idea for children. Load the fudge into trucks, buses, cars or boats, for the small-fry on your list. Cut into squares and garnished with cherries or nuts, the confection can be arranged in pretty candy jars for your friends.

FIVE MINUTE FUDGE
(Makes about 2 pounds)

1/2 cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
1-1/2 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-1/2 cups (16 medium) diced marshmallows

1-1/2 cups semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 teaspoon vanilla
16 Wild West cookies or Animal cookies

Mix evaporated milk, sugar and salt in saucepan over low heat. Heat to boiling, then cook 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add marshmallows, chocolate pieces and vanilla. Stir 1-2 minutes (until marshmallows melt). Pour into buttered 9-inch square pan. Press cookies or crackers into fudge.

Canned Soup And Eggs Go Together

On busy days, or relaxing days, whenever you really want something wonderful to eat, team canned soup and eggs for a hearty, nutritious sandwich. Teen-agers... and all ages... will enjoy fixing and eating tasty Western Burgers.

Canned condensed cream of mushroom soup is combined with eggs and seasonings then scrambled with onion, green pepper, and cooked ham for a tasty sandwich filling to be served on toasted buns.

This is just one of the many ways canned soup and eggs can be combined for satisfying meals. From breakfast through dinner condensed soups and eggs are great go-togethers for omelets, souffles, and scrambles.

For that "something wonderful" for supper, let your teen-ager son or daughter take over the kitchen and prepare a fun-tastic "soup" sandwich.

"Souper" Western Burgers

1/2 cup coarsely chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup chopped cooked ham
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 eggs, slightly beaten
Dash pepper
2 buns, split and toasted

Cook green pepper and onion in butter until tender. Add ham; cook until lightly browned. Blend soup, eggs, and pepper; add to ham and vegetables. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until eggs are set. Serve on toasted buns. Makes 6 servings.

Carolers "Cozy Up" to Hot Spiced Soup

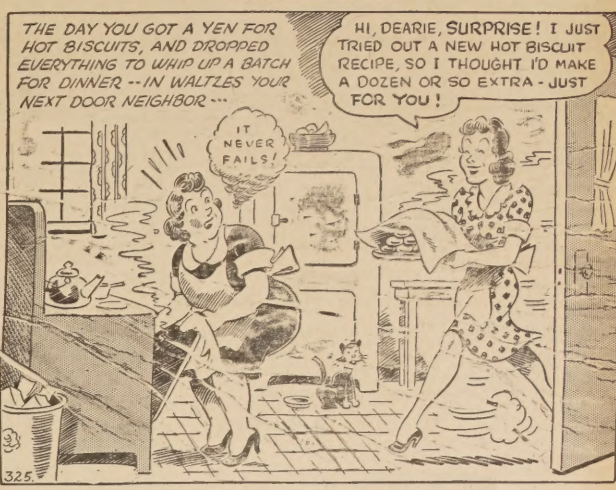

When wandering minstrels have lifted their voices in the still of the night, nothing will chase chills or invigorate the spirits of the shivering songsters so completely as a hot cup of soup. Soup only takes minutes from can to cup and is easy to fix any time unexpected guests stop by during the busy holiday season. It may be after choir practice, after church service or after Christmas play rehearsal. Soup's warming and cheering any time of day. Serve it forth as prettily as can be in a handsome bowl, to be ladled into chunky mugs — if you like, add the extra flourish of a cinnamon stick stirrer and offer a tray of doughnuts.

HOT MULLED MUSHROOM TOMATO SOUP

Combine 1 can each condensed cream of celery and tomato soup, 1 soup can each, milk and water, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, and a dash of ground cloves in saucepan; mix well with rotary egg beater. Heat, stirring occasionally. Serve 4 to 6.

Southern Bell

Spends $30,000,000 In 1962

Plans to spend $30,000,000 to expand telephone facilities in Alabama during next year were announced today by Southern Bell Telephone Company.

Frank Newton, Vice President and General Manager of the utility, said the expenditure will bring his company's total outlay for construction for the five year period ending with 1967 to slightly more than $158,000,000.

The Appropriation will enable Southern Bell to improve and expand telephone services throughout Alabama and in the 93 exchanges which the firm serves.

The Telephone Company official said the proposed expenditures are based on forecasts of the demonstrated telephone needs of Alabama. He also expressed hopeful confidence that telephone rates can be continued at earnings level to permit the company to meet the needs of the people in this state.

Outstanding projects scheduled to be completed during 1962 include the introduction of direct distance dialing (customer dialing of long distance calling) to the Montgomery exchange in July, the change of Southern Bell Teletypewriters from annual to dial operation (this is a nationwide change of the Bell system), the establishment of a new central office in Birmingham that will enable the company to give wide area data service to customers by early 1963.

Inter state development of long distance facilities, and the construction of additional microwave routes from Mobile to Flomaton and from Montgomery to Opelika will be undertaken. New wire centers and central offices will be constructed in Huntsville and Tuscaloosa. To serve in event of emergencies and disasters the company will place into operation four mobile emergency radio units. These self propelled units may be transported on short notice to any area in the state for the purpose of rendering emergency communications.

Construction and extension of telephone cables and lines will be geared as near as possible to the telephone needs of all Southern Bell exchanges in the state, Mr. Newton said.

Sarah Goes Home for Christmas, Hastened by New March of Dimes

"Can I go home for Christmas?"

That is the plea of tens of thousands of hospitalized children at this time of year. Too often the doctor's answer must be a regretful, "no."

But among the lucky ones who made it last Christmas was Sarah Rauchbauer, 7, of St. Paul, Minn. After seven long months of racking pains due to rheumatoid arthritis, Sarah posed the question to her doctors at the University of Minnesota Children's Rheumatism Clinic, which is supported by the March of Dimes.

The doctors hesitated to say yes because Sarah had been making such good progress in the hospital—after being a very sick little girl, and in great pain, for many dreary days and nights.

Finally, Dr. Homer Venters (above, right) carefully examined the child again, consulted with his colleagues, and decided to gamble.

"We reasoned that fulfillment of our little patient's longing to be home for Christmas—with her mother and father, her brothers and sisters and her dog Mitzy—might do Sarah more good than the hospital. So we sent her packing."

The experiment was successful. Now Sarah is home for her second Christmas since she fell ill. She returns to the clinic once every three months for a checkup. She still limps slightly (yet note her carefree jig, lower left, on arriving home for good; and the joyous embrace she gave Mitzy, upper left).

In addition to The National Foundation—March of Dimes grant which made Sarah's treatment possible, the voluntary health group has made other grants to its research study centers in arthritis and birth defects as part of a program financed by contributions of the American people to the March of Dimes each January.

Dangerous Bugs

Stings from bees, wasps and other such insects cause more deaths in the U.S. than poisonous snake bites, says a report from Dr. Henry Farrah of the University of Vermont.

Viruses and Cancer

Most human cancers are probably due to viruses and treatment may come eventually through a variety of chemical agents, says Dr. I. S. Raydn of the University of Pennsylvania Hospital. He heads a group named by the National Cancer Institute to study the 175 drugs being tested to control cancer.

Executive Health

Contrary to popular belief, the death rate among business executives is lower than among other men, according to a 10-year study by Drs. R. M. Thorner and E. L. Crumpacker of Washington, D.C.

"Hello, Thrift Shop?

I have some things

I want to dispose of.

Could you pick them up?

Yes, a pair of girl's size 3, practically new.

A girl's 24-inch

A pair of child's aluminium stilts. Some good clothing, too... They were my little niece's. She's!... She won't be needing them... ever again. Her mother would like some other little girl to have them."

Drivers kill and cripple more children than any disease!

We have a vaccine for polio. And it works. Our best medical researchers say we're zeroing in on cancer. But what are we doing to wipe out the worst child killer, of all—traffic accidents? Yes, drivers—careless drivers—kill and cripple more children than any disease! Here's one thing you can do. That everyone ought to do. Write to your local enforcement officials. Tell them:

"I Support Strict Law Enforcement!"

When officials know they have the backing of the community, they can do a far more effective job of protecting your children. In communities all over the country, the records prove it: Where traffic laws are strictly enforced and obeyed, deaths go down!
